LONDON, March 20.— Figures on the shipping output and tonnage losses of Great Britain will be published regularly hereafter, it was announced in the Commons to-day by Sir Eric Geddes. It would not be in the national interest, however, to give the tonnage of losses up to date, the First Lord added. The world's tonnage, exclusive of enemy ships, had fallen two million five hundred thousand from the beginning of the war to the end of 1917, Sir Eric states.

CONDITIONS ARE NOT ACCEPTABLE

(Canadian Press Despatch.)

LONDON, March 20.—The conditions laid down by the Dutch Foreign Minister for the acceptance of the demands of the associated governments as regards the taking over of Dutch shipping are not likely to be acceptable to those governments, according to Reuter despatch from The Hague, filed yesterday.

You can't always tell by a man's actions whether he is a fool or a genius.

It's the thing you don't care for that the people are always willing to hand you.

Charged With Having Books Censor Banned

George Dinsdale, Bolivar street, and John W. Boorman, corner of McDonnel and Aylmer streets, will appear in police court to-morrow morning charged with having in their possession prohibited literature, namely, "The Hidden Mystery" and copies of the Bible Students' monthly paper, contrary to the consolidated orders respecting censorship. The maximum penalty attached these orders-in-council is a fine not exceeding $5,000 or imprisonment for not more than five years. Chief Thompson has given the public ample warning that all these forbidden writings should be surrendered by the citizens who owned them. It is understood that both Dinsdale and Boorman gave up some of this "literature," but when the police, armed with a search warrant, turned the spot light into their bookcases they are said to have found quantities of the Pastor Russel publications. In Ottawa, Toronto and other cities, similar failures to comply with the censorship law have been followed by stiff sentences, which, it was believed, would produce a salutary effect in other communities.

Little Richard's mother took him for a visit to his grandparents. When bedtime approached he was instructed to kiss each of his relatives good-night. He hesitated when he came to his grandfather, who wore a long, heavy beard. "Aren't you going to tell grandfather good-night?" his mother asked. "No, mother, I can't," was the reply; "there isn't any place to tell him."—The Argonaut.

WILL BE HARD TEAM TO BEAT

(Canadian Press Despatch.)

TORONTO, March 20.—Local hockey critics agree that Toronto's N.H.L. champions will have no easy task to defeat Vancouver, coast champions, at the first of the Stanley Cup world's professional championship games scheduled for the Arena here to-night. Local team are favourites, however, in betting at about seven to five. Large crowds and a good game is expected, though the ice may be slushy.

Aerial Warfare On The Western Front Unprecedented

One Hundred and Sixty-Seven Enemy Airplanes Have Been Driven Down So Far This Month, in Daylight Flying ---Over One Hundred Reduced to Kindling Wood.

NIGHT SCENES AMAZING

(By William Philip Simms.)

(Special to The Toronto Star and The Peterborough Examiner.)

WITH THE BRITISH ARMIES IN FRANCE, March 20.—The air war on the west front is record-breaking. One hundred and sixty-seven enemy airplanes have been downed so far this month in daylight flying, including twenty-three on St. Patrick's day. Of these 102 were reduced to kindling wood while 65 were forced earthwards during control. The flying is unprecedented. There is much mutual bombarding at night. The British bombers seem positively tireless. The night scenes at the airdromes are most amazing. Huge airplanes silently fly into the moonlight. Big bombs are loaded into them. Hooded creatures steel up. They whirr away like giant moths towards their objective behind the German lines. After an hour or so they return guided by the flare of landing lights. The aviators assemble in their reading rooms gossiping the comparing notes, then absorb a "night cap" and climb into their bunks.

Burnham Drops Bill To Abolish Titles In Canada

Ottawa, March 19. — "I have decided not to introduce my bill to abolish titles," said Captain J. H. Burnham, member for West Peterboro, today. "I have not changed my mind on the subject, but this is a war session, and we will be dealing almost exclusively with war measures. I do not want to embarrass the government this session."

"When the war is on, why stop the wagon to kick every cur along the roadside?" queried Mr. Burnham.

However, although Captain Burnham will not proceed with his bill, it is quite possible the subject will be debated in the House. There is a strong feeling among the new members, especially the westerners, against any further titles in Canada, particularly hereditary titles. It is probable that a resolution on the subject will be introduced later in the session.

OPPOSITION TO ASK REASON.

The Opposition propose to question the government as to the reason why the Canadian list of British Empire Order honors has not been issued. It was announced in England when the honors for Australia, New Zealand, Newfoundland and other parts of the Empire were made public, that the Canadian list was withheld for the present at the request of the Canadian government.

Rumor in political circles has it that the Canadian honor list runs over three hundred and fifty names. There is a story current that when the list was brought before the Cabinet one Minister jokingly moved that all the honors be given to one well known Canadian who has been breaking his heart to get a title. Apparently by general consent the list for the present was pigeon-holed.

A comb will last much longer if, before being used, it is washed in soapy water, and, when dry, rubbed with a little olive oil.

Read this testimonial.

For three years I have been troubled with Eczema on my face, hands and legs. My Doctor could not cure me; also tried patent salves advertised on the market which also proved of no value.

Was advised to try SWAIZEMA, which has entirely cured me.

I strongly recommend this remedy to those suffering from Eczema.

PETERBORO GAVE LOYAL SUPPORT TO GRENFELL FUND

Mrs. James Wood, of this city, Hon. Secretary-Treasurer of the Peterboro Branch of the Grenfell Fund, has received the following letter from Miss A. Warne, corresponding secretary:

Ottawa, March 14, 1918.

Mrs. James Wood,
Hon. Sec.-Treas., Peterboro Br'ch,
Box 990, Peterboro, Ont.:

My Dear Mrs. Wood: Our Hon. Treasurer for Canada, Mr. A. G. Parker, of the Bank of Montreal here, has notified me of the receipt of $200.22, from you, being the Peterboro Branch contribution for this year. I now enclose herewith official receipt for the same. I shall be glad, at your convenience, to receive a list of the contributors who made up this splendid total, so that I may renew their Magazines for them.

We were all sorry that Dr. Grenfell had to come to you when really suffering from the effects of a heavy bronchial cold, when, really he ought not to have been speaking in public at all. However, he struggled on until he reached Ottawa, when our Hon. Secretary Mr. Machado, persuaded him to go south for a month before attempting anything further; and I think the doctor was really glad to go. Evidently you had a good meeting in Peterboro, for you have remitted a larger contribution than usual.

Thanking you for your splendid assistance from year to year, and also thanking the Peterboro friends for their loyal support, believe me, with kind regards, yours faithfully,

ANNIE M. WARNE,
Corr.-Sec'y.

Will those who have contributed a dollar or more and whose names have not been sent in kindly give name and address to Mrs. James Wood, Box 990, so that they may receive the Magazine, "Among the Deep Sea Fishers."

Bill To Put Idlers To Work Introduced In State Legislature

Senator Robinson Offers Measure to Compel All Males From Eighteen to Fifty Years To Be Employed as Long as the War Lasts

ALBANY, N. Y., March 20.—Loafers will be put to work during the period of the war if a bill, introduced in the Legislature by Senator Theodore Douglas Robinson, nephew of Theodore Roosevelt, becomes a law. The bill is modeled after one introduced recently in the New Jersey legislature.

All able bodied male persons between eighteen and fifty years of age would come within the provisions of the act. Senator Robinson would have all those not now regularly employed in a useful occupation, regardless of their income or position in society, placed at once in such useful occupations after proclamation of the Governor to that effect.

Habitual loitering in streets, pool rooms, saloons, hotels, stores and rail road stations would be interpreted as evidence of violation of the proposed act.

Friends of Senator Robinson asserted that there was considerable sentiment for the passage of the measure. It was designed, it was said, to make young men of the "slacker" variety work if they would not fight.

Big Musical Drama "Isle O'Dreams"

The United Producing Company, Limited, in representing Julius Velie on a coast to coast tour in the Chauncy Olcott's romantic comedy drama, "The Isle O' Dreams," has won the hanks of newspaper critics and house managers everywhere that the company has visited, the attraction being frequently declared one of the most satisfying performances of several seasons.

The young star, Julius Velie, who is under five years' contract, is believed to be the logical successor to that great favourite Chauncy Olcott, and it is the intention to confine his work to Irish song plays. Mr. Velie received his dramatic training under the direction of Otis Skinner, but owing to the exceptional beauty of his singing voice was induced to enter Opera. He was one of the principals in Cort's "Princess Pats" until last season, when he accepted an offer from the United Producing Company to star in Irish song plays for which he was so uniquely fitted.

Believing Mr. Velie had a great future and wishing to introduce him to the public under the most favourable conditions, Mr. A. J. Edwards, the well-known New York director, was instructed to engage the best possible supporting company, and Edgar McKie, artist last of Drury Lane Theatre, London, was given a free hand in producing the heavy scenic equipment on a scale of exceptional beauty.

Mr. Velie is surrounded by a large acting company, perhaps the strongest ever seen in Irish plays, including such prominent players as the following:

Lional Dunrobin, Nesta Kerin de Becker, Minnie Stanley, Charles Canfield, John Clancy, James E. Parks, and Hazel Wood.

"The Isle O' Dreams" will play a return date here next Saturday, March 23, with bargain matinee at 2:30.

Peterboro' Boy Writes Home

Refers to a Number of Peterboro' Men Who Are in London

Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Stuart, 593 Homewood Avenue, has received the following interesting letter from their son, Gunner Claire Stuart:

Mrs. J. W. Stuart, Peterborough, Canada.

Dear Mother and All.—Well, here I am in good old London, spending my fourteen days' leave, or rather, part of it. I landed at Folkestone on February 24th, and went straight to Westcliffe Hospital and found Hod all O. K. He was discharged from there the following morning and granted two weeks' sick leave. What luck for me! Of course he knows London well and takes me around. Have seen some swell shows, etc., and many places of interest. We are staying at this hotel and expect to go to Edinburgh in a day or two. Have met many friends from Peterborough. Saw Mr. Walter Worth start on leave to Canada. He will call and see you. He has a nasty wound in the jaw from a machine gun bullet. Met Jack Wett, Alex. Butcher, Wally Armstrong, who went to France yesterday.

Hod looks well but is very soft of course. He looks small to me. I got weighed and go 13 stone, 9 pounds—(191 pounds) without a coat on. Not so bad considering I haven't had a 'real good feed yet' but will do well in Edinburgh. It surely is grand to get away from France, even for fourteen days. We were on the Lens front when I left; in fact have been there since coming back from Passhendaele with the exception of three weeks' rest we had at a small French town called Marles Les Mines. Everything is very quiet where we are now and were not working very hard. We had things awfully rough up in Belgium, but took our objective. Will write more to-morrow.

With love to all.

CLAIRE.

From Celebrated Makers we have Assembled an Unparalled Range of Footwear

So that your costume may be complete we suggest footwear. Footwear that is extraordinary for comfort, durability and last but not least style. It has been our endeavour this season to assemble a complete range of fashionable models that will compell you to bestow your appreciation and yet the prices are moderate.

This shoe possesses a receding toe that contributes greatly to its comfort and this seems to have been the idea of the designer for the leather is a soft, pliable, black vici kid — also a square or Cuban heel. Priced at..... $9.00

The woman who desires a boot for street wear will do well to give this model her consideration. Black kid has been employed in the making and the maker has given it a Cuban heel; every line from the toe cap to the tip of the top suggests comfort. Priced at ..... $7.50

What promises to be one of the most popular numbers is a grey suede with pointed toe and high Louis heel. To thoroughly appreciate this number you must inspect it. Priced at.. $10.00

For stylishness and excellent workmanship this model of nigger brown kid with cloth top will be difficult to equal; has a high Louis heel and imitation toe cap. Moderately priced at.. $8.00

We are offering a walking boot of fine calf with military heel and imitation toe cap—color is brown. If you desire service you will agree that this model is not highly priced at..... $8.50

A brown cloth top, calf skin lower to match and military heel. This but poorly describes the stylish boot that we have before us. If you could but see the graceful lines and suppleness of the leather you would understand. Priced at.. $9.50

If you are in search of something dressy, naturally the shoe will be made of vici kid and the color black. This model is surely worthy of the name dressy, with its Louis heel, square vamp and long tapering toe. priced at $9.00

PATRONAGE AND MR. CALDER AS SEEN BY WAR VETERANS' ORGAN

"First, we have abolished patronage and no government will dare to bring it back.

"Second, the Civil Service Act has been made applicable to the outside as well as the inside service."
—Sir Robert Borden (Dec. 13, 1917).

"We believe that the time has come when an honest and sincere effort should be made to improve the Civil Service in Canada. Our civil service should be taken out of party politics, and men appointed to the service on grounds of efficiency and necessity, and not on purely political grounds.

"I am talking sincerely to you men and women to-night and voicing the opinions of every member of this new Government. We mean business. Parties in the past have issued their programmes and their policies and made promises, but I want to tell you people to-night that so far as I am concerned, unless these things are done which the new Government calls for I will not stay in the Union Government. (Loud applause). So far as I am concerned I mean business. I know what party politics are. I have been in public life for twelve years, and know that our public men have been hounded day in and day out by the job-seekers and the grafters looking for some special privilege to which they are not entitled."—Hon. J. A. Calder (Oct. 22nd, 1917).

We present to our readers the above utterances of Sir Robert Borden, the Premier and acknowledged chief of the Conservative element in the Union Government, and the Hon. J. A. Calder, Minister of Immigration, and acknowledged chief of the Liberal section of the Union Government. Nothing could be more explicit and nothing more worthy of approbation and praise. But fine words do not always insure their corollary in action and we must confess that the performances of the Government in the particular matter of Civil Service reform have fallen far short of their promises. There has already been notorious proof that the poison of patronage still survives in undiluted strength in the body politic of Canada. It will be sufficient to deal with two of the more flagrant cases. The Collectorship of Customs in Montreal had been vacant for many months. There were various applicants for the post, but their supplications were always set aside on the plea that the post was being reserved for some returned soldier, who had won distinction overseas. No one could cavil at this reservation. It was taken as a commendable sign of better things, but circumstances, over which apparently the Government had no control intervened. When the Hon. C. C. Ballantyne, on entering the Union Government, began to search for a constituency, his eye lit upon the St. Lawrence division of Montreal. Unfortunately there was already a Unionist candidate in the filed, in Alderman Weldon, ex-manager of the Windsor Hotel in Montreal. Mr. Ballantyne had to secure this constituency at any cost and his defeat was certain unless Alderman Weldon was out of the way. The latter was willing to retire but had his price in a good Government appointment. Mr. Ballantyne gave his promise, Mr. Weldon withdrew and the debt was paid by the people of Canada in the shape of this valuable civil service appointment.

It is not denied that there were competent men in the Customs service in the Montreal district who could have filled the post, but they were all passed over. Mr. Ballantyne is popularly supposed to be a very rich man and his proper course, if he had a debt to pay and desired to retain the respect of the Canadian electorate, was to have settled a sum upon Mr. Weldon, which would have given him an annual income corresponding to the salary attached to the Collectorship. Surely Mr. Ballantyne values his own good name and the repute of his colleagues at a higher sum than fifty thousand dollars.

The second case is the Ottawa postmastership. Mr. Govin, the postmaster, resigned through advancing years and it was expected that Mr. Pennock, the assistant postmaster would step into his shoes. But unfortunately there is in Ottawa a certain Mr. Andrew G. Acres, who in his capacity of real estate agent, had performed valuable services, accruing to their financial benefit, to certain mandarins in high places. Mr. Acres had crossed to England as paymaster for an Ottawa Battalion that was not thereby entitled to any such consideration for a public appointment as soldiers with service in France ought to be. His greatest claim arose from his services as Secretary for the Conservative Association and organizer during the recent election for Messrs. Fripp and Chabot, which in the bad old days, when patronage was accepted as an established institution, would have given him an intelligible claim.

But after all the professions of virtue which were showered upon the electorate during the last election by ministers and their followers, his appointment is an affront and insult to the electorate. It means that the word of a Canadian Government cannot be relied upon, and that the trust of the country has been woefully misplaced. The whole outside Civil Service was to be brought under the jurisdiction of the Commission, but the professional apologists for the government have discovered endless difficulties, which, strange to say, did not exist at election time, and though an Order-in-Council has been passed, the real reform is obviously being delayed till a brood of hungry office-seekers are satisfied. Statements and promises now fall coldly on our distrustful ears and hope deferred maketh the heart sick. Nothing can be more plain and definite than Mr. Calder's statement, quoted above, that unless the Civil Service was reformed he would not remain in the Government. The Civil Service has not been reformed and the old evils of patronage are still obviously rampant.

The next move is therefore with Mr. Calder. If another patronage appointment is made, he should resign his Cabinet seat as a protest against the Government's hypocrisy and dilatoriness. If he takes this courageous step of resignation on the matter of a broad principle and a spoken pledge he will be acclaimed as the most popular figure in the Dominion. It was once said of kings who die in their childhood, that they have this great advantage inasmuch as historians always say each would have been a great king if he had lived to reign and the still greater advantage that their reigns are stained by no crimes and blunders. If the Minister of Immigration resigns his seat in the Cabinet his regime will have been stained by no crimes and blunders and in all probability he will sooner or later become Premier of Canada. If he does not become Premier of Canada, a vast number of the electorate will always believe that he ought to have been.—From The Veteran, the official organ of the Great War Veterans Association.

"POM POM."

A famous New York critic, after seeing the first performance of "Pom Pom," remarked in his review of the play, "Mitzi will surely steal your heart." He was right. Ask anyone who saw her at the Grand last night. Mitzi Hajos, to give her name in full—but nobody ever uses anything but Mitzi—is altogether delightful in the title role of the clever musical production which charmed a big audience last night. Masquerading in boy's clothes as Pom Pom, the pickpocket, her pleasing personality, infectious little laugh and delicious voice, captivated the audience, who enjoyed every moment that she was on the stage. She worked just as hard as if she were in front of a metropolitan audience, a feature which added materially to the success of the performance.

"Pom Pom" is a musical play on new lines. Mitzi as Paulette, is making her debut in a play in which she is to be seen as Pom Pom, a pickpocket. A gang of thieves plan the robbery of her dressing room, and are surprised by the police, and Paulette mistaken for one of the robbers, is carried off. Her escape from the officers and her adventures in Crookland, where she has to continue her masquerade, furnish the action.

Charles McNaughton, an English comedian, scores heavily in the role of "Officer 13." His methods are responsible for many a laugh, and the bit of burlesque in which Mitzi and he give imitations of circus acts, is one of the features of the play. Thomas Walsh, as Grolman's burglar in chief, does splendid work, while Boyd Marshall as the chief detective, sings nicely and has histrionic ability as well. Margaret Jarman's singing was an enjoyable feature of the evening.

Mitzi's song, "In the Dark," was the most effective of the night, and she also made a hit in the lively number "Evelyn," while "Mon Desir," by Margaret Jarman and Boyd Marshall was thoroughly enjoyed.

The tornado dance in the second act, was interrupted, when Miss Louise Harrison, overcome by weakness, fainted, and had to be carried off the stage. She soon recovered, however.

Old Folks' Coughs Permanently Cured

The Public is Loud in its Praise of the Modern Direct Breathing Cure.

Elderly people take cold easily Unlike young people they recover slowly, if ever. That is why so many people past middle age die of pneumonia. Even though pneumonia does not develop and kill, coughs certainly weaken all elderly people.

Cough Syrups seldom do much good because they upset the digestion. Any druggist or doctor knows that a much more effective treatment is "CATARRHOZONE" which heals and soothes the irritated surfaces of the throat.

In using Catarrhozone you do not take medicine into the stomach — you simply breathe into the throat nose and lungs rich piney, balsamic vapor, so full of healing power that colds, catarrh and bronchitis disappear almost instantly.

"At sixty eight years of age I can testify that I am never troubled with coughs or colds," writes J. E. Pilgrim of Kingston. "They used to be the bain of my life, and that was before I used Catarrhozone, which was recommended to me by C. L. Prouse, druggist. To use Catarrhozone is just like being being in an immense pine woods. The balsamic vapor of Catarrhozone is like a tonic, it is so stimulating to the breathing organs so soothing to sore spots, so full of power to drive out colds and congestion. I will always use and recommend Catarrhozone as a preventive and cure for coughs, colds, bronchitis, throat irritation and catarrh.

(Signed) "J. E. PILGRIM."

A Catarrhozone Inhaler in your pocket or purse enables you to stop a cold with the first sneeze. Large size costs $1.00 and supplies treatment for two months; small size, 50c; trial size, 25c.; all storekeepers and druggists, or The Catarrhozone Co., Buffalo, N.Y., and Kingston, Canada

So Young Montrealer got Married — Now he has to Serve.

Montreal, March 20. — "I believed what the anti-conscriptionists said about the Conscription Act being a joke, and I never bothered about it," said Jos. Blais to Justice Marechal, when his appeal for exemption from military service was up for consideration. "Consequently I got married on August 29, not believing the authorities would ever send me to the front."

TEMPERANCE SERMON BY ADJ'T TRICKEY AT TO-NIGHT'S MEETING

The S. A. Temple, Chamberlain street, Brownton, last night, was filled to hear the musical revivalist tell incidents in his life story. A large number of the Girls' Life Saving Guards from No. 1 Corps were present with their Guard Leader, Mrs. Badley. Adjutant Trickey spoke of some early day difficulties in Salvation Army fighting, and kept the young people amused with the episodes of the young "Mischief Making Micky."

To-night the Adjutant's theme will be "Rumdom and Slumdom." The stories told will be of experiences of twenty years' working in the slums of our largest Canadian cities; also in St. John's, Nfld., and Hamilton, in Bermuda. Those interested in temperance should not fail to be present. There is expected to be some Campbellford people present on Thursday evening to hear the talk on "Newfoundland and Bermuda". Friday night the subject will be "Should Christians Dance?" The special songs for to-night are "Jesus Lifted Me" and "On Calvary." The services continue at Brownton until next Monday night and already people from all parts of Peterborough have taken the car out to Brownton to hear the practical talks of the revivalist.

CUTICURA HEALED VERY ITCHY SCALP

Burning Kept Her Awake Nights. Hard Lumps Came Then Turned to Scales.

"My scalp began by being very itchy and burning which would keep me awake nights it was so bothersome. First there would come little hard lumps and when I scratched them they would turn to flaky scales and dry.

"I got no relief until I got Cuticura Soap and Ointment. They gave instant relief and in a week I was completely healed." (Signed) Mrs. Alfred Bembelotte, Ed River Crossing, N. B., February 17, '16.

Most skin troubles might be prevented by using Cuticura Soap and Ointment for every-day toilet purposes.

GEORGE STREET CAFETERIA TEA LARGELY ATTENDED

Over three hundred attended the St. Patrick Cafeteria tea last night in George Street Methodist Sunday School, which tea was given by the Ladies' Aid to raise funds to purchase several necessities for the church. Mrs. Thomas was convenor of the tea.

The Sunday School Hall was brilliantly and tastefully decorated in truly St. Patrick style in green ribbons, paper and Shamrocks which lent a most pleasing effect. Mrs. C. E. Smith and Mrs. Fowler, who were in charge of this department, were heartily congratulated on the result of their efforts.

Several long tables along the walls held most delightful refreshments under the direction of Mrs. Foote. Here with a tray the visitors obtained in cafeteria style, their supper, and were relieved of any monetary embarassment by Mrs. S. A. Oke and Mrs. Benjamin Shortley, who kept the bank. Miss Mary Eliott and Miss Smith were in charge of the checking department.

PROGRAMME ELIMINATED.

On account of the great social success of the event the programme arranged for was eliminated to spend the time absolutely in a social way. However, the Misses Mabel and Mary Gardiner and Miss Isabel Baird contributed most acceptable musical numbers during the evening.

The Popularity Of The Pathephone

The desire to become an owner of a "Pathe" phonograph, grows in the minds of those who have heard, or played one. The introduction of these machines in Peterboro, although hardly a month old, has already resulted in a flattering number of sales. Mr. E. V. Warne's jewelry store has become the headquarters for these noted instruments in Peterboro, and a second shipment has already been received to keep the styles and selections as complete as possible. Whether you are ready for one now, or "just looking around," Mr. Warne will appreciate a call.

Go in and ask all the questions you wish. The more questions you ask about Pathephones and Pathe records, the better. Ask to hear the wonderful Pathe discs.

NERVES ARE EXHAUSTED.

When you have frequent headaches, find yourself easily irritated and annoyed, feel discouraged and down-hearted, cannot rest and sleep well, and find appetite feeble and digestion bad, you may know that the nerves are in bad condition. Don't wait for these symptoms to become chronic but start in early with the use of Dr. Chase's Nerve Food and head off disaster.

Prize-winners For Best Essays

The winners in the Peterboro Collegiate Institute of the medals for the best essay on the "Victory Loan," donated by the Ontario Government, were:

First: Kathleen Thorndyke, (Millbrook.)
Second: Gretchen Gladman.
Third: Clifford Might.

Their efforts to win the distinction of obtaining these medals, necessitated a vast amount of study and intelligence, and the bright pupils who were successful are to be heartily congratulated on their success. The medals (the two first of which are sterling silver, and the third, bronze) are handsomely and suitably engraved.

In the short story contest also held at the Collegiate Institute, "A Casual Camouflage," by Miss Gretchen Gladman, Form V., was awarded the prize of five dollars. Miss M. Stinson and D. Canniff were tied for the second place, with Paul Gliddon, a close third.

A LITTLE TRAGEDY OF THE GREAT WAR

Elderly German Went Home to Spend His Life in Comfort.

In 1912, when Otto Knapp, a waiter at the Waldorf Astoria Hotel, had reached his fiftieth year and had $45,000, he decided to return to Germany with his wife to live in comfort for the rest of his days.

Recently another waiter, Atone Stille, received a letter from his father:

"I have just heard of the death of Otto Knapp, who was once a waiter at your hotel. You may remember him," wrote the elder Stille. "A brother of his interned here, said that Otto was pressed into the army and all his savings taken. He was killed at Verdun."

Somehow a man never discovers what a fool he is until long after his neighbours.

Fancy Shoes Will Have To Be Cut Down

GOVERNMENT IS CONTEMPLATING IMPOSITION OF RESTRICTIONS.

Ottawa, March 20. — Sumptuary legislation of an important nature is predicted at Ottawa. The government, it is stated, has in mind the imposition of restrictions in connection with footwear. The importation of fancy shoes may be prohibited, and Canadian manufacturers may be compelled to manufacture from standard lasts, and to limit the height of the uppers.

It is further reported that restrictions are to be placed on the importation of automobiles. Whether there is to be a complete embargo is not at present ascertained. It may be, however, that the restrictions will merely apply to certain classes of pleasure cars.

BIG PATRONAGE OF ROYAL SHOWS

Mr. Pappas, manager of the Royal Theatre, wishes to thank his patrons for their generous patronage of his motion picture bills at the Grand Opera House the past two months. He accepts the continued attendance of large audiences as an expression of confidence that Royal programmes are always as advertised—the best in Canada for the money.

Remember, on every off night at the Opera House a Royal programme will be offered until the new theatre is built.

Don't miss to-night's big Vitagraph offerings, or Thursday and Friday's special Fox and Metro features, showing June Caprice, Fox's favourite star, and Harold Lockwood, Metro's leading sensational actor.

PETERBORO' SOLDIER BRINGS HOME BRIDE

Corporal Chas. Powell, son of Mr. and Mrs. George Powell, New Romaine street, went overseas with the 2nd Battalion in 1914, and returned this morning on the C.P.R. express, with an English girl bride of last September. He was recently discharged in England from services overseas, but must report at Kingston in two weeks.

Corp. Powell went over with the first contingent from Peterboro, but was taken ill shortly after arriving in France, and thereby missed the battle of Langemarck.

OPERATION FOR APPENDICITIS.

Mrs. J. A. Ballantyne, Sturgeon Falls, Ont., writes: "My husband was treated for appendicitis and the doctors ordered an operation. But he would not consent to an operation and began the use of Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills. Since doing so he has had no need of an operation or even of a doctor as the trouble has completely left him. I cannot find words to speak our gratitude for his cure."

CARD OF THANKS.

The members of St. Peters' Ladies' Aid wish to return sincere thanks to all those who contributed so handsomely to make tag day on Saturday such a success.

We wish particularly to return thanks to the Peterborough Radial Railway Co. for their kindness in permitting the taggers to have use of the cars, also to the conductors and motor men for their courtesy and help. And to the different manufacturing places, offices, police officials, etc., and to the public at large, we are exceedingly grateful, not alone for their generosity, but their good will, which was quite apparent. We also wish to thank Mayor Duncan.

A guilty conscience may need no accuser, but it usually has one.

TRUE BILL AGAINST NAVAL OFFICER AT HALIFAX

Canadian Press Despatch.

HALIFAX, N.S., March 20.—The Grand Jury has returned a true bill for manslaughter against Commander Wyatt, R. N. Chief Examining Officer, at this port at the time of the steamer collision which caused the catastrophe here. Other defendants, Captain Lamedoc and Pilot Mackay were discharged on habeas corpus proceedings.

After being deadlocked for a time the Grand Jury this morning asked for further information, and on being informed by the presiding Judge that it was within its province to find a true bill, returned the verdict which will necessitate Commander Wyatt's trial by jury, although Judge Russell said the evidence did not warrant it.

DRUNK ON STREET WAS FINED $13.75

Thomas C. Cloomey, arrested early this morning, as he was stepping high, wide and shakily on George street, pleaded guilty to having been drunk, when he faced Magistrate Dumble.

"I guess I was pretty well fixed up," he said, his recollection of the evening's event obviously clouded.

He stated that he had met a friend on Hunter street, and pressed by Chief Thompson, admitted that Charlie Morgan had provided two bottles of whiskey. One of them Morgan considerately gave him, Cloomey said, the other was drunk on the street. "He made me a present of it," the defendant said. "This is the first time a policeman ever put a hand on me," he volunteered, in self reproach, but his statement didn't save him from the usual fine of $10.00 and $3.75 costs.

High Prices At Farm Sale

Very Successful Sale on the Farm of Late Jas. Leahy.

Mr. J. W. Hancock, auctioneer, conducted a very successful sale yesterday afternoon on the farm of the late James Leahy, Lot 6, Concession 7, of Douro Township. Six horses sold for $1,182, nine cows averaged $119 or a total of $1,053. The grand total of the sale was $4,162. The sale was a small one so far as the amount of stock and implements was concerned, but the prices were high. Hens averaged $1.36 each, while a binder sold for $210. A set of bob sleighs sold for $62. The sale was one of the best that has been held this season.

Y. W. C. A. NOTES

The Home Nursing Practice Class will meet this evening at the Y. W. C. A. at 7.30, and will be addressed by Dr. G. S. Cameron. Members of the class are urged to attend promptly on time.

THIS WEEK IS JAPAN WEEK AT THE Y.W.C.A.

For the closing evening of the Japan campaign a programme of unusual interest has been arranged for Saturday evening at the Y.W.C.A. Miss Lancaster will speak on "Japan's Position Among the Nations To-day." Mrs. Cuthbertson, recently returned from Japan, has kindly consented to tell of the Japanese women, and a large number of beautifully coloured lantern slides, illustrating Y.W.C.A. work in Japan will be shown. The programme will be varied with songs and readings, and a Japanese drill. The Y.W.C.A. this week is asking for contributions for the work of the Association in Japan.

Social and Personal

Miss A. R. Whalley, daughter of Mr. Thomas W. Whalley, formerly of Peterborough, has been appointed editor of the Dry Goods Review, Toronto.

Last evening at the City Cafe Mr. Mendel R. C. Braund entertained a few friends at a banquet on the occasion of his birthday.

Miss M. C. Ironside, of Orillia, who has been visiting Mrs. H. Overend, returned home yesterday.

Private Orville Jinks, whose home is at 344 Simcoe street, is very ill in the General Hospital, Kingston.

Miss M. Calcutt is the guest for a few weeks of the Misses Maynard, Toronto.

Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Baker and Miss Kathleen returned to-day to Lindsay after a brief visit with Mrs. Lynch, Elm street.

Mr. Fred Lillicrap, Toronto, was in the city to-day en route to Lakefield.

The many friends of Dr. Eastwood, who has been ill for some days, will be glad to learn of his improved health.

OBITUARY

MRS. JAMES DAVIDSON.

The funeral of Maggie Young, wife of James Davidson, Otonabee, who died yesterday, will take place on Thursday afternoon at 2 o'clock from the family residence, where a service conducted by Rev. Mr. MacEachern will be held at 1.30 before proceeding to the Little Lake Cemetery.

The death of Mrs. Davidson was a great shock to her many friends about the country and city. On Sunday last she was taken ill and her physician pronounced her illness to be of minor importance. However, yesterday, she grew worse and passed away quite unexpectedly.

There are left to mourn her death, her husband, her father, Mr. George Young, Park street; six sisters, Mrs. Brealy, East City, Mrs. Robson, city, Mrs. J. A. Middleton, Smith, Mrs. Wm. Robson, Regina, Mrs. Wm. Mulligan, Cochrane, Miss Jennie at home, and one brother, Mr. George Young, Patterson street.

SALARY INCREASES FOR LOCAL TEACHERS

The Committee on Appointments of the Board of Education met last night to consider the question of salary increases for the teaching staff of the Public schools. It was decided to recommend an increase of fifty dollars per head to all teachers entitled to an increase under the schedule. This is in addition to the usual increases as granted under the schedule. The salary increase applies only to Public school teachers.

Soldier Recommended.

Several applications for the position of caretaker for the East Ward school were considered and on motion of Trustee G. N. Gordon it was decided to recommend the appointment of Corporal Fred Dainton, a returned soldier, providing the latter will accept it at a salary of $764 a year. Several of the applicants withdrew their applications when they discovered the amount that was paid for the work. A committee was named to interview Corp. Dainton and see if he will accept the position.

FACES CHARGE OF HAVING LIQUOR IN PLACE NOT HOME

After Thomas Cloomey informed the court this morning that he had obtained the whiskey that had made him drunk last night from Charles Morgan, a boarder at the Temperance House on Hunter Street, Chief Thompson immediately despatched Sergt. Blade to ascertain whether Morgan was a person or a figure of fiction. Cloomey proved correct, and at the Temperance House, down near the bridge, Morgan was found in bed, and apparently inert with that "morning after" feeling. According to the police intentions Morgan will be charged with having liquor in a place other than his private dwelling. Cloomey declared that Morgan had produced the whiskey on Hunter street, and they had emptied one bottle—but not in the gutter.

ENSURING FRESH EGGS.

One Effect of the New Government Order Now in Force.

Conservation of eggs will be brought about, wholesalers state, by the order-in-Council governing the marketing of that product, and requiring the candling of all eggs at cold storage plants, which went into effect on Saturday. It was the Canadian Produce Association which placed before the Government the necessity of such legislation, and the new law is the result of a series of deputations which waited on the Government, representing the association and others interested in the conservation of food. The one effect will be that the farmer and country dealers will speed up his deliveries of eggs to the city.

WASHINGTON NOT SURPRISED AT CONTINUED ADVANCE OF GERMANS INTO RUSSIA

German High Command is Taking Advantage of the Situation in the East—Hints at Another Peace Effort

SINISTER POSSIBILITIES

Canadian Press Despatch:

WASHINGTON, March 20. — The continued advance of the German army into Russia despite the peace treaties signed at Brest-Litovsk, is no surprise to American officials who all along fully expected the German High Command to prosecute its designs in Russia to the fullest extent regardless of any considerations of good faith with the peace agreement. No formal explanation of the motives that impel the Germans to press their advantage to Petrograd and Moscow is available here, but it is known that the officials regard the situation as filled with sinister possibilities. There have been many recent hints at another peace effort by Germans in the near future, and if these predictions are fulfilled, it is pointed out, a vast section of Russia actually is in German hands and furnishing enormous though undeveloped mineral and other resources for employment in the German war programme. It might well serve as a foundation upon which to erect a compromise peace proposal.

A PROMISING NEW WHEAT

By bringing out Marquis wheat the Dominion Department of Agriculture did a service to Canada and to the Empire that it would be difficult to over-estimate. On account of its vigorous habits of growth, excellent yield and superb milling qualities this variety which year after year as an exhibit from Western Canada has carried off premier honours at the International Soil Products Exhibition in the United States, has largely supplanted the old standard Red Fife that also gained for Canadian wheat an enviable reputation in the flour markets of the world.

A service rendered by the introduction of Prelude a few years later was also of great importance, inasmuch as it extended the wheat-growing area of this country by millions of acres. To these two very valuable accessions to the hard wheats of Canada is to be added a new sort that comes midway between Marquis and Prelude in the matter of yield and ripening. This new sort has been produced at the Central Experimental Farm, Ottawa, by Dr. Chas. E. Saunders, the Dominion Cerealist, who gives the following account of the new wheat in the March number of the Agricultural Gazette, the official organ of the Federal Department of Agriculture:

"The new wheat, which has been named Ruby, Ottawa 623, possesses characteristics in ripening and other qualities midway between Marquis and Prelude. It is beardless, possesses hard, red kernels, gives a fair yield, and makes flour of the highest quality in regard to colour and strength. Bread made from it ranks in the first class. This wheat is the result of a cross between Downy Riga and Red Fife. Downy Riga was produced from two early sorts, Gehun, an Indian variety, and Onega from Northern Russia. Ruby is recommended for trial where Marquis does not ripen satisfactorily. A very limited distribution of five-pound samples is being made to farmers requiring an early sort. A sufficient crop will be grown this year on the Experimental Farms to provide for a generous distribution next spring."

GET AFTER LAWYERS WHO HELP SLACKERS

KINGSTON, March 20.—The Kingston branch of the Great War Veterans' Association is going to compile a list of names of N.C.O.'s and men in this district who have not been on overseas service, and a list of N. C. O's. and men who are coming back on furlough who could take their places.

It will ask that the returned men be given a chance to remain in Canada, and those who have not been overseas to take their places at the front.

The Association is also getting after members of the legal profession who are prostituting their calling by helping slackers to evade their obligations to their country by taking up their cases for a fee of $25 and then charging $100 if successful.

The silhouette remains unchanged.

VOTED THE MAYOR OUT OF THE CHAIR

PORT HOPE, March 20.—At the last meeting of the Town Council, Mayor Burnham refused to sign the minutes of the previous meeting and ruled the resolution to confirm the said minutes out of order. The Council appealed against the Mayor's decision, but he ruled the latter resolution out of order. Also at to-night's meeting the Mayor again refused to confirm the minutes of the meeting of February 18, and the Council immediately voted the Mayor out of the chair and elected the Reeve as Chairman. A resolution to confirm these minutes was unanimously carried and all the Councillors attached their signatures to the minute book.

In Concord, New Hampshire, they tell of an old chap who made his wife keep a cash account. Each week he would go over it growling and grumbling. The net proceeds were $13.15 for missions.

On Friday evening of this week (March 22nd) a concert will be given in the town hall in aid of the Soldiers' Comfort Club, and the patronage of the village and surrounding country is solicited. One of the principal attractions will be young elocutionist, Miss Muriel Podger, who will come down from Toronto to take part. The following testimony of her teacher, Mr. Owen Smiley, speaks for itself:

"Little Muriel Podger of Lethbridge, Alta., who is studying in Toronto with Owen Smiley, will entertain at the town hall, Lakefield, on March 22nd. Although only a junior student, Mr. Smiley considers little Muriel to be already showing promise of great things as an elocutionary artist, and has equipped her with some splendid recitals for the occasion."

Some of the best local talent will also take part in the programme.

ANNUAL MEETING.

The annual meeting of the Woman's Auxiliary of St. John's church was held on Tuesday afternoon at the residence of Mrs. W. M. Graham. Rev. Cecil Spencer occupied the chair during the election of officers, the president, Miss F. M. Atwood, presided for the remainder of the time. There was a good attendance of the members present and excellent reports were read by the various officers, indicating the healthy condition of the Auxiliary.

The president gave an impressive and helpful address and Mr. Spencer encouraged the ladies by his inspiring words.

The Treasurer reported the receipts for the year as $116, the largest sum accruing for one year since the formation of the branch.

The following officers were re-elected, with the exception of Mrs. Northcott, convenor of the Dorcas, whose enforced retirement was a source of deep regret.

The list of officers is as follows:

Hon. Presidents, Miss Traill, and Mrs. H. A. Ben Oliel.
Pres., Miss F. M. Atwood.
1st Vice-Pres., Mrs. T. Waldon
2nd Vice-Pres., Mrs. T. Watson.
Corresponding Secretary, Mrs. Graham.
Recording Secretary, Mrs. S.White.
Babies' Branch Supt., Mrs. S.White
Literature Secretary, Mrs. Mahood
Treas., Mrs. Marling.
Dorcas Committee, Mrs. Barker, Mrs. Mahood and Mrs. White.

OBITUARY.

On Friday morning there passed away a well known and respected resident of Smith Township in the person of Emma Kilbourn, wife of Mr. R. H. Knox. The deceased lady was born 49 years ago in the township of Chandos. She was married to Mr. Knox in Peterboro, and for a time they resided in Chandos. Some years ago they moved to the Adams farm, in the Township of Smith, near Lakefield. Mrs. Knox has been ill for several years with paralysis. She was a member of the Lakefield Presbyterian church. Her husband and seven children survive her. One son, Arthur, went overseas in the Signal Corps of the 93rd. Another son is in Toronto in the R. F. C.: Robert H., Lulu, Leslie and Theodore are at home. Mrs. Oscar Dunford of Douro is a daughter.

The funeral will be at 1.30 on Thursday afternoon, and will leave the family residence at 2 o'clock. Interment will be in the Lakefield cemetery.

PERSONALS.

Mr. W. A. Nixon of Sheldrake, has been spending a few days at his home in the village.

Mr. T. R. Isbister left last week to report under the M.S.A. at Kingston

Mr. Glenn Madill is spending a vacation at his home here.

Mrs. W. Leonard, Sr., left last Friday on an extended visit to friends in Winnipeg.

Saturday was Shamrock Tag Day, and the children who sold the shamrocks had most gratifying results.

Rev. Father Meagher drove to Enismore to take the service on Saturday evening. He gave an eloquent sermon on Ireland's patron saint, St. Patrick.

The household goods of the late Wm. Baptie were sold by auction on Saturday last.

Mrs. C. F. Leonard was the week-end guest of his daughter, Mrs. J. C. Strickland.

Mr. Robert Alford, who has spent the winter in Peterboro, is enjoying a short holiday at his home in the village.

The many friends of Mr. Keith will be sorry to learn of his serious illness.

GRAIN MARKET

Orders which have been standing on grain dealers' books for many months, some as far back as November, are gradually being filled, now that a few cars every day are once more available. The number of cars provided, however, is still inadequate to meet immediate requirements. The millers in many cases are still waiting for wheat, which for the present they are unable to get. The oats market was easier yesterday, reacting from the sharp advance of the past few days.

CATTLE MARKET

Union Stock Yards: Receipts yesterday, 114 cars, with 1605 cattle, 300 calves, 3626 hogs and 81 sheep and lambs.

The market is still holding good for choice quality Easter cattle and baby beef steers and heifers. Seven or eight of the latter sold yesterday as high as $15. Anything of choice quality in the way of beef cattle for the Easter trade found a good market at this week's high prices. There has, however, been a lot of stuff shipped in for the week end markets that does not come up to the quality of the earlier shipments. For this the demand is not by any means keen and prices are decidedly easier.

Choice butcher cows and canners are still holding up good.

Choice lambs made another new high record in this market at $20.70 a bunch of 16 choice black faced lambs selling at that price.

Calves were good and strong.

Hogs firm at $20.50, fed and watered, with some of the drovers halding out for still higher prices, though some settlements were made at the price quoted.

Had Bronchitis FOR THREE YEARS

COULD GET NO RELIEF

Bronchitis is generally the result of a cold caused by exposure to wet and inclement weather. It begins with a tightness across the chest, difficulty in breathing, and a wheezing sound comes from the lungs. There is also a raising of phlegm from the lungs, especially in the morning. This is at first white, but later becomes of a greenish or yellowish color, and is occasionally streaked with blood.

On the first sign of bronchitis you should check it immediately by using Dr. Wood's Norway Pine Syrup, and thereby prevent it becoming chronic and perhaps turning into some more serious lung trouble.

Mr. Theodore P. Beers, Upper Main River, N.B., writes: "I was troubled with bronchitis for three years, and could get no relief. I was always worse when I got wet. I tried lots of different medicines, but none did me any good until a friend told me to try Dr. Wood's Norway Pine Syrup. I got three bottles and before I had them half used I was better.

"My mother is now using it for asthma. It is a great medicine and we never want to be without it."

Dr. Wood's Norway Pine Syrup is put up in a yellow wrapper; three pine trees the trade mark; price, 25c. and 50c.; manufactured only by The T. Milburn Co., Limited, Toronto, Ont.

Dashing into a grocery, a little boy asked for a half a pound of oleomargarine. He was being served and the grocer's man was about to wrap the margarine up in paper when the youngster exclaimed:

OUR DAILY SHORT STORY

Under the Red Flag

By WARREN MILLER

There never has been a time since men began to gather in communities with a view to establish what we call civilization that there has not been a sect who desired to take all property from the rich and divide it among the poor. In Russia they call it the bolsheviki, in France it was called in 1870 the Commune.

There was in Paris at that time the same mixture there always is among those who desire to dethrone all government. There are the rascals, who are usually the leaders; there are "those who have not" and wish to despoil those who "have." There are idealists whose mental vision is warped, many of the latter being young persons who enthusiastically fling their whole souls into a bad cause, supposing it to be a noble one.

One day during the occupation of Paris by the Commune, when the national troops were trying to recapture the city, a small body of soldiers, commanded by Captain Boyer, stood in a street resting on their arms waiting for an order to advance. Presently their captain gave the order "attention," "shoulder arms," "march."

Drum taps began to reverberate between the houses as the men moved forward through the narrow street. Now and again a shot was fired from a window, some of the bullets bringing down a man in the ranks. But the column moved on.

Gaston Dubois, the captain, marched at the head of his men, peering forward at a barricade he had been ordered to take. The street was deserted between the soldiers and the barricade. As the command approached the latter nothing but a pile of cobble stones was visible. The officer led his troops to a point within range of the defense and called a halt.

The silence of the place puzzled him. He looked in vain for a hat protruding above the works, but neither hat nor face appeared. Thinking to save life by demanding a surrender, the captain fixed his handkerchief to the point of his sword and advanced slowly. A bullet struck this extemporized flag of truce and it floated away in the wind.

The captain changed the formation of his men from column to company front, though the street was so narrow that he was obliged to divide the line, placing a part of his men behind the others, and moved forward. Single shots were fired from the barricade accompanied by an occasional crack from a window or a housetop.

Captain Boyer, fearing a trap, halted his men again for consideration. It was indeed a singular scene. The narrow deserted street, the buildings lining it seeming taller from its narrowness; not a sign of life at a window except an occasional puff of smoke from one of them; or from a roof; the pile of paving stones stopping the way, behind which the only evidence of human beings was the crack of a rifle every few minutes, all combined to fill the captain with a distrust he would not have felt in confronting an enemy ten times as numerous as his company of riflemen.

"It is an ambush, captain," said his first lieutenant.

"What kind of an ambush?" queried the commander.

"Why, when we reach a certain distance from the barricade a swarm of these devilish communists will leap over its top and overpower us by mere force of numbers."

"That may be true," rejoined the captain, "but it will not prevent our dying like soldiers doing our duty." Then raising his voice: "Forward, march!"

The troops obeyed, but it was plain that they moved with reluctance. There was scarcely one of them who had not formed some such solution of the situation as the lieutenant. The barricade looked to them more dreadful than a hundred men lined up for battle, with guns pointed at them, ready to fire.

They had reached a point some hundred feet from the rampart when the defense sprang to its crest. But it was no hoard of communists with rifles, shotguns, scythes and other improvised implements of war. It was a slender girl; or rather, a beautiful fury. In her left hand she held a blood-red flag, its color reflected in her cheeks; in her right a revolver from which she sent bullets at the attacking force.

When all the chambers of her weapon were emptied, throwing it at the foremost files, she took the red flag of the Commune in both her hands, held it aloft and waved it defiantly. The captain, his lieutenants, his men stood motionless. Not a shot was returned, though several of the men were wounded. Presently the captain said:

"Mademoiselle, have you a force concealed behind the barricade?"

"No, monsieur le capitaine. The men have skulked away leaving me its sole defender. Vive la Commune!"

The captain, uncovered, went to the foot of the rampart and held out his hand inviting her to descend.

"I am your prisoner," said the girl, "take me to prison; but I have no need of your assistance."

"I'm going to conduct you to the rear of my men and permit you to go your way. You are a heroine in an execrable cause."

All the fire left her. Extending her hand she permitted him to assist her from the crest of the barricade and to lead her away like a little child.

Faithful Dog.

A dog's faith in its master has been touchingly illustrated at Riom, France, recently. The man has gone to the war, and has been killed, but the dog still awaits his return, and he refuses to leave the station at Riom. Upon the arrival of each train he dashes out on to the platform, runs first to the locomotive and then scampers from carriage to carriage, looking for the object of his affection—until the whistle blows and he is left to gaze wistfully, as he did once in 1914.

Bruises and Sprains

Have Sloan's Liniment handy for bruises and sprains and all pains and aches. Quick relief follows its prompt application. No need to rub. It quickly penetrates to the trouble and drives out the pain. Cleaner than mussy plasters or ointments. Sloan's Liniment does not stain the skin nor clog the pores. For rheumatic aches, neuralgia, stiff muscles, lame back, lumbago, sore throat, and sprains, it gives quick relief. Generous sized bottles at all druggists.

A Pioneer of the Sea.

The king's recent visit to Port Glasgow recalls a fact in the history of ships and shipbuilding which has a particular interest at the present time. As everybody knows, observes the Montreal Herald, it was from Port Glasgow that the first steamer ever built, the Comet, owner Henry Bell, was launched in 1812. She was a 30-ton vessel with an engine of three horse power, and was found to be so successful that within the next two years two larger craft were constructed. One of these was the Marjery, and from the Clyde the Marjery was transferred to the Thames, and plied between London and Gravesend during the first months of 1815. But she was viewed with disfavor by the Thames watermen. She was very much of a novelty, and they were suspicious of novelties; besides, they considered that this Scotch-built boat interfered with their rights. So the Marjery left the Thames for the Seine; her owners having sold her to a French company. To reach the Seine she had to cross the channel, and she was thus the first steamer to do so.

Wild Foods, Seeds and Roots.

One of the projects outlined by the committee on botany of the national research council is the search for wild plants which may be used as wartime substitutes for the more costly crop plants. During the Civil war Dr. John Porcher, a southerner, published a book giving a list of plants of the South which could be substituted for much-needed food and drug plants. The American Botanist, Joliet, Ill., proposes, with the aid of its readers, to compile a similar list. Information is sought as to any plants not ordinarily cultivated which have edible fruits, seeds, roots, etc. It is suggested that valuable knowledge on this subject might be obtained from hunters, trappers, woodsmen, farmers, Indians and the foreigners, who pick up considerable food from the countryside. Similar information is desired concerning plants that can be used in medicine.

Pensioners Long Lived.

The annual report of the United States Commissioner of Pensions for the year ending August 1, 1917, is of special interest because of its statistics of war pensioners at the beginning of a new war. Over fifty years have elapsed since the Civil War ended. On June 30 last there were 329,226 Civil War pensioners on the rolls and 234,216 Civil War widows. The grand total of all pensioners, including 109 widows of the war of 1812, was 708,572. The amount expended on pensions in the fiscal year 1917 was $160,895,054.

BRITISH AIR DEFENCES.

Correspondent Is Given a Ride In a Fast Machine.

Flying at a speed of from 80 to 140 miles an hour and at a height of from 2,000 to 8,000 feet in one of the latest and fastest British battleplanes, a correspondent of the Associated Press inspected the outer defences of London on a crisp morning recently.

Few Canadians have any adequate idea of the magnitude of these defences and their present high state of efficiency. Millions of pounds have been spent on them and an army is constantly employed in manning and maintaining them.

A motor car took the correspondent to "somewhere in the outskirts of London," where it passed through roads camouflaged by shrubbery to a great aerodrome, one of the finest in England. This aerodrome boasts several Canadians among its most efficient fliers, but it is not permissible to give their names.

Upon the party's arrival England's crack daredevil flier put on a "show." This man, who looks more like a meek, mild-mannered dry goods clerk than a wizard of the air, put the machine through a series of performances that made even some of the veteran fliers who watched from below hold their breath. Looping the loop, nose diving, banking, volplaning to within a few feet of the earth and then pointing the nose of the machine skyward for a rise at express train speed were but a few of the moves this pilot went through with his observer. When he came down the correspondent was taken up in the same machine, but with another pilot, for a ride through the clouds and a bird's-eye view of the outer defences of this particular part of London.

This machine was a ——— fighter. The type of machine mounting a synchronized machine gun has earned the reputation of being perhaps the most reliable of the fighting planes turned out by the British manufacturers. The pilot on the trip was a young member of the Royal Flying Corps, who was to go to France the next week. The night before this flight he had been up fighting with German Gothas at a height of between 11,000 and 12,000 feet.

The best view of things below was made at an average speed of 80 miles an hour, over factories and suburbs, a great arsenal, a famous school and a town best known for its American colony. Up aloft the weather was typical of the American autumnal day. There was just a hint of frost on the roof tops, which made them show up more plainly than usual through the light mist. All was quiet and peaceful in an area which the presence of the Goths would in an instant transform into a battle-front, encircled by the barrage from the anti-aircraft guns thousands of feet below.

STOP CATARRH! OPEN NOSTRILS AND HEAD

Says Cream Applied in Nostrils Relieves Head-Colds at Once.

If your nostrils are clogged and your head is stuffed and you can't breathe freely because of a cold or catarrh, just get a small bottle of Ely's Cream Balm at any drug store. Apply a little of this fragrant, antiseptic cream into your nostrils and let it penetrate through every pair passage of your head, soothing and healing the inflamed, swollen mucous membrane and you get instant relief.

Ah! how good it feels. Your nostrils are open, your head is clear, no more hawking, snuffling, blowing; no more headache, dryness or struggling for breath. Ely's Cream Balm is just what sufferers from head colds and catarrh need. It's a delight.

Salvage Corps at Battle Front.

According to the systems now established in modern warfare, it is stated by a war correspondent, a salvage corps is daily going over all the ground near the battle front exposed to fire, and is gathering all the debris discarded by the contending armies. None of the scrap is neglected, with steel worth one shilling to one and one-half shillings per pound, and copper and other metals in proportion. All the metals are taken to shops in the rear, and there worked into the various munitions that a modern army uses.

All the lead that is fired is practically lost, as a bullet traveling at a velocity of 2,000 feet or more per second buries itself so deep into any object it hits as to be lost entirely. Other metals, however, such as tangled steel from wrecked motor cars, large pieces of shells, bits of copper, pieces of aluminum, etc., are carefully collected and later turned into usable condition.

How Alaska Got Its Name.

The name Alaska is said to have been given to the whole of that territory by the Russian traders who first reached the island of Unlashka, on the authority of the natives, who declared that to the eastward there was a great land or territory which was called Alayeska. From this the present name of Alaska is derived.

Turks Sought British Aid.

"A relief from the atrocities of war may be seen in the excerpt of a letter from a nephew of mine," writes Valentine Robinson, 40 Wall street, New York, in the Herald, who is in the engineers' corps in Palestine:

"'After the flies and sand of the desert the grass and trees of ——— were very grateful to the eye. We soon had a little brush with the Turks and some of our men were hurt; we drove them off and soon after a flag of truce came in with three Turkish officers. They wanted to borrow a doctor; theirs had been killed. Two of the officers, "majors," were to remain as hostages for his safe return. Devens volunteered and when he came back had with him two ——— regiment wounded that they had given him in gratitude. The two boys had been treated well, but were glad to be back with their own folk.'"

SINCE the British and Canadian Recruiting Mission, under Brigadier-General W. A. White, C.M.G., started its campaign for recruits in the United States, on June 8, '17, about 35,000 Britishers and Canadians have offered themselves voluntarily for service in the British and Canadian Armies, and of this number over 20,000 have been accepted and are either in the trenches or well on the way there.

About three-quarters of the recruits secured have gone into the Canadian Expeditionary Force, the balance going to the British Army. The work of the Mission in the United States has had a very important effect in keeping the Canadian Army at the front up to strength. Two-thirds of the officers engaged in the thirty depots, located in various parts of the United States, are Canadians. The ranking officer of the Canadian contingent is Colonel J. S. Dennis, C.E.F. He is also second in command of the Mission.

Lieutenant-Colonel F. C. Jamieson, C.E.F., is in charge of the Eastern Division. Major A. W. Owen, C.E.F., is officer commanding the Western Division, with headquarters in Chicago, and Major C. B. Macbeth, C.E.F., commands the Pacific Division in San Francisco. Captain P. F. Sise, Canadian Overseas Military Force, is in charge of the Publicity and Intelligence section, with headquarters in New York. All the divisions are under Brigadier-General White, whose headquarters are at 511 Fifth Avenue, New York, and the mission itself is a part of the British War Mission.

Among the commissioned and non-commissioned officers and privates hard at work every day are many who have fought in France and helped make Canadian valor so well known that Secretary of State Lansing of the United States recently declared that if the soldiers of the United States became as good soldiers as the Canadians he would be perfectly satisfied.

Brigadier-General White and Colonel Dennis have just started a big drive for recruits and are bending all their efforts to securing 20,000 men in the next two months. Under the terms of the international draft convention between the United States and Great Britain, all Britishers and Canadians in the United States between the ages of twenty and forty years, inclusive, have sixty days after the signing of the convention in which to volunteer for either the British or Canadian Army before they are drafted into the United States Army. Citizens of the United States in Great Britain or Canada between twenty-one and thirty-one years have the same time in which to volunteer for service in the United States Army or be drafted into the British or Canadian Army. The convention has been signed by Lord Reading, British Ambassador to the United States, and Secretary Lansing representing the United States. It now goes to Parliament and to the United States Senate for ratification. Since the news of this convention has been so widely disseminated larger numbers of Britishers and Canadians have been offering their services at the various recruiting depots in the United States.

Brigadier-General White makes the point that owing to the longer experience of Great Britain and Canada in training soldiers, and owing to the additional fact that the United States has its hands full in training its drafted men, any Britisher or Canadian who really desires to add to the man power of the Allies quickly can do so by volunteering for either the British or Canadian Army. A number of Canadians have been enlisted in the United States, sent to the front, done their bit, and been invalided home, all within six months.

IF KIDNEYS ACT BAD TAKE SALTS

Says Backache is Sign You Have Been Eating Too Much Meat

When you wake up with backache and dull misery in the kidney region it generally means you have been eating too much meat, says a well-known authority. Meat forms uric acid which overworks the kidneys in their effort to filter it from the blood, and they become sort of paralyzed and loggy. When your kidneys get sluggish and clog you must relieve them, like you relieve your bowels; removing all the body's urinous waste, else you have backache, sick headache, dizzy spells; your stomach sours, tongue is coated, and when the weather is bad you have rheumatic twinges. The urine is cloudy, full of sediment, channels often get sore, water scalds, and you are obliged to seek relief two or three times during the night.

Either consult a good, reliable physician at once or get from your pharmacist about four ounces of Jad Salts; take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast for a few days and your kidneys will then act fine. This famous salts is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and has been used for generations to clean and stimulate sluggish kidneys, also to neutralize acids in the urine so it no longer irritates, thus ending bladder weakness.

Jad Salts is a life saver for regular meat eaters. It is inexpensive, cannot injure and makes a delightful, effervescent lithia-water drink.

Steam Against Sails.

Modern naval development may be said to have begun with the rapid increase in the size of ships which took place at the close of the fifteenth century; and mediaeval history finally closed with the battle of Lepanto in 1571, the last great action in which rowing galleys played an important part. From this time the sail-propelled man-of-war was gradually improved until early in the nineteenth century, when sails began to give way to steam.

Concrete Amusements.

To cultivate a spirit of restfulness, and a larger vision, is the aim or should be of those who would prevent delinquency. Concrete amusements are desirable, says a writer, but they do not make up for instilling the habit of leisurely friendships, that are equally appreciated by the boy in his adolescence, or the man who has become a fine citizen through their influence.

Insects Carry Disease.

Standard works on medicine published twenty years ago made no mention of insects in connection with the etiology of disease. Up to the present time, according to data compiled from recent literature, says the Scientific American, discoveries have been recorded of the carriage by insects to man or animals of 226 different disease organisms; 87 organisms are known to be parasitic in insects, but not known to be transmitted, and 282 species of insects are recorded as causes or carriers of disease of man or animals.

Colors of Sardines.

The fresh sardine is a beautiful little fish. The scales on its back are an iridescent blue-green, the exact tint which the sea so often takes, while beneath the scales there shows up the most wonderful peacock blue. There are bars on its back and sides when it first comes out of the water like those on the mackerel, but they seem to fade and disappear the moment it is exposed to the air. The rest of its body is pure silver.

As Balzac Depicted Man.

Balzac's object in writing the numerous volumes that succeeded each other with an astounding regularity was to depict man as he presented himself to his view, and, in fact, in his works he brings to life again the history of the generation to which he belongs, describing his contemporaries, in particular the humble bourgeois of the middle class, with a most striking exactness.

Elfin Miners.

All over Europe a popular belief prevails that elfin miners are constantly laboring in the bowels of the mountains, where they have accumulated enormous stores of precious metals. In Wales they are called "knockers." They make strange noises, and the tapping of their picks may often be heard in ore bodies not yet reached by the human workmen.

Evolution.

The processes of evolution have worked for myriads of years to develop a form of living beauty, until the wanton destructiveness of man intervenes, and an auk, or a dodo, or a passenger pigeon, is forever erased from the roll of living things. It is a loss of which the mind cannot bear to think.

Rare Quality.

To be able to summon courage enough to acknowledge one's own wrong-doing is to be possessed of qualities that raise humanity to the plane of the angels, observes a writer. The man who has this courage in the highest degree "cannot in the world be singly counterpoised."

Aching Bones And Sore Joints Cured! All Rheumatic Tendencies Destroyed!

Away Go the Crutches, Every Sufferer Made Well Quickly

Old age is usually afflicted with rheumatism. Very few past fifty escape its tortures.

Many it bends and deforms. Upon the countenance of others it marks the effects of its awful suffering. Nerviline will cure rheumatism. It takes the pain out of throbbing muscles and swollen joints. It untwists gnarled knuckles. It does this quickly and surely.

Nerviline is not used internally. You just rub it on—lots of hard rubbing is required for a minute or two, and then you feel Nerviline penetrating through the tissues; you feel it drawing out the congestion, feel it sink in deeper and deeper till at last it ouches the core of the joint or the heart of the muscle affected.

You won't stay in pain with Nerviline—no one ever does. Just try it—you will be amazed at its magical power over pain, a power it gets from the extracts and the juices of certain rare herbs and roots it contains. It is harmless—any child can use Nerviline, can rub it on for a sore throat, for a bad cold, for stiff neck, or for earache. No family remedy half so useful.

The large 25c bottle is most economical. All dealers or the Catarrhozone Co., Kingston, Canada.

RECIPE TO DARKEN GRAY HAIR

A Cincinnati Barber Tells How to Make a Remedy for Gray Hair.

Mr. Frank Harbaugh, of Cincinnati, O., who has been a barber for more than forty years, recently made the following statement:

"Anyone can prepare a simple mixture at home, at very little cost, that will darken gray hair, and make it soft and glossy. To a half pint of water add 1 ounce bay rum, a small box of Orlex Compound and ¼ ounce glycerine. These ingredients can be bought at any drug store at very little cost. Apply to the hair twice a week until the desired shade is obtained. This will make a gray haired person look twenty years younger. It does not colour the scalp, is not sticky or greasy and does not rub off."

Strange Steers.

"Say, said a short, bowlegged corporal in France the other day, "I wanta send three pictures home to the folks, but I dunno how I can get it across. These censorship rules say all you can send is pictures of yourself without background that might indicate whereabouts of the studio or other strategic information. These ain't pictures of myself, nothing like it. Wait till I tell you.

—"I'm going to entitle this series 'Rapid Transit in France.' I took 'em with a little pocket camera. There's one I took up at the port where we landed, first picture I took in France. It shows one of the two-wheeled carts, with three animals hitched to it. One is a horse, one is a dog, and in the middle there's a great big old yow, and an old French feller in a blue nightshirt sittin' in the road milkin' the cow.

"Then there's another I took over at —— (the town where general headquarters are situated) of the bus that goes down to the station to meet trains. You won't believe this unless you've seen it, but that bus is hitched up to a horse an' a camel, a regular camel like you see in a circus, come from Morocco, they tell me, and looks as if it had gone as long as camels can go without a drink, or chow, either.

"The last one's a prize. I took it in one of these villages up the line. It's a young kid in a soldier's coat down to his knees walkin' down the main street with a stick in his hand drivin' a sled, and what do you guess is hitched to the sled? By gosh, a big fat goose, and nothing else. The kid's steerin' the goose with the stick, and the goose lookin' around with that fool goose look, just like the pictures you see of that crown price.

"Say, what do you think those folks with their automobiles and subways and everything would make of that? It sure would open their eyes. Travel's a great thing for a man," said the corporal.

Watches, Thick and Thin.

Although some of the early watches were very small in circumference, they were thick, and the front and back fairly bulged so that they were more the shape of an apple than a cookie, which they really resemble today. The waferlike watch is an invention of very recent times, and the process of thinning it is even now going on. The obvious advantage of the thin watch is that it can be placed in the belt or pocket without making a bulge. If watches had always been worn round the necks they might still be spherical rather than disklike in shape.

Substitute for Sugar.

A substitute for sugar is being extracted from grapes in the Turin (Italy) consular district. The grape sugar resembles honey, contains no water and can be conserved for long periods of time. It is popularly known as "honey of grapes."

VINOL MAKES CHILDREN STRONG

And Invigorates Old People

Any doctor will tell you that the ingredients of Vinol as printed below contain the elements needed to improve the health of delicate children and restore strength to old people.

Cod Liver and Beef Peptones, Iron and Manganese Peptonates, Iron and Ammonium Citrate, Lime and Soda Glycerophosphates, Cascara.

Those who have puny, ailing or run-down children or aged parents may prove this at our expense.

Besides the good it does children and the aged there is nothing like Vinol to restore strength and vitality to weak, nervous women and overworked, run-down men.

Try it. If you are not entirely satisfied, we will return your money without question; that proves our fairness and your protection. Millions of people have been convinced this way.

A Hun's Mind.

What is the real feeling of the average man in Germany in regard to the sinking of hospital ships, the destruction of cathedrals and universities, air raids on defenceless towns, and similar acts? I am often asked this question. In the first place, the people are misled by press and politician, and official reports can always justify any procedure intended to advance the national cause. Germany is not entirely singular in this respect. But that is not the real explanation of the every-day German attitude toward "frightfulness." Here, as in all the other factors which go to make up Germanism, we trace the influence of the Prussian system. "Frightfulness" of some kind or other has characterized the whole history of the Prussian life, and it is to-day accepted as a matter of course by the man in the street. Krieg ist krieg (war is war) has been the usual excuse for the outrages of the past three years. The question so often asked in England, "Is the German conscience dead?" points to an inability to grasp the implications of that conscience. Deutschland uber Alles has long been the expression of the conscience of Germany.—A. D. McLaren in Atlantic.

Paraguay's Resources.

Paraguay has a population variously estimated at 300,000 to 1,000,000, but according to a report from Henry H. Balch, American Consul at Asuncion, the actual buying capacity would probably be measured by an average population of 300,000 as found in the United States. The wealth of the country is chiefly centered in the agricultural, cattle and timber industries, none of which is yet very well developed. As an American concern, however, is now constructing a big meat packing and refrigerating plant near Asuncion, and has acquired grazing and quebracho timber lands, all of which represent an estimated value of $5,000,000 United States gold, and another American packing company has bought a local meat-packing plant capitalised at $250,000, and now almost ready for operations, considerable development in the industry of the country will take place, and this will stimulate other lines.

Kaiser Well Protected.

So closely is the German Emperor guarded when he travels by rail through Belgium that his movements are kept even from the railroad officials handling his train up to the last possible moment, according to a correspondent of the London Chronicle, who has several times witnessed the Emperor's arrival, says the Associated Press.

"Whenever the passage of the Imperial train is to take place the fact is not known to the chief railway official until the same day, and to his subordinates not until a quarter of an hour before the arrival," the correspondent says. "In the station the lines are all kept free."

Describing one such arrival of the Emperor's train the correspondent says: "All workmen, on this occasion, whether Belgian or German, were despatched outside, and access to the station was forbidden. This applied to all passengers as well. The military guards occupying parts of the station and environs were ordered to leave their posts and pile their arms. The only persons allowed on the platform were the station master, his employes appointed to work the signals, and the military chief. There was no guard of honor, no manifestation whatever.

"This clearing of the station takes place at every station through which the train passes, which it does at the maximum regulation speed. At Brussels detrainment took place opposite the Place Rogier, which is a military post since the occupation.

"The space in front of the station, which is always forbidden ground to passengers, was occupied by several motor cars. As soon as the Emperor entered his car the small fleet ran swiftly to the Pare Rue Royale, where the Kaiser stayed several hours.

"During the presence of the Kaiser the officials always display the utmost nervousness in fear of anything taking place, and they always breathe a sigh of relief when their master is gone. The fact that even the military are obliged to retire and pile their arms seems to suggest a distrust of his own army."

Old Trees.

When one of the big trees in California fell, John Muir counted 4,000 rings from the heart out. That means the tree was forty centuries old. Thus it was a strong young tree when Abraham went into Egypt; it was bearing seed when Sodom and Gomorrah were destroyed; it was an old tree when Joseph was sold into Egypt, nearly 1,000 years old when David slew Goliath, and older when Christ was born than the Christian religion is to-day.

Feeding Cattle From Cars.

The desert cattle ranchers of Arizona and New Mexico have learned that to raise cattle is one business, and to fatten them is another. For this reason, they ship their cattle to California, where sugar beet pulp is obtained in abundance. One factory is located near the fields where the beets are grown. The cattle are turned into this field after the beets are harvested.

Under the fence is placed a trough which projects outside of the fence just enough to allow the beet pulp to be thrown into it from the cars. The cars run on tracks from the factory to the field and follow the fences around the corral. More space is thus obtained for the beef cattle to feed, and there is but little waste of fodder. In these war days the cattlemen are learning to conserve stock food, as the cattle themselves are conserved for our use.—Popular Science Monthly.

At a Very Early Date.

An early English visitor to Boston recorded that "you no sooner enter a taphouse than you find a constable at your elbow who prescribes the quantity you may drink." He also mentioned getting for fourpence "a quart of cider spiced and sweetened with sugar."

LIVER TROUBLE and HEARTBURN

CURED BY MILLBURN'S LAXA-LIVER PILLS

When the liver is torpid and inflamed it cannot furnish bile to the bowels, causing them to become bound and costive. The symptoms are a feeling of fullness or weight in the right side, and shooting pains in the same region, pains between the shoulders, yellowness of the skin and eyes, floating specks before the eyes, coated tongue, bad taste in the morning, heartburn, water brash, etc.

Milburn's Laxa-Liver Pills gently unlock the secretions, clear away all effete and waste matter from the system, and give tone and vitality to the whole intestinal track, and are by far the safest and quickest remedy for all diseases or disorders of the liver.

Mrs. A. Cummings, Manchester, Ont., writes: "I have used Milburn's Laxa-Liver Pills some time, and can faithfully recommend them to anyone suffering from heartburn and liver trouble. I tried a great many other remedies but they only relieved me for a time. I believe Laxa-Liver Pills to be a valuable remedy for all sufferers from liver troubles."

Milburn's Laxa-Liver Pills are 25c a vial at all dealers, or mailed direct on receipt of price by The T. Milburn Co., Limited, Toronto, Ont.

Hindu Casualties Heavy.

The losses of the gallant Hindu soldiers in the great war have been for the first time announced. Starting immediately war was declared, 24,000 of these Mohammedan fighters for Christianity arrived in France and took their place on the firing line. Eight months after 30,000 more were sent over in a body to take the place of their brothers who had been put out of commission. The original 24,000 had been re-enforced by 12,000 fellow Hindus earlier in the war, and of these 30,000 had been killed, captured or wounded. The Hindus charged with wonderful dash and scorned shelter with heroic but costly audacity.

Dandruff Soon Ruins The Hair

Girls—if you want plenty of thick, beautiful, glossy, silky hair, do by all means get rid of dandruff, for it will starve your hair and ruin it if you don't.

It doesn't do much good to try to brush or wash it out. The only sure way to get rid of dandruff is to dissolve it, then you destroy it entirely. To do this, get about four ounces of ordinary liquid arvon; apply it at night when retiring; use enough to moisten the scalp and rub it in gently with the finger tips.

By morning, most if not all, of your dandruff will be gone, and three or four more applications will completely dissolve and entirely destroy every single sign and trace of it.

You will find, too, that all itching and digging of the scalp will stop, and your hair will look and feel a hundred times better. You can get liquid arvon at any drug store. It is inexpensive and four ounces is all you will need, no matter how much dandruff you have. This simple remedy never fails.

Crossing the Golden Horn.

At the bridge—one of the Turkish gunboats having carried away a portion of that dilapidated structure in passing out from her anchorage in the Golden Horn—it is necessary to hire a caique in order to get to the other side. It is dangerous business, even in daylight, to steer clear of innumerable small craft; while crossing the busy Horn at night is a weird, uncanny sensation. You pass under the shadow of great vessels at anchor, and skim past other small boats without lanterns in the dark. Eventually you land safely, to be rewarded with a magnificent view of Stamboul in Ramazan display. As you ascend the steep street leading to Pera the other shore becomes a scene that makes you forget for a moment the filth and foul odors of the dismal streets. On the lofty sky line the brilliant illumination of domed mosques is conspicuous, while still higher, up in the heavens themselves, are dainty bracelets of lights encircling the towering minarets. Anyway down in the harbor between tall cypress trees you get a glimpse of many moving lights of passing boats and ships at anchor, and also the reflections from the domes and the minarets. Stopping your ears, then, for a moment, to the distant howling of the dogs, you too may be filled with a delicious sense of reverence and feel that it is indeed a Night of Power and "peace until the rising of the dawn."

The Woman Who Changed

By JANE PHELPS

George Refuses To Go To The Dinner

Evelyn came over almost immediately, and we planned the dinner for her husband's birthday. He was twenty-three years old, and she called it her "Skiddo" dinner.

"I wouldn't dare say it to anyone but you!" she laughed.

After we had decided the menu and the decorations she said:

"Now for the list of guests."

Aside from George and myself they were all, or nearly all, young friends of Kurts. Some married, some single. I was delighted that I was to meet so many young people. That George would refuse to go never entered my head until Evelyn said:

"Your husband seems so much older than any of us, do you suppose he'll come?"

"Of course he will! Haven't I accepted your invitation." I replied, commencing to feel a little frightened. I had asserted myself for the first time in accepting an invitation without consulting George. What should I do if he should refuse to go—not allow me to go? I should be more disappointed than I could say.

"I should never forgive him if he didn't allow you to come." Evelyn said as she left me, after cautioning me to remember every single thing Mrs. Sexton told me.

GEORGE IS TOLD.

"We are invited to a birthday dinner," I told George when he came in. "The formal invitation will come to-morrow."

"Evelyn Reeve is giving a dinner for Kurts. He is twenty-three years old."

"It will be impossible for me to go," he replied without even asking when it was to be.

"But it isn't for a week!" I exclaimed thinking he had a idea it was the next night.

"That makes no difference! such affairs bore me. A lot of giggling girls and half baked fellows. I know the kind."

I felt my eyes fill, and the choking feeling in my throat. But I determined not to give up hope until I had pleaded with him.

"But George, it is to be a lovely party! the menu is delightful"—my husband was very fond of good food—"and there is to be dancing, and favors, and everything! Do say you'll go."

"I told you it would be impossible."

I said no more. I couldn't without crying. But I ate no dinner, which made George even more unpleasant.

"If you can't have your own way, you sulk and act like a child," he said when I told him I couldn't eat. It wasn't true, I never sulked, but it hurt me to have him say it.

After he had gone to the club—or somewhere else—as usual, I thought it all over. I would go anyway. That is, I would unless he either forbade me, or locked me up. I really considered he was quite capable of the latter if I went contrary to his wishes. But if he allowed me to go, and was just cross, why I would try and not let it spoil my good time. Why he wasn't so much older than the rest, yet he had called them "giggling girls, and half baked fellows." I wished he had been just a little younger feeling and acting.

PETTY TYRANNY.

The next morning didn't mention the dinner. But when George came home at night, I showed him the invitation which had come by post, and asked him if he wouldn't reconsider When he refused I said:

"I told Evelyn that I would come."

"Oh, you did. And how did you know I wouldn't object?"

"But you won't, will you, George? They are all my age, the girls, and I do so want to know them."

"Well, go along! But don't ask me to go to such baby affairs. They bore me. What do you intend to wear, to this party you are going to without me?"

"The white dress I wore to Mrs. Loring's. None of them have seen it, and I never have worn it but that once so it is in perfect condition."

"You be sure it is, or I won't have you going in it. I won't have people say my wife is badly dressed, even at a party where she probably won't be with people who know."

"Oh, it is perfectly all right, George," I exclaimed, frightened lest he even now change his mind and forbid me to go.

"I'll be the judge of that! If you aren't all right when you are dressed, you'll stay at home I shall come home early to judge."

I knew my dress was all right, that he could not object to it in any way. It wasn't even crumpled, and he had approved it. Yet I was chilled—all my enthusiasm over the party gone for the time.

I loved George at this time, but as I left the room I had a queer feeling of disappointment and fear. Fear of the years to come.

ATTACKS REPULSED

Enemy Used Battalions of Shock Troops on the French Front —Heavy Losses Inflicted

AEROPLANES DESTROYED

Canadian Press Despatch:

PARIS, March 21. — (Official.)— Strong German attacks preceded by heavy shelling along the Woevre front were repulsed by the French to-day with heavy losses to the enemy. There was intermittent artillery fighting between the Ailette and the Aisne, and in the Champagne district. The artillery struggle proved rather violent on the right bank of the Meuse, the Verdun front and in the Forest of Parrey. In Woevre, in the region of Brulewood, the Germans to-day made a strong attack on our positions. After a spirited engagement our troops ejected enemy detachments which had succeeded in gaining a footing in some of our advanced positions.

According to fuller information, which is now at hand the attack which the enemy made in the region of Souain early this morning was carried out by battalions of shock troops, which suffered heavy losses and met with complete check. Bad weather yesterday impeded aerial operations. Information now at hand shows that six German airplanes and one captive balloon reported as having been damaged on the preceding day, in reality were destroyed by our pilots.

Allies Ready To Begin Big Offensive Under Chief War Council

Belief in Washington That Germany Will Remain on the Defensive —Large Forces Held in Reserve Which May Be Directed to Any Sector.

AN AMERICAN VIEW

NEW YORK, March 21.—Despite the fact that for a long time the Germans have been advertising their intention to begin a grand offensive on the allied fronts, it now is believed that the exact opposite is more likely and that the Allies are ready for a big drive against the Huns.

Washington despatches indicate that the Supreme War Council of the Entente holds the upper hand and that instead of the German armies opening the offensive they soon will be on the defensive, with vast forces of men and unlimited quantities of ammunition smashing at their discouraged lines.

Probably realizing that their efforts to hearten the people at home are beginning to require something more substantial than words, another tack has been taken by the German leaders which either must result in an attempt to carry out seemingly vainglorious promises or result in the German population believing, as the allied leaders long have believed, that with their opponents strengthened in every department and prepared to counter any assault, the German high command is strong on holding out chimeras and weak in endeavouring to make good their boasts.

Almost as perfunctorily as invitations are issued for attendance upon State functions the Germans now have bidden journalists of neutral countries to appear in the western battle front to fitness the commencement of the German offensive operations. The correspondents, it is stated, are expected to begin their journey toward the scene of the purposed fighting on Wednesday, where all along the line the allied armies, their guns shotted and their men ready, are waiting with confidence the long advertised attack.

In the meantime all along the battle front in the west hostilities continue to be carried out by means of the big guns of the opposing sides and by small units of in-

BRITISH ADMIRALTY HAS REVEALED SUBMARINE LOSSES

In Spite of Tremendous Losses the Shipbuilding Output Has Steadily Carried Upward

THE NET LOSS

Canadian Press Despatch:

WASHINGTON, March 21.—The secret figures of the British Admiralty on Submarine losses and world ship building were made public here today by the British Embassy. They show that from both enemy action and marine risk on January 1, 1918, allied and neutral shipping had lost since the war began 11,827,572 gross tons, while shipyards outside of the Central Powers were turning out 6,6067,275 tons.

In spite of the tremendous total of losses, they do not approach the claims of the Germans, and with 2,589,000 tons of enemy ships added to the output of the war period, the net loss to allied shipping exclusive of that of Germany and her allies, is only 2,641,297.

The maximum of losses was reached in the second quarter of 1917 after unrestricted submarine warfare, which drew the United States into the struggle, was launched. That quarter 2,-236,934 gross tons of ships were down. Since then the total has been reduced, until in the fourth quarter of 1917 it was 1,272,843. In the meantime the shipbuilding output has steadily curved upward.

AMERICA WILL FOLLOW SUIT

STATES WILL JOIN IN A FRANK DISCUSSION OF SUBMARINE MENACE

(Special to The Examiner.)

Washington, March 21. — Abandoning its policy of secrecy, the United States is going to join with Great Britain in a frank discussion of the submarine menace, to impress on the people of this country the vital necessity of individual and united effort to beat the U-boat. The head of the Shipping Board has prepared a statement to follow that of Sir Eric Geddes, the First Lord of the British Navy, in the House of Commons. The statement will openly show the great tasks before the Allies, in a speech this week.

OBJECTOR IN POLICE COURT

George Dinsdale Said He Wouldn't Take Life Even in Defence of His Country--Has Writings Banned By Censor

HIS SWORD NOT CARNAL

"I am trying to walk in the footsteps of my Saviour and I am going to do it as nearly as possible," declared George W. Dinsdale, 321 Bolivar street, who with John W. Boorman, was charged in police court this morning with possessing copies of publications prohibited by an order-in-council respecting censorship.

Closely questioned by Magistrate Dumble, who was apparently trying to learn the effects of specially prescribed literature, a book entitled "The Finished Mystery," and the monthly paper of the International Bible Students' Association, Dinsdale declared that he had conscientious scruples against taking human life.

"Even in defence of your country," His Worship asked.

"Even in defence of my country," was this defendant's pondered reply.

"As taught by these books," Magistrate Dumble pursued.

"No; as taught by our Master when He commanded St. Peter saying, "Our weapons are not carnal, put up your sword."

Magistrate Dumble—Have you conscientious scruples against entering the army in defence of your country?

Mr. Dinsdale— If I was called I would consider it my duty not to do so. I would object, but I would consider what my duty was.

"As Pastor Russel taught," queried the Magistrate.

"He just laid bare the facts I adopt."

"He interpreted the Scriptures?"

"I'm not referring to his interpretations," Dinsdale said, and, referring to a pasage from the Book of Ezekial, trailed off into an explanation of his views that were probably clear and sufficient to himself but which must have mystified most of his audience.

Magistrate Dumble— You say you would not be justified in taking life in defence of your country?

Mr. G. N. Gordon (solicitor for the defendants)— But he says he would consider his duty, and he might have a different view.

Mr. Dinsdale—I could conscientiously serve in the Medical Corps.

Magistrate Dumble— Your Saviour never taught you to turn your back on your country in her hour of need.

"Did you ever read the Book of Esther," continued His Worship.

GERMAN GUNS THUNDER ALONG BRITISH FRONT

Heavy Bombardment Opened This Morning With the Coming of Dawn—British Carry Out a Successful Raid—Several Patrol Encounters.

ARTILLERY ACTIVITY ON WIDE FRONT

LONDON, March 21.—(Official).—The Germans this morning, just before dawn, began a heavy bombardment over a wide section of the British front. A heavy bombardment was opened on the whole front from the neighbourhood of Vendeuil, south of St. Quentin, to the River Scarpe. A successful raid was carried out by us last night in the neighbourhood of St. Quentin. Thirteen prisoners and three machine guns were brought back by our troops. Prisoners also were taken by us in patrol encounters south-east of Messines, and in another successful raid carried out by us south of the Houtholst Forest. A raid undertaken by the enemy in the neighbourhood of Armentieres was repulsed.

May Herald an Offensive.

From Vendeuil north to the River Scarpe is a distance of nearly fifty miles, and the beginning by the German artillery of a heavy bombardment along this wide front may mean that the preparation for the much advertised German offensive in the West has been begun. The preparatory work was about due to begin to-day. It is of course impossible to say whether the present burst of artillery fire on this front means that it is along the line indicated or somewhere within its limits that a heavy German blow, if one indeed is coming, is to be struck. This area embraces most of the territory outside of Flanders over which the British have been fighting, sometimes alone and sometimes in conjunction with the French, for the past two years. Within these limits also is the battlefield of Cambrai. Virtually all territory fought over in the great battle of Arras during the spring of 1917 also lies in the area under bombardment.

TROTSKY'S TRUMP CARD "IN WORLD DIPLOMACY"

Former Russian Minister of Foreign Affairs Tried to Launch in the Teuton Nations a Revolution that Would Save Russian Democracy.

DRAMATIC STORY REVEALED

(By Robt. J. Bender—Copyright by the United Press).

WASHINGTON, March 21.—The bold front on Leon Trotzky, former Bolsheviki Minister for Foreign Affairs, to launch in the Teuton nations a revolution which would save the Russian democracy has just been in all its dramatic details given to the United States Government.

It is a story of Trotzky's "trump card" in world diplomacy — which failed because Nikolai Lenine, his co-leader, "tipped off" his hand. Trotzky refused to yield to Lenine's Council for a separate peace pact and the surrender of Russian rights, with the Teutons.

He prolonged the meetings at Brest-Litovsk, as he said this was the foundation for his last play. Lenine let him work to the end he sought. But the German military authorities were informed of the programme of the date set for the great effort—January 25. Lenine did not accompany Trotzky to Brest-Litovsk. He awaited results in Petrograd.

Trotzky launched broadcast his approval of the German people. It was checked in its prime by the military authorities. It never saw the light again among the soldiers. It was suppressed everywhere; but it found its way into some parts of Germany and Austria. Whether it was the cause it is significant that the riots and strikes in Germany and Austria followed shortly afterwards.

Trotzky saw his effort fail. There was not the great response he expected. When Trotzky returned to Petrograd, admitting failure, Lenine's hand was strengthened, his council was heeded, and Russia submitted to Germany's terms, and Trotzky, humiliated, resigned.

Trotzky's appeal to Germany will go down in history as one of the most unique documents of the war.

THE PRICE OF LIBERTY.

The sacrifice that Canada has made in the battle of democracy was emphatically driven to the flames covering the Canadian casualties up to the present given by Sir Robert Borden in the House on Tuesday. No fewer than 34,350 Canadians—a number exceeding the total strength of the first Canadian contingent—have been killed in action or died of wounds. 1,991 have died from disease, 2,645 are presumed dead, 927 are missing and 2,757 are prisoners of war, making a total of 42,780 completely out of action. The wounded number 105,250 and an large proportion, of course, have been permanently unfitted for active service. The figures are an eloquent testimony to the hard fighting in which the Canadian corps has been engaged.

NONE TOO SOON.

The investigation being conducted by Lieut.-Col. Hulme into conditions on Canadian transports returning from overseas comes none too soon. Returned men continue to bitterly complain of the treatment they receive and it is hoped that the inquiry will be an exhaustive one, resulting in a material bettering of the conditions. That there is room for improvement cannot be doubted. Peterborough men who have come back recently confirm the stories of other Canadians. A Toronto sergeant states that the rank and file were kept down in the steerage and on the lower decks, while officers, some of whom undoubtedly had never heard a shot fired in action, had the state rooms. However, that condition might be passed over as being considered necessary for purposes of discipline, but what justification could be given for the fact that there were 185 third cabins empty while wounded men were herded down below? Surely the vacant berths might have been given to the more badly wounded soldiers in the steerage.

SIR ROBERT CONVERTED.

Sir Robert Borden, who laughed at references to cereals, meats and fats when he visited Peterborough during the recent election campaign, has at last come round to the point where he is willing to admit that the food question may become the most important factor in winning the war. In his speech during the debate on the speech from the throne, the Prime Minister remarked: "I cannot emphasize too strongly the absolutely urgent necessity for increased food production. The issue of the war may depend upon the quantity of food produced in Canada and the United States."

This was precisely the argument offered by Mr. Hall at every meeting he held during the campaign. His portrayal of the seriousness of the situation was, however, treated with jeers from the government followers, and Sir George Foster told a big audience in the armouries not to be misled by any such talk—that the food question was only a side issue.

Now Sir Robert Borden admits that Mr. Hall was right—"the issue of the war may depend upon the quantity of food raised in Canada and the United States." What the country is waiting for now, however, is some evidence of the intention of the government to grapple with the problem in a big way. It has taken Sir Robert three months to realize the need. How much longer will it be necessary to wait for some action to provide the increased production that he admits is absolutely necessary. His address on Tuesday contained no intimation of what might be expected along this line.

SUPERIOR IN THE AIR.

An inspiring feature of the despatches from overseas is the magnificent success that is attending the Allies' efforts in the air. Allied flyers are virtually blinding the enemy's war machine and are lowering the morale of the German civilian population as well as the fighting forces at the front.

British birdmen have made no fewer than thirty-eight raids into Germany since last October and dropped forty-eight tons of bombs. As the majority of the raids took place in broad daylight it was possible to concentrate the attacks on objects of military importance and to obtain photographs which confirmed the successful results of the operations. Only ten British machines have been lost in these raids.

Remarkable as has been the success of the attacks made against German cities the record since January 1st of our fighting on the war fronts is even more notable. Since the first of the year the Allies have destroyed or driven down out of control no fewer than 843 enemy planes. The British Royal Flying Corps alone last week destroyed 99 planes and drove down 42 others, while the British losses were only 23 machines. It is no wonder that the despatches report that these successes are greatly affecting the work of the German artillery.

Canadians can read of recent exploits in the air with an especial glow of satisfaction, inasmuch as many gallant young men from this country are playing their full share in these wonderful operations. There are Canadians everywhere in the British Flying Corps and hundreds more are in training.

CHEERS NOT ENOUGH.

The increase in the number of soldiers invalided home from overseas brings into greater prominence the problem of the absorption of these men into civilian life. It is a big question, towards which individuals as well as municipal and government authorities have a responsibility. The debt that we owe to the men who have fought in France, who have stood in the mud of the salient, who battled from house to house in the suburbs of Lens, who braved all the horrors of Passchendaele to win victory for Canada, cannot be discharged by meeting them at the station, giving them a few cheers and then going home and forgetting all about them.

They must be converted from soldiers into citizens, put into positions where they can support themselves. Some of them, many indeed, will not be able to return to the work they dropped to go overseas. They are no longer physically capable of carrying out the duties of their former positions and yet they must live and support their families. The question of how they are to be looked after is one that will need the earnest considerations of the country generally.

If, as is reported, there are already 500 returned men in Winnipeg, unable to find work and practically without means, the increasing seriousness of the situation will become evident. The complaint is made that in that city as well as in others, alien enemies are being given employment, while men with active service buttons are informed that there is nothing for them when they ask for positions.

A warm welcome home is fitting and proper, but it does not go far enough.

MR. BURNHAM'S BILL.

(Toronto Star.)

J. H. Burnham, M. P., of West Peterboro, has, it seems, changed his mind, and will not introduce a bill abolishing titles. The duty will devolve upon somebody else.

What is coming over the John Hampden democracy of West Peterboro? Can it be that on getting the high sign from somebody Mr. Burnham climbs down? Or, after having moved his bill at a time when he expected and got little support, is he now frightened off by the prospect of a strong support in the House, and out of it?

Mr. Burnham says that Parliament is in war session, and he does not wish to embarrass the Government with extraneous matters. But during the war, the sowing and harvesting of titles goes on as never before. It would not be those who discuss, but those who introdice, these titles who embarrass the country with extraneous matters.

The discussion of this question by Parliament might very well be postponed until after the war provided that the conferring of titles be suspended for the period of the war, and one year thereafter.

EDITORIAL NOTES.

Capt. Burnham announces that on account of the war, he is dropping his bill to abolish titles. The member for West Peterborough intends to devote his time to raising onions, instead of trouble.

The Committee on Appointments of the Board of Education is showing the proper spirit in recommending the appointment of a returned soldier as caretaker of the East Ward school.

The Germans find the going much easier in Russia than on the west front.

There is no such thing as new standards of duty in war. Duties are only the concrete expressions of an eternal truth which can never vary, which remains the same in war as in peace; but war undoubtedly intensifies all duties and lifts them to an altitude which of course is unknown in peace times."—Sir Wilfrid Laurier

WHAT OTHER EDITORS SAY

CAREFUL OF HATS.

(Ottawa Journal)

New York boy says he and his partner made $250,000 in receiving tips for checking hats at restaurants. Anyway it shows that people are very careful of their lids.

COMMENT UNNECESSARY.

(Kingston Standard)

The American Ambassador in Belgium during the Hun occupation said that having to do without newspapers "was horrible; in their place we had nothing but rumours, two-thirds untrue, and the remainder greatly distorted." No comment is necessary.

A SAFE BET.

(Rochester Post Express)

As an indication of the food shortage in Berlin, it is reported that patrons of restaurants must bring their rolls with them. If the same prices obtain there as here, then it is a safe bet that they do not take their rolls away with them.

THE SINN FEINERS' CHOICE

Dallas News.

The Sinn Feiners appear to be anxious to make Ireland a nice place—like Petrograd.

A CLEVER SPEAKER.

Charleston News and Courier.

Von Hertling seems to be the smartest Chancellor the Germans have yet had. He can make a speech two columns long and no two people who read it can agree on what it means.

A GOOD TIP.

(Kingston Whig.)

One of the best of home guards is the home garden.

PREVENTIBLE WASTE.

(Toronto Telegram)

Canada's cold storage plants must cease to fight Germany's battles. These plants must not be manipulated by methods that retain tons of food in storage until that food must be destroyed. A partial loss might be inflicted by a law that would compel 8500 pounds of food to be dumped out of cold storage into the market at reduced prices. A national loss is the result of the usage that dumps 8500 pounds of food in the Winnipeg incinerator at "no price at all."

A SWEET SPRING.

(Hamilton Spectator)

The sap is running, and if the urgings of the food authorities are heeded, there are more preparations being made than ever before for the making of maple sugar. This spring should be the sweetest spring on record in eastern Canada.

SOMETHING NEEDING INVESTIGATION.

(Stratford Beacon).

Canadian soldiers returning home weak and broken after fighting for democracy in the trenches, condemned to occupy stuffy and uncomfortable quarters in the steerage and banished from the upper decks, while they see sub-officers who have never seen France luxuriating in the first cabin, might be pardoned if they were to wonder whether it was worth while.

A SMILE OR TWO

"Lucky in love; unlucky at cards." "I get you. You hold small hands in both cases."—Louisville "Courier-Journal."

"The motorist upset his car to save a little girl." "Oh, well," said the cynic, "Maybe it was a last year's car."—Buffalo "Express".

"Those are pretty looking trees over there. Are they deciduous?" "Indeed they're not. They're the healthiest sort we've got on the place."—Baltimore "American."

Judge—"What's your occupation?" Vagrant—"Oh, nothin' much, yer Honour; just circulating 'round." Judge—"Retired from circulation for thirty days."—Boston "Transcript."

"Do you know Jobling, who poses as a wizard of finance?" "Oh, yes." "He says his wife has made him what he is." "I don't believe it. That's a gross libel on a good woman."—Birmingham "Age-Herald."

"Did your new dressmaker give you a good fit?" "Did she? They had two doctors working on me when I saw how I looked in it."—Baltimore "American."

Tam—"What sort o' meenister has ye the noo, Sandy?" Sandy—"We seldom get a glint o' him; sax days o' week he's cuvessible and on the seventh he's incomprehensible."—Boston "Transcript".

"Do you understand the Russian situation?" "No," replied Senator Sorghum. "But that doesn't matter. Nobody else understands it sufficiently to prevent my assuming all kinds of superior knowledge, if I choose."—Washington "Star."

Grandmother in Eighteen Days.

A lady green bug becomes a grandmother in 18 days. One can imagine, then, notes a naturalist, the multitudinous armies of these insects that may develop in the course of a season. Their worst foe is a tiny black four-winged fly that deposits an egg in each bug it comes across, its larva consuming the bug's inside work, and using its shell for a house.

Cleaning Gilt Frames.

Gilt frames may be cleaned by washing them with a small sponge moistened with oil of turpentine, the sponge being only sufficient wet to take off the marks. The gilding should not be wiped off, but left to dry without wiping. Varnishing with the best copal varnish is advised for gilt frames, as they can then be washed off carefully with a sponge.

Needs Grow.

Most of us who haven't any, think in our pious way that all we want money or is to be independent, but we notice, says the Ohio State Journal, that as soon as anyone begins to get a few dollars ahead he discovers that he needs ots more independence than he thought he did.

Still Good.

"No men can act with effect who do to not act in concert; no men can act in concert who do not act with confidence; no men can act with confidence who are not bound together by common opinions, common affections and common interests.

About Sulphur.

Sulphur is one of the oldest known elements; the ancient Assyrian alchemists regarded it as the principle of combustion and termed it "brimstone," meaning literally burning stone.

Daddy Broke His Face.

John was always an interested spectator when his father shaved. One morning the razor slipped and the skin was cut a trifle, and John turned and said regretfully to his mother, "Oh, see, daddy did break his nice face."

Earning and Spending.

Earning money keeps some men from their wives. Spending money drives some women farther away from their husbands. The proper way is for husband and wife to earn together and spend together.

TAKES UMBRAGE AT CALLING THE CONCERTINA A "SQUIFFER."

Exception has been taken to an expression used in a story about a sailor's drum that appeared a short time ago. It told of the men on a British Patrol boat organizing a band which had to resort to home-made instruments with the exception of a concertina and the half dozen mouth-organs in the ship's company. The writer of the article called the concertina a "squiffer." At this umbrage was taken.

Nick-naming the concertina a squiffer was humour, not sarcasm. It was prompted by that turn of mind so noticeable in the men at the front among whom a thing would almost be looked upon with suspicion were it not affectionately dubbed this or that. And yet it must be admitted the average person is totally unaware of the importance of the concertina. If asked for their conception of it, some would refer to it as a toy or the favourite instrument of the blind and maimed street musicians. Others would go a step beyond that and recall having heard a Spaniard or Italian, whose name is forgotten, do a concertina turn on the vaudeville stage and they would add the remark that he gave their ideals of the concertina's capabilities a big jolt.

This instrument dates back to about the year 1827 when it was invented by Sir Charles Wheatstone. Some concertinas have as high as sixty-four keys and ones priced at all the way from $50 to $125 are not uncommon in England. The concertina has a complete chromatic scale and is readily adapted to an expressive performance or the most rapid execution whether confined to the succession of single notes, as most instruments are or in harmony of two, three or four parts. To learn the fingering, the production and sustaining of the note is reasonably simple. An instrumen which can play the two complete part of a difficult violin duet, with very little special study, cannot be very hard to handle and what is more it cannot be sounded out of tune.

The concertina can be played as an obligato or a regular accompaniment to the voice very acceptably. The literature for this instrument also contains some surprises. The music available includes such works as Rossini's "William Tell" Overture, Tschaikowsky's "Chanson Triste," Meyerbeer's "Grand Coronation March," "Soldiers' Chorus from Faust," Mendelssohn's "War March of the Priests," Ascher's "Alice, Where Art Thou?" and other splendid numbers.

No, the concertina is not a "squiffer," excepting to the person whose humour is too big and too active to be confined within the usual limits.

IN A RUT.

A study of the Christmas programmes presented in the churches of Toronto and Winnipeg shows an extraordinary lack of variety in selection. It seems that Choir Directors are determined to conider nothing but the Messiah for festival work and little else than Stainer and Barnby for Christmas anthems. This statement throws no despite upon either the one or the other, yet there is a vast deal of admirable Christmas music that lies on the shelves gathering dust. Fifteen Glorias were written by Mozart alone. Every composer of distinction has written masses to no end, each one containing a sanctus and a Credo, which would be appropriate for Chrismas services. Besides there is a mass of wonderful Russian music now available in English translation and perfectly adapted for the vocal training of every choir interested in unaccompanied music. After all this is the highest accomplishment of any chorus, to sing unaccompanied, with accuracy of intonation, purity of tone, and unanimity of phrasing.

A course of Russian music is a liberal education for the average church choir.

But little attention is paid in Canada to the important group of American writers which includes Ralph Kinder and Mark Andrews. T. T. Noble may also be considered now as a member of this group, for though he is an Englishman he is established in New York, and is doing great things in the field of church composition. One finds also in the service lists an almost complete neglect of the works of composers established in Canada. Reed and Broome and Willan might never have written a line if appreciation of their work were confined to Canada. It seems that many of our choirmasters, even in the best churches, have got into a rut and will sing Handel and Tours, and Stainer and Barnby to the end of time—these four and no more!

SINGERS SHOULD STUDY STAGE DEPORTMENT.

Thomas Beecham, in one of his articles in quiring "What is wrong with British Music?" wrote: "Elsewhere very one realizes the importance of all that has to do with the external appearance of the singer, but it is plainly evident on reviewing the specimens turned out by our colleges that it has never once occurred to those almost fabulous creatures, who call themselves singing masters that there are such things in the world as deportment, carriage, a sense of combined ease and dignity, and all those other lesser accomplishments on the necessity of which such justifiable stress is laid abroad. The clumsiness of nearly all our young native vocalists in comparison with their Continental rivals afflicts me (and it would them, if they had the slightest consciousness of it) with feelings of vexation and humiliation similar to those experienced by the uncouth Gargantua, when confronted with the elegant and well-turned-out Eudemon."

These remarks might be studied with profit by singing teachers and young singers of this city. How few young women coming on the stage to sing have been taught to walk gracefully or to bow gracefully! Some nod indifferently, or recognize with a simper, a friend in the front row. How few stand with dignity! A favorite pianist, born in this country, comes on the stage swinging her arms as though she were sauntering down a country lane.

DO YOU ATTEND THE WEEKLY CHOIR PRACTICE?

In a prominent western city the music critic of a well known newspaper is at present writing a series of articles on "Music in the Churches," which are attracting much attention from intelligent musicians. In his observations the critic has found that little heed has been given to the preparation of choir music and that obviously choristers appear to treat the weekly choir practice as a joke, being evidently of the belief that they can come and go as they please. In on church attended by this critic a short time ago an anthem was rendered in such a manner as to call forth sharp critical comment. It was an old anthem and one well known to most choirs in Canada, namely, "The Radia horn." Numerically, this particular choir was quite satisfactory but that was about all. The organist did his work admirably but the singing of the choir was not what it ought to have been. Many of the singers sang wrong notes, while there was no attempt at securing adequate ensemble efficiency Moreover, it was impossible to tell whether the choir was singing in English, French, Italian or Yiddish, It was on the whole a most abominable performance. What was the cause? The answer is found in the fact that many of the members of the choir came to the weekly practice just when it pleased them. The unhappy choirmaster did his best to get his forces to attend rehearsals, but without success. Members of the congregation blamed the poor choirmaster, and so did the music committee, but no one thought of the responsibility of the choir members.

The music critic in his article pointed out that the choristers were in the main to blame for the unsatisfactory results. At a later choir practice the choirmaster read the article to the members of the choir. The effect was electric. No one had anything to say! What was the result? To-day the members of that choir are backing up their director in a most praiseworthy manner by diligent attendance at the weekly rehearsal and already a marked improvement is noted in the Sunday musical service.

THE HOTEL AS A MUSICAL RENDEZVOUS.

Some of those who have their ears to the ground sense a trend toward making the modern hotel a rendezvous for music lovers. With the growth of public sentiment against the sale of intoxicating liquors it is not surprising that the pendulum should swing the other way and the management of hotels bend their energies towards having their hosteleries become centres of culture. This movement is growing.

That is noticed by the manner in which attempts, and very ambitious attempts at that, are being made to go beyond the mere providing of orchestras to play during the dinner hour. In Cleveland there has been opened a fine new hotel, the Winton, which will provide its guests and visitors with some splendid musical treats. These begin with a month's engagement of a prominent orchestra which will play daily in addition to which high-class vocal and instrumental music will be given daily. Once a month a musical star, either a vocalist or pianist will appear.

Accommodation for these entertainments has been provided in the "Rainbow Room," a large space on the ground floor arranged in terraces giving a fine view from all parts of the room. It is stated that no musical revenes, nor jazz affairs will find place on the programmes but only music of the highest character designed to attract the real music lovers of the city.

Morning musicales have for long been a feature at the Biltmore in New York. Back in the season of 1915-1916 the artists appearing at these included Caruso, Mischa Elman, Geraldine Farrar, Anna Fitain, Frances Alda, Godowsky, Josef Hofmann, Louise Homer, Fritz Kreisler, Melba Paderewski, Marie Rappold, Scotti, and Werrenrath.

A little over a year ago something similar to Biltmore Morning Musicales was undertaken by the Robert Treat Hotel of Newark. The management of that hotel, however, decided to hold their programmes on Monday evenings when everyone could attend. They started off with such talent as Frieda Hempel, Pasquale Amato and Anna Case all soloists of the Metropolitan Opera Company. The concerts were in the main ballroom with a seating capacity of 1200, and after each programme was over the audience was given an opportunity of meeting the different artists personally and enjoying a social time.

The development of this idea will be watched with interest and it is to be hoped Canadian hotels will see fit to take it up and make the most of it.

WHEN SINGERS CATCH COLD

There is no news in the assertion that many churches are good places to catch cold from being in a draft. Some choir members think that every draft makes straight for them as though they possessed some magnetic power to attract cold air currents. Sometimes indeed, "the draft last Sunday" is offered as the reason for non-attendance—not in this city of course, but in other places.

Apparently these complaints no longer carry weight for we are told by a medical practitioner in a magazine article that one need not catch cold. By this theory when a singer in the choir feels a little shiver here and there from the draft, he can assist nature in preventing the cold by setting his muscles to work as hard as he can, making them contract as hard as possible and by thus keeping them working the skin will be kept warm and a cold avoided.

This doctor hastens to explain that it is possible to contract the muscles while sitting still and yet one cannot help but think that were some thirty choir members to find themselves borne down by one of those vicious drafts, and each one with commendable presence of mind launched upon an endeavour to set his muscles at work trying to contract them as hard as possible, a ludicrous scene would be enacted. There would likely be about thirty pairs of hands opening and closing with feverish activity, thirty pairs of feet going up and down at the ankle joint, shrugging shoulders, heads shaking and a diversity of gymnastic motions that would divert attention from the clergyman's discourse and totally unfit the singers for a fitting rendering of the anthem.

The doctor's theory may be quite proper but the three easiest ways to deal with the draft especially when it may carry on for the best part of an hour and a half's service, are to stop it, to move out of its way, or to grin and bear it and take the consequences.

IMPROVISATION MAKES MASTER MUSICIAN.

It is a common thought of to-day that what has been well developed once can be well developed again; and that an act poorly done can be, with practice, more skilfully done. This thought in connection with improvisation has never been seriously considered. This is due entirely to the failure to recognize certain facts concerning the growth and developmens of the faculties that are employed in musical creation.

It is not that these facts do not exist. They have remained hidden chiefly because famous improvisors did not trouble themselves to formulate the means by which they gained their mental technique, and also because others, through poor effort or through the practice of an inadequate method, having gained a wrong impression of the art, ceased to seek the principle upon which the creation of music in this art form has its foundation.

The whole matter resolves itself down to one point; namely, a study and practice of a complete method designed to awaken and develop the creative faculties of the musician with the object of expressing one's self immediately, as in improvisation or with deliberation, as in composition.

If improvisation did not play such an important part in the growth and development of the musician all that has been said would be but idle talk. Improvisation is a necessity and not a useless "stunt." Every branch of musical expression is benefited by the intense study required. Every ounce of one's creative power is brought to exercise itself in forms of harmony, melody and rhythm. It is the training and exercise of one's musical self. Music becomes an open book, its pages revealing new powers as one develops the deeper musical senses. Nine-tenths of the best in music lies beneath its tonal surface. That best lies in ourselves. Developing the best in ourselves by scientific methods, not notions, makes the master musician.

MILLBROOK NEWS

MILLBROOK, March 21.—About sixty were present Monday evening last to take part in the Epworth League service and to enjoy the talk on "The Meaning and Value of an Education," given by Mr. Gould. This talk was instructive and calculated to inspire our young people to make the best of every opportunity to develop the powers and talents that God has given them for their use and His glory. The vocal solo by Miss Anna Russell was also much appreciated.

Next Monday evening will be spent largely in studying the location, classification and general contents of the Books of the New Testament, in preparation for our contest on the location of these books, to be held on Easter Monday.

Six new members entered the ranks of the contestants and there is still room for more. Service at 8 o'clock.

WOMAN'S AUXILIARY.

The annual meeting of the Woman's Auxiliary was held on Monday, the 18th, at the home of Miss Kells with a good attendance. Though sorrow and trouble has visited many of the members during the past year, the reports read by the officers were most encouraging. There are now Senior Girls, Junior and Babies' branches in connection with St. Thomas'. The officers were re-elected by acclamation, Miss Armour being appointed Leaflet Secretary. The sale for Fort Vermillion was arranged for and delegates to the annual meeting in Toronto in May, chosen. The serving of refreshments brought a pleasant evening to a close. The April meeting will be held at the home of Mrs. Geo. Campbell.

PERSONALS.

Mr. and Mrs. Janes were visitors to Peterborough on Tuesday.

Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Burns were guests of their son, Joseph, Jr., of Peterborough, over Sunday.

The Ladies' Aid of the Millbrook Methodist Church held a sewing bee at the home of Mrs. W. G. Pendry.

Safe Home Treatment For Objectionable Hairs

(Boudoir Secrets)

The electric needle is not required for the removal of hair or fuzz, for with the use of plain delatone the most stubborn growth can be quickly banished. A paste is made with water and a little of the powder, then spread over the hairy surface. In about 2 minutes it is rubbed off and the skin washed. This simple treatment not only removes the hair, but leaves the skin free from blemish. Be sure you get genuine delatone.

PETERBORO' LABOUR COUNCIL TO SEND DELEGATES TO FEDERAL CONVENTION ON GOOD FRIDAY

The Trades and Labor Council last night appointed two of its members, Messrs. P. McArthur and Wm. Stevens, delegates to the convention in Toronto, on Good Friday, at which it is proposed to form a Federal Labor Party for the purpose of giving a strong impetus and a clear and definite direction to Labor's political movement in Canada.

The communication urging the council to send representatives to the Toronto meeting stated that it was hoped eventually to unite Canadian Labor men and establish the party on the basis that obtains in Great Britain. At the next general election in the old land it is expected that 400 Labor candidates will be contestants for seats in the House of Commons.

Members last night expressed the regret that in this young country Labor dissipates its strength by the division of its forces, and their adherence to the old political parties, neither of which it is contended, is deeply interested in the affairs and the welfare of Canadian working men.

Replying to this sentiment, a Toronto visitor asserted that the December election returns in Toronto disproved the statement that Labor men were divided.

"The Franchise Act prevented the election of any candidate except those endorsed by the Union Government. In one riding, 1500 voters were left off the liste, and we know that a large majority of them were Trades Union men. In East York we polled 3,000 votes, and this was our first time in the field. Besides, that riding had been partitioned to split and divert the Labor vote. But it was impossible for any man to be elected unless he was endorsed by Sir Robert Borden."

The council was unanimous that it should be represented at the convention, and if a Federal Labour Party be strongly organized, that steps be taken to put Peterboro in the ranks.

REPRESENTATIVES TO COMMITTEE.

The Labor Council's representatives to the city's Technical School's Committee, were also selected last night.

The three delegates are Mr. A.Murray, of the Machinists'; Mr. Wood, of the Carpenters', and Mr. Ogilvy of the Electrical Workers' local unions.

GERMANY'S REAL AIM AS REVEALED BY SECRET DOCUMENTS

(New York Times.)

Those who think such a thing as a negotiated peace is possible with Germany, who think any kind of peace conference is possible until she has been beaten, who take her words not exactly at their face values but as containing some residuum of truth, should attend to the secret official communication which fell into Hugo Haase's hands and was read by him to the Main Committee of the Reichstag. Haase is the leader of the Independent Socialists, who are the anti-Kaiserite minority Socialists. The document he produced was a secret communication sent by Berlin to Vienna outlining Germany's intentions. It was written by Michaelis, who was then Chancellor.

This is the same Michaelis who pretended to accept the resolution of the Reichstag declaring for peace without annexations. While Michaelis—who, like Bethmann and Hertling, is merely the mouthpiece and puppet of the real rulers and not to be considered as having an identity apart from them—was declaring to the Reichstag and the world Germany's moderate and pacific aims, in secret he was communicating to Austria her real aims. Compare them:

Michaelis to the Reichstag, July 19, 1917.

The concentration of the Russian Army compelled Germany to seize the sword. There was no choice left to us, and what is true of the war itself is true also of our weapons, particularly the submarine.

Germany did not desire the war in order to make violent conquests, and therefore will not continue the war a day longer merely for the sake of such conquests, if it could obtain an honourable peace.

These aims may be attained within the limits of your resolution as I understand it. (the Reichstag resolution declaring against annexations.) We cannot again offer peace. We have loyally stretched out our hands once. It met no response; but * * * the Government feels that if our enemies abandon their lust for conquest and their aims of subjugation, and wish to enter into negotiations, we shall listen honestly and [illegible] for peace to what they have to say to us.

What we long to attain is a new and splendid Germany, not a Germany which wishes, as our enemies believe, to terrorize the world with her armed might—no, the morally purified, God-fearing, loyal, peaceful, and mighty Germany which we all love. For this Germany we and our brothers out there will bleed and die.

Michaelis to Austria, in the Secret Document.

The motive of all of Germany's acts is the lack of territory, both for the development of commerce and colonization. Germany has to solve two problems—the freedom of the seas and the opening of a route to the southeast. And these two problems can only be solved through the destruction of England.

Our object is the permanent securing of the German Empire in Central Europe and the extension of its territory. No one who understands the significance of this war can doubt that, in spite of our wish to be moderate, we shall not allow ourselves to be deterred form extending the borders of the empire and from, under all circumstances, annexing such territories as are fitted for colonization and are not subjected to the influence of the sea power.

We can weaken her (Russia) materially by taking away her border territories, the Baltic provinces. By using skillful policies the Baltic provinces can easily be Germanized. They will be settled with Germans and their population will double itself. That is the reason why they must be annexed. * * * The frontier between the German Empire and Poland must be materially altered. * * * The lakes, which we shall not leave in the hands of the Russians at any price, will be included within our borders.

In the Vosges the boundary line must be improved by the annexation of some valleys, so that the German frontier troops can no longer be fired upon from French territory .France will lose Briey and a strip of land west of Luxemburg. The value of Briey in an economic and military sense is evident, from the fact that 16,000,000 tons of iron ore are produced there. For the safeguarding of the German and Luxemburg iron industry Longwy must remain in our hands.

And now comes Bethmann Hollweg's admission that before the declaration of war he issued instructions to demand from France the cessation, pending the war, of the fortresses of Toul and Verdun. Germany's retired Chancellors are proving their uses. It is to be hoped that Hertling will soon retire, so that he, too, can begin his contribution to the documentary history of a hypocrisy and perfidy unexampled in modern history and not to be excelled in any history, ancient or modern, civilized or barbarous.

Inspector Mowat Gave Lecture

LAST OF A SERIES OF LECTURES HELD LAST EVENING

At the last of the series of lectures under the auspices of the Otonabee Chapter I.O.D.E., Mr. Mowat gave a most able and uplifting address on "The New War Poems." In his address Mr. Mowat spoke of the influence poetry has had on the world, and of the notable contrast in tenor of the German and Allied war poetry. Germany full of hate and the British inspired by patriotism without vengeance. Miss Muriel Harvey contributed to the programme by a splendid recitation.

Funeral Of The Late Mr. Garbutt

That the late J. H. Garbutt will be greatly missed in this community, where all of his very useful life has been spent, was evidenced by the numbers of friends and relatives who attended the funeral this afternoon. The cortege was a very long one and left the residence of his brother-in-law, Mr. Manson Comstock, Sherbrooke Street. Interment took place at the Little Lake Cemetery.

Hundreds of friends paid their last respects, comprising old neighbours in the Township of Smith—friends made in the different public activities in which the deceased was engaged, from other municipalities, and the large number of acquaintances he had in the city. The services were conducted by Rev. Robert Pogue, and the pall-bearers were Messrs. Roland Denne, President of the Peterborough Agricultural Society; E. M. Elliott, Clerk of the County; G. A. Gillespie, M. P. P., T. Brown, Director of the Exhibition; R. N. Scott, ex-Reeve of Smith; A. Armstrong, H. Seabrooke, and A. Franks. Among the relatives from a distance were Messrs. Herbert Mason, T. H. Gillespie, Fort William; Richard Gillespie, Robert Garbutt, Belleville, William Garbutt, Brighton; George Garbutt, Port Hope.

SAYS THE DRUG IS AN ETHER COMPOUND

Just a Few Drops Loosens Any Corn So It Lifts Out Without Pain.

You simply say to the drug store man, "Give me a quarter of an ounce of freezone." This will cost very little but is sufficient to remove every hard or soft corn from one's feet.

A few drops applied directly upon a tender, aching corn should relieve the soreness instantly, and soon the entire corn, root and all, can be lifted out with the fingers without pain.

This new way to rid one's feet of corns was introduced by a Cincinnati man, who says that while freezone is sticky it dries in a moment, and seems to simply shrivel up the corn without inflaming or even irritating the surrounding tissue or skin.

Don't let father die of infection or lockjaw from whittling at his corns, but cut this out and make him try it.

Art of Omitting.

The fine art of living worthily includes an important chapter in omitting. If we know how to omit—particularly unkindness, unfairness, untruth, we shall find ourselves unspeakably richer at the end of the year.

Little Mary Was Angry.

Mary was playing on the floor with her doll. She couldn't get the doll to sit in a certain position she desired and so she banged it on the floor with great impatience and yelled at the top of her voice, "I wish I belonged to a family that sweared."

One for Each Window.

The worst thing about the profusely windowed sleeping room, observes the Kansas City Star, is that you have to get up so many times before you finally locate the window which is doing the rattling.

Self-Filler Elevators.

The small daughter was taken to the hospital to see her great-grandfather, who was ill, and when the party got to the corridor she exclaimed: "O goody, they have those elevators that are self-fillers."

OBJECTOR IN POLICE COURT

Dinsdale said he had read it.

"And that when the national life of the Jews was at stake they killed 50,000 of their enemies and saved the Jewish nation?"

In replying to this question Dinsdale gave the interpretation he accepted by saying, "God was dealing only with the Jewish nation at that time."

"But not with ours," suggested His Worship. "Well,' he added, "if you are a student of Pastor Russell we have got a good idea of his teachings."

Dinsdale insisted that the Russell books did not inculcate pacifism nor taught anti-war propaganda. He had received enlightenment to learn from the scriptures the Masters' plans.

The Alleged Offence.

The charge against Mr. Boorman and Mr. Dinsdale read: That each did, contrary to law, without lawful excuse or authority, have in his possession on on premises in his occupation, or under his control, a quantity of prohibited literature, to wit, "Studies on the Scriptures," "The Finished Mystery," and the "Bible Students' Monthly," contrary to the consolidated orders respecting censorship.

The Boorman case was dealt with first.

The Evidence.

Sergeant Blade, the first witness, stated that he and Detective Meagher had visited Boorman's residence on McDonnel street, two doors west of Aylmer street, on Tuesday, March 19th.

"We went there with a search warrant to search for forbidden literature. Mr. Boorman let us in. We found a number of tracts and books. Boorman helped us for a while and then left us, saying he was going back to work."

Chief Thompson produced a bulk package of books and papers, including Pastor Russell's sermons, "The "Full Drama of Creation," a number of copies of the Bible Students' Monthly, "The Divine Plan of the Ages."

"We're not charged with having all those," Mr. Gordon objected.

"Well we'll charge you afterwards," Crown Attorney Hatton replied.

"No you won't. There's such a thing as fairness in this court.

"I'll take the evidence, noting your objecting. The worst book of the lot may not be included in the information, which could be easily amended," Magistrate Dumble observed.

"It's a good thing there's another court," was Mr. Gordon's final shot.

The Magistrate picked up a volume entitled "The Photo Drama of Creation."

"Some one must have been there with a camera. They probably have pictures of Adam and Eve in their fig leaves, and the snake."

"There's be no more snakes after April 1st," Mr. Gordon interrupted.

"The Ecclesiastical Heavens as Seen by a Lawyer" was another title.

"It's not proven that a lawyer ever did or could see heaven. It's contrary to general belief," Mr. Dumble remarked, to the amusement of the gallery.

"Mr. Boorman informed us," Sergt. Blade continued, "that the books we wanted were over the store across the road. He was living with his son. We found one copy of "The Finished Mystery" and four others."

Pointing to the pile of literature, Mr. Hatton said — "None of these books except "The Finished Mystery" are specified in the order-in-council."

"How many of them are listed in the order," the Magistrate asked.

"The Bible Students' Monthly" and "The Finished Mystery" Chief Thompson stated, after completing an inventory of the books, booklets, etc.

To Mr. Gordon, Sergt. Blade stated that the Bible Students' Monthly was found in Boorman's house, and the "Finished Mystery" in his room at his son's home.

"Mr. Boorman hasn't been living in his house for some months," Mr. Gordon continued.

"I don't know. There were tracks in and out of the house, and he was there on Sunday, for he gave us some tracts that day," said the witness.

Sergt. Blade stated that Mr. Boorman was a man of good reputation.

Mr. Gordon's Plea.

Mr. Gordon then announced that he would consent to a summary disposition of the charge, pleading not guilty.

Magistrate Dumble stated that he would give judgment on Saturday.

Mr. Gordon pointed out that this was the first case of this nature before a Peterborough court. Mr. Boorman had not tried to hide the books. There was no unlawful intent on his part. He had not purchased the books for the purpose of teaching sedition.

Mr. Dumble—It was not an act of an open enemy. I suppose Pastor Russell had these thoughts in his head before the war broke out.

The Crown's Statement.

Crown Attorney Hatton replied that every possible publicity had been given to the world at large and to the citizens of Peterborough that these books were on the Censor's index.

Magistrate Dumble—I had no idea there were so many persons weak enough to waste their time and their money on such trash. The man who wrote them was of doubtful character.

Mr. Hatton—Yes, he got a reception here he justly deserved. These writings have had a great effect on the minds of the people.

The Dinsdale Charge.

Mr. Dinsdale pleaded not guilty and elected a summary trial.

Sergeant Blade stated that at Dinsdale' shome he found a single copy of "The Bible Students' Monthly." Other books of the titles mentioned in the Boorman list were found ond produced in court, but Mr. Gordon contended that these were not explicitly named in the prohibitory order-in-council.

Sergt. Blade carried into court two packages which together contained 100 pounds of copies of "The Bible Students' Monthly." Mr. Hatton estimated their number at 3,200 copies.

"They were at the Customs House," consigned to George Dinsdale, 521 Bolivar street."

"It looks as if he was a distributing agent," commented His Worship.

Communications in Dinsdale's correspondence showed that at one time he had disposed of 4,000 copies of the Russel Monthly."

"That was before Feb. 9th," Mr. Gordon commented.

Following a vigorous debate between Mr. Hatton and Mr. Gordon as to the defendant's liability for the 100 pounds of copies of the monthly, Magistrate Dumble intimated that possession of them was not completed until they were received by the consignee.

The Crown admitted that these papers were obtained from the Customs House by the police after Mr. Dinsdale had informed the Chief that the packages were there.

Mr. Dinsdale Called.

Called by Mr. Gordon, Mr. Dinsdale stated that the card notifying him that the packages were at the Customs House had arrived on March 12. He immediately enclosed it with a letter to Chief Thompson, who took possession of the paper.

Mr. Dinsdale was secretary of the local branch of the Bible Students' Society last year.

When he read in February the notice prohibiting possession of the "Finished Mystery," he burned the only copy he had, and hundreds of copies of the monthly paper.

Mr. Gordon— Did you know that there was one copy left?

Mr. Dinsdale—No, I thought they were all destroyed. It's at least two years old. It was overlooked in some manner. We did not find it. We burned the other copies because we wanted to abide by the law.

To Mr. Hatton the defendant said he had resigned the secretaryship of the local branch of the Bible Students' Association in Jan., 1917. The 100 pounds of papers were ordered in September. It was about March 1st that he saw the newspaper account of the arrest of Toronto men charged with having banned publications in their possession. He did not notify the consignors to cancel the order for the papers because he thought they had been held up in transit.

Somehow a man never discovers that he is a fool until long after his neighbours have found it out.

Free notepaper in Church Army huts costs £15,000 annually.

SANK DANISH SHIP OUTSIDE DANGER ZONE.

London, March 18. — The sinking outside the German danger zone two days ago, by a German submarine of the Danish steamship Randelsborg, 1551 tons gross, is reported in an Exchange-Telegraph despatch from Copenhagen. The captain was taken on board the submarine and entered a protest, but the German commander said that unless the ship was abandoned within five minutes she would be sunk with all on board.

The Germans seized all food on the ship as well as other articles, and carried off the captain of the vessel. They promised to tow the boats to Norway but instead of doing so left the men to their fate.

ALLIES TO BEGIN BIG OFFENSIVE ETC.

fantry in raiding operations. In none of the raids has any material gain been achieved by either side, except possibly by the French troops of General Petain, who in the Rheims region have penetrated German positions to a depth of about thre-fifths of a mile and put down effectively an attempt on another part of this front made by the German Crown Prince to pierce the French line.

KEY TO SITUATION.

WASHINGTON, March 21.—The key to the 1918 riddle of the western battle front is in the hands of the supreme War Council at Versailles.

Decision on the time and place of major offensive by the Allies rests with that body. It directly controls also, officials here believe, a new weapon forged during the winter with which to make effective its schemes of grand strategy. That weapon is believed to lie in pooling of the army reserves of all the Allies' armies, permitting overwhelming concentrations at selected points of attack.

Believe Hun Drive Abandoned.

American observers now are convinced the German high command intends a defensive campaign and that the long talked of drive on Paris or the channel ports has been abandoned. The initiative, according to this view, rests with the allied and American forces. Communiques are being closely scanned for the first indication of any offensive operations mapped out at Versailles.

Decision by the War Council, officers here believe, on the field where these and similar forces from other armies are to be concentrated will show where allied blows at the German defences are designed to fall. If there is to be no German drive, the council will not be forced to hold its reserves for defensive purposes, and can devote this new agency to attempt to smash weak points in the German line.

Opinion on the sectors offering the best opportunity for allied assaults varies widely here. There is sustained agreement, however, that the Italian front may in fact become the main theatre of war this year. Austro-German concentrations and possible offensives on that front may represent the recognition of this view by the German high command.

In any event, even if the Supreme Council might have decided to make the effort to break through in Italy it is believed the first moves in the game would be played in France and Flanders. Drives with all the appearance of being the real offensives would undoubtedly accompany or precede the main thrust.

Bill Was Given Six Months Hoist

A FEATURE OF THE MORNING SESSION OF THE LEGISLATURE.

(Special to The Examiner.)

Toronto, March 21. — William Proudfoot, K. C., Centre Huron, who was appointed temporary leader of the Liberal Opposition, at the beginning of the present session, was today at a caucus of the Liberal members here, requested to continue in that capacity, and consented to do so.

A feature of the morning session of the house was a discussion of a bill by J. G. Elliott, West Middlesex, to give women the right to sit as members of the Ontario Legislature. Before the noon adjournment the bill was given a six months' hoist, on motion of the Premier, Sir William Hearst.

A PRESENTATION.

After the conclusion of the morning session of the Legislature, the Conservative members of the House gathered around Sir Wm. Hearst and presented him with a purse of one thousand dollars, and a trip to Porto Rico, for which complete arrangements have been made. The Premier, who has been in rather poor health recently, will leave for the holiday next week.

Firewood was scarce, very scarce, in the neighbourhood. So that when a watchman was discovered asleep minus his wooden leg a friendly wayfarer awoke him, exclaiming:

"Hey, man, they've stolen your leg!"

The sleeper sat up and glowered:

"Did you think," said he sarcastically, "that I wud gang tae sleep in this locality wi' onything aboot me for burnin'? The wife taks awa' ma leg every nicht and brings it back i' the morning."

WHEELER J. RENOUF ANOTHER ORIGINAL FIRST IS HOME

Another Peterborough "Original First" man who reached Peterborough yesterday morning was Wheeler J. Renouf, who left Peterborough in August, 1914, with the 24th Field Battery's quota and who went to France with the 4th Battery, in which artillery unit practically all the local artillerymen in the first division served.

Renouf arrived on the early C.P.R. train yesterday morning and the authorities had no word of his coming. He is wearing the red and blue chevrons that are an evidence of his long service in France.

More Arrivals.

A party of four invalided men arrived home on the 5.40 train last evening and were welcomed by Mayor Duncan and City Clerk Armstrong. Three of them were former members of the 93rd Battalion, Pte. T. Bagnall, Elm street, who was wounded in France, while fighting with the 21st Battalion, Pte. Robert Mitchell, Water street, whose brother and two sons are still in the service and Pte. Jack Knowles, Patterson street, former sergeant of No. 1 Platoon, 93rd Battalion, who was in France with the 1st Canadian Labour Battalion. The fourth member of the party was Pte. Geo. Grist, who left here in March, 1915 with the 39th Battalion and has seen much fighting in France. His brother, Pte. Will Grist, formerly of the 93rd, was killed in action a year ago last January.

Among those who returned yesterday morning was Gunner Robert Smith, a Peterborough boy who went overseas with the Cobourg Heavy Battery and was transferred to the Canadian Field Artillery. He was wounded in France. Pte. Jack Geary, a former member of the 93rd Battalion, who went overseas with the 4th Canadian pioneers was another in yesterday's party.

The name of Sergt. James Wallace was omitted from yesterday's list. He went overseas with the 8th Canadian Mounted Rifles.

More Last Night.

On the Belleville train last evening there was another quota of Peterborough men invalided home from overseas. They were met at the station by Ald. Edgar, representing the city. Included in the arrivals were Pte. Frank Leether, a former member of the 93rd Battalion, who was at the front with the 5th Canadian Mounted Rifles, and Pte. Thos. Williams and Jack Stewart, who enlisted here in the 8th Canadian Mounted Rifles.

Senator Gronna, Last "Wilful" Pacifist, Declares For War

Supporter of Mr. La Follette, Who Opposed America's Entry Into Conflict, Announces That He Will Do All in His Power For Victory

WASHINGTON, D.C., March 21.—Pacifism, long dying, was pronounced officially dead in the Senate yesterday.

Senator Asle J. Gronna, of North Dakota, following the example of his friend and adviser, Senator La Follette, of Wisconsin, formally renounced his opposition to the war and urged its prosecution to complete victory. Senator Gronna was a member of the "Little group of wilful men" and one of the six Senators who voted against the declaration of war against Germany. He has stood consistently by Senator La Follette in every act and utterance since war clouds began to appear.

Knows His Patriotic Duty.

"There were those of us who were not willing at the particular time the declaration was made to enter the war," said Senator Gronna, "but I hope that, at least, no Senator will challenge the patriotism of any of those who were in the minority at that time.

"We are as much interested in the outcome of the war as those of you who were in the majority. We have as willingly given our sons, and many of us have given our sons who did not have to go on the field of battle under the law; but, after the war had been declared speaking for myself, I knew it to be my patriotic duty to do everything in my power to successfully prosecute the war.

"We have contributed as liberally as we have been able to contribute to every fund necessary to successfully prosecute the war. It is no longer a mooted question. We are facing a powerful enemy.

"Not Living in the Past."

Every American citizen must realize that it is his duty as a citizen of this government to see that victory with honour is won. Our faces must be turned to the future. We are not living in the past. Autocracy and oligarchy must be crushed wherever found, in the interest of peoples' government, in the interest of liberty and freedom."

Senator Gronna is the last of the anti-war Senators to desert the sinking ship of pacifism. Others from time to time during the last year have realized the futility of their attitude and have thrown their support to the winning of the war. Senator La Follette, in a public statement Sunday, declared for the war and its vigorous prosecution.

Close Season For Shipments Of Liquor

EXPRESS COMPANIES NOTIFIED OF THE APPROACHING DROUGHT.

The annual meeting of the Peterborough Board of Trade will be held on Tuesday in the City Council Chamber, when the election of officers will take place.

USED FOR SHAVING.

Many men are troubled, more particularly in the cold weather, with a sort of roughnes of the skin or eczema caused by shaving. The application of Dr. Chase's Ointment after the shave soon cures the trouble and by using it after each shave you keep the skin soft and prevent irritation and soreness. Because of its antiseptic qualities this ointment prevents and cures Barber's Itch.

GRAND OPENING SPRING SEASON

When the sun reached the equator today and smiled over its northern rim at the winter weary inhabitants of America's north temperate zone, it proclaimed the arrival of Spring, and the earth returned a chorus that rippled with delight, thanksgiving and a ringing encore.

The first day of Spring was reflected in the glad faces of the people on the streets, the parades of 'prams that dearly love to converge in the crowded sections of George street when the air for the young hopefuls is just as good on the empty streets in the outskirts; it was sounded in the sweet, wistful notes of the bluebird, the love thrills of the robin seeking a mate, and the cascade of perfect music from the cheery little song sparrow.

The warm, bright sun emphasized the winter coats that mourn the departed season, and focussed on houses that have long been strangers to fresh paint.

To-day, spring was everywhere. It did not herald its coming like a prima donna whose entrance must be elaborately prepared, but rather like the impetuous soubrette rushed in with the chorus, and right down to the footlights with the orchestra joining them in the big opening bit. The old bald heads caught the fever and are out on the roadside puddling in drains with all the relish of the small boy, and dissembling a real love for an amusement that lingers through all the years, and is perennial with Spring. And as the new season brings the new year closer to its end, so does it bring youth and age a step nearer their common home.

At a meeting of Warman branch of Saskatchewan Grain Growers' Association the Government was asked to fix a minimum price for hogs, based on feed prices, to continue for a year after the end of the war.

Germans Have Penetrated The British Front

The Enemy is Reported Advancing at Several Points--Western Front Offensive Opens Up With a Bang--First Day Successes For the Enemy Were Expected.

SHELLING HEARD IN DOVER

(By William Philip Simms.)
(Special to The Toronto Star and The Peterborough Examiner.)

WITH THE BRITISH ARMIES IN FRANCE, March 21.—The Germans began a heavy bombardment at five o'clock this morning from a point just south of the Scarpe River to the right flank of the British armies south of St. Quentin. (This is a distance of about 50 miles in an air line, and comprises nearly 75 miles of front) From the same hour on considerable firing was reported in the Messines sector.. (Messines is in Belgium, six miles south of Ypres and about thirty-five miles north of the Scarpe. At four o'clock this morning the enemy began a bombardment with gas shells in the Fleurbaix and Armentieres sectors. (Armentieres is six miles south of Messines and Fleurbaix is four miles south of Armentieres). This bombardment was still under way at 6 o'clock. Thus along almost the whole of the British front cannonading began to rumble and speed up, but at the early hour of cabling no further details were available. For the past two weeks the front has been growing more feverish. Over one hundred raids have been carried out by both sides while the battle in the air has never ceased. The Germans have made particularly frenzied attempts to prevent the Allies from flying over their lines, meanwhile making the most desperate efforts to reconnoitre the British dispositions of forces. This has resulted in amazing flashes in Cloudland. As I conclude this despatch the guns are still belching flame and steel.

A LATER DESPATCH.

WITH THE BRITISH ARMIES IN FRANCE, March 21.—The enemy is reported advancing at several points between the Scarpe River and St. Quentin. Infantry has penetrated the British front at points north of Lampicourt and Louvrat. Later, it was reported, the Germans were advancing on the St. Quentin Ridge, on the edge of the Cambrai salient and also through the Gauche Wood on the same sector, and through the brick fields near Croisille-Sur-Villers.

HEAVIEST EVER HEARD.

(Canadian Press Despatch.)

LONDON, March 21.—Despatches report the artillery fire on the battle front as the heaviest ever heard on the English east coast from such a distance. Doors and windows of houses in Dover and other places being continuously rattled by heavy shocks. The shelling is reported to have lasted from three to seven o'clock this morning.

GEORGE STREET STORE CHANGES HANDS

Mr. N. Douros Has Leased South Section of Mr. T. C. Elliot's Store

Mr. N. Douros, of the Boston Cafe, has leased the south section of the large store of Mr. T. C. Elliot, dry goods merchant. It is the intention of Mr. Douros to open a first class confectionery store and ice cream parlor. This will not in any way interfere with the plans of Mr. Eliott to remodel his store and continue the extensive business which he has created. Mr. Eliott will retain the north store and the two upper floors.

ENEMY DESTROYERS AND TORPEDO BOATS SUNK OFF DUNKIRK

Canadian Press Despatch:

LONDON, March 1.—A naval battle between German destroyers and British and French torpedo craft off Dunkirk may have accounted for the flashes at sea seen from Ramsgate. In this sea fight two German destroyers and two torpedo boats on the German side are reported sunk, while only one British vessel was damaged out of five British and French destroyers engaged. German destroyers evidently came out to bombard Dunkirk, and they had been occupied with this bombardment for ten minutes before the British and French engaged them.

LONDON, March 21. — (Admiralty official.)— Two enemy destroyers and two torpedo boats have been destroyed by a force of British and French war vessels. One British destroyer was damaged. The engagement was off Dunkirk early to-day. British casualties were slight and French losses nil.

BRITISH ADVANCE IN PALESTINE

Counter Attack by the Turks Was Repulsed.

Canadian Press Despatch:

LONDON, March 21.—British have made another advance in Palestine, capturing three towns. A counter attack by the Turks was repulsed. The statement follows:

"We occupied Beit Rima and Kefr-tut, both south-east of Deir Balleta and were unopposed. We drove off a counter attack at Deir Ballet and secured the high ground to the westward.

"Airmen dropped 470 bombs on establishments in the vicinity of Elkutrani Station. Direct hits were observed on the objectives."

"That new recruit must have been a bookkeeper."

"Why so?"

"I just noticed him trying to put his bayonet behind his ears."— Boston Transcript.

Marry Man Not Afraid To Wear 49c. Overalls

Chicago.--Billy Sunday preached to 25,000 people last night

Mr. Sunday said the hardest verse in the Bible for him to live up to was "Resist not evil." "If a man smite thee on one cheek, turn to him the other also."

"I don't know whether I have gotten down to that one cheek basis or not," he said. "If a fellow would swar me on one cheek, I think I'd clear for action like a Battleship."

Then he turned to the tests of Christianity in the family life, saying:

"What motive animated your marriage? Was it the basis of mutual attraction? Why did you marry that girl? Because she was a good looker and could get herself up attractively?

"Why did you marry that young fellow? Because you thought that when the old man kicks off and the will is probated that he'd get something that he hasn't the ability to earn? Why did you marry him?

"Now, whenever a girl gets too proud to marry a young fellow with a hundred and sixty acres of land and a hundred red hogs and a lot of cows, because he can't tell a tange from a load of hay--say, you put it down, will you, as a lead pipe cinch that she'll either die an old maid or she'l marry some fellow on ten per with one pair of hole proofs.

"Girls, if I were you I'd rather marry a man who is man enough to wear a pair of 49 cent overalls that to hook up to some Cuthbert who can play the mandolin or the ukulele and smoke Turkish cigarettes, and live off the old man's pensions. That is good hope.

FOR RESTRICTED MARRIAGES.

"If I had the power to enact my convictions into law I would require and compel the prospective husband to be able to show something more than the mere price of a marriage license. He'd have to show an ability and a disposition to maintain a home; he'd have to show himself as sound in mind, sound in body, and sound in morals.

"I want to tell you, generations yet unborn have the inherent right to be well born.

"There are multitudes of people not so much born into the world as they are damned into the world, and their fate is sealed a generation before their mothers kiss them, and if their old granddaddy or great-granddaddy had been hanged for stealing horses he wouldn't be in Sing Sing."

NEED SOCK DARNING MOTHERS

On the indifference of some mothers the evangelist was particularly severe:

"I think that a fool mother that will allow a 16 year old sissy to float around town and joyride and hit the cabarets till 2 o'clock in the morn-

A trainload of newly drafted men reached their cantonment late in the afternoon. By the time they had passed through the receiving station and the hands of the doctors, it was nearly midnight. Several of them were awakened at four o'clock the following morning to assist the cooks in preparing breakfast. As one well-built sleepy, drafted man got to his feet he stretched and yawned.

"It doesn't take long to spend a night in the army."— Everybody's Magazine.

ing with a counterfeit sport, with weak jaws and weaker morals, puffy eyelids, green vest, pair of spats on --O she's opening the front door and inviting sin and disgrace to cross her threshold.

"If you don't know what kind of company your daughter keeps, or what time of night she turns in and hits the hay, I want to tell you that your roar when the tongue of gossip get busy will sound about as pathetic as a wheeze on a Jew's harp.

"I'd give more for one good, God-fearing, pant patching, sock darning, bread making praying mother in Israel than I would for a whole trainload of these little frizzle headed sissies of our day, my friends, and the way they are living now, and how they are going.

SUE FOR THE DOUGH.

In enumerating some of the shortcomings of society the evangelist contrasted its deeds with the command of Christ to "love one another." He did it in short sentences thus:

"Jesus Christ said, 'Forgive your debtors.' And the world says, 'Sue them for their dough.'

Jesus Christ says, 'It's more blessed to give than to receive.' The world says, 'Get all you can, and then can all you get.'

"Jesus Christ said, 'Give to him that asketh of thee, him that would borrow of thee turn thou not away.' The world says, 'Go to the Associated Charities; I subscribe.'

"Jesus Christ said, 'You can't serve God and mammon.' The world says, 'God on Sunday; mammon through the rest of the week.'

"Jesus Christ said, 'Him that smiteth thee on one cheek, turn to him the other also.' The world says, 'Call a cop.'"

Overwork Paralysis

Doctors Said His Case Was Hopeless—Could Not Walk or Write—Speech Almost Gone—How Cure Was Effected.

ST. ANN'S, Ont., March 21.— Paralysis is far more easily prevented than cured. For this reason it is only wise to be warned by sleeplessness, headache, nervous indigestion and neuralgic pains and begin reconstruction treatment before the nervous system becomes too far depleted.

This letter from Mr. Hyatt is quoted to prove to you that Dr. Chase's Nerve Food is effective even after paralysis has set in. It is not advisable, however, to neglect nervous disorders until such conditions are developed.

Mr. Avery Hyatt, Blacksmith, St. Ann's, Lincoln County, Ont., writes: "I am a blacksmith by trade, and ten years ago became afflicted with paralysis. I could not walk or read or write, and could talk with difficulty, so that it was a hard matter to understand anything I would say. Being only a young man, I was nearly discouraged. Two doctors told me it was brought on by overwork, and that my case was hopeless.

"One day my father read about Dr. Chase's Nerve Food, and advised me to try it. I bought 12 boxes, and when the fifth was used I saw that I was getting better. By the time the 12 boxes were used I was cured. I am well and strong and working every day, thanks to Dr. Chase's Nerve Food."

This statement is certified to by Mr. Elmore J. Hodgins, J.P.

Dr. Chase's Nerve Food, 50 cents a box, a full treatment of 6 boxes for $2.75, at all dealers, or Edmanson, Bates & Co., Limited, Toronto. Do not be talked into accepting a substitute. Imitations only disappoint.

WAS FINED $200.

Charlie Morgan's Friend in Police Court Yesterday at any Rate Told the Truth.

Unless Charlie Morgan can produce $200, he will spend the next six months in jail, instead of in greater production. This morning he pleaded guilty to having liquor in a place other than his dwelling.

"Why you people run such chances I don't know!" observed Magistrate Dumble, who simply remarked that the law must be obeyed, and that if men permitted their appetite for intoxicants get the better of their common sense, it was their affair.

Canadian Officer Found Dead In New York

Special to The Examiner:

NEW YORK, March 21. — Capt. Zimmerman, 4th Brigade, C.F.A., who was found dead in his room in the Vanderbilt hotel, one cartridge of his pistol having been discharged into his heart, was a native of Colborne, Ont., and went overseas from Toronto in the second contingent.

More Soldiers Arrive Home

Canadian Press Despatch:

HALIFAX, March 21. —A big liner which arrived in port yesterday with a large number of officers and men returned wounded, on furlough or for special duty, is still anchored in the stream. It is expected, however, that she will dock to-morrow morning and men will immediately go forward to their destination.

MAPLE SYRUP.

Peterborough County Farmers Are Beginning to Tap.

Maple Syrup will probably be on the market this week as the farmers about Nassau and Auburn started to tap the trees to-day. In all probability syrup will be at a premium, on account of the high price of wood Some farmers of Otonabee who have in previous years run large quantities, have decided to conserve wood and discard the syrup.

CHEESE PUDDING.

In one-half cup of milk and one egg soak slices of bread until soft but not broken. Put a layer of bread and then one of grated cheese into an oiled baking dish. Repeat until one-third cup of cheese is used. Have bread on the top layer. Bake in moderate oven until cheese is melted.

THE WORLD OF SPORT

TORONTOS WIN THE FIRST FROM VANCOUVER

TORONTO, March 21.—Vancouver, Pacific Coast League champions, playing under National Hockey League rules, were beaten by Toronto by a score of 5 to 3 in the first of the Stanley Cup games at the Arena last night. To say that the showing of the Westerners was disappointing is expressing it mildly; they failed to provide even a good contest, and several Ontario Hockey Association exhibition games played this season were far more interesting to watch than last night's fixture. Possibly it was the unfamiliarity of the Pacific Coast League champions with N. H. L. rules, or it may have been the strangeness of the rink and the heavy ice, but it is certain something interfered to prevent the crowded Arena from witnessing a good contest.

Stars Fail to Shine.

"Cyclone" Taylor was there with all his speed, as was his clever side-partner, "Mickey" McKay, but they were not such whirlwinds that the Blue Shirts had any difficulty in checking them off their feet. And this applies to the entire Vancouver team. They were outchecked from start to finish, and only occasional rushes of Taylor and McKay got away without two or three Toronto men hugging the puck-carriers. And when it came to stick-handling the Toronto team made the Westerners look like juniors. Noble, Randall and Cameron completely baffled the entire Vancouver team with their brilliant stick-handling, and at no time did the Westerners have a chance against the clever stick-handling of the Blue Shirts.

Visitors Do Not Check Back.

The Vancouver team are a speedy aggregation. They break quick and develop speed as they progress. Finished skaters, they can turn in surprisingly small space, push well and shoot hard, if inaccurately. In view of the fact that they are fast, as they proved last night, it is all the more surprising that they failed to check back. Perhaps it was because they play the seven-man game on the forward line that upset Vancouver's play. At any rate, they attempted no combination at any time, and such efforts as were devoted to back-checking were only spasmodic and lacked the persistency and relentlessness of the N. H. L. champions.

C. G. E. Wins Two From The Grocers

In the ten-pin league last night at the Water Street Alleys, the Canadian General Electric team won two of the three games from the Grocers. The total pinnage was: Canadian General Electric, 2366; Grocers, 2327.

Fielder, for the C.G.E., had high three games for the night, with a 580 total; also high single of 219.

For the Grocers, Fitzpatrick was high man, with 560 for a three game total. Boyd had high single of 203.

The scores were as follows:

| | | | | |
|---|---|---|---|---|
| C.G.E.— | | | | |
| Fielder | 192 | 219 | 169 | 580 |
| Jackson | 125 | 165 | 177 | 467 |

| Fitzpatrick | 179 | 179 | 148 | 506 |
| | 781 | 788 | 758 | 2327 |

To-night a good game is anticipated when the De Laval and the Printers clash for a three-round bout.

NEW TEN PIN LEAGUE.

A new single schedule ten-pin league will be started immediately after the finish of the present league. All teams are asked to send in their entries immediately.

McGRAW IMPRESSED WITH HOT SPRINGS.

Hot Springs, Ark., March 21.—Before leaving here for Marlin, two days ago, Manager McGraw, of the Giants, according to Manager McGraw, of the Giants, intimated that the Giants next season will make Hot Springs their Spring camp. The Giants have trained at Marlin for eleven years, and McGraw feels a change is not only due but desirable. If he can get some club to make use of the Marlin field McGraw says he will come to this place.

McGraw was impressed by the beneficial effects of Hot Springs training. There is a ground available opposite the Dodgers' quarters, at Whittington Park. It once was called Fogel Field, named after Horace Fogel of the Phillies, but now is known as Fordyce Park.

GAZETTE UNDER NEW MANAGEMENT.

Lindsay, March 20. — A change in the ownership of the Fenelon Falls Gazette has become effective, the purchaser being Mr. G. A. Robson, of Lindsay, who, however, will not leave Lindsay until April 1.

Mr. Robson's departure from Lindsay will be regretted. He was an active member of the Cambridge street Methodist church, an enthusiastic curler, and a good, all round citizen. As a member of the "arts preservative" he stands in the front rank. His friends will wish him success in Fenelon Falls.

DOFFING THE HAT

Politeness Traced Back to the Primitive Times.

Ancient Peoples, as Mark of Submission, Uncovered Body and Surrendered Their Clothing.

We consider a man a gentleman who takes off his hat to a lady. At least he act is thought to be gentlemanly, polite. The origin of this custom, like so many other customs common among so-called civilized peoples, goes back to primitive times, says the Salt Lake Tribune.

When a person was made captive his conqueror stripped him of his weapons and clothing and left him without anything he could call his own. The captive was thus made a slave, his lack of clothing being evidence of his subjugation. We need only to look at the sculptures of the Assyrians to see the truth of the fact. And in Isaiah 20:2-4, we find the following statement: "And the Lord said, like as my servant Isaiah hath walked naked and barefoot three years for a sign, so shall the king of Assyria lead away the Egyptians prisoners and the Ethiopians captives, young and old, naked and barefoot."

The first step, then, in tracing the origin of taking off the hat, is the surrender of the clothing among primitive and ancient peoples as a mark of submission. The next step is the uncovering of the body as a mark of reverence. There are all degrees of uncovering, though often only the most valuable parts of the clothing are taken off in the presence of superiors.

It must be remembered that this act of uncovering the body was ceremonial in nature and used to show reverence to a superior. Then came the use of the ceremonial to propitiate the dead. We can see a remnant of this most any time. At funerals and in our graveyards men take off their hats. They still take off their hats on entering churches and before the images of Christ and the Madonna.

In times of chivalry men raised their hats to ladies to show reverence. But this was only superficial in meaning. A knight would ride down a poor peasant woman carrying a large burden and never think of helping her—least of all would he think of taking off his hat to her. However, if he heard of some beautiful damsel of his own class in the slightest danger, imaginary or real, he would go to her and, hat in hand, kneel and dedicate himself to her service.

Today much the same things occur. Ordinarily a gay youth forgets to take off his hat to his mother, yet he shows this deference to his "best girl." After all it is only form, and politeness should go deeper than this. However, the form persists, and it is of some historical interest to remember that it is a remnant of the primitive stripping of a captive by which process was expressed the fact that he yielded up all he had. Taking off the hat to a wealthy girl means, occasionally, not only the yielding up of all you have, but the getting of all she has. Ceremony is often nothing but a hard calculation in regard to personal results, especially where self-aggrandizement is the ultimate aim of the polished individual.

Stunning.

"Oh, Effie, your new gown and hat are stunning!"

"Yes. Alfred hasn't recovered yet from the shock the bill gave him."

Smoked Dry Pipe.

The lost pipe of a Hun raider was found in the garden of a house in an Essex town over which a German airship passed. A portion of the stem has been cut and flattened and upon it is written in indelible ink, "Karl Werner, 13138—A. G." The under side of the bowl and the stem have been notched eleven times and on the side of the mouthpiece are more notches. The finder of the pipe said: "There was no smell of tobacco about the pipe and it had not apparently been recently smoked. It is possible that it was used by the owner as a dry pipe as the mouthpiece shows signs of hard biting. The notches cut in the stem may record the number of times the airman had flown with it in his mouth." "Smoking" a dry pipe is not unusual, especially would it be the case in a Zeppelin in which a spark from a lighted pipe might cause the ship's destruction.

Growing Cotton in Winter.

Experiments have shown that, with the aid of irrigation, cotton can be grown in winter in the Sudan and experts believe that 2,500,000 acres in one region can be irrigated.

True Principle of Humanity.

Liberty, equality—bad principles! The only true principle for humanity is justice, and justice towards the people becomes necessarily protection or kindness.

Using Common Sense.

Wisdom consists not in an abundance of smartness, but mostly in a sane use of what little common sense we are fortunate enough to possess.

WEDDING BELLS

CUFFE—McGEE.

Yesterday afternoon a pretty wedding took place in George Street Methodist Church when Isabel Olive McGee of Norwood, was united in marriage to Thomas Wilbert Cuffe of Warsaw. The Rev. A. J. Thomas officiated.

MORRISON–DEYELL.

In the presence of a large number of relatives and friends in St. James' Methodist Church, Rev. B. J. Greatrix and Rev. Mr. Whattam officiating, the wedding was solemnized yesterday at 2.30, of Joseph Frank'in Morrison, son of Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Morrison, South Monaghan, and Emily, daughter of the late John Deyell of Otonabee.

The bride, who was given away by her brother, Mr. Ernest Deyell, was charmingly gowned in a blue travelling suit, and wore a grey picture hat, ermine stole and corsage bouquet of cream roses.

After the ceremony Mr. and Mrs. Morrison left for a short honeymoon to be spent in Toronto, Buffalo and Niagara Falls. On their return they will reside at Spruce Lake Farm, Bensfort, Ont.

SARGENT—SHEARER.

A very quiet but pretty wedding was solemnized at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Thos. Shearer, Otonabee, on Wednesday evening, March 20th, when their second youngest daughter, Vina, was united in marriage to Mr. Jas. S. Sargent of Westwood. The ceremony was performed by the Rev. E. McEachern of Keene. The bride, who was given away by her father, looked charming in a gown of silk crepe de chine and carried a large bouquet of roses.

The groom's gift to the bride was a handsome sunburst, and to the pianist, Mrs. R. Lancaster, a pearl and cameo brooch.

After a dainty repast the happy couple left on the 7.50 train on a short honeymoon, the bride travelling in a navy suit trimmed with sand and ohio meline hat.

OBITUARY

Mrs. JAMES LINDSAY.

The death took place this morning at Lucknow, Ont., of Mrs. Jas. Lindsay, mother of Mr. H. P. Lindsay of this city, at the advanced age of 91 years. THERE WILL BE NO CONTROL OF GASOLINE CONSUMPTION

Mr. Peterson Tells Ontario Motor League Officials that Rumors to the Contrary Are Without Foundation.

Mr. Peterson, deputy fuel controller, told a deputation of the Ontario Motor League a few days ago that at present the Fuel Controller had no jurisdiction over gasoline. He added that inasmuch as there is no shortage of probable shortage of gasoline, it was not the intention of the Fuel Controller to assume control of gasoline or of the government to restrict the sale of gasoline in any way. In conclusion, he said that there was no good reason why gasoline consumption should be curtailed, while there are many why it should not. Ask the next person who volunteers information to the contrary what Hun told him so, and you will be doing your bit to discourage the circulation of a mischevious enemy rumour.

Fire, Water And Light Committee Confer With The Coal Dealers Of The City

Card System May Be Used in Place of Central Distributing System —Hose Drying Tower is to Be Sheeted Up

Last evening the Fire, Water and Light Committee of the City Council met in conference with the coal dealers of the city with a view of discussing the coal situation, past, present and future. The Fire, Water and Light Committee was represented by Alderman Dobbin, chairman; Aldermen Weir, Saunders, and M. McIntyre, also Mayor Duncan.

Those present in the interest of the coal dealers were, Messrs. R. Hicks, W. Scott, O. Matchett, A. Low, R. J. Wolstenholme, J. E. A. Fitzgerald, J. E. Gregson and S. T. Wedlock.

After a general discussion it was decided to abandon the idea of forming a central distributing depot and substitute a card system. By this means every householder will be supplied with a card from a proper authority, and whenever coal is required the card will be presented to the coal dealer who will stamp it with the date and quantity of coal supplied. This will constitute a record and will enable the dealers to keep a check on the consumer. The dealers approved of this scheme and an adjournment was made in order to enable them to talk it over and arrive at a definite conclusion.

Enemy Sustains Heavy Losses in Hand to Hand Fighting.

Canadian Press Despatch:

PARIS, March 21.—An official statement to-day says: Germans sustained complete defeat in the region of Nomenia, sustaining heavy losses without attaining the least success. There has been heavy hand to hand fighting all along the line, following intense bombardment, particularly in the neighbourhood of Rheims.

Motor League Officers Elected

At the annual meeting of the Motor League held last night in the Bank of Commrce Chambers, officers for the coming year were elected, Mr. R. H. Turner being in the chair in the absence of Mr. Gillespie.

Hon. Pres.: G. A. Gillespie, M. P.P.

Pres.: Reg. H. Turner.

Vice-Pres.: C. E. Canfield.

Sec.-Treas.: H. O. Fiske.

The sub-committees and committees will be struck from the executive.

Balance on Hand.

The financial statement showed a most satisfactory balance on hand, and a membership of 113 with promise of a great increase this year.

Even Rent Of The Labour Hall Is Up

Landlords pursue the tenant labour men even into their unions. Last night the trustees of the hall broke the news that, since spring was due, and the cost of living, dying, and just existing had increased at every possible point, the owners of the Labour Hall had pushed the rent up a peg and that the councils and unions would have to hang proportional contributions on it. The Council's share of the rental is now $20 a year.

First copies of "The Industrial Press," a new paper published at Ottawa in the interests of Labour, were passed aronnd.

LIVE-STOCK MARKET

SAFETY FIRST.

Don't Walk on the Street Car Track Urges Chief Thompson.

Chief Thompson stated this afternoon that Mr. W. G. Ferguson of the Street Railway management was anxious to prevent the practice of citizens walking on the car tracks during these Spring days. Hundreds of men and women seek the brick pavement between the rails for the reason that the snow plow's wide scorc simply left a trench to contain the spring water. Motormen are afraid of accidents, especially when they see baby carriages on the tracks. The accident to Mrs. Dr. Scott should be a warning, and citizens are asked to discontinue this practice, remembering the guidance of "Safety First."

BE READY FOR EMERGENCIES.

The best way is to always keep a bottle of Dr. Chase's Syrup of Linseed and Turpentine in the house, ready for emergencies. Then when croup or colds come suddenly they can be promptly cured before they have time to reach an acute and dangerous stage. To meet this requirement we have put the syrup up in family size bottles which contain nearly three times as much as the 25-cent bottle and sell at 60 cents.

Circuit Attractions For Fall Fairs

W. H. Bradburn, rebuilding house 596 George street, burnt in December, $400.

Miss L. Denne, 394 George street, alterations to house, $500.

Repairs at Fire Hall.

Several minor details in connection with the fire hall were adjusted. The matter of repairing and purchasing the bed springs, was left with the Mayor with power to act.

Licenses for four chauffeurs to run the two motor vehicles at the Hall will be obtained and cheques issued for them by the committee.

Chief Grange in a letter, said that he had arranged with Fireman Drummond to act as relief firemen during the holiday season.

The chairman was authorized to sheet up the hose drying tower to conserve heat while drying hose after use at a fire.

The Mayor and Alderman Saunders were authorized to dispose of one team of horses at the Fire Hall.

WOMEN SLAVES SOLD.

Chicago, March 20. — In a copyrighted despatch in the Chicago Daily News, Lewis Edgar Browne, cabling from Petrograd, under date of Mar. 18th, said that Russian troops arriving at Theodosia on the Black Sea, from the Caucasus, brought with them a number of women slaves, whom they had purchased. Some of these were offered for sale. At first they brought as high as $100 each, but with the increased supply the price dropped to $12.50.

Serious Differences Have Occurred

Austria Wants Slice off Another Province.

(By Jos. Shaplen.)

PETROGRAD, March 20.— Serious differences have broken out between Austria and Ukraine regarding the division of territory, according to authoritative despatch from Kieff, received here to-day. Austria has demanded a portion of the province of Volin.

The Caucasian government is reported to have broken off peace negotiations with Turkey. German forces have been repulsed near Voroshba, on the Kharkoff front, 400 miles northeast of Odessa and 330 south of Moscow. Strong attacks have been made by the Ukranian soldiers.

WAR NEWS FROM ALL FRONTS

(Canadian Press Despatch)

MADRID, March 21. — Antonio Maura, former Premier and Conservative leader, has been instructed by King Affonso to form a cabinet.

WILL INVESTIGATE.

(Canadian Press Despatch.)

PETROGRAD, March 21.—Kremenchug, Minamenka, and Romodan, in Southern Russia, are being evacuated by the Government forces. Russian commissioner has left here for Pskov to investigate the reports of attacks on German troops.

A DECISIVE MOMENT.

(Canadian Press Despatch.)

LONDON, March 21.—"We are at the decisive moment of the war, and one of the greatest moments in German history," said Emperor William in a telegram to the Rheinish Provincial Council.

"ALL BUT BENEVOLENT."

(Canadian Press Despatch.)

THE HAGUE, March 21.—Premier Louden, speaking in the Chamber in reply to criticisms of the Government in connection with the shipping situation to-day, characterized America's policy as "all but benevolent."

(Special to The Examiner.)

Zurich, March 21. — Holland must expect that submarines will blockade all her ports as a result of the taking over of Dutch ships by the allies and the Americans, a semi-official statement said to-day.

The Netherlands must be compelled to bear all the consequences of her decision, the Berlin advices said.

Wild scenes in the Reichstag on Wednesday, are described by the Munich "Zeitung," copies of which were received here to-day.

GOOD PROGRAMME AT THE TEMPLE

One of the best programmes ever put on at the Salvation Army Temple was given last night. Every number was heartily applauded and several encored.

The Girl Guards, under the leadership of Mrs. William Badley and her assistants, were entirely responsible for the arrangements and carrying out of the programme.

The assembling of the Guards at the bugle call from all over the building, their salutations, their coming to the front and telling of the "good turn" done to-day was exceedingly well done and enjoyed.

The best number of the evening was a service entitled, "Rescue the Perishing," depicting the treatment of an outcast by Religion, Faith, Hope and Charity.

Mrs. Badley in the character of the Outcast, Mrs. Martha Edwards as Religion Miss Mary Yost as Charity, Miss Bulah Payton as Hope and Miss Hilda Card as Faith, all played their parts most faithfully.

Mrs. Badley in the garb of an outcast, and the others with white robes and sashes bearing the names of the characters they represented.

The choir which was hidden behind the scenery sang very beautifully and effectively as the different scenes were put on. The reception of the Outcast finally by Charity charging of her fitting wrap, and new white robes presenting her to the audience anew and the presentation to her of a lovely bouquet by one of the little guards was a very fitting wind-up to an exceedingly touching and profitable service.

A full house received the programme and many requests have been made for its repetition, which no doubt will take place shortly.

Will Have Charge Of Firms' Business In Peterborough

LINDSAY, March 22.— Wednesday night Mr. Vega Elliott was presented with a handsome pipe and tobacco pouch by a few of the boys on the eve of his departure for Peterborough.

The presentation was made by Mr. Cyril Moore. Brief speeches were made by Mr. H. Polson, Mr. A. W. Rose, W. Page, A. O. Felt, Lieut. Ellis and others.

During his business career in Lindsay Mr. Elliott has made many friends and won the esteem of those who met him in a business or social way. He will have charge of the firm's business in Peterborough.—Lindsay Warder.

TIRED AND DISCOURAGED

Mrs. Warren Randles, Rothesay, Kings County, N.B., "I have three small children and had to stay in the house all winter. So when spring came I was all run down doing all my work and looking after the children. I felt all tired out, and looked on the gloomy side all the time. I decided to try Dr. Chase's Nerve Food, and the results were most satisfactory. I feel fine now, and am recommending the Nerve Food to others."

The West Will Raise More Wheat

MANITOBA PLANS TO INCREASE PRODUCTION BY LARGE AMOUNT.

(Special to The Examiner.)

Winnipeg, March 21--Manitoba will raise sixty million bushels of wheat this year, according to Hon. V. Winkler, the Minister of Agriculture. Last year forty two million bushels of wheat were raised. Mr. Winkler's advices are that Saskatchewan aims at two hundred million bushels, making three hundred millions as western Canada's total.

GRAIN MARKET

There was a good steady market at this week's prices for all choice quality offerings of butcher steers and heifers, fancy baby beef, and heavy steers. A choice load of yearling baby beef topped the market for this week for a full load at $13.50, which compares well with the selected yearlings sold Wednesday at $15. Choice heavy steers sold firm up to $12.50, and choice handy butcher around $11 to $11.50. There were quite a few held over to be cleaned up, and for these the market was a little slow, and some price concessions were in order.

Sheep and lambs were steady at the high prices.

Hogs touched the new high point at $21, fed and watered, though most settlements were at $20.75 o $20.85.

Union Stock Yards—Receipts yesterday, 62 cars, with 596 cattle, 161 calves, 2,213 hogs and 20 sheep and lambs.

CATTLE MARKET

Supplies in the elevators are sufficient for immediate requirements, providing cars can be obtained to move out the grain. At the same time the present prospects of an early spring and all available labour being diverted to field work, and a corresponding falling-off in deliveries at elevator points, were sufficient to develop a stronger tone to the markets yesterday. Corn was stronger at Chicago but is still on the embargo list to Canada, excepting a few scattered cars coming in under special permits. Corn is not now officially quoted in the Board of Trade list, but several cars have been offered, track, Toronto, at $2 per bushel, No. 3 kiln dried. Oats are firm and are quoted 1-2c. to 5-8c. higher, basis in store at Fort William. Ontario oats unchanged. Barley, rye, and buckwheat all hold firm at the prevailing high levels.

Manitoba Wheat: No. 1 Northern, $2.23 1-2; No. 2, $2.20 1-2; No. 3, $2.17 1-2; No. 4, $2.10 1-4, including 2 1-2 cent tax, in store Fort William.

Manitoba oats: No. 2 C.W., 97c.; No. 2, 93 3-4c.; extra No. 1 feed, 92 3-8c., acre Fort William; No. 1 feed, 90 7-8c.

American Corn: No. 3 kiln dried, U.S.A., War Board prohibits importation.

Ontario Oats: No. 2 white, 94c to 95c, nominal; No. 3 white, 93c to 94c.

Barley: Malting, $1.78 to $1.80.

Ontario wheat: No 2 winter, $2.22, basis in store, Montreal.

ROCHESTER IN THE THROES OF "RABIES EPIDEMIC"

Experts Do Not Agree on Rabies —Are "Negri" Bodies Conclusive Evidence?

WELL DOGS ARE RABID?

ROCHESTER, March 22.—The pros and cons of rabies are pointedly discussed in communications that have reached this city, now in the throes of a "rabies epidemic." V. A. Moore, dean of the New York State Veterinary College, in a letter to W. G. Markham, of Avon, takes direct issuance with the views of Dr. William O. Stillman, of Albany, president of the American Humane society, as presented in The Post Express on March 1st.

Dean Moore stoutly asserts that rabies in dogs and hydrophobia in humans have been well-established since the days of the ancients, allusions of which are made in the writings of Virgil, Horace, Ovid and Plutarch. He also speaks of the "Negri" bodies presence of which are held by some to be conclusive evidence of the presence of the disease, which may still be in incipient form. The letter referred to was forwarded by Mr. Markham to Edward R. Foreman, of this city. By coincidence, a letter of the same date, was received by Mr. Foreman from Mr. Stillman, in which he asserted that the "Negri" proof of rabies is entirely undependable and that the Humane Society had on several occasions, sent heads of perfectly healthy dogs to the state college at Cornell university, later to receive news back that the dogs showed symptoms of rabies.

The letter from Dean Moore follows:

"Mr. Potter has just handed me a newspaper clipping on the subject of rabies in which one, Dr. William O. Stillman of Albany, has given expression to his views on this general subject. There always have been men who opposed the discoveries of science. Rabies has been a phenomena from the time of Aristotle who first described it. I am enclosing a reprint on thes ubject of rabies which I read some nine or ten years ago in Auburn. This, I think, will give you the facts wanted.

GLAD TO ANSWER QUESTIONS.

"Since the publication of this paper the fact has been demonstrated that the so-called Negri bodies appear in the brains of dogs and animals inoculated with rabies before symptoms develop. Some years ago they sent us the head of a dog from Albany in which we found Negri bodies in the brain. Dr. Stillman has never ceased talking about Negri bodies being present in healthy dogs since that time. He does not say, however, that these bodies are present before symptoms appear and he has not proven that if he had not killed this dog it would not have developed rabies within the next few days.

"If there are any questions that you would like to ask regarding rabies I should be very glad to answer them if I can."

Appended to the contrarily expressed letter from Dr. Stillman:

"I have a copy of The Post Express for March 1st, containing quotations from my letter to you. I have glanced over it hurriedly, but I think it is all right. In some newspaper clippings recently received I saw that Rochester is to have a rabies quarantine and that there were nine cases of alleged rabies in dogs, that have been reported from Cornell. Of course the diagnosis of rabies in these animals has been dependent upon finding what are known as the negri bodies in the brains of these dogs.

EXPERIENCE OF A SISTER CITY

"In this connection you will be interested in our experience in Albany. Quite a number of years ago, a rabies quarantine was declared in Albany, and the city was terrorized for something like two and one-half or three years. No case of hydrophobia in human beings resulted during this time although people were bitten by alleged rabid dogs who took no treatment. I asked repeatedly to be shown a case of rabies in a dog by the state authorities, but they failed to produce the dog.

"Officers went on the streets shooting dogs to the eminent danger of killing human beings. Alarmists' literature appeared in the newspapers, and people were scared into believing that they had false hydrophobia, which is known in medicine as lyssophobia. Lyssophobia is merely a disease of the imagination and is not hydrophobia at all. Mothers were scared almost into convulsions when their children were approached by a harmless household pet. As a result of all this agony on the part of human beings, who had been unduly alarmed, and a tremendous amount of agitation which interfered with the life and health of the city and resulted in the destruction of scores of harmless animals, Albanians became much stirred up over the situation.

RABID HARMLESS FAMILY PETS?

"I had been informed by a graduate of the Pasteur Institute in Paris, who was then the head of one of our large New York state laboratories for the manufacture of anti-toxins, etc., that the presence of the negri bodies was not conclusive proof of rabies in dogs, but it was found it developed from other causes. At the Humane Society kennels, in cases where harmless household pets had been surrendered, because they were unwanted, the heads were cut off and sent to Cornell with the result that a large percentage of them were declared to have rabies although they had never had a symptom of the disease and had not been exposed to it. I made up my mind that the whole thing was a rank humbug without actual foundation and went to the commissioner of agriculture with the proposition that we should hold the dogs, alleged to be rabid, for clinical observation, and see whether a case ever developed. This appealed as reasonable to the commissioner of agriculture and the Humane Society held all alleged cases of rabies. Not a case ever developed and we soon saw the end of the whole miserable performance.

"I would advise Rochester to hold all these alleged cases of rabies for anywhere from three months to a year and see whether rabies develops in a dog. If it really does you will have a genuine case present. If it does not, and the chances are that it will never appear the hysteria from this sensational scare will disappear quickly and the people of Rochester will be saved being scared nearly to death because some household dog has a fit or indigestion.

"This is an actual experience and may well serve as a lesson to your people in Rochester who, I fear, are being made victims of an untrustworthy scientific alarm."

Will Increase Sheriff's Fees

Hon. I. B. Lucas, Attorney-General, introduced a resolution increasing the fees of sheriffs approximately twenty-five per cent. He said that there were 46 sheriffs in the Province and 30 of them received less than $1,500. It was proposed to make the minimum salary $1,500. Sam Carter, South Wellington, objected to the amount charged by some sheriffs.

PADUA.

Another City That Was Almost Forgotten Before the War.

This war has served to bring into world consciousness names that sound like far-off bells. Cities and ruins of cities that had represented a kind of contemporary desuetude have taken on a new lustre of interest. When the Agamemnon's guns boomed at the entrance of the Dardanelles their reverberations were carried across the plains to the excavations of Troy, where a far different Agamemnon fought for a delectable sister-in-law. When the British entered that modern city of hovels, Bagdad, down came the "Arabian Nights' Entertainment" from our library shelves, and we forgot the war in passing in high adventure through charmed halls. And then came the fall of Jerusalem and of Bethlehem. It seemed as if we were again permitted to look upon that milestone of time which divides history into its two great aeons.

When the Teutonic advance into Italy menaced Venice, the past seemed again to glow. But one is familiar, more or less, with the island city that dominated the Mediterranean in mediæval times. The recent Teutonic air raid on unfortified Padua, however, blows the dust from an almost forgotten archive of memory.

My lord, here stays without
A messenger with letters from the doctor.
New come from Padua.

These lines anticipated the entrance of "Portia" into the Venetian court of justice and really begin one of Shakespeare's most famous scenes. When Shakespeare wrote, the University of Padua was one of the greatest in the world and its school of law the greatest. So when "Portia" was announced as coming "from Padua, from Bellario," her beauty was adorned with the dignity of great learning. Even the ancestors of the future imposers of Kultur upon the world appreciated Padua, two hundred Germans being in 1564 enrolled in what we should to-day call the university's "law department." Padua had the first anatomical theatre of mediæval Europe, as well as the first botanical garden, whose exotic trees centuries later assisted Goethe in his scientific investigations.

Padua not only is a city, or should we say town (it has less than 100,000 inhabitants), in which art treasures exist. There men who did great things lived. They were part of the community life of Padua. Donatello's great equestrian statue of Gattamolata stands before the San Antonio Church, and within the church there is an altar by Donatello, because Donatello was for a time a Paduan. Padua possesses important works by Giotto and Mantegna, because they were its citizens. During his long exile from Florence, Dante found for a time a home in Padua.

When the airplanes of the Central Powers flew over unfortified Padua and rained death upon civilians, including women and children, the spirit of Padua's history has not been one entirely of the culture that came with the Renaissance. It was sacked by Attila and restored by Charlemagne. Attila again is heard at its walls. May the work of Padua's twentieth century Charlemagne be one of successful defence instead of restoration.

The Women of Russia.

The educated women in Russia, prior to the revolution, enjoyed a position of freedom equal to that of any other country in the world. They were often found as owners and managers of large factories and estates; they got their degrees at the universities along with men; women were given posts as teachers of all kinds, including professorships at men's universities, and they practiced medicine and dentistry. There was a marked tendency to encourage them entering the legal profession, and the Constitutional Democrats in the Duma wanted to admit them to the duties of law service. When women teachers and professors had served 20 years they were entitled to retire on a Government pension, and if they died and were survived by husband the pensions continued during then husbands' lives.—Family Herald.

Sugariess Sundae.

The first prize in a recent contest held by the Soda Fountain went to the following sugariess sundae recipe, called "Honey Brazil":

One pint good strained honey, 1 pint cream, 1 teaspoonful cornstarch dissolved in milk, ¾ pound butter, 1 cup of Brazil nuts cut in pieces ¼ inch or ⅛ inch in diameter. Heat the cream and honey together; add the cornstarch and cook it until it thickens. After removing from the the cornstarch and cook it until it ed. Serve a ladle over a portion of ice cream and top with whipped cream and a red cherry.

Polishing Diamonds.

Before the polishing of a diamond is begun the rough stone must be held firmly. This is accomplished by building a solder mold for it. The mold is first roughly shaped by hand and heated. It is then reshaped as often as necessary to fit the stone perfectly. When it is exactly right, it is heated again and the stone dropped in. Held firmly by the snug solder mold, the stone can then be handled easily.

An emulsion is a perfect mixture of oil and water, produced by the aid of a third body, generally either saccharine or mucilaginous.

Russian Army Melted Away

A WRITER in the New York Times inserts the following advertisment: "Lost — A Russian army. Last seen somewhere in Asia Minor. Finder please return to nearest Russian Government. No questions asked." What has become of those great Russian forces under Grand Duke Nicholas which captured Erzerum, Trebizond and Erzingan nearly two years ago? The newspapers are silent. Evidently the armies are not fighting, or we should have heard of it from the Turks. Even if they were retiring before the Turks we should have reports. If they had broken up and made their way back home we should also have heard of it in the news that the country they occupied in their memorable marches had been evacuated. There is a possibility, though it seems remote, that these armies have remained intact and are menacing the safety of cities deep in the Ottoman Empire—Sivas, Diarbekr, Angora. But what organization in Russia has been feeding the armies, sending the men their pay, shipping ammunition? It seems more likely that the lost army has had to support itself for some months past.

Somewhere in Armenia and the districts further south there must be at least the remnants of that great host led by the Grand Duke Nicholas and Gen. Judenich, a soldier who won a great name for himself in the operations against the Turks. The last mention of the army was contained in a five-line despatch from Petrograd, October 5, 1917, which told of the capture of a village 50 miles north of Mosul, one of the most important Turkish cities in Asia. It was then thought that the Russian army meant to try to co-operate with the British army, which had followed up the capture of Bagdad by that of Ramadie, 60 miles to the northeast. Not a word have we heard since of the Russians either from themselves or from the British. It is longer still since word has come of the Russian army operating around Hamadan and Kermanshah. Last July a bulletin was issued mentioning this powerful force. Then the veil fell. It is remarkable that no word has come from Petrograd. Is there a special significance in the censorship hiding the movements or the inactivity of the Russian army in Armenia?

In 1916 the Russian campaign against Turkey was at full tide. On February 15, Erzerum, the great Armenian stronghold of the Turks, fell to the Grand Duke and 40,000 Turks and 1,000 guns were captured as well as tremendous stores. It was thought that the Russian army then numbered about 300,000, and its morale was equal to its numerical strength, one of the most brilliant features of the capture being the storming of some of the forts at the point of the bayonet. After Erzerum, the Russian army continued to press forward along the Black Sea coast and further inland. These joint operations culminated on February 17 in the capture of Trebizond. This event was hailed in all the allied countries as a victory of first-rate importance, and eyes were then turned toward Constantinople, which seemed to be menaced, especially since the Russian fleet took an important part in the operations.

The Russians kept advancing and one after another Baiburt, Erzingan, Bitlis and Mush were taken. It was a sort of triumphal procession, and at the same time the Russians in Persia were fighting their way to join the British in Mesopotamia, who were also advancing. It seemed then that when the Russians effected a junction with Sir Stanley Maude's army and Bagdad fell that the chief Turkish forces would be caught between the two allied armies and made to surrender. These high hopes were not fulfilled, but Turkish prestige was never so low since the beginning of the war as in those early months of 1916. As late as last April the Russians in Mesopotamia had recaptured Khanikin, and about the same time the army in Armenia took the important city of Van. That is about the last victory of any importance to be recorded for the Russian armies operating against the Turks.

It is true that the revolutionary blight had fallen upon Russia, but after that Korniloff made a memorable smash against the Teutons. This was followed by stories of trouble between Kerensky and Korniloff, and the rising of the latter against the revolutionists. His defeat followed, and later on came the overthrow of Kerensky by Lenine and Trotzky. It was hoped by the allies that the Asiatic armies, being far removed from the anarchy that was spreading through Russia, would be able to continue, that they would be under the influence of their British comrades in arms rather than under the influence of the Bolsheviki. Whether this assumption was justified, we have no means of knowing. No news comes of the Russian armies. They may have settled down, embraced Mohammedanism and become Turkish subjects. Even this would be better than to embrace what now appears to be the ruling religion in Russia.

About Temperature.

The best authorities on the science of meteorology tell us that without the various changes in the temperature there would be a perfect calm at all time in all parts of the globe. A uniform and unvarying barometric pressure would everywhere prevail, and there would be no change of seasons, no evaporation or condensation, no clouds, and no rain. In short, without changes of temperature, which we sometimes think so uncomfortable, the atmosphere would soon become poisonous, stagnant and incapable of sustaining human life.

HUNS STILL BRUTAL.

More Stories of Cruelty From Invaded Countries.

Reuter's has received from a trustworthy Belgian citizen, who has just reached London from the German military zone at Valenciennes, an account of the terrible condition existing in the occuped districts of France, from which practically no news ever reaches England. For sufficient reasons it cannot be stated how this man escaped. He still bears traces of a heavy blow on the jaw, and showed Reuter's representative a handful of natural teeth which had been knocked out by the butt-end of a German guard's rifle. He said:

"The Germans have organized a slavery army in the zone of Northern France. When I left St. Amand a few weeks ago conditions were unbearable. All the men between the ages of 17 und 50 had been taken away. Unmarried women under 40 are obliged to work in the fields, while little girls, 12 to 14, must collect acorns and nettles.

"Everywhere you meet civilians working under armed guards. Everyone wears a brassard showing the town he comes from. Some wear a brassard around the leg showing that he tried to escape. I saw an old man with a large cross painted on his back. I knew what that signified. If you refuse to work you are fined; if you refuse to pay the fine you are imprisoned. If you refuse a second time you are sent to Germany, from where one seldom comes back alive.

"Beside civilian prisoners, the Germans have great numbers of war prisoners behind the lines, working under terrible conditions. The English are especially badly treated. All want food, but the sufferings of the Russians owing to lack of food are awful. It was while I was endeavoring to give a starving Russian a little of my own small supply of food that the guard knocked out my teeth."

It is known that the Germans requisition everything, but few realize what this means. Reuter's informant told how clocks, even domestic clocks, and lamps, are broken up for copper; mattresses are ripped for wool; sacks and clothes are seized. Farmers and peasants must declare everything.

"I have seen people dragged to prison," he said, "for hiding a pound of potatoes. Hiding an egg involves a fine of five marks. One woman was deported to Germany for keeping three pigeons. Another was sentenced to fourteen months for hiding an Alsatian refugee. The latter was immediately killed by a non-com. who struck another woman with such violence that she became deaf. A little girl was shot dead without warning because she crossed the Franco-Belgian frontier for bread."

This informant had dates and the names of the people in all cases in his possession. He said that these were only a few examples.

"Wherever you turn your eyes," he said, "the same tragedy is everywhere—Starvation, slavery and untold brutality."

THE TANKS IN ACTION

ONE OF THE NEWEST FORMS OF WARFARE.

Commander of "Land Battleship" Describes His Sensations When Going Into Battle Against the Germans, Who Were Terrified at the Sight of the New Monsters Invented by the British.

COULD the Boche but have seen a snaky line nearly a mile long, composed of tanks following each other up to the jumping-off point, he would have brought all his artillery upon us in no time. Thank heaven it was a pitch-black night.

With my watch in my hand and my heart racing away like mad, I sat waiting. The extreme battery—a 9.2 battery—on the right of the sector crashed out with an awful roar, and then the extreme left 9.2 followed suit. Our barrage had begun.

There was about five seconds' pause, then an ear-splitting row. The Boche trenches looked like a furnace. The whole place was as light as day. Thousands of machine guns were rattling from our trenches, flame-throwers and boiling oil were racing for the Boches. The din was awful.

From the Boche lines frantic S.O.S. signals went up, but no German guns replied.

As I sat I saw our infantry advance with their rifles at the trail at a steady march across no man's land. Then I crawled into my tank, got on my seat and waited for our moving-off time.

"Some barrage that," yelled the driver to me. "Never seen such a glorious sight in all my natural."

The tank, grunting and skidding, crawled out of the shell holes at a snail's pace, and then went forward easily over the rough ground. We crossed the British front line a few minutes afterward and plunged over no man's land through shell hole after shell hole.

A dozen or more prisoners slunk past us in the charge of a wounded Tommy, who waved his hand to us.

Through my periscope I could see tanks on either flank and behind me. There was nothing for us to fire at. The Boche seemed to have disappeared altogether. What were once trenches were now just ugly looking ditches with "pill boxes" (concrete gun emplacements) here and there. Most of these "pill boxes" were shattered or lying on their sides.

The barrage was slowing halting, but was just as fierce as ever. The first objective had been reached and the barrage was a protective one.

I heard a tremendous explosion to my right front and saw a column of earth shoot up. More columns arose everywhere—the Germans had started a counter barrage. On we went. Groups of prisoners, among whom were many Red Cross men, were coming back, carrying and helping both British and Hun wounded.

We arrived at our second objective as our infantry were consolidated and the barrage kept up just in front. As it lifted a company of ——shires went forward, and were almost immediately held up by heavy machine-gun fire from a ruin which had once been an estaminet.

This was where we came into play, and charging forward with an exultant mob of Tommies on either side and behind us, we took that emplacement fair and square. I must say that those Boche gunners died like heroes. They kept on firing at the front of the bus until the tank rose over the stone wall and plumped down on them.

The Boches now put up a determined defence, and the tanks smelt blood and went for them like a cat after a mouse. I had a feeling that some one was firing directly at me and almost immediately found my surmise was correct. About a hundred yards away ahead I saw a flash, then felt a crash at the bottom of the tank. It was a shell from an anti-tank gun—the tanks' most formidable enemy.

"Corkscrewing" or "zig-zagging" wasn't the word for it during the following few minutes. With my eye on the sights of my gun I kept an aim on that spot where those flashes came from.

Round after round was being fired at me, and one took effect, hitting the tank on the rear left track. The shell went right through, I afterward found out, but did no damage beyond "putting the wind up" the crew, particularly myself.

At last I was rewarded. I saw a movement at the gun position and let loose a drum of bullets at it. No more shells were fired at us by that gun. To put the gun hors de combat was a very simple matter. A tank can smash anything by going over it.

Away to my right was a trench from which a salvo of bullets greeted me. There was no need for me to give an order. The bus right-hand gunners got on to that trench in no time and emptied a few drums of ammunition into it from their machine guns.

The bridge over the river on the old main road to the village I was certain would be a total wreck, but when I got down to it I saw it was almost intact. It was a strong-looking stone bridge and about twelve feet wide and the same length. Only one shell had hit it, and had knocked off a corner of the side of the bridge. "This," I yelled to the grinning driver, "is a bit of luck. Right over with her!"

We had scarcely crossed when we were all violently flung off our seats by a tremendous explosion. The tank seemed as though it was soaring upward. The bridge had been mined. She met the ground with a crash, and we were all again sent sprawling. Then she just went on forward as if nothing had happened. We all thanked our lucky stars that the explosion hadn't come off before we were actually over; otherwise—nuff sed!

The barrage again lifted, and I could see the infantry, plodding slowly through the river. Salvo after salvo of bullets greeted us as we rolled into the remains of the village and went down the shell-pitted main street.

The place suddenly became alive with screaming Boches, who ran toward the tank with their hands uplifted. Fear was written large all over their features, and many of them fell down shot. The gunner was in clover.

I could see that the Boches were absolutely terrified, and out of pity for them I threw a spanner at the gunner and gave him the sign to "cease fire," stopping the tank, I yelled out in English that they were all to fall in and come up one at a time in front of the tank and empty their pockets. My order was understood all right. Personal correspondence, jewelry, water bottles and gas appliances I let them keep, but other things I made one of the men pick up and throw into a shell hole.

We got back to the rallying point after nine hours' hard and hot work, and found that two other tanks of my own section were already there. The other two tanks had not arrived, and one tank commander was positive that he saw "poor old Jimmy and his bus go sky high." He alluded to me.

We had held all the captured positions and had won the day. Just another British advance—that's all.—Harold Rutherford.

Shortage of Coal.

Italy is so pressed for coal that gas engineers are compelled to employ substitutes. Since the war with Turkey, in 1913, there has been a serious shortage of fuel in the country. To-day, coal costs seven times as much as it did a few years ago. Yet, strange to say, the price of coke has not risen in proportion to coal. At the middle of 1916, coke was costing but two and a half times as much as before the war. Private gas works, which have made pre-war contracts with the municipal authorities, are in a precarious condition and are running at enormous losses, due to the exorbitant prices they are obliged to pay.—Popular Science Monthly.

The Mole Is a Gormandizer.

The little mole has recently been recommended for membership in the society of big eaters. It is so very voracious, even in captivity, that it will sometimes eat more than its own weight of earthworms in twenty-four hours. One little glutton, weighing four ounces, devoured seven and one-half pounds of worms in one month. When the diet changed to raw beef, mutton, chicken heads and rabbit liver, its appetite was unchanged. Cheese, when mixed with either worms or beef, was the most toothsome bit of all.—Popular Science Monthly.

A Sandpaper Label.

Perhaps the simplest of all devices for protecting people from taking doses from poison bottles by mistake, is the sandpaper label. The actual label with its usual skull and crossbones is pasted on a piece of sandpaper large enough to go all around the bottle, so that when you take up the bottle in the night, no matter how dazed from sleep you may be, the rough unfamiliar feel of the sandpaper rouses you, and you recognize at once that the bottle contains poison of some description. The printed label will tell the kind.

Wood Flour.

Wood flour is made by grinding dry sawdust in the same way that grain was formerly ground in the old-fashioned mills. At the present time it is used in ammunition plants as an absorbent in preparing dynamite. Chemically-bleached wood flour is used in making wood stucco and molding. In fact, wood flour is coming into wider commercial use each day.

Care of Telephone.

The telephone is a fine receptacle for germs of every kind, and little attention is paid to sterilizing this much-used machine. It should be washed out with alcohol as often as required, and to keep the dust out of it make a small round cover of soft leather or heavy cloth and stitch a broad ribbon around the edge, through which can be run a drawing string or elastic. Put this over the transmitter.

Paper Clothing.

Paper clothing has long been known, sometimes for its cussedness, but recently there was discovered a method of waterproofing cloth made from wood pulp which greatly increases the life of the garment. Some paper cloth is brittle, but there is one variety known to the Japanese which will withstand 37,500 foldings without breaking.

To Destroy Plant Worms.

Worms may be killed in jars of potted plants by taking a dozen horse chestnuts and pouring over them two quarts of hot water, writes L. M. T. in the Mother's Magazine. Let stand over night and with this water thoroughly saturate the earth in the jars. It will not injure the plants, but the worms will be dead in a few hours.

NOISES IN EARS, TWITCHING NERVES

Told of the Exhausted Condition of the Nerves—Indigestion and Weak Heart Action Were Other Symptoms.

KINGSTON, Ont., March 22.—There are few people in this city who are not acquainted with the exceptional restorative power of Dr. Chase's Nerve Food. Reports have come from almost every street of the Limestone City telling of cures effected by this treatment, and the druggists have been surprised at the enormous demand for this great nerve restorative.

This is not to be wondered at when cure is effected in such extreme and complicated cases as the one described in this letter

Mrs. M. A. Couling, 61 Stanley street, Kingston, Ont., writes:

"For a number of years I suffered from a rundown condition of the system, due to overwork. I could not sleep and was restless and worried. I had pains through my back, buzzing in the ears and twitching of my nerves and muscles. I had indigestion and my appetite became poor. I would get drowsy after eating and frequently suffered from great weakness. My circulation was poor, my hands and feet always cold and my heart action weak. I consulted doctors, but they could do nothing for me. Whilst in this condition I decided upon a trial of Dr. Chase's Nerve Food. After taking eight boxes of this medicine I am relieved of all the symptoms from which I suffered before, and in general I feel like a new woman. I used to be very constipated so I took Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills in connection with the Nerve Food, and am completely cured of that trouble, too."

Dr. Chase's Nerve Food, 50c. a box, a full treatment of 6 boxes for $2.75, at all dealers, or Edmanson, Bates & Co., Limited, Toronto. Do not be talked into accepting a substitute. Imitations only disappoint.

Term "The Public."

What we understand today by the term "the public" did not exist during antiquity, as it presupposes a great number of simultaneous readers of one and the same writings, a condition that could not be realized before the invention of printing. The first book that may be said to have had a public in the sense as now understood was the printed Bible. The essential instrument, however, for the formation of "a public," journalism, did not appear before the French revolution.

Climbed Greater Ararat.

James Bryce, former British ambassador to the United States, climbed Greater Ararat in September, 1876, making the ascent alone. The Russian governor had supplied him with an escort, but they were still 5,000 feet short of the summit when, overcome with superstitious fear, they refused to go on. Mr. Bryce described the summit as a little plain of snow, silent and desolate, with a bright green sky above, and the view as stern and monotonous.

Why Trotzky Wants Peace

AMONG the national leaders who have played an important part in shaping the destinies of Europe, Leon Trotzky stands out boldly, partly on account of his sensational career, and partly because he is the chief exponent of the policy of the Bolsheviki. He stands to-day as the one man capable of explaining the apparent madness of the Russian revolutionary socialism, which seems to have turned that country upside down. Chaos has been the result of the rule of the Bolsheviki, and the majority of people in allied countries, looking on with feelings of indignation and incomprehension, have come to the conclusion that Leon Trotzky is a tool of Germany. His rise to power would appear to justify the assumption that he is an adventurer. On account of his revolutionary doctrines, he was driven from many countries after leaving his native Russia. He lived for a while in France, in Switzerland, and in Spain, and finally he resided in New York, where he made a precarious living as a journalist. For a short time he was also the unwilling guest of the Canadian Government when our military authorities had him interned with the alien enemies at Halifax, just when he was preparing to return to Petrograd to aid the Bolsheviki in seizing the reins of power.

The history of Trotzky's activties since the war began, the part played by him in the peace parleys and the many accusations that have been brought against his motives combine to make his book, "The Bolsheviki and World Peace," one of the most important contributions to the literature of the great struggle. Its interest lies in the fact that it is a confession of faith and a statement of policy written by a man who little dreamed when he wrote the book how soon he would be in a position to give practical expression to his doctrines. When Trotzky prepared his message a Romanoff still occupied the throne of Russia and the immediate hope of the author was the overthrow of Czardom, but it must be noted that in his interpretation of world events he regarded the fall of the Czar as only the first step towards "the" revolution. When Trotzky speaks of "the" revolution, he refers to a great revolution by which the proletariat will take charge of the affairs of the nations, driving out the present "capitalists" and "bourgeois" governments, as he describes even the rulers of the great modern democracies. Anyone who reads "the Bolsheviki and World Peace" will find that the recent acts of the Russian Government are based logically on the policy of Trotzky and his friends, though of course there will be many opinions as to whether or not the policy is a wise one.

The Bolsheviki want the immediate cessation of the war because they believe the cause of the proletariat demands it. Trotzky claims that in the war the capitalist and imperialist states have been using the people to further their own ambition, but he also contends that every capitalist state must in the end overreach itself and come to grief. He says that when the war broke out the nationalist leaders were able to play upon certain emotions of the common people, who were organized and cajoled into fighting for various causes. The Russian revolutionist believes that the very attention bestowed upon the people strengthened their class consciousness and awakened them to a realization of their own importance. The theorists of the Bolsheviki fear, however, that if the war continues, the people will be brought to a stage of exhaustion that will indefinitely postpone "the" revolution, which is to be a class struggle. The Russian Socialists believe that they must secure a peace as soon as possible for the sake of their cause, but Trotzky adds an implied threat when he says, "A working class that has been through the school of war will feel the need of using the language of force as soon as the first serious obstacle faces them in their own country."

Get the Habit of Drinking Hot Water Before Breakfast

Says we can't look or feel right with the system full of poisons.

Millions of folks bathe internally now instead of loading their system with drugs. "What's an inside bath?" you say. Well, it is guaranteed to perform miracles if you could believe these hot water enthusiasts.

There are vast numbers of men and women who, immediately upon arising in the morning, drink a glass of real hot water with a teaspoonful of limestone phosphate in it. This is a very excellent health measure. It is intended to flush the stomach, liver, kidneys and the thirty feet of intestines of the previous day's waste, sour bile and indigestible material left over in the body which if not eliminated every day, become food for the millions of bacteria which infest the bowels, the quick result is poisons and toxins which are then absorbed into the blood causing headache, bilious attacks, bad breath, bad taste, colds, stomach trouble, kidney misery, sleeplessness, impure blood and all sorts of ailments.

People who feel good one day and badly the next, but who simply can not get feeling right are urged to obtain a quarter pound of limestone phosphate at the drug store. This will cost very little but is sufficient to make anyone a real crank on the subject of internal sanitation.

Whatever may be the ultimate verdict of history regarding the Bolsheviki, their place in the world to-day is so important that no well-informed person can afford to misunderstand them. For that reason, "The Bolsheviki and World Peace" is one of the outstanding volumes of the decade. In reading it a person must remember that a new type of character has become influential in world politics. Here is an estimate of Leon Trotzky that Lincoln Steffens, a friendly critic, gives in the short introduction, "He isn't pro-allies; he isn't even pro-Russian. He isn't a patriot at all. He is for a class, the proletariat, the working people of all countries, and he is for his class only to get rid of classes and get down or up to humanity." The book disposes of the idea that Trotzky deliberately favors either side in the war, and it ends with a shout that shows how completely he believes in his own cause. He declares, "We feel ourselves to be the only creative force of the future. Already there are many of us, more than it may seem. To-morrow there will be more of us than to-day. And the day after to-morrow, millions will rise up under our banner, millions who even now, sixty-seven years after the Communist Manifesto, have nothing to lose but their chains."

Many Razors Purchased.

An order has been placed by the United States Government for 65,000 dozen safety razors and 115,000 dozen blades. As soon as they are delivered they are to be forwarded to the soldiers doing duty in the trenches.

Alkali In Shampoos Bad For Washing Hair

Don't use prepared shampoos or anything else, that contains too much alkali, for this is very injurious, as it dries the scalp and makes the hair brittle.

The best thing to use is just plain mulsified cocoanut oil, for this is pure and entirely greaseless. It's very cheap, and beats anything else all to pieces. You can get this at any drug store, and a few ounces will last the whole family for months.

Simply moisten the hair with water and rub it in, about a teaspoonful is all that is required. It makes an abundance of rich, creamy lather, cleanses thoroughly and rinses out easily. The hair dries quickly and evenly, and is soft, fresh looking bright, fluffy, wavy and easy to handle. Besides, it loosens and takes out every particle of dust, dirt and dandruff.

Frozen Caterpillars Live On.

Interesting experiments have been made by two French scientists, who placed a number of caterpillars in test tubes or metal boxes in a refrigerating mixture of ice and salt at a temperature varying between 15 to 20 degree Centigrade. The same caterpillars were frozen six times in the space of a month, and they always came back to life, but at each new freezing operations their movements and reactions to mechanical excitation became slower.

Some Comfort.

Henry van Dyke, the former American Minister to the Netherands, said at the Authors' Club the other day. "The morale of all the allied soldiers is always excellent. They joke about their wounds. I met a wounded aviator from the Escadrille Lafayette at a tea. He sat in a bath chair, with his leg propped straight out, and his two crutches at his side. 'How is the leg coming on?' I said. 'Well, anyhow,' he laughed, 'it isn't coming off'."

Japanese Fish.

Intelligent commercial development of a little-known fish for other markets is shown in a new Japanese product, kippered samma. This fish is described by the Pacific Fishman as a mackerel-pike and is peculiar to the waters of Japan. A Japanese packing company conceived the idea of putting it up in cans, in kippered or smoked form, and the quality is pronounced so good by experts that it is believed a market can be created in this country.

Shellfish.

Among the oldest life forms on the globe is the shellfish, known as the lingula, a specimen of which was taken from Manila Bay several years ago. The genus, according to scientists, has remained practically unaltered for more than 100,000,000 years. With the extraordinary changes of climate and environment since the world began most forms of life with which science is familiar have been transformed or have altogether disappeared since the geologic ages. "That the genus lingula," says the Journal of Heredity, "should have survived for all these ages, and undergone virtually no change, is striking evidence of the fact that the germ plasm, which under some conditions, as in the case of the horse and the dog, is capable of extraordinary variation, is under other conditions remarkably constant."

The Russian Peasant.

Thus far Ivan of Russia has lived in the middle ages, religiously. He knows almost nothing of an inner struggle, knows still less of the social aspect of religion, of the beauty, the self-sacrifice, the idealism, the groping for the truth which the Christian mind now and then grapples with in the west. He still dreads his old gods far more than he loves his Christ. Yes, say what you will, he is still the pagan child of nature in all that chilling picturesqueness and forbidding ugliness. To him Christianity means a number of fasts, a still greater number of saints and demons—a detailed knowledge of which must be left to wiser heads than his—but it is his business to conciliate them, propitiate them, and keep them from swooping down on him.

Ivan's whole existence is out of joint. He is born in a world of earth and wood, where his life is circumscribed by a log cabin that is thatched in fall, when it assumes an appearance of tidiness, but becomes a huge harp for the March winds to play their woeful dirges on. The thatch is fed to the few starving animals, and the dispensable wooden props and decorations used to cook dinner with long before the approach of spring. Here between the unplastered, undecorated walls he lives with his horse, his pig, his hens—always provided he has any—under the same roof, glad of their sociability and animal warmth, being much in need of both. His home is one of the maze of zigzag, lopsided, weather-beaten, broken down izbas that stand huddled together, freezing in God's solemn peacefulness and uncanny dreaminess. Enchantingly idyllic on a canvas, but a dreadful place to live in.

Ivan's diet is to all intents and purposes vegetarian — not from choice, however. It is the coarsest and simplest of the poorest man on the face of the earth. Day in and day out Ivan sees nothing on his rickety table except black bread, made of rye flour, often mixed with weeds, acorns, and oak bark, and ground in his own quern. This is moistened and washed edown with tschee, which is made of finely cut cabbage, and, in season, bits of cucumbers. Add potatoes, not always plentiful, and his menu is made up for every week day in the year.

Crass poverty is usually accompanied by gross ignorance. Ivan is so blissfully ignorant of the outside world that it were a safe bet that the greater majority of his brethren do not know whether Canada is right next to Germany, on the continent of Africa, or mayhap in the moon.

Trade Barriers.

As part of the "formula for peace," Courtenay de Kalb, writing in the current issue of "The Atlantic Magazine," would have careful consideration given to trade restrictions — tariffs, schemes for commercial war, and so forth, with a view to eliminating such artificial barriers. For such he considers them. Part of the scheme for a league to enforce peace would, in his opinion, "introduce the principle of natural trade by taking steps to eliminate the fostering devices on which national aggrandizement depends. It might not be possible to reach every scheme for artificial trade-development which will lift its head, but the tariff can be stripped off and the granting of ship subsidies and bounties and all the cruder forms of industrial parentalism. This would at least go far toward the organization of the sisterhood of nations on the true competition basis of relative inherent skill, knowledge and ability. In that direction lies the open road to peace and progress. The world may not delude itself; it must take that highway or accept the principle of the trade-war which goes hand in hand with Mars."

SAGE TEA DANDY TO DARKEN HAIR

It's Grandmother's Recipe to Bring Back Colour and Lustre to Hair

You can turn gray, faded hair beautifully dark and lustrous almost over night if you'll get a bottle of "Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound" at any drug store. Millions of bottles of this old famous Sage Tea Recipe, improved by the addition of other ingredients, are sold annually, says a well-known druggist here, because it darkens the hair so naturally and evenly that no one can tell it has been applied.

Those whose hair is turning gray or becoming faded have a surprise awaiting them, because after one or two applications the gray hair vanishes and your locks become luxuriantly dark and beautiful.

This is the age of youth. Gray-haired, unattractive folks aren't wanted around, so get busy with Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound to-night and you'll be delighted with your dark, handsome hair and your youthful appearance within a few days.

This preparation is a toilet requisite and is not intended for the cure, mitigation or prevention of disease.

Shakespeare's Schoolmaster.

In the London Times it was recently stated that Rev. Simon Hunt, B. A., who was Shakespeare's schoolmaster from 1571 to 1577, became a Jesuit on April 72, 1578, and died at Rome as penitentiary (confessor) on June 11, 1585.

Pinch of Poverty.

Next to the proletariat of India and China, the Russian peasant feels the pinch of poverty and hunger more keenly and more frequently than any other citizen on earth, says the National Geographic Magazine.

Palpitation of the Heart and Nerve Troubles

WERE CURED BY

Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills

When the heart begins to beat irregularly or intermittently, palpitate and throb, skip beats, beat fast for a time, then so slow as to seem almost to stop, it causes great anxiety and alarm and the least excitement or exertion seems to affect it.

Many people are kept in a state of morbid fear of death, become weak, worn and miserable through this unnatural action of the heart.

To all sufferers from heart troubles we would advise the use of Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills, which by their action in strengthening the heart and regulating the beat remove all the distressing conditions, and impart vigor and vitality to the system.

Mrs. Thomas Davidson, Mount Brydges, Ont., writes: "I have been a great sufferer in the past with nerve troubles and palpitation of the heart. I tried several remedies, but without any good results. My son came in one day and advised me to take Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills. After using one and a half boxes, I am fully recovered, and am in a perfect state of health, thanks to your valuable medicine."

Price 50c a box at all dealers, or mailed direct on receipt of price by The T. Milburn Co., Limited, Toronto, Ont.

OUR DAILY SHORT STORY

A New Start

By Evelyn Sanborn Mayo

"I've turned honest, ma'am, and you've given me a big boost on the way to a decent life by fitting me out so finely."

"I trust so, I believe so," responded Mrs. Morley. "You have a good face and I should feel very sad if I thought you would think of selling those clothes for drink."

"I'm through with the red stuff, ma'am, believe me. I'll be only too glad to feel dressed like a real man, as I once was. I'll do myself proud and straight as a die, to show that I appreciate your kindness."

With the words, Ben Dorkins went on his way, carrying a neat parcel under his arm. It contained a suit of clothes, a hat, shoes, in fact, a complete outfit. Ben had come to the little Morley home about noon, asking for food, a down-at-the-heel tramp. He had offered to work for a meal and had done so, tidying up the back yard and carrying some ashes to the alley, behind the house.

Mrs. Morley gave Ben Dorkins not only a good meal, but half a dollar. Then, noticing his uncouth attire, a sudden impulse swayed her generous spirit.

"Wait," she said, "I just thought of a suit of clothes my husband discarded only two days ago. He is just about your size. Would you like them? They are not much worn, but my husband has a new suit of the same goods."

"Oh, ma'am! that's too much to think of giving an old ragbag like me," but as Mrs. Morley after a brief absence reappeared with the outfit entire, Ben's eyes gleamed with pleasure.

"You can step into the next room, if you like, and put them on," suggested Mrs. Morley, but Ben shook his head vigorously.

"Not I," he dissented strenuously. "I'm bound back for the city and work, which those fine rags will help me get. I'll stop at your barber shop here and get a shave and a hair cut. Then it's me for that pretty river running outside of the village. If you'll put in a piece of soap, please, I'll make my first bath for a month a famous one."

"I'll do that," assented Mrs. Morley, "and there's some collars and a couple of neckties. Be good, won't you, now?" she finished persuasively.

"I'll respect my word, ma'am. You've set me on my pegs right and I'll keep right," pledged Ben Dorkins.

He went on his way rejoicing. He got the shave and haircut, he reached a secluded part of the river course outside of the town, where he was free to disport in the water unseen by others and undisturbed.

"I feel new all over!" jubilated he, as he drew himself erect with pride and satisfaction and kicked his discarded rags into the river. "Now for a fifteen-mile tramp and something better than carrying in coal or begging my grub."

The renovation inspired Ben with distinctly new and worthy aspirations. He more than once glanced down at the trim-fitting suit. He began to practice the erect and manly swing, abandoned into careless sloughing when he fell from the good-breeding manners of former days. It was after dark when Ben reached Faneville, half the compass of his trip citywards.

He had fifteen cents left of the half dollar Mrs. Morley had given him and he invested ten of it in a cup of coffee and some rolls. Then he went down the street, entered a hotel and sat down in an arm chair in its lobby.

It was a truly agreeable situation to have the entree to respectability once more, for no lynx-eyed porter or officious desk clerk resented his presence. The suit was conspicuous, but tasteful, not loud, but it had a certain independent identity. It had originally cost over forty dollars, so its present wearer passed muster as to personal appearance.

Coincidence or fate, Hal Morley had left that very hotel as Ben entered it. Morley had come to Faneville for his bank at his home town, where he was employed. His mission was to meet a wealthy old invalid against whom the bank had a disputed claim of nearly ten thousand dollars. Morley had seen Mr. John Archer about the middle of the afternoon and had gone over the business he had been commissioned to transact. Mr. Archer was in charge of a male nurse and after he and Morley had agreed upon a compromise, directed him to come to the hotel at eight o'clock that evening, when he would adjust the matter finally.

At about half-past seven Morley entered the hotel, saw that he was too early and decided to take a brief stroll to put in the time. Ben Dorkins, luxuriating in the capacious arm chair, had been seated less than five minutes when a young man came down the stairs, seemed to recognize him at a glance and handed him a manilla envelope.

"Mr. Archer has had one of his bad spells," said the newcomer. "He told me to hand you this and have the bank send back the notes. I can't delay, sir. Mr. Archer may be taken worse at any moment," and away sped the speaker, leaving Ben in a half stupified condition.

"Here's a queer go," soliloquized Ben. "Oh, my!" He had removed the band securing the envelope. He stared and thrilled as he noted its contents—bank notes. One of them, he noticed, was of one thousand dollars' denomination. For a flashing instant Ben realized that he had been taken for some one else and entrusted with a small fortune, and a wild temptation crossed his mind. Then, his lips compressed, his chest stood out and he went up to the clerk's desk.

"Is there a Mr. Archer here?" he asked. "I must see him at once."

"Not to be disturbed—he is ill. I'll send for his secretary, if you like."

"Do so, please," replied Ben and he fumbled nervously with one of the hotel cards on a tray, and unconsciously slipped it into his pocket as the same young man who had given the envelope to him appeared.

THE SPRING DRIVE

Our boys are going "Over the top" and into "No man's land" this spring. No one has any doubt of their ability to get there. There will also be a spring drive on this side of the ocean, because March is the year's "blue Monday." It is the most fatal month of the year. March and April is a time when resistance usually is at lowest ebb. It is a trying season for the "run-down" man. But medical science steps in, and says, "it need not be"! We should cultivate a love of health, a sense of responsibility for the care of our bodies. Do not allow the machinery of the body to clog. Put the stomach and liver in proper condition. Take Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery, to be had at most drug stores in tablet or liquid form, tablets fifty cents a vial, composed of native herbs. This puts the stomach and liver in proper condition. You may be plodding along, no spring, no elasticity, no vim, but as soon as you have put the body into its normal physical condition—oiled the machinery, as it were—you will find new vim, vigor and vitality within you. A little "pep," and we laugh and live. Try it now. Send Dr. Pierce, Invalids' Hotel, Buffalo, N.Y., or branch office, Bridgeburg, Ont., 10c. for trial pkg. The prime necessity of life is health. With spirit and energy you have the power to force yourself into action. The Golden Medical Discovery is the spring tonic which you need.

Nature's Way Is Best

Nature's laxative is bile. If your liver is sending the bile on its way as it should, you'll never be constipated.

Keep the liver tuned right up to its work.

Take one pill regularly (more only if necessary) until your bowels act regularly, freely, naturally.

Porterhouse Steak.

The name porterhouse steak originated from a public eating establishment. In the old stagecoach days there was a New York tavern kept by a man named Porter. This place was famous on account of the quality of steaks served to its guests. On one occasion the innkeeper, to satisfy the demand of a certain traveler, produced a piece of sirloin and served it to his guest—his supply of regular steaks being exhausted. When cooked and served, the traveler found it remarkably good eating, and in a short time its fame spread and it was named for the tavern and its proprietor, "Porterhouse" steak. Prior to that time, this cut, which comes from between the sirloin and the tenderloin, had been used only for roasting.

Don't Diet Yourself
TO CURE DYSPEPSIA
IT ISN'T NECESSARY

The sufferer from dyspepsia and indigestion who has to pick and choose his food, is the most miserable of all mankind.

Even the little he does eat causes such torture, and is digested so imperfectly that it does him little good.

What dyspeptics need is not dieting, or artificial digestants, but something that will put their stomach right so it will manufacture its own digestive ferments.

For forty years now Burdock Blood Bitters has been making weak stomachs strong, and curing severe cases of dyspepsia and indigestion that other remedies were powerless to reach.

It restores the stomach to a normal healthy condition so that the food no longer causes distress, but is thoroughly digested and assimilated, and goes on its way making rich, red blood.

Mrs. Henry Shaw, Campbellton, N.B., writes: "I was for five years troubled with a weak stomach, and could not eat any food that would agree with me. I tried different medicines, but could not get cured. A friend advised me to take Burdock Blood Bitters. I took four bottles, and now I am in perfect health."

Middle Aged Women.

Are Here Told the Best Remedy for Their Troubles.

Freemont, O.—"I was passing through the critical period of life, being forty-six years of age and had all the symptoms incident to that change—heat flashes, nervousness, and was in a general run down condition, so it was hard for me to do my work. Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound was recommended to me as the best remedy for my troubles, which it surely proved to be. I feel better and stronger in every way since taking it, and the annoying symptoms have disappeared."—Mrs. M. GODDEN, 925 Napoleon St., Fremont, Ohio.

The Dividing Line.

Hardly an impression, opinion, or action is possible to us that is not influenced and directed by fixed conditions within ourselves—habits. We should all strive to get the habit of making the most of our every-day tasks, and it would soon become second nature to do everything so well that in the end we would be sure to win prominence through it. The dividing line between efficiency and inefficiency is largely right here, and none of these habits too small to be worth attention. It seems that we cannot escape being controlled by them, but we have free choice between the habits that are good and helpful and habits that are bad and harmful.—Exchange.

Both Die for Love.

A sad sequel followed a thwarted love affair at Tarumi, Japan. A young man suffered from heart trouble, and went to a home to undergo treatment. Here he met, fell in love with, and became engaged to a girl, but without the knowledge of either his or her parents. When the young people's relations were discovered by the parents, both families strongly opposed the proposed marriage, and made every effort to prevent further meetings. The attitude of the parents so upset the young people that the girl became ill and died. On learning of this the young man became deeply depressed, and finally left his home and committed suicide

Original Anyhow.

Macaulay said of Horace Walpole: "His mind was a bundle of inconsistent whims and affectations; his features were covered by masks within masks. When the outer disguise of obvious affectation was removed you were still as far as ever from seeing the real man." Thackeray observed of the letters: "Fiddles sing all through them; wax lights, fine dresses, fine jokes, fine plate, fine equipages glitter and sparkle there." But there is much in the great correspondent of Strawberry Hill besides whim and gimcrackery, as a few sentences chosen almost at random from his letters will show. His views are distinctly his own.

Cold Snaps Specs' Frames.

Never leave glasses or spectacles with shell or celluloid frames near a window in cold weather, and never wear them out of doors when the temperature is low. For rims of this sort contract with cold much more than the glass contracts, so they are very likely to break.

About Advice.

The worst thing about advice, observes a writer, is that those who are qualified to give it never do, and those who insist upon serving you with a full, seven-course table d'hote meal of it, always prove to be the worst of chefs.

Strange Street Names.

What is the quaintest street name you know of in London, past or present? It would probably be hard, relates the London Chronicle, to beat Shalligonaked street, which, according to the late Sir Laurence Gomme's evidence before the local records committee, appears as the name of a street in Wapping in a sewers rate book for 1748. In those days the naming of a street was not in the hands of a sedate public authority, hence the oddity of some of these old names.

Another Crusader.

Just outside one of the entrances to the British House of Commons is a huge equestrian statue of a warrior, in coat of mail, with uplifted sword. Few people notice it for what it is, a spirited representation of the heroic king and soldier of chivalry, Richard the Lion Hearted. Probably for the first time, the statue has been decorated. A wreath of laurels and chrysanthemums was placed upon it when Jerusalem fell to the latest of the crusaders, Gen. Allenby. So long ago is it that Richard attempted the siege of Jerusalem, that the decorating of the statue seems almost like putting laurels on the brows of Homer.

The Cause.

"Do you understand the cause of the girls' quarrel?"

"Well, I'm told it was six feet tall, with broad shoulders and a khaki kilt."

In Desert Lands.

Annual rainfalls range from a fraction of an inch in portions of the Andes mountains in South America and the great desert regions of Africa and Asia, to 600 inches, or fifty feet, in parts of eastern India. From the northern part of California to Alaska there is a stretch having an annual precipitation of 100 or more inches and even this amount detracts much from the comfort of living as well as from the agricultural possibilities of the soil.

Her Privilege.

Mrs. Pickles—You don't mind my looking at your husband, do you? I think he's perfectly lovely. He's been making eyes at me all evening.

Mrs. Peppers—Stare as much as you like, dear. A cat may look at a king."

Very Simple.

"Can you tell me, professor, if this amber jewelry is genuine?"

"Oh, that's very easily determined. Soak it in alcohol for twenty-four hours. If it's genuine, it will then have disappeared."

My First Lesson In Social Customs

CHAPTER XXII.

At ten o'clock the next morning I sat primly waiting for my etiquette teacher to arrive. In spite of all that Evelyn had said, I was not yet resigned to the lessons, nor to the idea. But I should have to go through with it; that was unavoidable.

"You must learn to quell a certain spontaneity; it's almost a hoidenish manner you have," was one of the first pleasant things she told me. She had never seen me show any enthusiasm, so I was sure George had spoken of this as a failure.

"I never was called hoidenish before," I told her. She paid no attention.

"You must be careful that you do not criticize women older than yourself," was another of her rules. I knew that she meant George's older friends, the women of his world.

Then she told me of books I must read, that I must keep up on the new ideas constantly put forth--but she spoke of only those that had to do with polite society; with social problems. Evidently she thought that nothing else counted. Afterwards she told me that it didn't, not for the wife of a rich and socially prominent man. Society was her fetish.

I tried to pay attention, to become interested, but I failed utterly. Always in the back of my mind was the thought that George was ashamed of me and that this woman knew it. I hated her stilted ways and expressions, I hated her. After she left I clenched my hands while I knew it would do no good to rebel, slow tears oozed between my eyelids. I should have to go through with it; but I HATED HER!

A SAFETY VALVE.

"Oh, Evelyn, it was awful! simply awful." I declared in the afternoon. Evelyn had come over to see how I got along with Mrs. Sexton, and to have passed on anything which I had learned.

"In what way?" she asked.

"In every way! She started in by calling me a hoiden, told me I must not be spontaneous, that it was bad form to show my feelings; and a lot of such stuff. Maybe I WON'T show my feelings when I get as old as she is! I won't have any to show. She hasn't, I am sure."

Evelyn laughed merrily. Then she said:

"I guess we are apt to show our feelings too plainly, Helen. My mother-in-law told me almost the same thing. She said that the public did not care to be bored with gushing girls."

"Didn't it hurt you dreadfully to have her talk like that?" I asked, really shocked.

"Yes--until I thought of how much Kurts cared for me; and how anxious he was that his people should like me--they never had a daughter--then I told her I would try to be more dignified. You see I reasoned that as Kurts had always been brought up with those notions, perhaps he might be ashamed of me if I was--well--like I was at home."

"Do you know, Evelyn, I have thought just the same about George. But one thing puzzles me greatly. Why did they marry US? Why did they not marry a girl in their own set, brought up just as their mothers would bring them up, instead of going into the country and marrying the opposite kind of a girl? I laughed and talked and joked a great deal more then than I do now, yet George never criticized me. I can't understand it."

I'LL PROVIDE A MAN.

"Neither can I. Perhaps they saw we needed polishing off, and that's why they married us. But never mind, I have bad news for you."

"What is it? Don't you dare tell me that you won't come to my party!"

"That's just it. George has an engagement." I blushed. It was the first time I had ever lied about him.

"But you will come?" she pleaded.

"Won't it make an odd number?"

"No, goosie! I won't let it," and forthwith she began to name over different young men she thought she could invite to take George's place.

Before she left she had decided upon Van Dyke Lawrence, a young man whom she described as being particularly desirable as a guest.

"He is very popular, however, and perhaps I can't get him."

"Have you invited Merton Gray?" I asked.

"My no! he'd never come! Why, he's one of the most sought after men in town. Do you know him well?"

"No; I met him at Mrs. Loring's dinner. We got on famously. I liked him so much. He was like the boys at home."

"I'll just call him up from here if you will let me. If I am fortunate enough to get him I shall tell him he is to take your husband's place. Though I don't believe for a minute he'll come to my little party."

"Try him and see," I said, someway sure that he would accept.

"All right, here goes," and she called Mr. Gray's studio. He was in; and I stood by while she gave the message. Although I listened I could not catch what he said, but I distinctly recognized his voice.

Sunday School Lesson Questions

"Jesus ministering to the multitude." Mark vi., 32-56.

Golden Text: "The son of man came not to be ministered unto, but to minister, and to give his life a ransom for many." Matt. xx., 28.

1. Verse 32. Is it either wise, or necessary, for a faithful minister of the gospel to tell his people when he takes a rest?

2. Verse 33. If Jesus intended to go away "privately," how do you account for it that his plans were upset?

3. Jesus intended to take a rest with his disciples, but instead was plunged into more intense work; now which would you say was God's preference, that Jesu's intentions should be carried out, or that which actually happened?

4. Which is Divine guidance to a man of God, and why, what he expects to do or what he really does?

5. Verse 34. What reason is there to believe that if preachers, and other teachers, succeed in making Christ actually known to the masses, that the people will flock to him as in the days of his flesh?

6. What was the condition of the people which so moved the heart of Jesus, and what conditions to-day are there which, when known, stir similar compassion in all Christian hearts?

7. Which are the people to-day in greater need of, preaching or teaching and why?

8. Verses 35, 36. Were the disciples right or wrong, and why, in calling the attention of Jesus to the need of the multitude?

9. If our Heavenly Father knows our temporal needs, what is the benefit of calling his attention to them?

10. Verse 37. Why would you say, or not, that God ever commands his children to do that which he knows they cannot do?

11. Whom does God command to feed the millions of the earth who are spiritually hungry, and when and how does he expect it to be done?

12. Verse 37. When God commands us to do that which looks impossible, why is it wisdom, or folly, for us to attempt it?

13. Verses 38-40. What is the proof that we have all the necessary qualities, and opportunities, to accomplish the work in life to which we have been appointed by God?

14. When a man is not systematic, and works without method, is that any evidence that he is not true to the laws of God? Why?

15. Verses 41-44. Why should everybody ask a blessing before eating?

16. By what means did five small loaves and two fishes feed 5,000 men (This is one of the questions which may be answered in writing by members of the club).

17. Verses 45, 46. Why did Jesus constrain his disciples to get a ship to take them to the west side of the lake, while he remained on the east side?

18. Seeing that Jesus had all power, why did he need to pray, and for what would he likely pray?

19. Verses 47-50. We are often compelled to row against wind and waves, in crossing the ocean of life; are such trying experiences accidental or providential, and how do they generally affect a true Christian?

20. Verses 51-56. When we are worried, or paralized with fear; when it seems that the tumultuous waves of adversity will swallow us up, what is the effect of taking Christ on board?

21. How much would the converting rate be increased, if God were to give to ministers the power to perform miracles?

TOLD FOREMAN TO GET ANOTHER MAN

Jack O'Brien Didn't Think He Would Ever Be Able To Work Again

"I have always believed in speaking of things just as I found them and I have found Tanlac to be the finest medicine I have ever taken in my life," said Jackson O'Brien or "Jack" as he is familiarly called by his many friends, recently. Mr. O'Brien is one of the most skilled and best known painters in Toronto and lives at 24 Larch street.

"For a solid year now, that is until I got Tanlac," he continued, "I was in a terribly run-down condition. I suffered with my stomach and kidneys and just seemed to be completely played out. My appetite left me entirely and I simply suffered agony from indigestion and gas on my stomach. I had a dull, aching pain across the small of my back all the time. I had no life or energy and whether I worked much or little I would come home at night all exhausted. I held out as long as I could and finally one day I told the foreman that he could get a man in my place, for I was "all in," and felt that I would never be able to come back. I had doctored and taken medicine without getting any results until I had given up all hopes of getting any better.

"Well, that day, when I started home, one of the men at the works said, "Jack, what you need is Tanlac. I took it and it certainly did put me in good shape." "So I took his advice and got me some Tanlac, and the result is, I am back on the job every day and am feeling fine. My appetite is great and I eat just anything I want without having a sign of indigestion. My kidneys don't bother me any more, I don't get tired out like I did and simply feel like a different man. I have gained five pounds in weight already and am just improving every day. My wife and myself are both delighted with Tanlac, and it's a pleasure to recommend such a valuable medicine."

Tanlac is sold in Peterborough by W. B. Warne Drug Co., Ltd., in Havelock by A. C. Denike, in Lakefield by Tanner Drug Co., Ltd.; in Fowler's Corners by W. A. Hunter; in Gelert by A. J. Scott; in Westwood by G. Pringle & Son.

BRITISH TROOPS CONTINUE TO HOLD THE ENEMY IN CHECK

THE ENEMY AIMS AT RECAPTURING THE HINDENBURG LINE

AMERICANS OVERLOOKED

It is a Little Early to Forecast the Enemy's Intention—May Be a Feint

SHOCK TROOPS

(United Press Service.)

(Special to Peterboro Examiner and Toronto Star.)

Washington, March 22.—Germany's big bombardment and attacks on the west line were generally regarded here as the start of her long advertised offensive. The major offensive that met with partial success at the outset, however, did not discourage military men, for they admitted it is yet too early to see exwell seasoned soldiers, is possible, while the British counter attacks may prove extremely costly to him.

And there are those who believe that the smash may be of a local concern—curtain-screening a blow elsewhere. Some officers still hold the view that Germany intends a drive in Italy or Macedonia, and that the present movement is a feint to cover the other operations and to make it difficult to shift the allied reserves.

That the American troops were overlooked in the start of the offensive came rather as a surprise here. But that the Germans may still try them out on the theory that new troops do not withstand the shock as well a seasoned soldiers, is possible.

British Troops Are Holding The Germans

(United Press Service).

(Special to the Examiner and Star).

(By William Philip Simms).

WITH THE BRITISH ARMIES IN FRANCE, March 22.—The British troops are holding the Germans everywhere, and are driving them back in places, the latest reports indicate.

The enemy attacked in tremendous strength yesterday. At least nineteen divisions (probably from 134,000 to 285,000 men figuring on the basis of from 8,000 to 15,000 men in a division) have been identified.

Line Indented.

By noon they had succeeded in penetrating the British first and second defence systems on a short frontage.

At five o'clock in the afternoon the Germans attacked heavily north-west from Fontaines-Les-Croisiles, but machine guns mowed them down, holding up the attack.

The weather was foggy throughout yesterday, and was the same today, handicapping the airmen.

The enemy has not reached a single one of his objectives, which, according to a captured map, include Harmies, Achie-le-Petit, and Boiry St. Martin.

British counter attacks with tanks at seven o'clock last night threw the Germans out of Doignies, which the British still occupied this morning.

The Germans have not used tanks on this front so far.

Batteries Suffered.

The German artillery operated in the open, under the densiest camouflage. German prisoners declare their batteries suffered greatly. As this is cabled, Hindenburg's first thrust apparently is checked with small gains. The situation has quieted down, at least momentarily, save in the region of Bongville, where heavy shelling is continued.

BRITISH TROOPS MET FIRST SHOCK WITH CUSTOMARY COOLNESS

The British Artillery and Machine Guns Cut Swaths in the Enemy Ranks—Enemy Storm Troops Advanced in Thick Waves Behind a Smoke Barrage—The British Were Not Surprised.

OFFICERS AND MEN ARE CONFIDENT

(Special to The Toronto Star and The Peterborough Examiner.)

(United Press Service.)

(By William Philip Simms.)

WITH THE BRITISH ARMIES IN FRANCE, March 22.— (1.15 a.m.)—The British troops, with their customary coolness, bobbed up after the German barrage of gas shells and high explosives at the start of the big enemy attack and met the first rush wearing gas masks and machine gunning the advancing waves.

HAND TO HAND FIGHTING.

Hand to hand fighting was frequent, British soldiers occupying the strong points in the line, fought it out with knives and bayonets. It looks as though Hindenburg had launched his long heralded offensive. If this is the loudly advertised drive, it has come according to specifications. Officers and men are smiling confidently as this is cabled. The situation is necessarily vague. When fighting begins on such a wide front a few hours are required to watch developments. What sometimes appears a hurricane becomes a feint, and a seeming feint becomes a serious drive.

ADVANCED IN THICK WAVES.

The Germans hurled their storm troops against the British right flank, following a brief bombardment on a 45 1-2 mile front. They came on in thick waves behind a smoke barrage.

British artillery and machine guns cut swaths in the enemy ranks. Enemy high velocity guns began shelling towns far in the rear as the battle commenced. They fired regularly throughout the morning at five minute intervals, stopping periodically to cool off their guns. German preparations prior to the attack were stupendous and were carried out with the utmost attempt at secrecy. Haig, however, knew what was happening. His airmen reported every new ammunition dump, railway line, strategic road or airdrome as soon as they were commenced. Day by day they watched Hindenburg complete his preparations and day by day, Haig took counter precautions accordingly.

GERMAN ADVANCE CONTINUES TOWARDS RUSSIAN CAPITAL

Nickolai Lenine Will Assume the Agriculture Portfolio—Government Scurries For Cover

COMMISSARY ARRESTED

(United Press Service.)

(Special to Peterboro Examiner and Toronto Star.)

Petrograd, March 22.—(By Joseph Shaplen.)—It is regarded as probable here that Nikolai Lenine, Premier in the Bolsheviki Government, will shortly assume the agriculture portfolio in the cabinet, believing the improvement of the present condition a sure way of defeating the influence of the Left element.

Former Marine Commissary Dibenko, of the Bolshevik, has been arrested and charged with attempts to form a forcible opposition to the ratification of the peace treaty with Germany.

It is reported here that in view of the continued advance of the German troops toward the capital, the government may remove to Samara or Nogorod.

ENEMY SUFFERED HEAVY LOSSES

MASSED GERMAN INFANTRY OFFERED REMARKABLE TARGETS TO BRITISH RIFLES AND MACHINE GUNS.

Canadian Press Despatch:

LONDON, March 22.—(Official).—During the enemy's attacks his massed infantry offered remarkable targets to our rifles, machine guns and artillery, of which full advantage was taken by our troops. All reports testify to the exceedingly heavy losses suffered by the enemy. No serious attack has yet developed this morning, but heavy fighting is still to be expected.

Enemy Using Shock Troops

BRITISH ARMY HEADQUARTERS, March 22.—Vigorous counter attacks late yesterday restored some of the positions which the British had abandoned temporarily. The exact British line cannot be made public at present. The only reason is that it might furnish the enemy with valuable information. Last night was fairly quiet along the front. This morning the Germans were bombing in the region of Croiselles. There were indications that they intended to continue their attacks today. The weather is cold and bleak. A heavy mist makes air reconnoissances impossible. This is of advantage to the British, as the enemy is deprived of greatly needed aerial observation. The Germans in many sections yesterday attacked in three waves of infantry, followed up by shock troops. As a result, they suffered very heavy casualties. The heavily massed German artillery has been badly hammered by the British guns.

Offensive May Decisive Struggle

Canadian Press Despatch:

NEW YORK, March 22.—The Associated Press wire critic says to-day: The British soldiers have met and withstood the most stupendous attack Germany has hurled against the Western front in three and a half years of warfare. On a front of more than fifty miles armed hosts of democracy are at grips with the forces of Prussianism, and what may be a decisive struggle in the great war is raging in Northern France.

GREAT BATTLE ON THE WESTERN FRONT MAY BE A FEINT

It is Not Yet Possible to Give More Than a Very General and Vague Idea of the Fighting—Some Officers Hold View That Germany Intends a Drive in Italy or Macedonia.

BRITISH HOLD THE ENEMY

Canadian Press Despatch:

LONDON, March 22.—The great battle on the western front continued until late last night, the War Office reports. The British are holding the enemy. The statement follows:

"Fighting continued until a late hour last night on the whole front between the Oise and the River Sensee. Our troops continue to hold the enemy in their battle positions.

FIGHTING CONTINUES.

Canadian Press Despatch:

LONDON, March 22.—It is not yet possible to give more than a very general and vague idea of the fighting Thursday on the front between the Oise and Sensee, which continues with swaying fortunes, according to the accounts of correspondents at the British front in the morning newspapers. The German attack made on the British front west and south-west of Cambrai evidently aims at recapturing all the Hindenburg line, says a despatch to the Morning Post from British Headquarters in France, which adds:

THE FIRST BLOW.

"The German army, attacking south of the Scarpe, seems to have delivered its blow principally in the triangle of Arras, Cambrai and Bapaume-Cambrai roads, while the German army south of Cambrai is striking against our trench systems in the region west of the Schedlt Canal. No doubt the enemy hopes that the attacking forces of these two armies may succeed in forming a junction and thus cutting off a considerable slice of the British front and taking back all the Hindenburg trenches lost exactly four months ago. The struggle for villages and ruined farm houses continued throughout Thursday, according to the correspondent of the Daily Mail. The enemy bombardment began at five o'clock in the morning, and at seven o'clock some of the German units left their trenches and attacked the British with heavy and light machine guns. Between nine and ten the engagement became general on a front of some twenty-five miles.

SITUATION REVIEWED

Preparations For the Attack Were on a Most Colossal Scale—Territory Abandoned to the Germans

TORONTO STAR WAR REVIEW

Special to The Examiner:

TORONTO, March 22.— The Toronto Star in today's review of the offensive on the western front, has the following to say:

The enemy has essayed to make the last supreme effort on the western front against the British. His object is not merely to capture guns, men and territory, but to smash through all the British defences, create a break between the British and French armies and destroy them in defeat. This grandiloquent display for bringing the war to an early and victorious conclusion has been prepared by men who know the seriousness of war, who have scored the most remarkable series of military success in the world's history, and who, though always coming short of their heart's desire, at least never have attempted anything in a half-hearted way.

MINOR SUCCESSES.

Our knowledge of the situation leads us to believe that their preparation for the attack now in progress were on a most colossal scale and that might be excused for believing that their purpose would be accomplished. The British government admits that their attacks were launched on a scale never before attempted by any belligerent in such a conflict. It is natural that the enemy should advance several miles at some points and that he should capture hundreds of guns and thousands of men. At the time of writing no details are to hand, indicating that the enemy has had even that much success, but it will show extraordiary generalship on the part of Field Marshal Haig if the enemy is deprived of success or poor consolation for the thwarting of his main object.

GERMANS BROKE THROUGH.

The British Generalissimo reports that the Germans broke through the British outposts lines and into the battle position behind, but that the maps taken from German prisoners prove that at no point did they reach the objectives he had set for his troops. Bonar Law supplements this report with the statement that the British outposts troops were withdrawn from one part of the line that was very lightly held. All of this was according to instructions. This suggests that although a few guns and not many thousands of prisoners fell into the hands of the Germans, quite a strip of territory was abandoned to them. It would not be surprising to learn that the territory the British gained in the last offensive and that remained in their possession after the German counter attack at Gouzeaucourt, has been given up. This might involve the loss of Flesquirers, Havrincourt and Ribecourt. It is counting that already some villages have changed hands more than once. Field Marshal Haig reports that large numbers of reinforcements have been seen moving forward to support the German attack. The infantry fighting yesterday was severe all day and the enemy losses were exceptionally heavy. The best news today is that the enemy has not broken through, but is being held in the British battle position.

Two Garbutt Farms Sell For $26,000

The farm owned and until recently, occupied by the late John H. Garbutt, has been purchased by Wilbert Bell and Wm. Brown for approximately $15,000, the deal being handled by Mr. J. A. Storey. Mr. Bell, who, until a year ago, lived in Dummer, purchased the 110 acre section, and Mr. Brown of Smith took the fifty acres to the east.

The proceeds of the sale of the Garbutt farm stock and implements was $5,200.

Another interesting sale of property executed by Mr. Storey was that of Robert A. Garbutt's farm, on the Selwyn Road to Mr. H. B. Coons of Harvey for $11,000. This farm comprises 200 acres of fine land and buildings in Smith Township.

Mr. Coons sold his Harvey farm for $55,000 to Herbert Hunt of the same township; he also disposed of 100 acres of timber land on Pidgeon Lake to Mr. Frank Kitney of Otonabee.

The following were other sales arranged by Mr. Storey:

The Thos. Hunter farm in Monaghan to Wm. Whittington for $6,000; and the Whittington farm, near Bensfort, to Mr. W. J. Davis of Emily for $6,000.

Also the sale of the John Findley farm of 100 acres on the Chemong Road to Mr. Frank Mongomery of Peterborough for $6,000; and a 50-acres wood lot on the first concession of Smith, owned by Mr. J. K. Moore to Mr. Fred Lang of Smith.

Russell Epistles At Havelock, Too

The distribution of a pamphlet by four Havelock members of the International Bible Students' Association, aroused the resentment of numerous local citizens on Monday morning, it being known that the Dominion censor had banned some of the literature of this organization. Following several phone calls Magistrate J. L. Squire issued instructions to Constable Puffer to have the distribution stopped and the parties detained following advice from the County Magistrate.—Norwood Register.

GROCERS MUST CLOSE AT 7 P.M.—PROMPTLY

The grocers generally are observing the early closing bylaw, but according to some of the tradesmen, who desire to anticipate laxness, there are a few who are inclined to linger behind the counter with the door open instead of securely locked. This is regarded as an oversight by the other grocers, but it must be corrected at once before the authorities are requested to investigate.

Women's Patrol Would Remedy Social Evil

The first day's meeting of the National Council of Women, held this week in Ottawa, at which Mrs. W. R. Morris represents the city, was of a preliminary nature. One feature of the meeting was the resignation of Mrs. Torrington of Toronto from the Presidency of the Council, and although urged to reconsider her decision, she was unable to do so. Mrs. Torrington attended the National Executive recently held in Peterborough.

Executive meeting of the Council of Women, passed a resolution asking the council to urge consideration by local councils and federated associations of the women's patrol system as adopted in Great Britain and elsewhere. The belief was expressed that should such a system of police surveil lance prevail with women officials, it would be one big step towards the improvement of the social evil.

Her Excellency, the Duchess of Devonshire, addressed the council.

COMMANDANT MRS. McELHINEY,
Who shares the promotion with her husband. Mrs. McElhiney is also police matron.

St. James' Church Adopt Resolutions

COPIES WILL BE FORWARDED TO THE GOVERNMENT.

The following resolutions have been adopted by St. James' Methodist Church, and will be forwarded to the proper authorities:

Whereas the people of the Province have overwhelmingly declared themselves in favour of total prohibition;

And whereas certain agencies are endeavouring to defeat the ends of the Government with regard to the liquor question,

Be it resolved that the Premier of Ontario be commended by this church for refusing to consider any increase in the amount of alcohol used in beverages, and that the Government be petitioned to take every measure necessary to render this a bon-dry Province.

Moved by Mr. J. F. Palmer, seconded by Mr. J. Manley, that this resolution be carried and a copy sent to Mr. G. A. Gillespie, M.P.P., for presentation to the Government.

Carried unanimously.

Whereas the people of the North American Continent are everywhere taking measures to eliminate the destructive efforts of alcoholic liquors;

And whereas the exigencies of the war situation demand the preservation of all grain for food,

Be it resolved that the Government of this Dominion be petitioned to confiscate as a war measure all liquor held in quantities, and to use every means to prevent the use of alcohol as a beverage in any part of the Dominion.

Moved by Mr. R. A. Kidd and seconded by Mr. A. W. Wilson, that the resolution be carried and that a copy be sent to Mr. J. H. Burnham, M.P., for presentation to the Government.

Carried unanimously.

MIDDLESEX FARMERS ARE IN THE FIELDS

LONDON, Ont., March 22.—Farmers claim that farm work will be in full progress during the coming week.

One farmer, a resident of Caradoc, was on his land yesterday with his disc harrow. Seeding will be begun next week, it is claimed.

DAYLIGHT SAVING.

Havelock Village Council passed a resolution endorsing daylight saving and requesting the local member, Mr. J. A. Sexsmith, to support the bill when it comes before the Federal House.

CHARGE OF ASSAULT.

Clifford Fillion, of Stoney Lake has laid a charge of assault against Robt. Newell of Methuen, and the case will be adjusted by Magistrate Mathison.

A WELCOME POLICY.

The people of the British Empire will welcome the announcement of a new change in the British policy, by which the returns of submarine losses will be published plainly and quickly. There never was a time when British people were afraid to know the truth; there never has been an occasion in Britain's history when her sons, and daughters, too, did not fight the better for knowing just what the odds were against them. There has been no good reason for concealing the truth and the public morale will be strengthened by the knowledge that reliable information is to be supplied.

A GIGANTIC TASK.

Radical recommendations in connection with placing under embargo certain classes of luxuries are said to be coming shortly from the War Trade Board. The economy suggested, it is hoped, will be along different lines than that of the Senate in purchasing $800 worth of ladies' bags and $200 worth of ladies' purses under the heading of "stationery".

That action will have to be taken seems inevitable when the enormity of Canada's financial task is considered. The proposal to bar certain classes of luxuries, such as the use of automobiles for pleasure, fancy shoes, milliners and other classes of luxuries has two objects in view, first of preventing extravagant expenditure, and providing a reserve fund available for the use of the Government for war purposes, and, secondly, to reduce the adverse balance of trade between Canada and the United States, by cutting off the importation of millions of dollars worth of luxuries from the other side of the line.

When it is stated that Canada has to raise, during the coming year, $1,500,000,000 to carry on the government of the country, to finance Canada's war operations, and to provide credits for Great Britain's purchases in this country, and, on top of that, may have to provide $400,000,000 to offset the adverse trade balance, some realization of the gigantic financial task that is facing Canada may be obtained.

DAYLIGHT SAVINGS.

Sir Geo. E. Foster has again introduced his daylight savings bill which was laughed out of the House at the last session, and the possibility now is that the measure will be carried if the rural members of Parliament do not stand in its way. The opposition of the farmers and fruitgrowers to the proposition is hard to understand. They advance the argument that they use all the available daylight anyway. In that event, putting the clock ahead will not affect the rural citizen in the least, because his working day, according to his own testimony, is not regulated by the clock, but by the sun.

On the other hand the daylight savings scheme would be of inestimable value to the urban citizen. The extra hour of daylight at the end of the day, would give the factory or office worker practically a working day a week to devote to his backyard garden or to his recreation. The greater production campaign will flourish as a result, while it has been proven in other countries that workers are more keen and efficient as the result of the extra hour of sunlight spent in God's outdoors.

The bill has passed its first reading which represents further progress than was made last year. City dwellers everywhere will hope that it is speedily passed.

UNUSUAL "STATIONERY".

A new line of war-time extravagance is indicated in the annual report of Auditor-General Fraser, just presented to Parliament. His report reveals an extraordinary item in regard to the Senate budget, that of the purchase of 100 ladies' bags, at $8 each, and 40 ladies' purses, at $5.50 each. These were classified under the heading of "stationery." The "watchdog of the treasury" naturally was curious about this particular item and pressed for information, feeling, as he expressed it, that "these articles seem to be out of the ordinary run of stationery supplied for Government purposes." The only reply he received was a virtual intimation that he should mind his own business—to quote the Deputy Clerk of the Senate—"the matter of distribution of supplies is purely within the economy of the Senate and subject to its control only."

The advocates of Senate reform, and they are legion in Canada, will not find any reason for changing their opinion after reading of such expenditures as this Some one should inform the Upper House that there is a war on and that the indviidual citizen is being asked to exercise economy.

In the meantime the puzzled taxpayer will endeavour to guess as to what possible use the Senators could put $1,000 worth of ladies' purses and bags. They could hardly have needed them for their own use without confirming the diagnosis of the citizen who described the Senate as "a bunch of old women."

THE BOARD OF TRADE.

It is hoped that there will be a record attendance at the annual meeting of the Board of Trade, which will be held on Tuesday evening next. The dissolving of the Greater Peterborough Association, allowing its members to become identified with the Board of Trade, opens the way to a greatly increased membership for the latter, and all citizens who have the welfare of the city at heart should feel it a duty to ally themselves with an organization that should have an immense power for good in the community. There are many matters in which the Board of Trade, properly supported by the citizens, can be of great benefit. It should be the clearing house for practical ideas, the working out of which will make Peterborough a more progressive city as well as a better place in which to live. For instance there is the great problem of returning Peterborough soldiers into civil life—a question of the greatest importance in which the Board of Trade can do a useful work.

President J. J. Turner, Jr., Mr. B. D. Hall and other leaders of the Board of Trade, are to be congratulated by their faithful efforts to keep the organization a going concern. They have succeeded in doing so in the face of heavy obstacles and the Examiner hopes and believes that a new day is setting in for the Board. Every public-spirited citizen should attend Tuesday's meeting.

EDITORIAL NOTES.

The statement from Rev. John Neil, D.D., Moderator of the Presbyterian Church in Canada that after three months in France he was confident that there were no men in any army who had resisted temptations better than the Canadians, is an fitting answer to the slanderous remarks that have been made recently.

The weather man is doing his bit to welcome home Canadian heroes.

The New York Tribune, by means of a cartoon drives home the fact that not all the ammunition comes from the powder factories. War gardens do their bit as well.

If a Guelph school can raise 200 bags of potatoes and 16 bushels of beans, there is nothing to prevent local schools from making a similar record.

If Sir George Foster's bill to make it compulsory to sell eggs by the pound is passed, Canada's hens will begin to feel the pinch of war. Farmers will not be satisfied with a mere egg—it will have to come up to the weight standard.

Whatever the general opinion may be about a "bone dry" Canada, people are a unit in favouring "bone dry" streets.

Weather like this you can tell the coal men a whole lot of things you wouldn't have dared mention a month ago.

SHAMEFUL CONDITIONS.

"Treated like dogs aboard ship and like babies on the trains."

That is the way in which Toronto Original Firsts are describing their journey home after over three and a half years' absence, and their complaint only serves to emphasize the protests that have been made by other returned men recently. The statement that they had to pay their own expenses home is not true, although in fact the Originals would have perhaps preferred to do so under the circumstances, because they state that they have been continually reminded that they were travelling "at the public's expense."

Here is the way one Original First describes it:

"Every day from the time we left France until we landed in Halifax, we had it dinned into our ears that we were travelling 'At Public Expense' say these heroes of a hundred fights. 'Before ever we left Buxton we were reminded that we must be good boys— that we ought to be grateful and ask no favours—because we were now going home 'At Public Expense'—us chaps who were just going back to see our wives and kiddies again after three years in Hell. Every time we asked for anything aboard ship—and God knows we needed a few—the same thing was thrown at us: We were costing the public a lot of money for this voyage home and shouldn't be too particular about trifles. We are fed up with it. Perhaps were are travelling 'At Public Expense'—but not any more than hundreds of other fellows who have never seen France—and if we haven't by this time earned the right to a holiday without being insulted all the way across, it is time for a change somewhere. We would like to know who pays the travelling expenses of those officers who always come first-class and have their wines to drink all the way."

It is shameful that these men who have so long held the line in France should have their furlough marred by such treatment.

"Poor water to drink tea that tasted and smelled like coloured water, food malodorous and only half cooked." Splendid fare indeed for the men who were the first to hear the call of Empire and who for three long years have been winning fame for Canada in Flanders.

The soldiers who have just returned are not complaining so much on their own account as in the hope that the story of their grievances will better the conditions for their comrades who will follow them home.

Lieut.-Col. Hulme might extend his inquiry into transport complaints to cover the treatment given the men whom the Canadian people were anxious should have the best that was available.

A SMILE OR TWO

School teacher (to the little boy)—If a farmer raises 1,700 bushels of wheat and sells it for $1.17 per bushel, what will he get?

Little boy—Automobile.

NOT LITERARY.

"Many 'appy returns," said the humble swain to the smiling maiden; "and I mean makin' you a present. What shall it be? A birthday book or a kiss?"

And with a passably good imitation of a blush she answered, ingenuously:

"I'm not very fond of reading!"

Aunt Mary (horrified)—Good gracious, Harold, what would your papa say if he saw you smoking that nasty cigar?

Harold (calmly)—Dad? Why, he'd be tickled to death. They're his Christmas cigars from mother.

FOOD CONTROL.

"No, these problems of food control——" began the talkative idler.

"I've got one of my own right now," interrupted Farmer Corntossel. "I've got to drive a lot o' pigs to town. And if there's any kind of food harder to control than a pig goin' along a road, I never met it."

The Lady—And you may say we suspect a discharged butler of the robbery.

Reporter—When was he discharged.

The Lady—Oh, we never really kept a butler, but I think it sounds quite well to say we did.—Pearson's.

A JUNE BUG.

"Nellie is going to be a June bride."

"That's so?"

"Yes and her mother is going to be just about crazy when she marries."

"Oh, I see—Nellie is going to be a June bride and her mother is going to be a June bug." — Florida Times-Union.

A rather dignified lady got a little shock the other afternoon. She called at the house of a new acquaintance and the little fellow who answered the door said that his mother was out. The dignified lady took out a card to leave and in doing so let the tissue sheet flutter to the ground. The boy glanced at it, "Please'm," he said, you dropped one of your cigarette papers."

WHAT OTHER EDITORS SAY

WHY HESITATE?

(London Advertiser.)

Tory despatches speak of the Ottawa Government as having "an unmistakable mandate for effective war effort." Having this, why the hesitation?

UNCONSISTENT.

(Belleville, Ontario.)

The people who find fault because the newspapers don't have more courage, are frequently the ones who like to send letters to the newspapers but who object to having their signatures attached.

NOT AN INFALLIBLE TEST.

(Winnipeg Telegram.)

Judge Haggart's remark in disallowing the claims for exemption presented before him by a bank manager of this city was pertinent. He wondered why, if these bank clerks were so indispensable, the fact had not been recognized by the bank by way of a salary commensurate with their indispensability.

Judge Haggart's remark applies not alone to banks. A great many other firms are insisting on exemption for employees whose indispensability is by no means recognizable by reason of the remuneration they draw down each month.

HUN DEVILRY.

(Kingston Standard.)

The Hun devilry is not by any means confined to the battlefields. Chemists of the National Food Administration have found ground glass, sand and silica in bread, buckwheat flour and chocolate candy submitted to them for analysis by the Federal Food Board, according to an announcement by Arthur Williams, Federal Food Administrator for New York City. But what fools the Huns are! Can't they see that this is just the sort of thing which will make the United States more determined than ever to conquer and punish them?

EASILY ACCOMPLISHED.

(New York Herald.)

There is still a disposition on the part of a few to regard the change of time to be brought about by the so-called "Daylight Saving" Act, as something likely to cause confusion. Some of this may be due to complicated explanations. In reality the whole proceeding is exceedingly simple.

The change of time will make no difference whatsoever in the methods of life of the people or to industry. All that is necessary is to follow the simple directions set forth in Washington despatches.

As far as the individual is concerned, there need be no worry about the means adopted by the railroads to adjust their trains to the new situation. All he has to do for himself is this: Before retiring on the last Saturday of this month he must turn his clock one hour ahead. He can then sleep peacefully and go about his business the next day, and every day, in accordance with his habit, leavin "daylight saving" to take care of itself.

MERCHANTMEN.

(London Chronicle.)

All honor be to merchantmen,
And ships of all degree,
In warlike dangers manifold,
Who sail and keep the sea,
In peril of unlitten coast
And death-besprinkled foam,
Who daily dare a hundred deaths
To bring their cargoes home.

A liner out of Liverpool—a tanker from the Clyde—
A hard-run tramp from anywhere—a tug from Merseyside—
A cattleboat from Birkenside—a coaler from the Tyne,
All honor be to merchantmen while any star shall shine!

All honor be to merchantmen,
And ships both great and small,
The swift and strong to run their race
And smite their foes withal;
The little ships that sink or swim,
And pay the pirate's toll,
Unarmoured, save by valiant hearts
And strong in nought but soul.

All honor be to merchantmen,
As long as tides shall run,
Who gave the sea their glorious dead,
From rise to set of sun;
All honor be to merchantmen,
While England's name shall stand,
Who sailed and fought, and dared and died,
And served and saved their land.

A sailing ship from Liverpool—a tanker from the Clyde—
A schooner from the West Countrie—a tug from Merseyside—
A fishing smack from Grimsby Town—a coaler from the Tyne—
All honor be to merchantmen while sun and moon doth shine!

Down in Quebec they are calling this province Huntario. Why not amend the spelling a little to suit the facts? Our men are really Hunterriers. They won't bite Quebec.

LOCAL COUNCIL OF WOMEN

The Garden Committee is Interested in Greater Production —Delegate to the Convention For Feeble Minded Makes a Verbal Report—General Business Taken Up.

The regular monthly meeting of the Local Council of Women was held yesterday afternoon. After the routine business had been transacted, several communications were dealt with. The Trades and Labour Council wrote, stating that that society was unable to meet the Women's Council during working hours. However, since the questions which were to have been adjusted re children under age in factories by the government, the matter is considered settled.

The Ottawa Local Council wrote, asking the Local Council to take up the question of a municipal abattoir.

Treasurer's Report.

The treasurer's report showed a balance of $29.40 on hand.

The Garden Committee.

Miss Lillian Pearse and Miss Marion Rush reported on their activities in an effort to secure land and workers for amateur gardeners to aid in the greater production movement. Miss Pearse reported that a committee of G. A. Gillespie, M.P.P., Mayor Duncan, Ald. Dobbin and Mr. Aylmer had been formed and a plan to secure vacant city plots was on foot. The City Clerk will be asked to have all available lots listed, and those desirous of securing them may do so by applying to him.

In the matter of school gardens, Miss Pearse said that their plan to have such was sat on. High schools gardens had been tried and found unsatisfactory.

Gave a Plot.

Mr. Nesbitt had given a splendid plot behind the jail, for which Mr. Fife and Mrs. Gardiner had offered to act as supervisors. The school children, however, objected to the proximity of this to the jail, and the teachers were evidently in sympathy with the children.

St. Peters' Girls' Society will report what girls from there will work in greater production.

Miss Rush.

Miss Rush reported that she had been interested in securing girls to aid in the market gardens. She said that in a recent meeting called Mr. MacCready was enthusiastic in the idea of school girls aiding in production, which is a matter of such importance to the success of the allies.

Delegate Re Feeble Minded.

The delegate who attended the recent meeting of the Feeble Minded Association in Toronto, made a graphic report of her experiences. This member gave some decidedly interesting and surprising statistics obtained at the meeting on the crime of marriage amongst feeble minded and influx of idiot immigrants.

Two Deputations.

Mrs. Baker, representing the Woman's Century Magazine, Toronto, waited on the Council to endeavour to interest the ladies in the magazine, which contains considerable interest on public questions dealt with by women.

Miss Sherwood came to interest the ladies in a course of higher class musical and literary events, which could be secured for the city. In this course such speakers as Irvin Cobb will come. This course was endorsed by Mrs. (Dr.) Harvey. The ladies decided to take up the course, which will begin in October next.

LA FOLLETE MAN BEATEN

Milwaukee, Wis., March 22.—Irvine L. Lenroot, so called loyalist, will have approximately 2500 majority over Jas. Thompson, La Follette candidate, in the contest for the Republican nomination for United States Senator, according to the latest returns, which are not quie complete. It is believed that the missing precincts will add to Lenroot's advantage.

Reports are current that either Jos. E. Davies, the Democratic nominee, or Lenroot, may be asked to withdraw from the race in favor of the other, so that only one so-called "loyalty" candidate would oppose any possible combination of Thompson Republicans and Socialists in the special election April 2.

FOUR CERTAIN WAYS.

Research Bureau Tells How Cities Encounter Financial Trouble.

TORONTO, March 22.—In a circular issued to-day the Bureau of Municipal Research points out that there are four certain ways of getting a municipality into financial difficulties:

By over-estimating revenue.

By under-estimating expenditures.

By charging to capital account what should be paid out of current revenues.

By operating so-called revenue-producing departments at a loss.

"At some periods in the past Toronto has suffered from all four of these methods," it is stated. "This year will Toronto live within its income?" is asked.

Those who are present may have excuses to offer, but the absent ones are always at fault.

WAR NEWS FROM ALL FRONTS

ROME, March 22.— Fighting has increased on the whole Italian front, the War Office reported today.

NEWS RECEIVED QUIETLY.

BERLIN, Via Copenhagen, March 22.—News that the battle had begun on the west front was received quietly here.

FURNISH AUSTRIAN TROOPS.

BERLIN, Via Copenhagen, March 22.—Herr Von Steiner, the Austrian War Minister, who is in Berlin, is reported to have agreed that the Austrians will hold the east front and, at the same time, furnish a few Austrian troops and many guns for the west front. A few Bulgars also are on the west front.

HEAVY BOMBARDMENT.

PARIS, March 22.—(Official.)—The Germans are carrying out a heavy bombardment along several sectors of the front. Three infantry attacks near Hurlus were broken up by the French. In execution of his programme, as is attested by captured documents showing what he planned to do in the early hours of his offensive.

COUNTER ATTACK.

BRITISH ARMY HEADQUARTERS, March 22.—One of the most brilliant British counter attacks occurred at Doignies. The British advanced with the infantry and tanks at 7 p.m., and after fierce fighting, drove out the enemy.

CANADIANS OUT OF IT.

OTTAWA, March 22.—Although no official statement is made by the military department, officers here are inclined to believe that the Canadian infantry are probably not involved in the fighting in Flanders yesterday and to-day, as from last reports the Canadians were stationed south of the area in which the battle is taking place.

A COLOSSAL PRICE.

LONDON, March 22.—Nineteen enemy divisions, 380,000 men, were identified in yesterday's fighting, Reuter's correspondent at British Headquarters wires. He adds:

"The whole thing is too big to be able even to sketch or visualize easily. Thus far the enemy has paid the colossal price for such small gains as represent the fruits of his mighty effort."

Becoming More Active.

ROME, March 22.—The fighting is becoming more active along the whole front, the War Office announced.

A Berlin Report.

BERLIN, via London, March 22.—The British first line has been captured by German troops attacking from the south-east of Arras, so far as La Fere, the War Office announces. The heavy artillery fighting continues in Belgium and French Flanders.

Canadian Press Despatch:

LONDON, March 22. — Thirty German soldiers were killed and more than a hundred others injured and 500 munition wagons blown up by an explosion at the Mevrignies Station, near Mons, Belgium.

Canadian Press Despatch:

NEW YORK, March 22.—It is not-able that the German official statement this afternoon claims the capture of only "first enemy line," which probably means outposts which the British conceded, but later recaptured in counter attacks. It is pointed out here that there is no evidence that the British were forced back enough at any point to make new gun positions necessary. News as to the next German move was awaited eagerly, and a number of officers predicted that it would come at some other point.

Raider Captured.

Canadian Press Despatch:

A PACIFIC PORT, March 22.—A German raider operating in the Pacific Ocean has been captured by a United States cruiser, and is now being towed to this port.

KAISER WITNESSED ATTACK.

Canadian Press Despatch:

LONDON, March 22.—Emperor William, Field Marshal Von Hindenburg and General Von Ludendorff have gone to the Western front to witness the German attack, says an Exchange Telegraph despatch from Copenhagen. Bulgarian and Austrian troops are now on the Western front, the despatch reports.

CANADA HAS 200,000 MEMBERS IN UNIONS.

Over 44,000 Were Added During Past Year—Workmen's Legislation Coming.

There are at present over 200,000 members of trade unions in Canada, the largest number in the history of the Dominion. During the year ending March, 1918, organized labour increased its membership in Canada by 44,000. The great increases are among the membership of the railway organizations and the metal trades. The annual report of the Labour Department, which is to be issued in the near future, will show in detail the increase in the membership of the unions.

BANK LENDS $1,000,000

Alberta Will Utilize This For Encouraging Live Stock Industry—Rate 6 Per Cent.

EDMONTON, March 21.—In the Provincial Legislature yesterday Hon Duncan Marshall, Minister of Agriculture, announced that the Merchants' Bank of Canada had agreed to loan $1,000,000 to the Province at six per cent, toward the encouragement of the live stock industry.

TO SAVE NEWSPRINT.

Publishers Urged to Reduce Size of Periodicals.

WASHINGTON, March 22.—Reduction of the size of newspapers and periodicals and elimination of paper wastes as a patriotic duty was urged on all publishers by the Federal Trade Commission. Consumption of newsprint and book paper has exceeded production for some weeks, and this, coupled with the necessity of relieving the railroads of all unnecessary traffic and of conserving coal wherever possible, is given by the commission as its reason for curtailing use.

Met Last Night

Changes To Be Made in Prize List —Increases in the List

The Directors of the Peterborough Central Exhibition met last evening to receive the reports from the committees in charge of the different Classes in the prize list, and a number of important changes will be made. In some cases, where there is no competition the items have been cut out altogether, and the amounts added where there is a larger entry list and keener competition for higher money prizes. In the case of sheep the new arrangement, it is expected, will be much appreciated by the exhibitors and it promises a great field in this class next fall.

A permanent prize list for the Peterborough Central Exhibition is now a thing of the past. It is compiled each year to meet the new conditions.

The next meeting will take up the First of July demonstration and President Denne is keeping the Directors busier than ever this year.

"OFFICER 13" IS NOT A SLACKER

Charles McNaughton, Seen Here in "Pom Pom" Among First to Offer His Services

There is nothing of the "slacker" about Charles McNaughton, the leading comedian of the "Pom-Pom" company and of the internationally known "McNaughton Family" of English comedians. Among the first to volunteer among the English players in this country were the two McNaughton brothers, who have been playing in America for the last few seasons. It was found that "Charlie" McNaughton's eyes were not strong enough to allow him to enter the English army unless Britain needs new soldiers far more than at present, but "Brother Tom" is in charge of a Coast Patrol launch and is supplying one of the myriad eyes with which England is watching for German submarines and mines, and the merry Alice Lloyd, the former vaudeville headliner, who in real life is Mrs. Tom McNaughton, is in charge of the reception committee of the great Receiving Hospital to which the wounded are brought back from across the Channel. The noted Marie Lloyd has established a Soup Kitchen which, under her own direction, makes daily trips to the homes of the poorest dependents of absent soldiers and provides food for three hundred families a day at her own expense. It is probable that the personal letter from England's Queen, thanking her for this work, is considered full recompense.

When Charles McNaughton, who was seen here in the part of the unlucky policeman "Number Thirteen," in "Pom-Pom," was playing in Canada last year he organized a little band of volunteers from the Company to entertain the wounded in the Canadian hospitals.

"There seems to be a remarkable absence of complaint among the wounded," said Mr. McNaughton. "The men are soldiers on their sick beds as well as they have been in the field and they do not often moan lest they depress others. They prefer to grin than to pose as gloomy heroes. But they are strange as an audience. One forces himself to the utmost to cheer them.

"Men without hands or arms cannot applaud greatly, but once a man who has been shot almost to pieces nodded to me after a concert, and when I went over to speak to him he said: 'Did ye mind me wiggle my toes for a hand clap? I meant 'Thank ye'. Next time ye come may be I'll have some nice, noisy, wooden hands to greet ye with.' That is their spirit."

PETERBORO'S ORIGINAL FIRSTS TO BE GUESTS OF WAR VETERANS

At a meeting of the Reception Committee and the executive of the Peterboro War Veterans' Association held in the Barrie building last night, plans were completed for the banquet to be tendered by the G.W.V.A. to the Peterboro members of the 1st Canadian contingent who have returned from overseas. The affair will be held in the Empress Hotel on Tuesday evening, and promises to be the most noteworthy gathering of returned soldiers ever held in the city. With the exception of a few prominent citizens who have been invited to take part in the toast list, the attendance will be confined to returned men.

All the Peterboro men who went overseas with the 1st contingent in 1914 will be guests of honor, although the primary objectof the banquet is to welcome home the local Original Firsts who are back on furlough after long service at the front.

Invitations are being sent out to the following list of officers and men. Some of them who are out of the city at present, will not be able to attend but it is expected tha the majority will be on hand. It is possible that some Peterboro members of the first contingent may have been overlooked in preparing the list. If such has been the case they are cordially invited by the Veterans to be present, and if, as is quite possible, other local men coming back on furlough should reach the city before next Tuesday, their friends are asked to tell them that the Veterans want them as their guests on Tuesday night.

The list is as follows:

Lieut.-Col. Jos. Mills, 2nd Battalion.

Lieut.-Col. C. H. Ackerman, 2nd Battalion.

Lieut. Reid, Canadian Heavy Artillery.

Lieut. T. W. Quinn, 2nd Battalion.

Lieut. A. B. Mills, 2nd Battalion.

The Farm Well

Good water is as essential as good food for the maintenance of health in the family and the thrift of the farm live stock. An ample supply of pure, wholesome water is not only a blessing of inestimable value but one of the most valuable assets a farm can possess. There is no country in the world with a greater abundance of pure water in lakes, rivers and springs than Canada and there is no insuperable difficulty in the larger number of our agricultural districts in obtaining a supply ample and pure.

A glance through the annual reports of the Experimental Farms shows that the Division of Chemistry is doing a valuable work towards the improvement of the farm water supplies throughout the Dominion. In the course of the past thirty years many hundreds of samples from farm wells have been analysed and reported on. A perusal of these reports shows that year in and year out only about one-third of the waters were pronounced as pure and wholesome, in other words, were free from excretal drainage matter. This is not as it should be and the reason is not hard to find. In too many instances convenience only has been considered in locating the well. For the most part we find these polluted wells under stables, in barnyards or dangerously near the privy or where the slops from the farmhouse are thrown out. Wells in such locations can never be depended on to yield pure water. They must sooner or later become polluted by filth draining into them from the surrounding soil; which inevitably becomes saturated with manurial products. These wells indeed act as cess pits and the records show not a few instances in which the water of such wells possessed a distinct fertilizing value from the presence of excretal matter.

The lesson from these facts is: don't sacrifice health to convenience, locate the well at a safe distance—50 to 100 yards at least—from any possible source of contamination. A bored or drilled well tapping a deep seated source, tightly sealed off at the junction of the soil and rock, is likely to give the purest supply. If a dug well, line it to a depth of 10 or 12 feet with concrete or puddled clay, 4 to 6 inches in thickness, to ensure the exclusion of water from the surface with concrete or puddled clay, 4 ings of the well absolutely clear from the accumulation of filth and preferably in the grass. Make provision to carry off the waste water from the pump, so that it may not re-enter the well and so protect the mouth of the well that surface water cannot flow in and mice, frogs snakes, etc., are excluded. With wells such as these pure water may be secured, windmill, gasoline engine or hand force pump wil lbe found a paying investment, enabling the water to be piped to the house, stable and barn, thus securing running water in the farm buildings—a convenience and blessing that needs only to be experieced to be appreciated.

Railway Unit

Sergt. Wm. Stanley is in Charge of the Local Office

Lieut. Bowen, who is recruiting for the Railway Construction Battalion, was in the city yesterday to arrange for the opening of a recruiting office here for this branch, of the service. Sergt. Wm. Stanley, who has recently returned from service in France, with a Canadian railway unit, has been placed in charge of the local office and may be found at the armouries. He is authorized to recruit for the Engineers and for the Railway Construction Battalion. No. "A" category men within the draft age can be taken for the latter unit but men who have been put in "B" class will be accepted.

Exempted As Farmer Worked On Railway

Napoleon Castagner of Montreal, secured exemption from a military tribunal in that city on the ground that he was a farmer, and on the condition that he continued to be employed in farm work. Last night Constables McIntosh and Lawrence arrested him on George street as a suspected deserter. This morning he appeared before Magistrate Dumble charged with failing to comply with the conditions of his exemption.

He stated that he had no farm work in winter, and had left home to earn some money. He has been with the G.T.R. since February 2nd. In the absence of Chief Thompson, who is in Toronto to-day, Castagner was remanded until Saturday.

To Come Briefly to the Point Gentlemen Our Message Is About Clothing

The four great factors that confront every purchaser are—price, quality, fit and style. Some men demand all four, some consider price only, others demand a good fit, some quality and others a style suited to their taste. The man who demands all four is a shrewd buyer and from him we receive the maximum amount of appreciation for the clothes service we render. If this sounds to you like an exaggerated statement, let us display our wares and to you will come the conviction that this advertisement is a frank assertion, made possible only by the merits of the merchandise we handle.

The models mentioned below can be had in a wide variety of materials. The prices on our suits and overcoats run from $15 to $35. At $25 we have an unusual assortment, including many grey worsteds.

Suits

Poole :

Models of this type are slightly form fitting, three-button single breast, no vent, welt pockets with flap, fully lined; trousers are straight, plain seams, cuffs.

Lincoln :

This model is cut on conservative lines. Wider shoulders, broader back and larger in the waist than regular models; three-button single breast; trousers cut in proportion—easy throughout.

Overcoats

Torpey :

An overcoat for those who have in mind the very latest. Its new and noticeable feature is the five raised seam back, giving the coat individual lines and evidencing smart tailoring. Is three-buttoned, single-breasted, the pockets are side curved and piped.

Standard :

Conservative, yet style is not lacking. Is single-breasted, three-buttoned fly front, plain vent, patch pockets with plain flaps, and cloth collar of self material.

HANDSOME HATS FOR ANY HEAD

"Perched on high" the hat is very prominent. When you meet a man face to face you cannot overlook his headgear — his shoes may escape you but his hat never. We are agent for the celebrated "Borsalino" — procurable in many pleasing shades. Sizes great and small. Priced at ..... $5.00

At $3 we have the "Wolthausen." It is a splendid Canadian product and is obtainable in such shades as deep green, meadow green, Belgian, gardenia, dark slate, grey and black. One of the most agreeable features of the season is the crease crown with a flaring brim.

BOARD OF HEALTH FAVOURS RAISING MILK STANDARD

At a Meeting of the Board Held Yesterday Afternoon It Was Suggested That a Standard of 3.25 Be Adopted—Restrictions For Restaurants

A meeting of the local Board of Health was held yesterday afternoon with Ald. W. H. Langford presiding. Other members present were Mayor Duncan, Mr. James Murty and Dr. C. H. Amys, Medical Officer of Health.

May Raise Standard.

It was moved by Dr. Amys, seconded by Mr. Murty, that the secretary write to the Provincial Minister of Agriculture and ask his advice as to raising the standard of butter fat in milk from 3 per cent. to 3.25 per cent.

Valve in Hospital.

A letter from F. R. J. MacPherson was read stating that a heating valve could be put in the heating system of the hospital for $4.00.

J. E. Nasmith, Director of Laboratories, Toronto, wrote, regarding the grading of dairy farms. The communication was received.

C. Amyot sent in a bacteriological report on city water, indicating a splendid condition of the water.

The report of the matron of the Queen Mary Hospital for February was read.

Accounts Passed.

The following accounts for services rendered under the direction of the Board were read and ordered to be paid: Fanning's Steam Laundry, $12.97; W. E. Menzies, $136.42; Robt. Hicks Co., $38.49; James Juby, $15.60; H. R. Taylor & Son, $6.00; E. F. Mason, $32.16; Wm. Brown, $14.80; Thos. Hooper, $2.00; A. E. Dickson, $9.00; Pet. Hardware Co., $20.00;; Alex. Gordon, $15.64; Wm. R. Hoskin, $3.90; Wm. Madill, $10.00.

A Recommendation.

The Board will recommend to the City Council that the regulations regarding restaurants shall be added to providing that there shall be no compartments or stalls, and each restaurant shall have a separate sanitary lavatory and wash basin for ladies and gentlemen, and that the sleeping apartments shall have a separate entrance and have no connection with the kitchen and dining room, and that the basement floor shall be concrete.

Students Have Same Advantage

Toronto College of Music Establishes Syetem of Local Examinations

Of all the pioneer work done in the interests of musical education in Canada nothing has been more productive of good than the inauguration of the Toronto College of Music examinations. Founded by F. H. Torrington, whose name needs no introduction to the Canadian public, the College is entitled to rank as one of the foremost musical institutions of the country. A system of local examinations in music has been established whereby students at a distance from Toronto are afforded the same advantages as those in attendance at the College. These examinations are held at midsummer at the several local centres established throughout the Dominion. Full information and the syllabus of examination requirements may be obtained by applying to the Secretary of the College in Toronto.

The German View Of The Big Battle

(Canadian Press.)

London, March 22.—"We are now entered on a decisive battle for general peace," says the Taeglische Rundschau, of Berlin, according to an Exchange Telegraph Despatch from Copenhagen, in announcing that the commencement of the German offensive in the west is received with grat felicitation by the German people, who will follow it with feverish interest.

The newspaper adds: "A single combat between England and Germany, which is to decide the war, our future position in the world, and whether the Anglo-Saxons shall continue to press their will on the world, opened to-day."

Broken Wheel Last Night

Incident of Heavy Grain Movement Temporarily Tied Up the Peterboro' Line From Belleville—C. N. R. Bridge Out of Commission?

A broken wheel on a grain freight this side of Belleville derailed eight cars last night shortly after midnight and blocked the line for hours. This morning's regular passenger train from Belleville arrived here one hour and a half late, the passengers having been transferred around the point of blockade to a train that was waiting on this side of it. It was stated that the contents of several of the cars would have to be transshipped.

The grain movement over the G. T. R. continues extremely heavy. The trains from the west were diverted to the Bethany line to-day, reaching the lake shore road at Port Hope, instead of Belleville.

USING G.T.R. BRIDGE.

An ice jam in the Moira River at Belleville, under the C.N.R. bridge, not only damaged property worth thousands of dollars in Belleville, but, it was stated, bulged the bridge with the sheer weight of ice and water behind it. As a result the C.N. R. and C.P.R trains are running over the G.T.R. bridge The extent of the strain to the C.N.R. structure is not known, but railway men assert that it is no longer "plumb".

Further Heavy Fighting Expected

ENEMY HAS BEEN HELD AND HAS SUFFERED GREAT LOSSES.

(Canadian Press.)

London, March 22.—The eagerly awaited British official statement of to-day, which was expected to give further details of the tremendous fighting indicated in last night's reports, was read with great satisfaction in so far as it revealed that the enemy had been held and had suffered great losses.

If this turns out to be the German offensive that has been predicted, the preliminary round appears to have gone in favor of the entente, although as the official report points out, further heavy fighting is still to be expected.

The tremendous artillery duel was heard more distinctly than ever in Kent last night. Houses were continually shaken as the result of violent concussions.

VACANT LOT LIST WAS CROWDED OUT

Lack of space prevents the publication to-day of the list of vacant property available in Peterborough and suburbs for the purpose of greater production. The list will appear in to-morrow's issue. ## RICE LAKE EXPECTED TO SLOUGH ICE SOON.

Mr. Mirriam of Harwood, stated today that the ice would soon break up in Rice Lake. There is now about a foot and a half of slush on the surface. Mr. Mirriam's horse was fagged after crossing to Hiawatha, and he had to hire one there to proceed to Peterboro.

At Sandy Lake

THREE HOUSES WILL BE ERECTED ON THE PROPERTY.

The Havelock Standard says: Messrs. Conklin & Robertson, the gentlemen who have purchased the Sandy Lake Ranch, are men who evidently believe in doing things. Already they have made a start and left town on Friday morning last to erect three houses on the ranch and to get everything in readiness for the stock, which will be sent out north in a few weeks. They have also leased 10,000 acres of crown land in the immediate vicinity from the Ontario Government, so that they will have plenty of grazing land for the cattle. The leased land extends to Clear Lake on the north, to the west side of the Blue Mountains on the west, to the south of Twin Lakes on the south, and east to Trout Lake. Messrs. Conklin & Robertson have purchased about 400 head of two-year-old heifers for delivery this spring and hope to increase their herd to about 1000 head in a year or so. They intend going in for Hereford cattle as they claim that that breed do better on grass than Durhams. They are being assisted in every way possible by the Ontario Government in their undertaking.

52 Years Old He Has Been In France 3 Years

Gunner Arthur Messenger is One of the Original Firsts Who Are Home on Furlough

Gunner Arthur Messenger, of Campbellford, one of the Original Firsts, a member of the 4th Battery, C.F.A., in which so many Peterborough men fought in France, was in town to-day on his way home. Gunner Messenger is on furlough, having left his battery five weeks, after over three years' service at the front.

Not many of the original 4th Battery are left on duty now, according to Messenger, who is a real veteran, as he is fifty-two years of age.

The Passchendaele battle, in which the artillery was continuously in action for five weeks, was a terrible engagement, Gunner Messenger says.

"God knows how the infantry ever got through the mud," he remarked to the Examiner.

The Campbellford man had a great time this morning talking over events at the front with Sergt. Cooper and Gunner J. Smith, who were with him in France.

THE DOMINION OF NEWFOUNDLAND

Another Good Meeting Was Held in Browntown Last Evening.

At Browntown last night Adjt. Trickey spoke of the Salvation Army and its work in the new Dominion, and also on the Islands of Bermuda. Two and a half years had been spent at St. John's, the capital of Newfoundland, one year at Hamilton, Bermuda. Captain Balfour and Lieut. Smith, along with other Campbellford workers, were present last night and took part. Y. P. S. M. Braund, who was present with a number of Y.P. Workers, gave an object lesson service from the blackboard. The subject for to-night is, "Should Christians Dance?" and to-morrow night, "Why Did God Permit This War?" There will be special music and vocal solos.

More Generous Treatment Of Soldiers' Dependents

Mr. J. H. Burnham Raises the Question in the House

OTTAWA, March 22.—The formation of a Union Government and the abolition of patronage has evidently made private members of the House more independent than they were under the old party system. This was indicated not only by the protest from Col. Currie against the motion of his own Leader, but also by criticisms from three other supporters of the Government. Mr. J. H. Burnham of West Peterborough, found fault with the separation allowances paid to soldiers' wives, and was backed up by Mr. W. F. Nickle, of Kingston, who told the Minister of Militia very plainly that "this matter cannot be set aside quite as easily as the Minister thinks." Major-General Mewburn had said the question would require great consideration. Mr. Nickle strongly urged more generous treatment of soldiers' dependents.

The motion was finally withdrawn by Mr. Burnham.

Revising Mail-carriers' Contracts.

Mr. J. H. Burnham's proposed resolution to the effect that Parliament should provide the Postmaster-General with power to revise rural mail contracts not yet fully executed because of conditions bearing unfairly on the carriers owing to the sudden rise in prices, caused some comment by members on both sides of the House. Mr. Burnham explained that the Postmaster-General has at present no power to revise a rural mail carriers' contract in any way. Some of these contracts, made before prices had risen to their present height, had yet a period to run. At the time they were made the figure agreed upon was sufficient to cover expenses, but the advance in prices of feed for horses, etc., had rendered it too small. He himself knew of cases where rural mail-carriers were losing money on the work they were doing in carrying his Majesty's mail. He thought that the Postmaster-General should be authorized, in cases such as this, to afford relief.

The Premier assured Mr. Burnham that the matter would be considered.

Home Made Syrup From Sugar Beets

As one of the consequences of the war the price of graulated sugar has very materially advanced during the past two years. This fact has prompted the inquiry, can a wholesome syrup be made in the home from sugar beets that can be used as a sugar substitute?

To ascertain the possibilities in this direction the Division of Chemistry of the Experimental Farms has been making a number of experiments, taking as a basis the simple process described in the U. S. Department of Agriculture, Farmers' Bulletin No. 823. The results of this investigation have shown that a syrup may be prepared from sugar beets which though not palatable for direct use, as on pancakes, porridge, etc., can be successfully employed as the "sweetener" in the making of buns, muffins, cookies and gingerbread, and possibly other cookery products in which a dark color is not objectionable. The syrup, method of making, which is to be described, is of a thick consistency, very dark, and contains from 50 to 60 per cent. of sugar. It is intensely sweet, but unfortunately leaves in the mouth a very distinct and unpleasant after-taste, which is very persistent, due no doubt chiefly to the mineral salts extracted from the beet in the process of making the syrup. This disagreeable after-taste precludes in our opinion the possibility of using the syrup directly on articles of food. However, a number of trials with it as a sweetener in cooking has demonstrated that it can be satisfactorily employed in baking operations, as already stated, the product being free from any appreciable unpleasantness. The process, which is exceedingly simple, is as follows:

1. The beets should be thoroughly washed, and the crowns cut off at the lowest leaf scar and rejected. The remainder of the beet is then sliced as thinly as possible, put into a tub, crock or other suitable receptacle and covered with boiling water at the rate of 1 1-2 gallons per 10 lbs. of sliced beets. The whole should be kept hot for an hour or so, with constant stirring, and then strained through two thicknesses of cotton. The juice so obtained is brown or brownish black in color and was found to contain 5.75 per cent. to 6.75 per cent. sugar.

2. The juice obtained, as already described, is boiled down to a volume of approximately one-tenth of that originally present, care being taken that the syrup as it thickens does not scorch or brown. During the boiling the scum which constantly rises should be removed.

To preserve the syrup for future use it should be bottled while still hot in self sealers, and the covers at once tightly screwed down.

Heavier Rails On G. T. R. To Keene

The G. T. R. have recommended the work of laying heavy steel on the line to Belleville, and have a gang of men on the section between Peterborough and Keene. This operation was interrupted last fall by winter setting in. It is understood that the remaining link in this district is between Hastings and Keene.

Aged Farmer Died From Effects Of Fall

Mr. Theodore M. Caldwell, 533 Harvey street, received a telegram this morning announcing the sudden death of his father Samuel Caldwell, at the family homestead, in Hope Township. The brief information stated that Mr. Caldwell had been seriously injured by falling, yesterday, and that he passed away early this morning without recovering consciousness. The deceased was in his 88th year. He was born in Hope township and was widely known in Durham and neighbouring townships. His wife predeceased him nine years ago. The remaining members of his family are six sons—Willard of Bowmanville, Samuel of Port Hope, Theodore of Peterborough, John of Oshawa, James at home, and William Henry, of Thornlow; also one sister, Mrs. Jas. Dunbar of Hope, and one brother, James Caldwell of Port Hope.

The funeral will probably be held on Sunday to the cemetery at Welcome.

War Bread In Peterborough

Few Householders Were Aware of the Change.

Unknown to the majority of the people war bread made with the standard flour has been in general use since Monday, March 18th. All bread, cakes and buns made since that date which the government gave the bakers to use up their old flour have been of the standard flour, and no complaint or suspicion of the use has been voiced. The only perceptible difference lies in a slightly coarser texture of the bread.

The bakers have also been notified to stop "washing" or coating buns with sugar.

Curlers Have Put Their House In Order For Summer

Many of the curlers attended the obsequies of the departed season last night on the only "ice" left, "No. 8." "Bob" Hicks gathered up the rings and hung them on their pegs, while "Bob" Sturgeon wound up the hog line, and put it out of the way of Charlie Banks' automobiles, that will puff into the curling sanctum, old No. 7, and the other rinks, too, about April 1st. Other acolytes performed the lesser ceremonies. Herb Martin brought in the "hacks" and put them carefully away, while most of the other attendants went Sherlocking around the dark corners with flash lights looking for the shots they missed all season. Altogether it was a rather doleful evening and if President McDermid intends to provide an occasional social evening he missed a grand opportuniy last night. Some of the veterans needed consolation. April 1st is near at hand and there is no hope of salvaging that cargo of Scotch recently lost with a vessel that went down off the Atlantic Coast; apparently there is nothing left but to get the hoe and spade out of hock in complete resignation to circumstances that are beyond repair—until next winter in one sense, and it may be forever, in another.

PRINTERS DEFEAT LEAGUE CHAMPS

Last night, at the Water Street Alleys the Printers and the De Laval met in a league fixture. The Printers won all three games from their opponents. The Printers' best total was in their first game, when 909 was rolled. The De Laval rolled up an 840 count for their first game.

The total pinnage was: Printers, 2,608; De Laval, 2,401.

Ruiter and Carter were the 500 markers for the De Laval with 505 and 503 for three game totals.

For the Printers, Anderson, Cairns markers for the De Laval with 515 mark with 583, 578 and 533 totals. Anderson had high single for the night with a 225 count.

The Printers are now second in the League standing.

To-night—West Ends vs. The Macs.

To-night, immediately after the League match, the "Blind Scores," in connection with the league, will be drawn and dates announced for play-off.

OBITUARY

DR. JOHN STEVENSON.

Dr. John A. Stevenson, of Trenton, is dead, aged 72 years.

Few persons in Norwood were aware of his illness, and when the word passed out that death had claimed him it came as a great shock to the community, for Dr. Stevenson was known to everybody in town, and up to Tuesday of last week was active in his professional work.

Deceased was born in the township of Asphodel in the County of Peterborough, and received his education in the local school and at Victoria College, Cobourg.

For a number of years he practiced his profession in the village of Frankford. He moved to Trenton thirty-two years ago, and immediately stepped into an extended practice which remained with him to the last.

He is survived by his widow, whose long continued illness had much to do with his break in health, by four children, Mrs. (Dr. W. B.) Crowe and Mrs. (Dr. J. F.) Simpson, of Trenton; Mrs. Lewis, of Winnipeg, Man., and by Mr. J. H. Stevenson, of Kent Bridge, Ont., and two brothers, Professor Stevenson, of Nashville University, Tennessee, and Mr. Wm. Stevenson, of Wapella, Sask., and four sisters, Mrs. Rutherford, Mrs. Barlow, and Miss Rose Stevenson, all of British Columbia, and Mrs. Paget, of Canboro, Ont.

Interment took place in Mount Evergreen Cemetery.—Norwood Register.

COST OF GOVERNING YUKON.

OTTAWA, March 22.—It is understood that a special sub-committee of the Cabinet consisting of Hon. Arthur Meighen and Hon. F. B. Carvell has had under review the question of Dominion Government expenditures in the Yukon. It will be recalled that last session E. M. MacDonald and other then Opposition members criticized the Government in regard to the cost of governing Canada's most northern territory on the score that, while the population has decreased in recent years, the cost of administering its affairs had remained about the same. They demanded a reduction in the figures.

Mrs. (Dr.) Cameron has been the guest of friends in Ottawa for the past week.

Mr. C. E. Canfield left last night on a business trip to Montreal.

Mrs. Charles Ackerman is the guest of friends for a few days in Toronto.

Mrs. (Dr.) Coughlin, Belleville, is the guest of Mrs. Rutherford for a few days.

Mr. J. S. Crough returned this morning from Detroit.

Mrs. Young and Mrs. Mills were the hostesses yesterday afternoon at the weekly 57th Chapter I.O.D.E. tea at the Empress. Miss M. Poole acted as cashier, while Mrs. Clegg poured tea and was assisted by Mrs. Crowe, Mrs. Clarke, Miss Ruth Robertson and Miss Margaret Eastwood. The tables were pretty with the attractive decoration of silver candelabra and red shaded candles. The receipts amounted to $10.00.

Lieutenant-Colonel R. M. Dennistoun, of Winnipeg, formerly of Peterborough, has received his title of Commander of the Order of the British Empire from the King. Colonel Dennistoun was appointed Deputy Judge Advocate-General of the Canadian army since going overseas with his battalion, and later received the above recognition for valuable services in the war.

Mrs. Forbes Knight, Hunter Street, left yesterday for a few days' visit with friends in Toronto.

INSIDIOUS PROPAGANDA.

Austrians Trying to Fraternize With Italians.

ROME, March 22.—The insidious Austro-German propaganda in Italy has been greatly intensified recently, both on the front where the Austrians are vainly striving to fraternize with the Italians and are now offering to deliver letters from the soldiers to their families in the invaded regions, and in the principal cities, such as Milan, where defeatist leaflets are being mysteriously distributed and strange rumours are being spread, and in Naples, where attempts are being made to alarm the people by reports of epidemics and of impending air raids.

SEEDING IN WEST TWO WEEKS EARLY

WINNIPEG, March 22.—Reports received at the Grain Exchange state that a large number of farmers in the Province, especially in Southern Manitoba, are beginning seeding operations. At Pilot Mound, Cartwright, Winkler and other points, farmers have been sowing wheat, some farmers having as high as 35 acres in. This is fully to weeks earlier than previous years.

LONGER HOURS FOR BANKS

Montreal, March 22.—Beginning June 1 the banking hours in Canadian banks will probably be made 9.30 to 3.30 instead of 10 to 3 o'clock at present, the proposed change being based on the shortage of manpower in the banks and the necessity of doing something to facilitate the clearing up of the day's routine. However, an amendment to the Bank Act will be necessary.

GRAIN MARKET

The oats market continues active, with export bidding strong in evidence, notwithstanding a report during the day that the export buyers were out of the market. Both the options and cash were 5-8c. to 3-4c. higher at the closest of the day's trading. Corn also closed higher on the Chicago market, operators interpreting the passage of the Gore resolution in the Senate Thursday, guaranteeing higher wheat prices for the 1918 crop, as a bull argument for corn. A few cars of No. 3 kiln-dried corn are still coming through to Toronto and selling on track here at $2. There is a very active demand for seed corn.

Manitoba Wheat: No. 1 Northern, $2.23 1-2; No. 2, $2.20 1-2; No. 3, $2.17 1-2; No. 4, $2.10 1-4, including 2 1-2 cent tax, in store Fort William.

Manitoba oats: No. 2 C. W., 98c.; No. 3, 94c.; extra No. 1 feed, 93c., store Fort William; No. 1 feed, 91 1-2c.

American Corn: No. 3 kiln dried, U.S.A., War Board prohibits importation.

Ontario Oats: No. 2 white, 94c to 95c, nominal; No. 3 white, 93c to 94c.

Barley: Malting, $1.78 to $1.80.

Ontario wheat: No 2 winter, $2.22, basis in store, Montreal.

Peas: No. 2, $3.60 to $3.70, according to freights outside.

Buckwheat: $1.83 to $1.85.

Rye: No. 2, $2.50.

Manitoba Flour, war quality, $11.10 Toronto, new bags.

Ontario Flour: War quality, $10.70, Toronto, Montreal, $10.70, new bags.

Millfeed: Car lots, delivered, Montreal; shorts, $40; bran, $35; feed flour not quoted; middlings not quoted.

Hay: Baled track Toronto, car lots, No. 1, $17 to $18; No. 2, $14 to $16; mixed, $13 to $16; straw, car lots, $8.50 to $9.

"A BETTER SPIRIT."

Rochester Times-Union: "President Wilson's scheme for giving medals, badges, etc., to men that perform distinguished service for the nation during the war is to be commended highly. While it is not true that men will perform for the sake of winning badges and medals acts of daring or others requiring great sacrifice that they would not perform if no medals were awarded, it is true that official recognition of such service will tend to create a better spirit in the army."

RESOLUTION AIMS TO ABOLISH ALL TITLES

Fielding, McMaster and Lapointe Have Resolution Against Granting Hereditary Ones—Nickle Would Petition King and Leave "Sirs" Wives Just Plain "Mrs"—House Democratic.

THRESHING OUT PROPOSED TRADE MEASURES

OTTAWA, March 23.—The Canadian Parliament is going gunning for herditary titles, and for what might be called "Reflected Glory Titles," even when these are held by women. With the latest list from overseas still being advertised for as "Lost, Strayed, or Stolen," a very definite and strongly supported movement is on foot to put a definite end to the title game. In fact, so many members are coming forward with resolutions on the subject that the only question is as to which gets his motion on the order paper first.

Mr. J. H. Burnham of Peterborough, was first in the field with an anti-titles resolution, but decided not to move it, his idea being that both the granting and the discussion of titles should remain in abeyance until the war is over. Other members, however, feel that the granting of these honours will go on the same as ever if Parliament does not do something definite, and in consequence a number of resolutions have been prepared. On the Opposition side Mr. Ernest Lapointe, one of the ablest French members, had one of these, but will support instead a resolution by Mr. A. R. McMaster, Liberal, of Brome, seconded by Hon. W. S. Fielding, which reads: "That in the opinion of this House, it is undesirable that hereditary titles be bestowed on Canadians living in Canada."

It has been popularly said that Mr. Fielding himself refused a title.

Nickle's Address to King.

The McMaster resolution is the first of the anti-title motions to get on the order paper, but Mr. W. F. Nickle of Kingston, easily one of the ablest men on the Government side, has one which takes the form of an address to the King. The Nickle resolution will also go on the order paper, and Parliament can take its choice. It says.

"We, your Majesty's most dutiful and loyal subjects, the House of Commons of Canada in Parliament assembled, humbly approach your Majesty, praying that your Majesty hereafter may be graciously pleased to refrain from conferring any hereditary titles upon your subjects domiciled or living in Canada, or any title or honour that will be held or can be used by, or which will confer any title or honour upon, any person other than the person in recognition of whose services the honour or title has ben conferred."

The first part of this resolution is aimed at hereditary titles, but the second part goes far beyond that. It means, for instance, that there is no objection to the King honouring a man with the title "Sir," but that such a title must not confer honour upon anyone else; that is, the wife of a "Sir" would not be called "Lady."

WESTERNERS DEATH ON TITLES

Mr. Burnham, though he did not go on with his own resolution, will actively support one of the others. The Opposition will be strongly behind the McMaster motion, and the Westerners on the Government side are death on titles. At the Winnipeg Liberal Convention of sainted memory, nothing drew heartier applause than proposals to do away with hereditary titular honours. It is likely indeed, that mebers of them Ministry will also talk strongly in favour of an anti-title movement.

"We are going to put a stop to that nonsense," was the unofficial comment of one member of the Cabinet.

But what the Senate will do is another question.

INDEPENDENT OF PARTY LASH

The fact is that the present Parliament is a democratic one, both with respect to its attitude on titles and its independence of the party lash. Five members of the Government party criticized the ministry Thursday, namely, Messrs. J. H. Burnham of West Peterborough; W. F. Nickle of Kingston; J. A. Currie of North Simcoe; T. M. Tweedle, of West Calgary; all Conservative Unionists, and S. E. Elkin, of St. John, Liberal-Unionist, the last named criticizing twice. The questions on which the Government was subjected to internal criticism included separation allowances, its choice of a Deputy-Speaker, and its desire to confer extraordinary powers on the Cabinet until three years after the war.

Such strong opposition, indetd, has developed to the conferring of these powers for so long a term that it looks as though the Ministry will have to modify its attitude and amend its proposed bill. This bill is forecasted by the following resolution which was before the House yesterday.

CATTLE MARKET

The week's markets have been characterized with good active trading for all lines of live stock. Opening on Monday with moderate receipts, including a good proportion of extra choice quality cattle and with a demand for the faster grade, prices made substantial advances. For heavy steers of good quality the advance was from 30c. to 40c., while for good to choice handy weights there was a general advance of about 25c. At these levels the market held steady for the balance of the week for the same quality of cattle. There was throughout the week a strong market for fat cows and bulls, with supplies light, and prices consequently high. Young cows are also in good demand for grass feeding.

There is a good demand for good stockers and feeders, but the high prices at which the choice stock has been held tended to keep the trade quiet.

Baby beef steers and heifers for the Easter trade have been much in evidence during the week, and some good sales were made. Several small lots of selected yearlings sold as high as $15, while one full load of choice yearlings sold at $13.50.

Wednesday and Thursday's markets showed quite a slowing up in the demand for common and ordinary butcher steers and heifers.

Supplies of sheep and lambs were very light all week, and prices made new high spots around $20 to 20.60 for choice lambs.

Choice veal calves have held strong.

Hogs during the week have left all previous high records far behind. The top was $21, fed and watered, the closing market ranging from $20.75 to $21.

Cattle Receipts.

Union Stock Yards—Total receipts this week, 435 cars, with 6,160 cattle, 1,2[illegible] calves, 8,955 hogs, 377 sheep and lambs, and 250 horses.

City Cattle Market— 20 cars, with 352 cattle, 62 sheep and lambs, 350 hogs, and 54 calves.

Entertaining at Easter

For luncheon and dinner on Easter Monday and Tuesday the decorations should express the Easter spirit. Rabbits, chickens and eggs must appear in one form or another. The shops are filled with lovely place cards and favors.

One effect which is charming for a luncheon table has yellow and white for its color scheme. In the center of the table is a mound of daffodils surrounding a big white egg, from which a little white chicken peeps. From the center streamers of yellow ribbon lead to the four corners and finish in a bow. At each place is found a little candy filled rabbit standing on its hind legs with the front feet extended.

On the feet is placed the little card with the name of the guest whose place it is. The upper half of the rabbit comes off, and the body is filled with tiny bonbons. These serve as both place cards and favors.

At such a luncheon the colors must be preserved throughout, starting with grapefruit and a golden chicken bouillon, followed by salmon or eggs in one fashion or another. Chicken may be served as the meat, or if chops are preferred little yellow ruffets can be put on their stems. Orange salad keeps up the color scheme and a banana or deep yellow vanilla cream finishes it. Little egg candles are appropriate and attractive.

For a children's party there is a larger field for variety. A new version of an old game may be rung in very neatly. A couple of hundred little egg candies may be concealed in every imaginable corner of the house. These are to be sought by all the little ones. The child finding the most should receive the prize of a fancy chicken filled with candy, the second prize being a smaller rabbit, and the booby prize should be a cardboard rabbit drawing a cardboard egg, on which should be inscribed "booby."

For prizes in other games the chocolate or nut eggs make delicious and acceptable gifts. There are so many old fashioned games in which prizes may be given, and this always adds a zest to the games.

A costume party for the children affords a great deal of amusement and plenty of room for originality. The invitations should direct each guest to come in Easter costume. One of the best costumes along these lines seen in a long time was invented by a small miss of ten years.

It was made of cardboard to represent an egg and tied in the back. It was a perfect oval from head to foot. It was very narrow at the bottom, where her feet came through, and on her head she wore a white oval cap made like a sou'wester, which had an opening for the face, but joined the rest of the costume at the neck. Round holes were made in the cardboard at the shoulders for the arms to come through. When she was in this costume it was really remarkably like an egg.—New York Evening Telegram.

Legend of the Cross

THE legend of the cross most widely spread and most generally believed in the olden time is as follows:

Adam, having lived to a great age and feeling that death was not far distant, bade his son, Seth, bring to him either the fruit of life which grew in the garden of Eden or the oil of mercy which flowed there and which had been promised to Adam upon his expulsion from the garden. Seth made his way to paradise by the footprints of Adam and Eve, over which no grass had ever grown.

The angel to whom Seth made known his errand gave him three seeds from the fruit of the tree of which Adam had eaten and directed that they be placed under Adam's tongue just before his burial. In the course of time Adam died, and the angel's instructions were carried out.

Soon there sprang from Adam's grave in Hebron three trees—a cedar, a cypress and a pine tree. These long which came to be regarded as a symbol of the holy trinity. This tree transplanted by Moses and later by David, grew to be very beautiful.

But even its beauty did not prevent Solomon from cutting it down in order to complete his temple, for which a beam of enormous size was lacking. But each time that the beam cut from the tree was fitted it would be either too large or too small, and such a strange circumstance was taken as a sign that it should not be used.

Some time afterward, most versions agree, the beam was buried where the pool of Bethesda was at a later time discovered. During passion week the wood rose and floated on the surface of the pool and was used for the crucifixion cross.

How Blue-jay Ends Corns

A is a thin, soft pad which stops the pain by relieving the pressure.

B is the B&B wax, which gently undermines the corn. Usually it takes only 48 hours to end the corn completely.

C is rubber adhesive, which sticks without wetting. It wraps around the toe and makes the plaster snug and comfortable.

Blue-jay is applied in a jiffy. After that, one doesn't feel the corn. The action is gentle, and applied to the corn alone. So the corn disappears without soreness.

Your Corn Can't Resist Blue-jay

Blue-jay is the gentle way—but certain. Relief is instant, then the corn comes out in 48 hours.

The little spot of B&B medicated wax covers only the corn itself. It is the dainty, clean way.

Harsh liquids are mussy and dangerous. Paring might bring infection.

Millions of people have used Blue-jay for years. At the slightest appearance of a corn they put on a Blue-jay Plaster.

One plaster is usually sufficient; once in a while an old, stubborn corn requires a second.

Try the Blue-jay way tonight. It means freedom forever from aching corns.

The Moon and the Weather.

People who rely on the moon as a weather indicator, writes a London Chronicle correspondent, must have very short memories, for accurate comparisons prove conclusively that there is no connection whatever between the weather and the moon's changes of phase.

Professor Schuster analyzed a whole century's weather records and, as a result, was unable to trace any lunar period in them. Several authorities are agreed, however, that there is a tendency for clouds to disperse as a full moon comes to the meridian of any place; but it is a far cry from that to the definite belief that the weather changes with a change of the lunar phases.

These changes, of course, can be predicted for years in advance with perfect accuracy, and if the weather depended on them, weather forecasting would be the simplest of all the sciences, instead of the most difficult.

The Blind Soldiers.

Statistics furnished by the French-British authorities to the American-British-French Belgian Permanent Blind Relief War Fund of 590 Fifth avenue, New York, show that there are in England, France and Belgium more than 3,000 soldiers who have been totally blinded in the war and nearly 25,000 blinded in one eye, a large proportion of whom will eventually lose the sight of the other as the result of shock or of the wounds themselves. In addition there are in France alone nearly 200 who, besides losing both eyes, have also suffered, by explosions or amputation, the loss of both arms or both legs, or a hand, and in many cases have been rendered stone deaf into the bargain.

PLACE OF MEAUX IN HISTORY

Little French City Is Nearest Spot to Paris Trod by Germans in Their Advance of 1914.

The little French city of Meaux, near Paris, has gained an immortal place in history. It marks the high tide of the German advance in 1914, the nearest spot to Paris where the Prussians trod. Thus far the advance patrols penetrated, and here they were recalled to swing off in the great detour that ended in retreat. Over Meaux flashed the German Taubes, looking down in puzzled misunderstanding at the endless scurrying line of Parisian taxicabs that bore the French Sixth army to the front to save the city. It was something new in transport, this army in taxicabs, and the Germans, accustomed to do all things by rule, went so far astray as to interpret it as a rush of the people of Paris to surrender themselves to the invader.

Near Meaux you see one of the most significant things in Europe—the first grave. Less than 30 kilometers from Paris this unknown Frenchman fell. Over his body is a bare oblong wire fencing off a little white cross. There are literally millions of these rude graves dotting the pleasant plains of northern France, but this is the nearest of them all to Paris itself. A little farther and you find them scattered more and more thickly, and now some of them are capped by black crosses instead of white, to mark the spot where a Prussian lies. And over the bodies of German and Frenchman the lush crops are crowding in, for this section of France is being intensively cultivated as no region has been before.

A few kilometers northward and eastward is the first of the great monuments raised over a common grave, where the dead lie by hundreds. The French engineers have erected many of these. They tower up in the flat land as the memory of those who lie below will tower in the minds of future generations. The wheat may rustle green about them and the traffic of peace flow by, but the countryside will be forever hallowed by the memory of a crisis when nameless men laid down their lives wholesale that a nation might live.

KNITTING BAG HELD SECRET

French Bulldog Leered From Folds of Satin Lining, Much to Surprise of Spectator.

She was a very pretty young woman, extremely well dressed. Her tailored suit was perfection, her boots and gloves immaculate, and her hat, correctly tilted, had the smart lines that women envy.

As though all this wasn't enough, she carried the most adorable knitting bag, says the Kansas City Star. It was made of some wonderful velvety brocaded stuff and the huge flowers of crocheted yarn somehow looked more stunning than those on other handsome bags.

With it all the face that peeped out from under the hat was so demure and serious that you knew the knitting she carried was not a sweater of orange or turquoise, but something made of sober gray yarn, for a boy "somewhere in France."

When the elevator stopped to let her in it gave the woman nearest her a chance to more closely examine the lovely bag, and she did not wait for opportunity to knock the second time. She suddenly cried out, for just as the girl stepped in the ridiculous face of a French bulldog leered from the soft folds of the satin lining.

When They Met Again.

Two friends met recently in Flanders, Dan Daly was one of the friends. He used to be an advertising man in Brooklyn and elsewhere. Just before the war began he was in Germany, look-seeing. One night there was a grand party in Frankfurt-am-Main. Nora Bayes was there and one or two other Americans and Arthur Blaut, who owns the largest tannery in Germany. He tans most of the leather for one of the great English firms. Next day Blaut and Daly went out in Blaut's car and saw the town. Then they said good-by.

"We were out gathering up the wounded," said Daly, "when I heard my name called. There was a German soldier with a smashed arm.

"Won't you speak to me, Dan?" he asked.

"It was Arthur Blaut."

But He Was Not Dead.

Raising trouble at his own funeral was the charge against a man in Portuguese Africa. A drunken man fell asleep by the roadside. A patrol coming along thought he was dead, and, as burial in that part of the world follows straight on the heels of death, he was speedily taken to the cemetery, where there are always open graves. The lowering into the grave aroused the toper, who made such a commotion that he was released. He was immediately fined a large sum for being drunk and creating a disturbance at a funeral.

The Ontario Gazette

PUBLISHED BY AUTHORITY

TORONTO, SATURDAY, MARCH 16th, 1918

CANADA.

JOHN S. HENDRIE.

PROVINCE OF ONTARIO.

GEORGE THE FIFTH, by the Grace of God of the United Kingdom of Great Britain and Ireland, and of the British Dominions beyond the Seas, King, Defender of the Faith, Emperor of India.

TO ALL TO WHOM THESE PRESENTS SHALL COME, OR WHOM THE SAME MAY CONCERN: GREETING:

I. B. LUCAS,
Attorney-General.

PROCLAMATION.

WHEREAS, it has been made clear that an adequate supply of foodstuffs to Great Britain and her Allies is now one of the most critical and essential problems in connection with carrying the war to a triumph;

AND WHEREAS, Our Province of Ontario, by virtue of its geographical situation in comparative proximity to the Motherland, occupies a position of special responsibility and opportunity;

AND WHEREAS the season approaches which shall determine for another year the amount of foodstuffs which this Province shall produce;

WE, THEREFORE, believing it to be the aspiration of Our people to discharge every responsibility as in the past, and confident of their willingness to take advantage of the opportunity involved, to the end that the cause of righteousness for which we struggle may be advanced, have thought fit, by and with the advice of Our Executive Council for Our Province of Ontario, to appoint, and do hereby appoint a week of Dedication and Preparation for the period of production approaching, beginning on March twenty-fourth;

AND WE DO HEREBY URGE and request that the County Council of each and every County of Our Province of Ontario be convened in special Session on Saturday, the twenty-third day of March, to consider ways and means to stimulate or assist in the maximum production of essential foodstuffs in the respective Counties;

AND WE DO HEREBY FURTHER URGE and request that each and every Clergyman in Our Province of Ontario shall from his pulpit on Sunday, the twenty-fourth day of March, set forth the facts of the food situation as it affects the Allied cause, emphasizing the responsibility resting on this favoured land, and invoking the blessing of Almighty God on the human efforts put forth towards production, that they may be blessed by Him who alone giveth the increase;

AND WE DO HEREBY STILL FURTHER URGE and request the careful consideration and patriotic co-operation of all Our people in the matters herein set forth;

ALL OF WHICH PREMISES all Our loving subjects and all others whom it doth or may in any wise concern are hereby required to take notice and govern themselves accordingly;

IN TESTIMONY WHEREOF We have caused these Our Letters to be made Patent, and the Great Seal of Our Province of Ontario to be hereunto affixed:

WITNESS:

HIS HONOUR SIR JOHN STRATHEARN HENDRIE, Knight Commander of Our Most Distinguished Order of St. Michael and St. George, Commander of Our Royal Victorian Order, a Colonel in Our Militia of Canada, etc., etc., etc., Lieutenant-Governor of Our Province of Ontario, at Our Government House, in Our City of Toronto, in Our said Province, this seventh day of March, in the year of Our Lord one thousand nine hundred and eighteen, and in the eighth year of Our reign.

By Command:

WM. DAVID McPHERSON,
Provincial Secretary.

Commencing March 24th

So imminent is disaster to the cause of the Allies through starvation—that the special Proclamation His Honor the Lieutenant-Governor, as reproduced here, has been made to

—All County Councils to convene an extraordinary meeting on March 23rd to discuss ways to increase Food Production.

—All clergymen to proclaim from their pulpits on March 24th the terrible truths of the 1918 food situation.

—All citizens to co-operate loyally in the sacred cause of producing more Food this year.

The Crisis is with us—the time of Sowing is at Hand—the responsibility upon Ontario is great.

Farmers Preparation Week
Some Suggestions

His Equipment

1. Oil and mend harness. Provide extra traces and hame straps.
2. Fill and reface horse collars, fit to horses' shoulders.
3. Sharpen harrow teeth, plow coulters and plow points.
4. Renew or sharpen cultivator feet.
5. Tighten up or replace all bolts on rollers, drills, cultivators and manure spreaders.
6. Make three and four horse eveners for combining two harrows into one. Procure a couple of spare whiffletrees.
7. Take a day to get all spring-used machinery near the doors of shed.
8. Gather up wrenches, hammers, files, chisels and punches into an easily carried kit.
9. Get spraying machinery in perfect working order.

His Horses

1. Feed work horses a little more grain and give them as much work as possible.
2. Hitch colts into three and four-horse teams with older horses.
3. Groom often to remove all the dead hairs possible before heavy work starts (prevents sores under collars).
4. Bathe shoulders now with hot water and salt every night, as soon as collars come off, to harden and toughen.
5. Put the spare horse in condition—more rapid work can be accomplished during seeding by changing horses.

Seed

1. Clean and reclean all home-grown seed.
2. Test all seed for germination.
3. Purchase clover root and vegetable seed right away.
4. Procure formalin for treatment of smut of grain, scab of potatoes and spray material for fruits and vegetables.
5. Sack all seed for quick and easy handling at seeding.
6. Order 30% more seed corn than usual, as germination may be poor, necessitating thicker seeding.
7. Order seed potatoes now and be sure the seed is good.

The Land

1. Open all old water furrows with shovel or hoe.
2. Make new water furrows to low spots in fields.
3. See that all drain outlets are running freely.
4. Roll all meadows as soon as dry enough to hold up horses. This puts down stones and upheaved clover plants.
5. Sow red clover seed on fall wheat on still, frosty mornings.
6. Repair the fences now.

Crop Plans

1. Prepare to sow your earliest land to spring wheat, then barley, oats and peas in order named. Plant potatoes by May 15th.
2. Sow annual pasture to save all your clover land for hay, thus saving grain for next winter's feeding.

BEST MIXTURE—1 bushel wheat, 1 bushel oats, 1 bushel barley, 7 lbs. per acre red clover. One acre of this pasture is equal to two acres clover pasture in July and August and will pasture two cows.

3. Mixed grain (barley and oats) should be sown on every stock farm. Yields more than either one alone.

APHORISMS FOR THE STUDIO.

Labor is the Great Conqueror.

Some Teachers' Attributes: Knowledge, Particular in details, Patience, Conscience, Devotion to Art, Resourcefulness, Tact, Alertness, Spontaneity.

Labor Joyously, with System, Patience and Aspiration.

In Music Study seek beauty of outline and truth of content. Seek the Best.

Knowledge may be quickly asquired, but:

Skill is the result of long and constant application of Knowledge.

Follow your most serious impulses

Learn to do the things one ought to do.

Seek the surety which comes of deliberate practice and many repetitions.

Technique is the Hand Maiden of the spirit.

The True Teacher is popular, because of the justice of all his demands.

The smallest item is worthy of our greatest care.

Genius reveals itself through great labor.

The Teacher's Duty is to acquire knowledge; his joy is to dispense it, patiently, truthfully, thoroughly.

It is better to have tried and failed than to have failed to try.

MUSIC TEACHER'S CLASS EDITS A PAPER.

It has struck the writer very forcibly of late how many really small children are seen on the streets with their music rolls indicating that they are either going or returning from a music lesson. Teachers are realizing more than ever the possibilities in these young lives where they have the advantages of studying in their most impressionable years.

It is the experience of most teachers that for the first while he pupil, takes to music like a new broom sweeping clean; but when the first fascination begins to wane then the resourcefulness of both teacher and parents is needed one hundred per cent. strong.

One teacher recently heard of, uses a blackboard to get and retain the pupils' interest. On the board is ruled the staff in white paint, and with chalk she proceeds to teach music to a certain extent like the public school teacher teaches arithmetic. One of the means used by this same teacher to work up the class spirit among her pupils is the getting up of a musical newspaper, with older pupils taking their turn acting as editor. At her studio is kept a guest register to be signed by the parents and friends whenever they pay a visit

Again there was instituted a plan whereby each pupil brought a musical question once a week in an envelope, and these questions were exchanged so that each pupil was to give the answer to someone else's query. It can be easily understood how such evidences of enterprise would be rewarded with continuous attention and maintained interest, which could not very well help resulting in good progress for the pupils.

PASS NEAR ROME, BUT DROP NO BOMBS

ROME, March 18. — The Austrian aviators who made the raid on Naples set forth from Cattara, 550 miles from Naples. On their return voyage they passed near Rome, but dropped no bombs. The residents of Rome were instructed to remain within doors with all lights out.

At the Vatican, the opinion was expressed that Rome would never be bombarded, owing to the presence of the Pope. The lighting plant at the Vatican remained in operation, and the lights in the Pope's apartments were not cut off, although it was agreed later that in the event of future raids the current would be stopped.

The raiders made a journey of over 700 miles in all.

CHILDREN MUST BE PROTECTED

The children must be safeguarded, for, if they do survive the frequent coughs and colds, it is often with the lungs so weakened that they become chronic sufferers from bronchitis or consumption. Being composed of simple ingredients of undoubted value, Dr. Chase's Syrup of Linseed and Turpentine is admirably suited as a treatment for children. It is pleasant to taste. So much so that children delight to take it on this account, as well as because of the quick relief it affords them.

A Pacifist.

The newcomer had hardly seated himself in the railway compartment before he began to talk, relates London Tit-Bits. "I am a pacifist," said he in a voice as if he wanted to disarm all interruption. "If we can't beat the enemy in three years it's time we started waving the olive branch instead of the sword."

Just then a severe feminine face inserted itself at the carriage window. "Is there a John Tamson here? Aye, there he is. Cam oot o' that smokin' carriage, ye heathen, before I tak' yo by the lug. Dae ye think your wife's a haddie for the curin'?"

John Tamson left, and the astonished silence which followed was broken by one passenger remarking: "Puir fellow, nae wunner he's a pacifist. It's mair nor three years o' war he's had, I'm thinkin'."

HANDICAP OF FINGER SPEECH

Nighthawk Husband Turns Out Electric Light to Stop Wife's Curtain Lecture.

Domestic courts as a rule do not grant injunctions against the practices of offending husbands, but once in a while they are asked for. A man and his wife, both deaf mutes, were in court recently in New York. Their earnest digital gyrations and contortions convinced the presiding magistrate that an interpreter was needed, and one was summoned. Through him the man spoke first. His principal desire, it appeared, was that anything his wife might say should be largely discounted. He had known her for many years, he spelled on his fingers, and during that period she had rarely been right on any subject.

The wife proved more interesting when it came her turn to testify. She wanted an injunction. Why? And there the interpreter had to do fast receiving to catch all her wagwagging. "She says that her husband comes home late every night," relayed the interpreter, "and nearly always he is half-stewed. She says that when he gets in she starts to tell him in sign language what she thinks of him, and his late hours, and that he won't even let her talk. That's what she wants an injunction for—against his cruelty in stopping her from bawling him out." "What does he do?" asked the magistrate. "Choke her?" "No, your honor; she says that whenever he gets tired of listening he reaches up and turns out the electric light."

TYPHOID GERMS ARE PETTED

Fed With Agar Jelly, Specially Prepared and Very Costly—Millions of Soldiers Inoculated.

Millions of the allied soldiers in France have been inoculated against typhoid fever since the war began.

In order to prepare the lymph which is used for the purpose of rendering them immune to this deadly disease, perfectly pure cultivations of the typhoid bacillus have to be made.

These are obtained by artificially breeding the microbes in government-controlled laboratories. The deadly germs are kept in little glass tubes, carefully sterilized, and are fed with agar jelly, an exceedingly expensive substance which comes from Japan, where it is prepared from a particular species of seaweed.

Nothing can exceed the care and attention that is lavished on these lothsome little organisms by the scientists in charge of them.

The typhoid microbe is not a very little fellow as microbes go. There are others far smaller. Nevertheless if a pin's head were a hollow capsule it would hold four hundred million typhoid bacilli, a colony of living organisms about equal in point of numbers to the combined population of the United States of America, Russia, France, Germany, Italy and the United Kingdom.

ARGENTINES WANT WAR

PRESIDENT IRIGOYEN REFUSES TO BREAK WITH GERMANY.

Powerful Radical Leader Contends That He Was Elected to Carry Out Certain Domestic Reforms, and He Says That If He Declared War It Would Interfere With His Peace Programme.

IT is not a matter of much concern to the allies whether a Southern American republic declares war on Germany. This war is between heavyweights, and the flyweights cannot be expected to greatly affect the result, no matter on which side their influence is cast. The British fleet cuts them off from Germany; they are not in a position to lend money; the supplies they have are in the market, and the only possible purchaser is the Entente. Therefore, none of them is able to hurt us, and if one of them should suddenly go musty or turn Bolshevik, no cold chills would be produced thereby. Nevertheless, the moral support of South America counts for a good deal, especially in North America, and we rejoice to think that Germany has no official friends in Latin America. Some of the republics have already declared war on her, notably Brazil; the Argentine, with far more provocation, remains neutral, and there is a tendency to look askance at Argentina on this account.

There can be no doubt in the world that the overwhelming sentiment in Argentina is against Germany. The Luxbury revelations were followed by anti-German riots. The Parliament of the country has voted in favor of a declaration of war, and yet because in republics the nominal head of the nation has greater arbitrary power than in a monarchy, the country remains at peace. The President blocks the way, and it appears that it will take a revolution to force Argentina into the ranks of Germany's active enemies. Irigoyen, the President, refuses to accept the German challenge conveyed in the famous "sperlos versenkt" despatch, and on this account the tendency to consider him a German agent is general. However, according to the Brooklyn Eagle, which is unusually well-informed upon the matter, Irigoyen is not a pro-German. He is unpurchasable. It may be that he has fallen a victim to the specious arguments urged by Luxburg, whose insanity is officially conceded, but there is no ground to suppose that he has accepted German money.

If he has there must be something about German money which makes it different from other money. Irigoyen has refused money before, big money. He has chosen to live as a poor man when he had opportunities of becoming a wealthy man. For years he has been the most influential man in the Argentine. Yet he remained a mere professor of a university. His aloofness won for him the nickname of "the Monk." While Irigoyen was a household word in the great republic, his face was familiar to few of his fellow-citizens. Many of them, perhaps, who as boys had heard of him, supposed that he was dead, and no doubt many of them were shocked when in 1916 it appeared that he was a candidate for the presidency. It was almost as though Sir John A. Macdonald turned up in a Canadian bye-election. It seems that the reason Irigoyen does not do what the great majority of the people want him to do, and declare war on Germany, is owing to the fact that in this election he was returned on a particular ticket. The world war did not figure in the election; therefore Irigoyen will not permit it to figure in his administration. He believes, it is said, that the task entrusted to him is of more importance to the people than any effect the great war can have upon them. He was elected for a six-year term, and believes that it will require another six years to put into effect all the reforms to which he is pledged.

The party which Irigoyen leads is the Radical party. It is unlike any other political organization in the world. When it was formed the members took a pledge never to accept any public office. However, Irigoyen found himself unable to resist the temptation. The Radical party was made up of critics. Men of all existing parties joined, pledging themselves to attack any incompetent or dishonest government, no matter what its name might be, but to stand aside when offices were being passed around. At first the Radicals were laughed at; later on they were listened to, and eventually they found themselves the strongest political unit in the Argentine. In these years Irigoyen, who was a university professor, continued to turn in all his salary to the party's exchequer, living himself on a small private income.

He refused to permit his followers to contest any election until they were morally certain of winning it. The Radical ideas, in the meantime, continued to permeate the country and had made such headway that in 1916 Senor Roque Saenz-Pena, the President, decided to appeal to the electors on the issue of universal, secret and compulsory voting. He was greatly astonished when he found Irigoyen suddenly emerge from his academic obscurity and place Radical candidates in the field. Saenz-Pena had supposed that his progressive measure would have the support of the Radicals, and looked for no opposition from them. The Radicals, however, while approving the measure, which indeed they had suggested, decided that the time had come for them to take over the government of the country. They were elected by tremendous votes, and have since been trying to put through a great budget of domestic reforms. It is on his account, probably, that Irigoyen refused to break with Germany. A war would disturb his peace programme.

Back Ache!

NATURE gives warning of approaching disaster, and backache tells you that the kidneys are deranged.

As soon as the kidneys fail poisons are left in the blood, which cause aches and pains, rheumatism and lumbago.

The digestive system is interfered with, and there is gradual loss of flesh and harshness and dryness of the skin. There is often headache and dropsical swelling of the limbs.

The most effective treatment is that which awakens the action of the liver and bowels, as well as the kidneys, for these organs work together in removing the poisonous impurities from the system.

This is the reason why Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills are so successful in the treatment of diseases of the kidneys. This is why they frequently cure when ordinary kidney medicines fail.

Just put this medicine to the test when you have backache, headache and other indications that these filtering and eliminating organs are sluggish in action, and see how quickly they will respond.

Prevention is always the wiser course. For this reason it is well to keep Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills at hand, and by regulating these organs forestall serious disease.

Living Failure in Show Window.

A living example of "a failure" was exhibited in the show window of a vacant store in St. Louis by a correspondence school as an advertising scheme.

A dishevelled man past the prime of life, wearing worn and dirty clothes, with dirty hands, uncombed hair, and scrawny mustache, and a leer on his face, sat at a table, such as might be in the back room of a saloon playing solitaire with a greasy deck of cards. On the table beside him was an empty whisky bottle. On the window was a large sign reading: "A failure. This man is a failure because he wasted his spare time."

Another Objector.

Pa—I am afraid that boy of ours has been reading some of this German propaganda.

Ma—Why so?

Pa—When I took him out to the woodshed just now he said he didn't think relatives ought to fight relatives.

Kills Microbes.

Large quantities of hydrochloride of soda are now being used in the laundry of a certain hospital for destroying micro-organisms and removing stains, without appreciably injuring the fabrics. This solution is prepared by the electrolysis of a 4 per cent solution of common salt and water.

You Get Better Cough Syrup by Making it at Home

What's more, you save about $2 by it. Easily made and costs little.

You'll never really know what a fine cough syrup you can make until you prepare this famous home-made remedy. You not only save $2 as compared with the ready-made kind, but you will also have a more effective and dependable remedy in every way. It overcomes the usual coughs, throat and chest colds in 24 hours—relieves even whooping cough quickly.

Get 2½ ounces of Pinex (50 cents worth) from any good drug store, pour it into a 16-oz. bottle and fill the bottle with plain granulated sugar syrup. Here you have 16 ounces—a family supply—of the most effective cough syrup that money can buy—at a cost of only 55 cents or less. It never spoils.

The prompt and positive results given by this pleasant tasting cough syrup have caused it to be used in more homes than any other remedy. It quickly loosens a dry, hoarse or tight cough, heals the inflamed membranes that line the throat and bronchial tubes, and relief comes almost immediately. Splendid for throat tickle, hoarseness, bronchitis, croup and bronchial asthma.

Pinex is a highly concentrated compound of genuine Norway pine extract and has been used for generations for throat and chest ailments.

Avoid disappointment by asking your druggist for "2½ ounces of Pinex" with full directions and don't accept anything else. A guarantee of absolute satisfaction or money promptly refunded goes with this preparation. The Pinex Co., Toronto, Ont.

"WORTHY OF COMPARISON."

Wheeling Register: "Through the 'dusting off' process as employed by Germany she has learned that the mettle of her latest opponent is worthy of comparison with those nations that have faced her from the very beginning of the war, and while she may attempt to make fun of Uncle Sam's warriors among the people at home, she knows in her heart that hard days lie in front of her days that will surely bring about an accounting for those terrible wrongs she has inflicted upon humanity."

A Ford Car Takes the Place of all These Things

WHEN you own a Ford you can do away with many articles that are a source of continuous expense to the man who still drives a horse. For instance, not only your driving-horse and buggy, but the single harness, blankets, whips, currycombs, brushes, horse-shoes, pitch-forks, feed-bins, etc.

In their place you have a speedy, dependable, dignified, roomy Ford Car—complete in itself. It is vastly superior to the narrow, cramped buggy that travels so slowly. And when a Ford is standing idle it does not eat three meals a day, and it requires no "looking after."

A Ford will save you time, trouble, and money. It is the utility car for the busy farmer and his family.

GREAT FIGURES REPORTED BY THE SUN LIFE

THE TOTAL INSURANCE IN FORCE IS NOW $311,870,000.

The Sun Life, amongst Canadian companies, is in a class by itself. Its business in force increases every year by a greater amount than the total new business of most other companies, and its new business itself is more than 50 per cent. greater than that of any other Canadian company. Last year its new business paid for was $47,811,567, and the addition to the business in force was $30,436,245, or well over 60 per cent. of the new issue. The Company adds to its assets every year more than the total amount of the assets of most individual Canadian companies. Last year the addition to the assets was $7,211,178, bringing them up to a total of $90,160,174, and the end of the year will thus see them near the $100,000,000 mark, even if they do not pass it. The company's increase in annual income was greater than the total income of most native competitors, the increase being $769,866, and the total income $19,288,996.

It is astonishing to read that the Sun has already paid to its policy holders $69,094,316, and that last year alone it paid them $8,840,245.

The Company's new Head Office building which adorns Dominion Square, Montreal, is now in occupation, and is unquestionably one of the finest insurance buildings in North America. It will no doubt materially assist the efficient handling of the Company's vast affairs.

OUR DAILY SHORT STORY

If It Hadn't Been for Cutey

By Vincent G. Perry

(Copyright, 1917, by the McClure Newspaper Syndicate.)

Harry Knowles undid the parcel with unwilling fingers. The handwritten address on the outside had told him what it contained. He had hoped Madeline wouldn't take their little quarrel so seriously. He had meant to write her an apology; now it was too late. One by one he lifted the carefully wrapped articles from the parcel. He could tell without removing the tissue paper wrapping what each little parcel contained. The little square box he knew held the ring that had sealed their betrothal—at least they thought it had then. There was the little cameo brooch he had given her the first Christmas, when his salary had been small; there was the necklace and the amethyst ring he had given her on her birthday. The last little parcel he held to his ear, and the ticking sound satisfied him it was the engraved wrist watch that had made her so happy the Christmas before. They were all there—every present he had given her, he thought. No, there was one that wasn't there! But he couldn't expect her to send Cutey back—Cutey, the Boston terrier pup he had bought her that summer. Cutey wasn't a regular present, and besides she thought too much of the little fellow to part with him.

But Harry didn't reckon with Madeline's pride. As much as she loved Cutey, she couldn't keep him because Harry had given him to her. It hurt her more to part with the little dog than with any of the other presents, and after the expressman took him away the flood of tears that she had kept back so long broke forth.

Harry gasped when he saw what the expressman had for him. It certainly must be all off with Madeline now, he thought. To think that she would send Cutey back! There was nothing to do but accept him.

When Harry was transferred a little later to a bank in the West there was only one thing that troubled him—what would he do with Cutey? The little dog had meant much to him in the lonely days that followed his breaking off with Madeline and he had become quite attached to it. The idea of parting with it hurt. There wouldn't be any place to keep the dog when he arrived in the West, and the season out there was just at its worst. If he had thought of that he wouldn't have been so hasty in applying for a transfer; but at that time he had only one idea, and that was to get far enough away from Madeline to forget. At the last moment he thought of sending Cutey to his sister in the country. He would be well taken care of and safe from harm there, he was sure.

The first letter Harry got from his sister after his arrival in the West startled him. Cutey had been stolen. How it happened the sister wasn't sure, but the villagers blamed it on a gypsy band that had been seen in the neighborhood. He wired notices to all the leading papers in the vicinity of the village in which his sister lived, but without result. He wondered if Madeline had stolen it, but dispelled that thought from his mind. Madeline wouldn't stoop to a thing like that.

The West didn't prove such a balm to the wound as Harry had hoped, and finally he decided to go home again. As the train upon which he was returning to the East neared the station he knew so well he found himself wondering if he would meet Madeline, and how she would receive him. Maybe she would listen to an apology now. He could give her back all her presents, just as she had sent them back to him—all except Cutey. That settled it, she wouldn't be able to forgive him, knowing that Cutey was lost. He buried his head in his hands and would have passed the station if the conductor hadn't aroused him.

Although he had been in the city nearly a week, Harry could not muster enough courage to call Madeline by telephone. A vaudeville performance appealed to him most as a retreat from a very lonely and tiresome evening. The performance was dull, until near the end an animal act was staged. Harry sat bolt upright as he caught sight of a familiar little object on the stage. Yes, it was the same walk and the same little wag of the tail; the markings were just the same and the color exact. The quaint little bark assured him. There wasn't two dogs in all the world with a bark like that! It was Cutey! What had he best do? He could hardly restrain himself when he saw the little dog cow before the brutal looking trainer. To see the police, he thought, would be the best plan, and he hurried from the theater.

He tried not to appear excited as he explained to the sergeant at the police station.

"Have you any way of identifying him as the dog you had stolen?" asked the sergeant.

Harry thought for a minute. There was only one person in the city beside himself who would identify the dog, but he couldn't possibly ask her. It looked as if Cutey was lost to him for good. But rather than let the dog be in the hands of that man any longer he would call Madeline and ask her to come to the station house. Perhaps she wouldn't mind when she knew it was for Cutey.

"They didn't answer the 'phone," the operator told him after he had spent nearly ten minutes at the telephone. He hung up the receiver with a sigh, wheeled around and faced—Madeline! She was standing in the doorway that led to the chief's office, staring at him in wonder. As she recovered herself she dropped her eyes quickly.

"This young woman has lost a dog and claims that a performer has it at the Lyric theater," the chief addressed the sergeant. "She says the dog would know her, but has no other means of identifying it."

"Oh, yes, I have," Madeline interrupted. "This a—this young man knows Cutey. He can identify it. Please, Harry, dear!" She was so excited that she did not realize what she was saying.

The sergeant was amused. "This young man is also making claim to a dog at the Lyric, the same dog, most likely," he said.

"Yes, it is his dog."

"Yes, it—is her dog!" The two were talking at once.

"Well, you see, it is our dog. We are to be married—I mean, we were to be married. Oh, what am I saying? Harry, why can't you explain? I'm so excited and nervous!" Madeline was almost crying.

Harry's coolness almost surprised himself. "If you will send an officer to the theater with us, we will assure you the dog doesn't belong to the man that has it at any rate," he said. "We can decide which of us owns it afterward. You see, we both have a very strong claim to it."

The chief agreed.

At the theater the trainer claimed that he had bought the dog from a stranger, but when Harry slipped him $25 he didn't run the risk of an investigation, and handed the dog over.

"If it was a good performer I would not let you have it for a thousand," he said; "but it was too old when I got it to teach it new tricks."

"It is dreadfully late for you to be out alone, Madeline. Do you mind if I go home with you?" Harry asked. "You might lose Cutey, too," he added.

"But Cutey is your dog, Harry." There was a tremor in her voice.

"No he isn't. I was just keeping him for you, Madeline. Don't let our silly little quarrel come between you and Cutey. He thinks too much of you for that. So do I."

They did not speak again until they reached her home. They had been thinking a lot.

"Now promise me, Harry, you will come to see Cutey tomorrow night," Madeline called after Harry as he started down the walk after taking half an hour at the door.

"You bet I will!" he called back.

New April Numbers of # Columbia Records

Rigoletto's song that won Stracciari fame

The climax of Stracciari's triumphant debuts in both New York and Chicago was his dramatic singing of Cortigiani vil razza dannata. And this is the song he has now recorded as his Columbia masterpiece. A wonderful record, reproducing the world-famous baritone's art at its best.

49192—$1.50

Oscar Seagle sings "The Beautiful Isle of Somewhere"

It has been well said of Oscar Seagle that he always "sings from the heart." And never has he proved it better than in this beautiful and sympathetic recording of McKinley's favorite hymn. On the back, "Ten Thousand Times Ten Thousand."

A2487—$1.00

Casals' exquisite 'cello record of "Spring Song"

Acknowledged by musical critics as the greatest living 'cellist, Casals has won even wider popularity through the radiant beauty of his Columbia Records. His interpretation of Mendelssohn's "Spring Song" is an amazing revelation of the 'cello's musical possibilities.

A6020—$1.50

"Tom, Dick, Harry and Jack, hurry back!"

A corking patriotic song hit that will surely appeal to "the girls they left behind them." Coupled, appropriately enough, with another lively, timely popular air, "I'll Come Back to You When It's All Over." Both sung by Arthur Fields, the soldier baritone.

FINDS TRUTH IN A GARDEN

Little Miss Learns That Beautiful Flowers Grow From Seeds and Not From Wealth of Owner.

Two children played in a Southern garden. The garden was a marvel of color and beauty. It surrounded the home of the boy whose parents were called "very well to do."

The little girl was the only child of a mother who found it "cheaper to board."

The dainty feminine creature flitted along the walks and across the grass, taking toll of blossoms where she listed. There was no verboten. The boy followed rather stolidly, accepting the care of the flowers when the bunches grew too large for the smaller hands.

At last the little girl seated herself on a bench and rested her curly head against a tree. Her blue eyes, resting upon the beauty before them, glowed with appreciation.

"Oh-h-h! The be-yu-tiful garden!" she sighed.

Then, turning to the boy, "It's because you are rich that you have such lovely flowers, isn't it, Billy?"

"No," said the boy, stolid as always. "It's because we plant the seeds."

Decay of Metals.

The most remarkable example of allotropic disintegration of metals is perhaps that of tin. The investigation has shown that the disease can only occur in a temperature not exceeding 64.5 degrees Fahrenheit. Tin decay is, therefore, most prevalent in cold climates.

There are 1,800,000 women engaged in agriculture in the United States. Of this number 700,000 are under twenty years old, and 1,050,000 are negroes mostly in cotton States.

A dairyman who practices economizing wrote recently: "I have just sold a grade cow for three times what she cost me three years ago; I could not have sold her had I not kept records."

An intelligent Frenchman was studying the English language. "When I discovered that if I was quick I was fast," said he, "and that if I was tied I was fast, if I spent too freely I was fast, I was discouraged. # SAFE HOME TREATMENT FOR THE CURE OF RHEUMATISM

CHANGEABLE SPRING WEATHER STARTS THE PAINS BUT THE TROUBLE IS ROOTED IN THE BLOOD.

Thousands Throughout Canada Who Are Suffering Can Be Cured Through The Use of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills.

The twinges and tortures of rheumatism are not due to cold, damp weather as so many people suppose. Bad weather may start the pains going, but the real cause is rooted in the blood. Liniments and rubbing may help deaden the pain, but it always returns and usually in a worse form, simply because this treatment cannot cure. To cure rheumatism to stay cured you must root the poison out of the blood. This is the only sure way—the only sensible way to get rid of the trouble. And the one medicine for doing this which has been pre-eminently successful is Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. These pills actually make new, rich blood that goes right to the root of the trouble, releasing the stiffened joints, clearing away the torturing pains and giving the sufferer renewed health and ease. If you are suffering from rheumatism, or any trouble due to poor, weak blood, you should, in your own interest, at once give this always reliable medicine a fair trial.

ACTUALLY CRIPPLED.

Mrs. F. M. Simpson, R. R. No. 1, Blenheim, Ont, says: "For a long time I was confined to bed and actually crippled with rheumatism. The trouble first located in my ankle, then spread to my knees and then to my arms. The limbs were much swollen, and if I moved caused me much pain. I seemed to get weak in other respects and fell off in weight from 156 to 110 pounds. One day while reading I came across the case of a rheumatic sufferer cured by using Dr Williams' Pink Pills. I decided to try them and sent for three boxes. By the time these were gone I had begun to improve, and with help was able to get up. Continuing the use of the pills I was first able to go about with the use of a crutch, which later I discarded for a cane, and then through the use of the pills I was able to throw aside the cane as well, and go about as briskly as I had ever done. I feel that Dr. Williams' Pink Pills have been a blessing to me.

FREE FROM PAIN.

Mr. Henry Smith, a well known and respected resident of St. Jerome, Que., says: "For upwards of a year I was a victim of rheumatism in a most painful form. The trouble was located in my legs and for a long time I was so bad that I was unable to walk. The suffering which I endured during that time can only be imagined by those who have been similarly afflicted. Doctors' treatment did not help me and then I began trying other remedies but with no better results. Finally I was advised to try Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, and although I had begun to lose faith in medicine, I decided to give the pills a trial. I am very grateful now that I did so for after taking eight boxes of the pills the trouble completely disappeared. I was free from pain, the swelling in the joints disappeared, and I could walk as well as I ever did in my life. I have since taken the pills occasionally as a precautionary measure and I cannot speak too highly in their favor and recommend them to all rheumatic sufferers.

COMPLETELY CURED.

Mr. A. E. Hinton, Western Ave., Toronto, says: "Up to about a year ago, my wife had suffered for nearly three years from rheumatism, suffering greatly. She had been under the care of several doctors, besides spending dollars on advertised cures, but did not get any relief. One day talking to a fellow clerk, she said her sister had been cured of this trouble by Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. Although not feeling very hopeful, I took two boxes home that evening and urged my wife to try them. By the time they were used they had done her so much good that she required no pressing to continue the treatment, and after taking six or seven boxes she was completely cured. As I have said, this was about a year ago, and she has had no return of the trouble since. I feel very grateful for the immense good Dr. Williams' Pink Pills have done my wife, and I hope other sufferers will benefit by her experience."

There has been no increase in the price of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. They are still sold at 50 cents a box or six boxes for $2.50. If your home dealer cannot supply you they will be sent postpaid on receipt of price by The Dr. Williams Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

AN UNEXPECTED PLEASURE

CHAPTER XXIII

"Thank you, I shall expect you, then." Evelyn said after she had listened a moment. My heart gave a little leap of joy. I had not been mistaken in the thought that he would accept.

"He's coming!" Evelyn exclaimed, "Just think we are to have a real roaring lion at our party. Why Helen, half the women in town would give anything to have him for a dinner, and he's coming to mine. But I believe he's coming because of you, although he didn't say so."

"Nonsense! he's young, perhaps he feels he wouud like to be with the young set occasionally. This is such a queer place. Out home the young folks all went together, that is from about 18 to 25, then the next set, then the older ones. But here everything is so mixed up. I suppose it's family affiliations and all that. But it isn't half so much fun to go out as when things aren't so mixed."

"I know it, Helen, but don't expect me to talk of anything save that Merton Gray is to dine with us. Kurts will be so pleased. He likes him immensely."

I made no reply, but I thought, "who could help liking him?"

An Occupied Mind.

It was the day of my lesson in etiquette. But I scarcely heard what Mrs. Sexton said, so filled was my mind with thoughts of the party, and Merton Gray. I was so glad he was going. I felt more as though I knew him than anyone else in town, except Evelyn. He had been so awfully nice at the Loring dinner, it was through him I had met Evelyn and Kurts, and he had not seemed to think I needed polishing, as had all the others.

"I have spoken to you twice," Mrs. Sexton said in an aggrieved tone. "Please pay attention. My coming will serve no purpose unless you do."

I replied meekly, begging her pardon; then she launched forth about people not paying attention, about being a good listener, and a lot of stuff that bored me almost to death when I wanted to go on thinking pleasant thoughts.

She must have told George I was inattentive, for the next day he also gave me a curtain lecture about paying absolute attention to every word she said to me. When he got through I hated her worse than ever. And that wasn't at all necessary.

I hadn't written home no word about her, or my lessons. I knew that mother, bless her heart, wouldn't understand and that the boys would be indignant. Neither had I ever said a word about George's coldness. But instead of looking forward to the time when either father and mother or the boys would visit me, I thought with dread of the task it would be to keep from them the way things were with me. I think that the hardest of all at this time was the thought which was constantly with me that George was ashamed of me.

I had not yet lost faith in his love rather had I ceased to love him. But I shrank from his criticisms, and those of his friends; and at times grew a bit morbid over it. Then, again, I would grit my teeth and say to myself:

"I'll show them! Some day he'll be awfully proud of me! And the others will run after me. I'll show that stuck-up bunch!" Then I would smile at the thought of what George would say if he could hear me. He would think me past redemption.

Helping Evelyn.

The day before the party I spent with Evelyn. George never came home to luncheon, yet I asked him before he went if there was any chance that he might. He asked why, and I told him I would go over there, if he wasn't coming. I had really asked the question so that I might have a chance to tel lhim. He might telephone and be angry because I was out.

"You're a married woman, surely you should know whether you are doing what is right and proper without my telling you," he said. "Certainly go, if you want to. I suppose you'll giggle and laugh and have what you call a good time," he sneered.

I couldn't speak, so I didn't try. I knew he would not have liked it, had I not spoken of the fact that I was going; yet he had sneered at me because I did and also because I was going to enjoy myself. Oh, it was hard to please him. Yet when he came to go and I followed him out into the hall, he kissed me good-bye quite nicely, and said:

"Be at home to dinner. I don't like to dine alone."

That was all, but it made me quite happy again. It really takes very little to please us when we are young. So little, it seems a pity we cannot stay young a little longer; and have that little that it takes to make us happy.

I had a wonderful day with Evelyn, but was at home and dressed when George came in. And, wonderful to relate, he didn't say a cross word.

To-morrow—The Day of the Party.

Almost a Story.

Mrs. Budd Pettyjohn insisted there was either a bear or an I. W. W. in their cellar one day recently, and the family went out armed to investigate, but found only a calf that had found a place among the fruit jars and pickles.

Drink Buttermilk Freely.

The use of buttermilk is largely a matter of habit. Southern cities consume almost as much buttermilk as sweet milk. The difficulty of keeping milk sweet has been largely responsible for the popularity of buttermilk as a beverage.

Make Labels Stay On.

To fasten the name labels on cans and bottles containing foodstuffs, use a piece of adhesive plaster. This will stick to any surface and the annoyance caused by labels falling off will be at an end.

SUNDAY SERMON

For Those Who Do Not Go to Church

Job, Chap. 1, Verse 21st. 'The Lord gave and the Lord hath taken away; blessed be the name of the Lord.'

Job was a man of eminent piety; sincere, upright and exemplary in his whole conduct, one who regarded the authority of God, and feared to offend him; who reverenced, constantly worshipped and obeyed him. From this principle of holy fear of God, he shunned sin and temptation, and exercised himself to have a conscience void of offence towards God and man. It is supposed that he lived before there was any written word of God but he was acquainted with God's will by tradition and immediate revelation; and he was evidently of the same religion as the patriarchs. His trials tended to his humiliation, but before them he was an eminent believer, a very devoted and excellent person. The country he lived in was the land of Uz, in the land of Arabia. In every nation he that feareth God and worketh righteousness is accepted of him. Job was the principal person in that country, and acted as a ruler. He had abundance of all that thea, and there constituted riches. When the earth was thinly inhabited, it was easy to acquire land, so that Job's wealth is reckoned by the number of his cattle. He was prosperous and yet pious. Though it is hard and rare, it is not impossible for a rich man to enter into the kingdom of heaven. With God this is even possible, by his grace even, even the temptations of worldly wealth may be overcome. He was pious and his piety was a friend to his prosperity for godliness has the promise of the life that now is, and of that which is to come. He was prosperous, and his prosperity put lustre upon his piety, and gave him greater opportunities of doing good. In the abundance of good things God gave him he served God the more cheerfullly. Job had a numerous family; children must be looked upon as blessings, for such they are, especially to good people, who give them good training, set them good examples, and offer up to God prayers in their behalf. Job had many children, yet he did not oppress others, nor was uncharitable. Chap. 31-17. In a word Job was the greatest of all the men in the east. The account of Job's piety and prosperity comes before the history of his great afflictions, showing that neither will secure us from the calamities of human life. Job's sons were grown up and settled. They cheerfully enjoyed their abundance and lived in brotherly love; we read nothing to their disadvantage. But while their pious father beheld their harmony and comforts with satisfaction, his knowledge of the human heart made him fearful lest they should be betrayed into some levity or excess. When their days of feasting were ended, as the priest of his family, he sent and sanctified them, reminding them to examine themselves, to confess their sins, to seek forgiveness with humble devotion; and as one who hoped for acceptance with God, through the promised Saviour, he offered a burnt offering for each of them. Thus Job taught them that even the secret evils of the heart deserved condemnation, and could only be expiated by the shedding of blood an the offering of sacrifice in repentance an humble faith. As he did this continually, we perceive his care for their souls, his knowledge of the sinful state of man, his entire dependance on God's mercy in the way that He had appointed, and his believing regard to the promised redeemer. When these sacrifices were to be offered Job rose early, as one whose heart was on his work. He probably required his children to attend the sacrifice that they might join with him in prayer, that the sight of the killing of the sacrifice might humble them for their sins, and the sight of the offering might lead them to a mediation. The holy angels continuing in the state in which they were first created, love God and are beloved of him as his children. They are here represented as presenting themselves before the Lord, to give an account of their services, and to receive further commands. Satan, the adversary of God, and of his whole creation is represented as intruding amongst them. Without entering into particulars, we learn that Job's afflictions originated from the malice of Satan, by the Lord's permission for wise and holy purposes. Many truths respecting the character and influence of the devil and his angels are here set forth. They continually intrude into the company of God's children on earth, to distract their attention and prevent their benefit and comfort, especially when met in his service, or at the mercy seat. So much is clear—there is an evil spirit, the enemy of God and of all righteousness, who is continually seeking to distress, to seduce if possible, to destroy those who love God. He is their accuser and tempter, ever bringing against them false and malicious charges and insinuating that all their services proceed from selfish motives and laying snares for them, that he may draw them aside from the path of duty. He is indeed under the restraint of an almighty power, but he is premitted to show his malignity. How far this influence may extend we cannot determine, but probably much of the troubles and unhappiness of Christians may be ascribed to his agency. See the account Satan gives of himself. He had been diligently looking on every side to retain his subjects in his service, to urge them to more wickedness and to seek for opportunities of persecuting those who professed to serve the Lord. While we are on this earth we are within his reach and with so much subtilty and industry does he penetrate into all the corners of it, that we cannot in any place be secure from his temptations. He walks about seeking whom he may devour, thus it concerns us to be sober and vigilant, 1 Pet. 5-8. Observe how honourably God speaks of Job. He is my servant. Good men are God's servants; he is pleased to reckon himself honoured in their services; they are to him for a name and a praise, Jer. 13-11. A crown of glory. Isai, 62-3. Notice Satan's base insinuation against Job. He suggests that he was mercenary in his religion and therefore a hypocrite. How impatient the devil was to hear Job praised, he could not accuse him of anything that was bad, and therefore charges him with by-ends in doing good. It is not strange if those that are approved and accepted of God, be unjustly censured by the devil and his assistants. It was true that Job did not fear God for naught; Godliness is great gain. It is not mercenary to look at the eternal recompense; in our obedience to God. He had done for Job what he does for all his own. They are taken under his special care and protection, with all that belongs to them. Divine grace makes a hedge around them and divine providence watches over their natural life. God had prospered him in honest diligence in his labours. Thou hast blessed the work of his hands. The blessing of the Lord maketh rich and added no sorrow.

Yours sincerely,
JAMES SUTHERLAND.

Whale Meat is Used.

"Whale meat a la Creole," is the new offering on a San Francisco hotel menu. The portions are large and juicy, delightfully seasoned, and cost 75 cents each. The new food has come to stay, according to the hotel experts. It is a war-time food resource of the United States that has been overlooked. Many tried it and pronounced it good. The whale meat is supplied by a sea products company, which has bought property at Moss Landing and will establish a packing house there. The meat resembles beef in appearance, texture and flavor. There is no fishy taste about it.

MUST USE SPADE CAREFULLY

Old Battlefields Will Have to Be Worked With Care to Avoid Countless Unexploded Shells.

A great deal of careful spade work will be required in the northern part of France. Old battlefields covered with wild flowers, as I have seen them, observes a Paris correspondent, are in wide stretches a slumbering menace. Months after the war is over, naval men have told me, mines will still make voyages perilous in certain sea areas. For perhaps many months more it would be equally as perilous for a farmer to plow these once fertile fields in the great war's battle swept areas.

Here and there are danger signals indicating unexploded mines. And the immense power of these mines is easily gauged by looking at the enormous craters where some of them have been "blown." The war has gone on its way and left these souvenirs of its intensity and deadliness. Here, there and everywhere are unexploded shells, German "minnies," or Boche "Jampots."

What can a "jam pot" do? I was talking with an officer who was in a first line trench early in the war when one of these infernal machines was lobbed over from the German lines. It stuck its nose in some soft mud and did not explode. It was permitted to rest in peace by the battalion then in that part of the line. Another battalion came, and one man decided to fire into it with his pistol to explode it and thus remove the ever present menace. The bullet pierced it, but it did not explode. He moved closer and fired another shot, and they found nothing of him after the second shot.

NEW TYPE MIDGET TRACTOR

Conventional Caterpillar Design to Be Used as Substitute for Narrow-Gage Industrial Railroads.

A small tractor of the conventional caterpillar type which is designed as a substitute for the narrow-gage industrial railroads operated in connection with large plants, has recently made its appearance, says Popular Science Monthly. It can move material rapidly from one department of a factory to another and pass obstacles, since it does not require roads or tracks for its operation. Furthermore, it does not mar the surface over which it passes, because it lays its own track as it goes along.

For this reason it can be used inside factory buildings. It can pass through doorways of the ordinary size, and when not used in transporting material from one department to another, it can be employed in the shipping room or on the loading platform. It is but 50 inches wide and 52 inches high.

There are any number of other uses to which the industrial tractor may be put. For instance, it can be employed for pulling loaded wagons out of excavations, or it can be used in logging camps, or in lumber yards, mines and shipyards.

TROUBLED WITH CONSTIPATION

From 16 to 20

Constipation is one of the commonest ills of mankind, and one too often allowed to go unlooked after until some serious complication sets in.

If the bowels are properly looked after there will be no constipation, jaundice, sick or bilious headaches, heartburn, coated tongue, sour stomach, floating specks before the eyes, etc.

Milburn's Laxa-Liver Pills will keep your bowels so regulated that in no time the constipation will disappear entirely.

Miss Emma E. Melanson, Halifax, N.S., writes: "I am now 20 years of age, and since I was 16 I have been greatly troubled with constipation, so much so that at times I would be in bed 3 or 4 days a month. I tried all the old-fashioned remedies, castor oil, cascara, etc., with only temporary relief, until my sister-in-law gave me some of Milburn's Laxa-Liver Pills. From the first they seemed beneficial, and I gave them a fair trial. This was two years ago, and with an occasional dose I have kept entirely free from constipation for the period mentioned."

Milburn's Laxa-Liver Pills are 25c a vial at all dealers, or mailed direct on receipt of price by The T. Milburn Co., Limited, Toronto, Ont.

Doctor Tells How To Strengthen Eyesight 50 per cent In One Week's Time In Many Instances

A Free Prescription You Can Have Filled and Use at Home

Do you wear glasses?

Are you a victim of eye strain or other eye weaknesses? If so, you will be glad to know that according to Dr. Lewis there is real hope for you. Many whose eyes were failing say they have had their eyes restored through the principle of this wonderful free prescription. One man says, after trying it: "I was almost blind; could not see to read at all. Now I can read everything without any glasses and my eyes do not water any more. At night they would pain dreadfully; now they feel fine all the time. It was like a miracle to me." A lady who used it says: "The atmosphere seemed hazy with or without glasses, but after using this prescription for fifteen days everything seems clear. I can even read fine print without glasses." It is believed that thousands who wear glasses can now discard them in a reasonable time and multitudes more will be able to strengthen their eyes so as to be spared the trouble and expense of ever getting glasses. Eye troubles of many descriptions may be wonderfully benefited by following the simple rules. Here is the prescription: Go to any active drug store and get a bottle of Bon-Opto tablets. Drop one Bon-Opto tablet in a fourth of a glass of water and allow to dissolve. With this liquid bathe the eye two to four times daily. You should notice your eyes clear up perceptibly right from the start and inflammation will quickly disappear. If your eyes are bothering you, even a little, take steps to save them now before it is too late. Many hopelessly blind might have been saved if they had cared for their eyes in time.

Note: Another prominent Physician to whom the above article was submitted, said: "Bon-Opto is a very remarkable remedy. Its constituent ingredients are well known to eminent eye specialists and widely prescribed by them. The manufacturers guarantee it to strengthen eyesight 50 per cent in one week's time in many instances or refund the money. It can be obtained from any good druggist and is one of the very few preparations I feel should be kept on hand for regular use in almost every family." It is sold in this city by The Warne Drug Company.

Germans Penetrate British Defensive Zone Near St. Quentin

The Battle Develops In Intensity On The Western Front

GERMANS FIRING ON PARIS WITH 240 MILIMETRE SHELLS

Ten Persons Killed and a Number Injured in French Capital ---British Are Still Presenting a Solid Front to the Enemy--Conflict Continues to Rage With Increasing Violence.

FRENCH REPULSE GERMAN ATTACKS

(Canadian Press Despatch.)

PARIS, March 23.—The Germans have been firing on Paris with long range guns. Since eight o'clock this morning shells of 240 milimetres have been reaching the capital and suburbs at intervals of a quarter of an hour, killing about ten persons and wounding about fifteen. The shortest distance from Paris to the front is over 100 kilometres (62 miles).

The announcement that Paris was being bombarded was made officially this afternoon. Measures for counter-attacking the enemy's cannon are under execution.

BRITISH TROOPS ARE PRESENTING SOLID FRONT TO THE GERMANS. LINES HAVE BEEN WITHDRAWN.

(Associated Press).

BRITISH ARMY HEADQUARTERS IN FRANCE, March 23. — The British, gallantly fighting, are still presenting a solid front to the fiercely attacking Germans, although the defensive troops have withdrawn their lines in certain places for strategic reasons. All day yesterday and much of last night the conflict continued to rage with increasing violence as fresh German divisions were hurled into the fray in an attempt to smash through the British defences. The Germans this morning were pressing hard the British forces defending Hermies (about two and a half miles back of the old line, in the region southwest of Cambrai).

PARIS, March 23. — The Germans launched an attack on the French lines in the Woevre district last night, which was dispersed by French fire. The Germans suffered appreciable losses, and left many prisoners in the hands of the French.

GERMAN PROGRESS WILL BECOME MORE DIFFICULT AS ENEMY MOVES AWAY FROM BASES.

(Canadian Press Despatch.)

LONDON, March 23.—The statement of the British War Office that troops west of St. Quentin are falling back to prepared positions indicates that the Germans, although they have broken through the British defensive system, have not pierced the entire British zone of defence. The allusion in the British statement to the defensive system may be only to the main battlefront system, behind which other lines have been prepared. If that is the case, the Germans have done little more than repeat what the British did in the Battle of the Somme, when they pierced the Hindenburg line and captured long stretches of it, forcing the Germans to retreat to prepared positions in the rear. The experiences of the attacking forces in other campaigns show that the Germans, as they progress, are likely to find their movements more difficult and the resistance of the British more effective. The more deeply they strike into the British lines, the further they must move from their bases, entailing increasing difficulties in providing supplies for their troops. They must move forward over a devastated area, while the British will have the great advantage of good roads and railroads. Perhaps the greatest problem of the Germans will be to bring up their heavy artillery. In every previous campaign of this nature, it has been necessary for the advancing forces to halt frequently while bringing up heavy pieces. The extent of the British defences has been a subject of much speculation, but it is known they have been vastly improved during last winter.

GRAND FLEET ACTION MAY BE ATTEMPTED IN CONJUNCTION WITH THE PRESENT OFFENSIVE.

(Special to The Toronto Star and The Peterborough Examiner.)

(By Ed L. Keen).

LONDON, March 23.—Lack of German innovations in strategy and weapons in their offensive renders the British extremely cautious.

They still believe the enemy may try a surprise—perhaps an attack to the north (against the Channel ports of Dunkirk and Calais), when the British resources are diverted against the present centre of the German advance in the Cambrai sector.

It is pointed out that the Germans are attacking positions which they once abandoned themselves—retaking each foot at infinitely greater cost than the advance is worth, unless they succeed in smashing through. Col. Repington, military expert of the Morning Post, warns of the possibility of a Grand Fleet action in conjunction with the offensive.

SPIRIT OF UNREST IN CANADA MAY BECOME A DANGER

Timely Counsel By Mr. G. A. Gillespie at Extraordinary Session of the County Council This Morning

TO GROW SPRING WHEAT

At a special meeting of the County Council this morning, called at the request of the Lieutenant-Governor, Mr. G. A. Gillespie, M.P.P., addressed an appeal to farmers that applies with equal force and timeliness to city dwellers.

The weight of the burdens of war are beginning to press upon the people, Mr. Gillespie stated, and there is an apparent unrest and opposition revealing itself that portends evil to the country unless the people realize their duty to work in harmony, and by their cordial co-operation one with another to stamp out this spirit of unrest and dissention.

Farmers, he continued, are voicing their complaints that they are facing extreme difficulty in working their farms and obtaining supplies of feeds and other articles. In the cities, on the other hand, farmers are blamed for the high cost of foodstuffs, and instead of joining forces these great elements of Canada are showing a tendency to drift apart.

Mr. Gillespie impressed the members of the Council with the necessity of combatting this cleavage, and also pointed out the duty that devolves upon city people of silencing expressions that can only work to the advantage of the enemy.

The Empire faced an extremely critical year, and its people should resolve their differences and work together for the common object of providing every possible help in the prosecution of the war.

Meetings Throughout the Province.

Simultaneous meetings of all the County Councils of the Province were held this morning in response to the proclamation issued by Lieutenant-Governor Hendrie, "to consider ways and means to stimulate or assist in the maximum production of essential food stuffs."

Following Warden Anderson's suggestion, a resolution was passed advising the farmers of Peterborough each to sow at least five acres of Spring wheat this season, and as much coarse grain as possible for the stimulation of hog production.

Another resolution embodied a request from the Council that the Minister of Militia exempt or give leave of absence to skilled farm labourers in the draft until June 1st at least.

Must Use Good Judgment.

Mr. Gillespie explained that farmers must use good judgment in adopting the resolution respecting the planting of Spring wheat. He was confident that the farmers needed no urging to put forth their best efforts, but certain advice might be beneficial to them. Some farms might not be suitable for Spring wheat, but most

London Press Comment on Western Front Offensive—Germany Staking All Her Chances on the West Front

FIRST LINE OF DEFENSE

(Special to the Toronto Star and The Peterborough Examiner.)

LONDON, March 23.—The attention of all England was centred to-day on the western front. There was no boastfulness but the feeling was one of supreme confidence and pride in the army which stands on the first line of defense between democracy and autocracy.

The Times says:

"Germany evidently is resolved to stake all her chances on the western front, and adds:

"She has committed herself to the greatest gamble in history. We believe she will fail and it is precisely because the failure of the present attack must react disastrously upon Germany that we derive encouragement from the military positions as it is disclosed today."

The Manchester Guardian says:

"If the Germans persist in attacks and lose they will have lost the war."

WERE FINED $100 APIECE

George W. Dinsdale and John W. Boorman Must Pay For Having Possession of Proscribed Literature

OPTION OF 6 MOS. IN JAIL

Magistrate Dumble this morning imposed a fine of $100 each, and in default of payment six months in the county jail, upon George W. Dinsdale and John W. Boorman, whom he found guitly of having in their possession literature prohibited by an order-in-council respecting the censorship, namely, "The Finished Mystery," and "The Bible Students' Monthly."

Mr. G. N. Gordon, solicitor for the defendants, complained that the penalty was too severe and urged His Worship to modify it.

"The maximum fine is $5,000 or five years," replied His Worship. "Haven't I modified it?"

"That was made for Sir Donald Mann or other wealthy men," Mr. Gordon suggested.

"This is a serious matter that such theories should be permitted to spread weakness when the country needs all its strength," His Worship stated.

Referring to the defendant Dinsdale, Mr. Gordon pleaded that he had burned all the prescribed literature he had except one old copy of the Bible Students' Monthly which he inadvertently overlooked.

"The evidence shows that he was their high priest and teacher in Peterborough," the Magistrate replied. "He was secretary of the club."

"He hasn't been secretary for months," Mr. Gordon emphasized.

Magistrate Dumble stated that the Russell teaching criticized Roman Catholic and Protestant religions, and Christianity as a whole.

"You are not fining these men because Christianity is criticized?" Mr. Gordon asked.

"It is against Christianity and the welfare of the State. I am very sorry that I have to impose this sentence. We can't have our soldiers drilling in one part of the town and disloyalty being preached in another."

Mr. Gordon pointed out that this was the first case of its kind in Peterborough and asked that the fine be lightened.

"I can't," was the Magistrate's terse reply.

"Yes, you can, your Worship," Mr. Gordon rejoined, stressing his verb.

"But I won't," was the decisive answer and the Magistrate added that the sentence should have a salutary effect. "These people knew the law," he said.

"That order-in-council might have been made in Prussia," was Mr. Gordon's partying shot.

Both fines were paid this morning.

The Boorman Judgment.

Both judgments were written, and Boorman's was delivered first.

The information in this case charges Mr. Boorman with having on Tuesday the 19th day of March, 1918 in his possession or premises in his occupation or under his control a quantity of literature, to wit: "The Finished Mystery" and "The Bible Students' Monthly."

The search warrant being issued the police found in his residence and place of abode, the following books, etc.: One copy of a publication, "The Watch Tower," a pamphlet "The Great Battle of Ecclesiastical Heavens." One copy of "Cryptology of the Kingdom, a plan of the Ages, "revealed in the parables of Jesus", by Dr. Horace E. Hollister. One copy of "An Answer to Dr. Gray by W. H. Bradford." One copy of Pastor Russell's Sermons." One copy of "The Finished Mystery" and in another room occupied by him, one copy of "The New Creation Studies in Scripture, Series VI." One copy of "The Divine Plan of the Ages." One copy of "Thy Kingdom Come." One copy of "The Time is at Hand." These books and publications are all published for the school who are followers of Pastor Russell and amongst these publications are some that are prohibited by

Enemy Has Broken Through The British Defensive System

British Troops Are Falling Back in Good Order to Prepared Positions---Unless British Are Able to Restore the Situation by a Counter Attack a Withdrawal on a Wide Front May Be Necessary--Very Heavy Fighting With Fresh Enemy Forces Is In Progress.

WAR OFFICE ISSUES OFFICIAL REPORT

(Canadian Press Despatch.)

LONDON, March 23.—(Official).—Powerful enemy attacks, with a great weight of infantry and artillery, it is believed, has broken through the British defensive system west of St. Quentin, the War Office announces. The British troops on the northern portion of the battlefield are holding their positions. The British west of St. Quentin are falling back in good order to positions further west. Very heavy fighting, with fresh enemy forces, is in progress.

BRITISH ARE FALLING BACK TO PREPARED POSITIONS.

The War Office states that there are prepared positions behind the British, to which they are falling back. The statement follows:

"Heavy fighting continued until a late hour last night on the whole battle front. During the afternoon powerful hostile attacks, delivered with a great weight of infantry and artillery, broke ough our defensive system west of St. Quentin. Our troops on this part of the battle front are falling back in good order across devasted areas to prepared positions further west. Our troops an the northern portion of the battle front are holding their positions. Very heavy fighting with fresh hostile forces is in progress.

DEFENSIVE ZONE BROKEN FOR FIRST TIME ON WESTERN FRONT.

For the first time in the war on the Western front, since the opposing armies established themselves in their trench systems, the defensive zone has been broken through. In other great attacks the British, French and Germans have been able to bend back the line, but not to strike through the zone of defensive. Many military critics had reached the opinion that on account of the strength of the lines it would be impossible to break them until one side or the other had been worn down to such a point that it would be no longer able to man it strongly.

Unless the British are able to restore the situation by a counter attack, a withdrawal on a wide front may be necessary with open field warfare. The point at which the British line has been broken is near the southern end of the German attacking front, which extends from Arras to La Fere, fifteen miles below St. Quentin. Below this the sector is a great arc in front, where the line approaching nearest to Paris turns sharply to the east. The German offensive has developed with almost unparalleled rapidity. One reason for this is indicated in Field Marshal Haig's reports, showing that the Germans are constantly bringing up fresh bodies of troops.

BERLIN REPORT

Enemy Claims the Capture of 25,000 Prisoners and 400 Guns

2nd LINE PIERCED

(Canadian Press Despatch.)

BERLIN, March 23. — Between the Fontaine Les Croisilles and Mouevres the German forces penetrated into the second enemy position and captured two villages, army headquarters announced today. The British counter attacks failed. So far, the statement announces, 25,000 prisoners, 400 guns and 300 machine guns have been taken.

AIR RAID MAY BE THE EXPLANATION

Paris, March 23—Paris was raided by enemy air forces to-day it was officially announced. There were several victims.

The above air raid is probably the explanaion of the rumor that Paris is being bombarded by 240 milimetre nine and a half inch shells from a distance of sixty-two miles. This message was received at 4 o'clock this afternoon.

All Saints' Church Women's Guild Annual Meeting

The Women's Guild of All Saints' Church, held their annual meeting on Friday afternoon at the home of the president, Mrs. R. N. Jones, Charlotte street, about thirty-five members being present. The secretary, Mrs. Clarke, read the reports for the year which were very encouraging. Mrs. Jones, the retiring president, was presented with a bouquet of carnations and a beautiful fern in appreciation of her faithful work during the past two years. The following officers were elected for the ensuing year: President, Mrs. Blois; Secretary, Mrs. Jos. Crowe; Treasurer, Mrs. A. A. Hascill.

HAVE CONFIDENCE.

Our people should not be disheartened at the news from the western front, bad as the meagre official reports may make it appear. Germany is staking everything on this last supreme effort. She has thrown her every resource into the struggle and must win complete success or make peace. At a terrible cost, her massed legions have broken through the British lines south of St. Quentin, but Field Marshall Haig announces that our forces, who were defending the line at that point are retiring in good order to previously prepared positions. Heavy masses of British reserves will undoubtedly be rushed to the St. Quentin sector and counter attacks that may make it possible to restore the line, may now be in progress.

The same spirit that blocked the Germans at the Marne, that time after time stopped the rush towards Calais, that made the slogan, "They shall not pass" a terrible reality for the enemy at Verdun, still animates the fighting forces of the Allies on the western front.

SIMPLE AND EFFECTIVE.

The daylight savings scheme is both simple and effective. To put it into operation it is only necessary to move Canada's clocks on an hour and then go on with life as usual. As to its efficiency the results in twelve European countries give ample evidence.

The benefits that will follow its introduction into Canada may be summed up briefly as follows:

Saving of illuminants such as oil, gas and electric power.

Conservation of coal.

Increased manufacturing production.

Improvement of working conditions.

Benefits to the national health because an additional hour of daylight may be devoted to outdoor pursuits.

Reduction in the cost of living to people who can cultivate backyard gardens.

Improvement of training conditions for Canada's soldiers.

THE BRITISH SPIRIT.

"Of course I'm going back. Do you think I am going to let the kids finish this war?"

The spirit that animates the Canadian and British army was never better illustrated than by the statement with which this article opens. The speaker was Gunner Arthur Messenger, an Original First member of the 4th Canadian Battery who was here yesterday on his way to Campbellford to spend a short furlough at home, and his reply was in answer to an inquiry from the Examiner as to whether he was going to return to the front.

Messenger, fifty-two years of age, and small in stature is the epitome of the bull dog courage of the British race. Actually three years over the maximum age limit, he answered the first call in August, 1914. For over three years he has braved the worst from the first terrible gas attack at Ypres to the horrors of the Passchendaele mud. Through thirty-six months of hardship and danger that might have been expected to break the spirit of a much younger and more robust man than the little Campbellford gunner, he has carried on. And he is ready to go back cheerfully when his short holiday is over, to help finish the work he began in 1914.

People at home should not grow pessimistic over war conditions when the battle front is being held by such men as Gunner Messenger.

ALL ALONE NOW.

Peterboro County now stands in a position of splendid isolation in regard to the Ontario good roads system—the only county in the Province to fail to avail itself of the opportunity offered by the Ontario Government plan. County after county has seen the benefits to be gained until only two remained outside, the united counties of Northumberland and Durham sharing that distinction with Peterboro. Now it is announced that the former county has fallen in line, and will embark upon the construction of 300 miles of highway. It may possibly be that the Peterboro county legislators are right, and the municipal councils of all the other counties in Ontario are wrong in their views on this question, but the condition of the roads in the district surrounding Peterboro hardly bear out this contention. Fortunately there is no time limit on the scheme, and this county may yet be converted. The matter will likely come up at the June session.

PROPER RECOMMENDATIONS.

The action of the Board of Health, in recommending the abolition of stalls in restaurants, and the establishment o' other improvements in the eating houses of the city, will meet with general approval, as will Sanitary Inspector Stapleton's remarks to the Board in connection with the same matter. The City Council will have an opportunity of dealing with the Health Board's resolution and of carrying it by adopting the suggested improvements by incorporating them into the city by-laws. It is hoped that the aldermanic board will see the wisdom of the recommendations and lose no time in adopting them.

Stalls are a relic of a bygone day. They are unnecessary and a source of embarrassment to restaurant visitors because they are prone to induce a freedom of language on the part of some people that would be absent with the stalls removed. The restaurant keepers themselves would, it is fancied, welcome the change if it were made general.

The other recommendations suggested by the Sanitary Inspector and embodied in the Board's resolution, are equally important. That the proprietors of restaurants should be compelled to insal lavatory conveniences for their patrons is only justice to the hotels, who under the present conditions furnish such accommodation for many people who after making use of the hotel conveniences free of charge, then go to a restaurant to buy their meals.

Peterboro is suffering at the present time from insufficient hotel accommodation, and the competition of eating houses which cut down their expenses in ways impossible for the hotels is one of the causes.

EDITORIAL NOTES.

"How to become a Soldier," is the title of a new book. Judging by the rush before the exemption tribunals, many young men are more interested in learning how not to become a soldier.

According to a contemporary "Patriotism and Production" became the nation's slogan within the first few months of the war. Some people, however, substituted "Profiteering" for the first word in the motto.

Sir William Hearst's salary has been increased to $13,400 a year. Will he be able to struggle along on that?

A Verington, Nevada, pro-German, after being whipped with an iron cat-o'-nine tails, and tarred and feathered, was then ordered to leave town. The invitation seems to have been rather unnecessary.

Mr. Burnham is evidently sticking to his attitude of not wanting to embarrass the government. He has withdrawn his resolution in regard to rural mail contracts and soldiers' separation allowances.

Soldiers and sailors will not sympathize very much with the action of Buffalo workmen engaged in shipbuilding in going on strike because of differences with the heads of the company. The strikers are receiving from $5 to $18 per day, it is stated.

Tea Conducted On War-time Lines

PARENTS' CIRCLE OF QUEEN MARY SCHOOL HOLD SUCCESSFUL TEA.

The tea given under the auspices of the Parents' Circle of Queen Mary School yesterday afternoon, at Dr. and Mrs. M. A. Morrison's home, 452 Hunter street, proved a great success and $25 was realized toward purchasing a first aid kit and outfitting a flower garden at the Queen Mary School.

Mrs. Morrison and Mrs. Medd, the president, received, while Miss Scott poured the tea, and was assisted by Mrs. Borbridge, Mrs. Waugh, Mrs. Connoly, Mrs. Blade, treasurer, and the teachers of the school, the Misses Buck, Cairns, Brown, Tomlinson, Thomas, Moffatt and MacKay.

The tea was run on strictly war-time lines; war bread and war fruit cakes were served and extensive decorations ignored.

An attractive musical programme was given, including solos by Mrs. Widdess and Miss Irene Scott, and selections by Mrs. Medds' little children, a piano duet; Dora Brown, a violin solo; Baden Green, violin solo, accompanied by his sister Miss Mildred Green, and Margaret McKeen, piano solo.

Mrs. Cruikshank played during the afternoon.

VACANT LOTS AVAILABLE FOR GREATER PRODUCTION BY PETERBORO CITIZENS

Seventy-One Parcels of Land Ready For Cultivation—The Man With the Hoe Consitutes the Second Line of Defence

The list, as printed, contains seventy-one parcels. These have been selected after careful search of the assessment rolls by the assessor, Mr. Henry, and the assistant clerk, Mr. Ingram.

Each parcel may, and possibly will, comprise more than one lot. Indeed, several comprise so many as 13 different lots, though the property may lie close together, or adjoining. Hence a parcel may be divided so as to afford space for a number of occupants.

So soon as the snow is off the ground, and the contour and surface of the lots can be looked over, it will be well to make selections. These must be registered with the Assistant Clerk, at the City Building, to prevent and to avoid confusion. Else two different people may assume to take the same lot.

After registering the consent of the owner of the property will have to be obtained, as a precautionary measure to see that the lot may not have been given out previously. If registered with the Clerk, then the lot will not be assigned to any other person.

Each person proposing to take up work can consider the list and select that which will suit his convenience, and will be likely to afford best service. A personal view of the lot is recommended, before registration.

It is now up to each person to "hoe his own row." To arrange for ploughing and seed and go to it. The city cannot assume any responsibility for seed or ploughing, as the work would be too onerous to endeavour to suit all hands. Individual attention will make such matters all right. Below is given a list of men who will do the ploughing. They can be communicated with, preferably by mail, or by word of mouth. Any additional information required can be had from Mr. Ingram, at the City Building.

This year we have a convenience that was not available last season, the foot bridge across the river at the C.P.R. There are many good lots available in the East City, and those who can find it convenient of access over the bridge would do well to look the prospect over. In the hands of Mr. Peck is considerable of the Burnham estate, all arable land, and most of it fit for cultivation.

For ploughing, apply to the following:

F. Turner, 429 Donegal Street.
R. Frise, 498 Bonacord Street.
G. Sexsmith, 558 Romaine Street.
J. O'Brien, 501 Bolivar Street.
B. Revoy, 292 Woodbine Ave.
P. Quinlan, 335 Downie Street.

J. T. Ormistone, 826 Water Street.
W. Millain, 891 Water, Street.
Geo. Rogers, 490 Farnell Street.

WILL APPEAR MONDAY.

The seventy one parcels of land referred to in the foregoing article, will be published in Monday's issue.

A Drop On a Touchy Corn

Instant relief! Then corn or callus lifts off with fingers.

Just think! You can lift off any corn or callus without one twinge of pain.

A Cincinnati man discovered this ether compound and named it freezone. Any druggist will sell a tiny bottle of freezone for very little cost. You apply a few drops directly upon a tender corn or callus. Instantly the soreness disappears; then shortly you will find the corn or callus so loose that you can lift it right off.

Freezone is wonderful! It dries instantly. It doesn't eat away the corn or callus, but shrivels it up without even irritating the skin.

Hard corns, soft corns, or corns between the toes as well as painful calluses, lift right off. There is no pain before or afterwards. No soreness or smarting. Women should keep a tiny bottle on the dresser and never let a corn ache twice.

BIG ADVANCE IN ORANGES

The following comment on the market situation as regards foodstuffs, appeared in the Canadian Grocer this week:

A big advance in oranges has occurred during the week and a great scarcity for the next two or three weeks is anticipated. New prices issued show advances of from 50c to $1 per case over the highest quotations prevailing last week. All lines of onions have registeed a decline of from $1 to $1.25 per bag and the demand continues slow. Lower figures are given out for potatoes though receipts show little improvement as yet owing to the condition of the roads which prevent farmers getting to the shipping centres.

The sale of tea continues good and the cheaper lines are available in large quantities. The finer grades are reported scarce and best quality Pekoes are costing almost excessive figures to import. Lower grades are being sold here at fully 10c per lb. less than these could be bought and brought into this market.

Mill Feeds.

The extreme demand for mill feeds is stated to be due to the fact that prices set on same are less than what farmers can secure for their rough feeds, and not owing to limited production. Flour and feed have been turned out in greater quantities than ever before during the past year, and with normal prices ruling on rough grains, mill feeds would be available in ample quantities.

Offers of raisins for July and August shipment have been withdrawn. It is reported that the California crop has been exhausted except on seedless. Retailers are being urged to place their orders early as under present transportation conditions no hope is held our that further shipments for the Christmas trade will be available after August. Shipments of prunes that were held up have reached the city and wholesalers will be enabled to fill a large percentage of back orders which have accumulated.

Cereals show little disposition to change although it is thought corn may decline and in some quarters a reduction of 25c per bag of 98 lbs. has been made in cornmeal. A lower price on oatmeal and rolled wheat is in effect with some wholesalers on single bag lots.

Knights of the Air

NEVER since the world began have valor, bravery and dash been held so high as they are to-day, among the men of the R.F.C.

Heroes all, and comrades staunch, fearless as the knights of old, to be with them inspires young men of spirit to be like them, courageous, noble, strong.

Men, 18 to 30 years of age, of fair education, are trained for commissions in this service. They receive during training $1.10 per day.

Men who come within the provisions of the M.S.A. are eligible only after having joined their Depot Battalion, when they may, with the consent of their Commanding Officer, be discharged for re-enlistment in the R.F.C.

DRUNK TAKES THREE MONTHS

"I'll have to go to jail," said Wm. Coulson of Toronto, in the police court this morning, when he was fined $200 and $3.75 costs, or three months in jail, for having had liquor in a place other than his dwelling.

He was arrested on Elm street yesterday afternoon after telephone calls had informed the police that there was a drunken man wandering around the west end. In his grip he had a bottle of whiskey, and he had drunk another. He said he was going out to see his sister.

Take Nuxated Iron, Says Doctor, If You Want Plenty of "Stay There" Strength Like an Athlete!

Makes Delicate, Nervous, Rundown People Stronger in Ten Days' Time, in Many Cases

MOST people foolishly seem to think they are going to get renewed health and strength from some stimulating medicine, secret nostrum or narcotic drug, said Dr. E. Sauer, a Boston Physician who has studied widely, both in this country and in great European Medical Institutions, when, as a fact, real and true strength can only come from the food you eat. But people often fail to get the strength out of their food because they haven't enough iron in their blood to enable it to change food into live matter. From their weakened, nervous condition they know something is wrong, but they can't tell what. If you are not strong or well, you owe it to yourself to make the following test: See how long you can work, or how far you can walk without becoming tired. Next take two five-grain tablets of ordinary nuxated iron three times per day after meals for two weeks. Then test your strength again and see for yourself how much you have gained. I have seen dozens of nervous, rundown people, who were ailing all the while, most astonishingly increase their strength and endurance simply by taking iron in the proper form and this after they had in some cases been doctoring for months without obtaining any benefit. But don't take the old forms of reduced iron, iron acetate or tincture of iron simply to save a few cents. You must take iron in a form that can be easily absorbed and assimilated, like Nuxated iron, if you want it to do you any good, otherwise it may prove worse than useless. Many an athlete or prize fighter has won the day simply because he knew the secret of great strength and endurance which comes from having plenty of iron in the blood, while many another has gone down to inglorious defeat simply for the lack of iron.

NOTE—Nuxated Iron which is prescribed and recommended above by Dr. E. Sauer, and other physicians, is not a secret remedy but one which is well known to druggists everywhere. Unlike the older, inorganic iron products, it is easily assimilated, does not injure the teeth, make them black, nor upset the stomach. The manufacturers guarantee successful and entirely satisfactory results to every purchaser or they will refund your money. It is dispensed by McDermid & Jury and all other druggists.

DOMINION PERMANENT LIQUIDATOR COMMENCES LEGAL ACTION

Will Sue the Estates of Four of the Deceased Directors—Shareholders Held a Meeting Yesterday

TORONTO, March 23.— A writ has been issued for two million dollars damages against the estates of the late Hon. J. R. Stratton and others in connection with the Dominion Permanent Loan failure.

Writs were issued yesterday afternoon against F. M. Holland and the estates of four of the deceased directors of the Dominion Permanent Loan Co. to recover approximately $2,000,000, on account of alleged malfeasance while in office, at the instance of the liquidator, Mr. G. T. Clarkson.

The writs are against Frederick M. Holland, Eliza Jane Stratton, widow, and Roland Maxwell Glover, publisher as executor and executrix of the late James Robert Stratton, the Trusts and Guarantee Co., Ltd., Lulu Edna Smith, and Florence Mabel Irene Stanbury, as executors and executrixes of the late Denis W. Karn; and the Trusts and Guarantee Co., as executors of the late Thomas Patrick Coffee, and Christian Kloepfer.

A meeting of the creditors was attended by nearly a hundred stockholders yesterday afternoon and was presided over by Mr. J. A. C. Cameron, official referee.

Mr. G. T. Clarkson, liquidator, said that a test case could be decided on by a committee of shareholders to test the validity of the claim for unpaid balances on the price of the shares.

"So far as the estate is concerned I don't think the shareholders can recover anything," he said.

Continuing Mr. Clarkson briefly explained the system of investments in the west which had caused the failure with the result that the company had been paying dividends more than it received.

"We have been deliberately swindled. We have been lied to, and statements have gone out from the government. The people of this province have been swindled too often. There are men high up in government connected with this company. Did they influence the government inspectors? I think a committee should go before the House to demand an investigation of the inspectors," said a shareholder.

Mr. W. Clarkson replied that there were no government inspectors.

Another shareholder said it was up to the meeting to appoint a committee to investigate the affairs of the company and to take steps to determine the position of the shareholders in regard to the liability on unpaid capital. This committee will be named by the referee.

W. J. Bain, K.C., said he hoped to issue writs yesterday against the estates of some of the dead directors.

Presentation To Mr. And Mrs. Reynolds

Springville, March 22.—On Monday, March 19, a number of Mr. and Mrs. Albert Reynolds' friends and neighbors called on them in their new home, South Monaghan. During the evening an address was read by Mr. Harold Baptie and a presentation tendered Mr. and Mrs. Reynolds and family. A very enjoyable evening was spent by all present.

Mr. Reynolds made a very suitable reply in which he thanked them one and all for their kindly thought and interest in himself and family.

THE ADDRESS.

Mr. and Mrs. Reynolds and family —It becomes my pleasant duty on behalf of your many friends and neighbours who are assembled here to-night to remind you that we are not forgetful of the fact that you have spent some years in our midst.

During these years we have had the pleasure of enjoying your friendship and your pleasant smile and friendly greeting will be amongst our fondest memories.

Recollecting the many years made pleasant through your acquaintance, your neighbours and friends ask you to accept these chairs, not for their intrinsic value, but as slight tokens of the esteem in which you are held by your many friends.

While we realize that in your new home you will make many new friends, still let these mementoes serve to remind you of our happy association together.

May you all be spared to enjoy your new home, and may God's richest blessing accompany you on your journey through life.

Signed on behalf of your friends and neighbours. — George Bidgood, Delbert H. Smith, George Moncrief.

GOT WET FEET TOOK AWFUL COLD

COULD NOT SLEEP FOR COUGH

A bad cold accompanied by a distressing cough that keeps you awake at night is most aggravating, and unless it is attended to at once may develop into something very serious.

Dr. Wood's Norway Pine Syrup is the remedy you should take. It heals the mucous surfaces, relieves oppression and tightness of the chest, removes the accumulation of phlegm, quiets the most obstinate and distressing coughs, and secures rest and sleep at night, not only to the sufferer, but to others whose rest would be otherwise broken.

Mrs. Ezekiel Acker, Lake Pleasant, N.S., writes: "I got wet feet and took an awful cold; could not sleep at night, and would do nothing but cough. My husband got me a bottle of medicine, but it was not worth bringing home. I was going to call the doctor in when a friend asked me to try Dr. Wood's Norway Pine Syrup. I told her I had little faith in it, but she urged me to get a bottle. I did, and I must say that of all the medicine I ever took, it is the best, and relieved me the quickest of anything I ever saw."

"Dr. Wood's" is put up in a yellow wrapper; three pine trees the trade mark; price 25c and 50c; manufactured only by The T. Milburn Co., Limited, Toronto, Ont.

Drooping combs are usually caused by ill health, too much animal food or badly ventilated pens. Generally speaking a removal of either or all of these conditions will make things right.

ONE HALF CUP OF MILK

If wasted daily by each family in Canada would mean—
125,000 quarts wasted each day.
3,750,000 quarts wasted each month.
45,625,000 quarts wasted each year.

Valuing milk at 5 cents per quart, which is about what the producers receive, the above waste amounts to—$6,250.00 per day.
$187,500.00 per month.
$2,281,250.00 per year.

The value of a good 100 acre farm thrown away each day.

The value of 365 beautiful farm homes wasted each year.

It requires 20,833 cows to produce this ONE HALF CUP OF MILK per family.

It requires 2,833 men to milk these cows each day.

TREASURE SEEKERS' BIBLE CLASS OF ST. JAMES' CHURCH

The Treasure Seekers' Bible Class of St. James' Methodist Church spent a very pleasant evening at the home of their teacher, Mr. J. O. Fife, Princess street, on Thursday evening.

About fifty members were present, and after the regular business meeting a few contests were engaged in, the closing item on the programme being the presentation of an address and a beautiful teacher's Bible, to Mr. Fife.

The address was as follows:

Dear Teacher: We, the members of the Treasure Seekers' Bible Class, desire to take this opportunity to show our appreciation of your faithful and efficient service as teacher of our class.

We realize that, since you consented to teach us about one year ago, you have ever done your utmost to make our class a success; you have endeavored to make the lessons interesting as well as helpful, and have always shown a kindly considerate spirit towards each and all of us, for which we thank you.

We hope you will continue to instruct us for a long time in the future as you have done in the past, in the ways of righteousness and truth.

We realize that it requires a great deal of effort, time and tact to make the successful teacher you have proved yourself to be.

You have endeared yourself to each and all of us and we ask you to please accept this teacher's Bible as a token of our respect and esteem.

Signed: The Officers and Members of the Treasure Seekers' Class.

Mr. Fife was very much taken by surprise but expressed his appreciation in a few well chosen words.

HEADACHE OVER THE EYES? LOOK FOR NASAL CATARRH

Catarrh Never Stops in one Place—It Spreads Rapidly—Often Ruins Health Completely.

In this changeable climate it is the little colds that drift into Catarrh. Unless the inflammation is checked it passes rapidly from the throat or the nose to the bronchial tubes and then to the lungs. You can't make new lungs any more than you can make new fingers or toes, but you can cure Catarrh.

The surest cure consists of breathing in the healing balsamic essences of CATARRHOZONE, which is simply a medicated vapor so full of rich curative properties that every trace of Catarrh vanishes before it.

"The soothing piney vapor of Catarrhozone is the most powerful medicine I have ever used," writes Mrs. Edmond J. Christine of Saskatoon. "Every breath drawn through the Inhaler sends a grateful feeling through the air passages of the nose and throat. Catarrhozone cured me of frightful headaches over the eyes, relieved me of a stuffy feeling in the nose, and an irritable hacking cough that had been the bane of my life for a year. My general health is greatly improved, my appetite and digestion are considerably better than before. Catarrhozone has been the means of giving me such health as I always desired, but never possessed."

McLAUGHLIN SALES

Five new McLaughlin motor cars have just been shipped in to the McLaughlin garage, Water street, via the Grand Trunk railway. These five machines have all been carefully shipped in one freight car, which is said to be quite an unusual feat in motor car freighting.

It is stated that the McLaughlin garage has disposed of nearly $10,000 worth of motor cars during the last ten days. This sounds like good spring business in the early part of the season, and speaks well for the sales staff as well as for the cars.

LETTER FROM A PETERBORO' SOLDIER

Private James Martin, whose home is at 547 Waterford street, and who is now with the 4th C.M.R. in France, writes the following letter to his sister:

Somewhere in France, 19/2/18.

Dear Sister,—Just a line to let you know that I am well and hope these few lines will find you all the same.

Well, Sis, it has been a long time since I wrote to you. The reason is I did not know your address, but got a letter from Marie a few days ago and she told me your address, so I thought I would drop you a line or two to find out how you are getting along. Mother always tells me that you are all well, which I am glad to hear and that I am in the best of health at present. I sure would like to see you all for it has been along time since I have seen you, it is over three or four years, and I think it will be another year before I see you, by the way the war is carrying on, but nevertheless I expect to see you some day. I have been in this country for two years and four months, and I think I have done my bit over here. I think it is time I had a rest and some of the cold-footed buggars over there were over here to give us a rest. I guess I have told you all for this time. Goodbye, write soon. From your loving brother.

Easter Blouses

BLOUSES so dainty and adorably feminine that they will steal your heart right away. Never have we had such an array of charming models as we are able to show you now at our exclusive blouse section. The designers have certainly excelled themselves this season in regard to finishings and trimmings, each one has some distinctive touch, just the right thing to relieve and yet enhance the predominating beautiful lines of simplicity. There are blouses of crepe de chine, of georgette crepe, wash satin and wash silk, and the colors, especially the new pastel shades, are truly exquisite. The prices are quite as numerous and varied as the blouses themselves, so do not forget that a new blouse for Easter will greatly improve your appearance.

Smartly Tailored Suits

THE SUIT styles are charming, unusual to a degree, each is a model of beauty. Here is an Easter special, a special price for a smartly tailored suit. It is fashioned of fine Botany serge, semi-tailored, the coat is cut on the new straight lines with pleated peplum, long roll collar and natty cuffs. The skirt is gored in front and gathered at the back, finished with a wide soft belt. The price for this stunning model is $30.00, and we assure you it is splendid value. Serge is one of the foremost cloths for this season, and we have also very attractive garments in gabardine, tricotine and velour.

Lingerie-- So Dainty

HAVE YOU seen our new French lingerie? Gowns, corset covers, envelope chemise, all hand embroidered on the finest quality of French nainsook. They arrived just in time for Easter and they are the daintiest that we have ever exhibited and will be found to be exceptional values.

Great favor is shown for Italian and Habutai silk garments of all kinds, just a bit of trimming gives a pretty, soft appearance but does not in the least injure their practical quality. Women find silk lingerie very inexpensive, it wears so well and is tubbed so easily. There are some of the most bewitching chemisoles in white, shell pink and yellow, made of silk crepe de chine and wash satin. You will be delightfully surprised at the very moderate prices for these most necessary parts of the Easter attire.

The Last Word in Easter Hats

SMART TAILORED HATS or delightful innovations in the new poke and bustle hats, we have such exclusive originations in Easter millinery and there is a right price for every one. They are made of rough straws, fine Milan, highly glazed straws, or combinations of straw with Georgette crepe, taffeta or satin. The trimmings are somewhat simplier this season, there are flowers in the most elegant shades and smart bows of taffeta, moire or faille ribbon. Easter is the new hat time, make your selection early, you have a better choice and then you are sure to have your new hat in time for the Easter parade.

There is one very beautiful little hat made of nigger brown maline and same color of porcupine braid with trimming of flowers and fruit in French shades, rose, purple and green. The price is ..... $16.50

New Hosiery---

SILK IS the hosiery for spring and our new stock is now complete. Silk hose of good quality are becoming more and more difficult to secure. We are fortunate in having contracted for more than our usual supply and have the qualities that you have learned to depend upon from this store. This new shipment of hose is quite the prettiest we have seen, and we are sure you will think so too, we have all the new shades so you will have no trouble in matching your new outfit. See the special line of boot silk hose at, pair.....69c

Easter Gloves That Interest the Smartly Dressed Woman

THE CORRECT shades and correct materials to go with your Easter time costume. And gloves mean so much to the appearance you are going to make, more especially too when the muff is discarded. Washable kid gloves are perhaps the newest and most serviceable gloves, they fit beautifully, the kid is soft and pliable. There are a few novelties in Capeskin kid gloves with fancy stitchings and imperial points, and some of the newest shades. Silk gloves are always dressy and neat, and they come in smart, conservative styles with gusset fingers.

AN EXCITING SCENE IN CLUNE'S BIG PHOTO DRAMA "THE EYES OF THE WORLD"

The Arrow Feature Syndicate, Charle H. Haystead, Gen. Manager, take great pleasure in announcing the first production of W. H. Clune's cinema photo-play "The Eyes of the World," written by Harold Bell Wright, whose wonderful book of this novel has been read by millions all over this continent, at the Grand Opera House, next Thursday. The London Free Press has the following comment on this great picture, which played there for three nights to wonderful business.

"The Filming of the story around Redlands, among the orange groves and rose gardens and the rugged peaks of the majestic San Bernardino mountains, provides backgrounds in abundance of particular beauty and picturesqueness that would be impossible to excell and difficult to duplicate. Particular pains have been taken to achieve the maximum results, and so well has the producer succeeded that, aside from the heart interest in the story, which possesses such sterling qualities, the photography alone is most enjoyable and well worth seeing. This stupendous photo-play is in nine reels and takes nearly two hours and a half to screen. Among its most striking scenes are the escape of the convict over the mountain's side and through a river, while guards shoot at him, his wandering in the mountains, the kidnapping of the heroine, Sybil Andres, and her flight into the mountains, the search of the forest ranges for the girl and the death of Taine at the big banquet table. The big scene in this Clune production is the combat between the artist lover and the abductor of the girl, on one of the loftiest cliffs in all California. So realistic is the struggle that the audience expect to see the two men fall off the cliff every second. A most carefully selected cast was secured by the producers, included in which are Monroe Salisbury, Muryine Lyons, Arthur Travaris, who were also in "Ramona," another of the great Clune photo-plays, and a host of principals, assisted by hundreds of supernumeraries. Every character is virile and so perfectly has the visualization of this red-blooded and romantic novel been lifted from literature to the screen that its intensely human interest is maintained throughout the many thousands of feet of film. The scenario was prepared by the noted author, Harold Bell Wright, himself and, besides amplifying the story, he actively assisted in putting his scenes and characters before the camera, so that the story is unfolded dramatically and technically correct. "The Eyes of the World" is one of the finest photo-plays that has been seen in London.

Order in Council, the possession of which make the party in whose possession they are subject to a penalty. I have been looking over the book, "The Finished Mystery," and the conclusion I have come to with regard to it is that the Pastor Russell mentioned in the book was a man of great mental power but sadly unbalanced. The book is largely in abuse of Christianity and of the Christian churches as they are in the world, and the vast laudation of Pastor Russell, whom the book claims to have received Divine ordination.

Praises the Pastor.

The book at page 383 says of him: "The mind of Pastor Russell was filled with truth, crystal clear, with hard, irresistible logic, the present truth which constituted his wisdom and understanding, was the greatest proposition ecclesiasticism ever encountered. The mind of God's steward was adamant, "a diamond point."

At page 385 "the Spirit took Pastor Russel away from earthly aims and raised him up to a plain of sacrificial priesthood." At page 387 "Pastor Russell at all times served the church in great things and small. No request was no insignificant to get his careful attention. "Rich and poor alike were favourably worked with in every possible way. "This work prior to 1881 was a great work for any ordinary man, but insignificant compared with what was to follow. "In 1884 the Watchman' work had grown to such proportions as to cause the founding of the Watch Tower and the Tract Society. "This is the agency from which God's appointed Watchman has delivered his message to Christendom." "He listened to the word direct from the mouth of God spoken by the Holy Man of old as moved by the Holy Spirit. Pastor Russell's warning to Christendom coming direct from God has been of an imminent collapse of the present Christian civilization in a welter of war, revolution and anarchy, to be succeeded by the largely establishment of the Kingdom of God." "In all his warnings he claims no originality, but says that he could never have written the books himself. It all came from God through the enlightenment of the Holy Spirit."

Teachings Are Dangerous.

This book throughout denounces Christianity in the world to-day and proclaims that "it is doomed to destruction." The book is intemperate and abusive and recalling throughout there is only one true teacher in the world and that is Pastor Russell. It is a mystery that such a teacher should have hosts of followers. Pastor Russell's teachings are dangerous, upsetting and destructive. The Government has condemned them as inculcating and encouraging disloyalty to the laws of our land which are founded and based on Christianity. There are societies and clubs that are based upon and with the object of teaching Pastor Russell's theories. Many publications have been found by the police in the house and home and premises of the defendant and the government has deemed it wise to condemn them and to impose heavy penalties upon those who encourage their importation into this country. I have nothing else to do than to convict the defendant, and as this is a time when 'conscientious scruples' should not be encouraged in the minds of men which prevent them from doing their duty in defence of their country, I impose upon the defendant a fine of $100, to be paid forthwith and in default of payment six months imprisonment in the common jail of the County of Peterborough.

The Dinsdale Decision.

In disposing of the charge against Mr. Dinsdale, Magistrate Dumble said in part:

No man is at liberty to claim British citizenship who denies his obligations to fight for her defence.

The defendant does deny his obligation to fight and claims exemption because of his conscientious scruples. He is the secretary and leader of a club of men who are followers of Pastor Russell—a man who made a reputation as an interpreter of the scriptures and who published many books, pamphlets and periodicals which propounded his teaching.

Pastor Russell has many disciples who read and study his writings. It would be of little consequence what the peculiar teachings of this man so far as the State is concerned, if they did not teach treason and lead men to ignore and deny their obligations to serve the State for her defence against her enemies.

The defendant is a leader of this cult and openly taught a club of men in their resistance to the law of the land. In the witness box he admits that he is opposed to army service for the defence of his country.

The government have found it necessary to have the literature of this cult examined, and as a result have passed an order-in-council forbidding the circulation in Canada of certain named books and periodicals published and circulated in the interests and for the education of men the doctrines and teachings of Pastor Russell, and have made it a penal offence to have these books and periodicals in their possession.

Under a search warrant large quantities of this forbidden literature were found in the possession of several persons charged with having them amongst them the defendant.

He states that on learning that persons having the forbidden books and papers would mean a penalty he destroyed a lot of them, but two large packages weighing 100 pounds, of "The Bible Students' Monthly" were found at the Customs House, Peterborough, directed to him and one copy of this paper was found at his house.

The two large packages of the Bible Students' Monthly were sent to him from New York marked C.O.D. He did not pay the price charges, did not get delivery of the goods, but he has been the leader of his club of disciples of Pastor Russell and taught his doctrine. About 50 copies of Pastor Russell's forbidden books have reached the police station, sent in by various persons, besides those found under the search warrant.

To allow one part of the community to be learning and teaching doctrines that inculcate treason to the state at time when England is in grips with Germany in a struggle to maintain her place in the world would be suicidal and cannot be tolerated.

KEEP YOUR HOLIDAY HEALTH

Make it your business to always look and feel as well as you do at the end of your vacation. Sunshine, fresh air and exercise are nature's great restorers and the health gained during a holiday should carry you well along to the next vacation.

It is most important that the blood be kept cleared of impurities. This is the business of the Kidneys. One hour's incapacity on the part of the Kidneys and the blood begins to get clogged with poisons which are carried to all parts of the body—giving rise to one or more of the following symptoms:—

Rheumatism follows the crystalizing of uric acid in the muscle tissues and joints. Uric acid poisons should be eliminated by the Kidneys.

Swollen joints and ankles indicate the immediate need for Gin Pills. Pains in the sides and back and through the groins, constant headaches, restless nights, deraugements of the urinary system, stone and gravel, puffiness under the eyes and frequent chills—all these should be taken as warnings and a treatment with Gin Pills taken at once.

Insomnia Cured Without Drugs

INTERNAL BATHING RELIEVES THE CAUSE.

If you do not sleep there is always some cause. Don't start dosing with drugs. Nerves can't consume them. Relieve the cause and a good, sound sleep will be the result.

The system cannot be right if the Colon or large intestine is not kept clean, and free from all waste matter. Bathe internally if you want perfect health.

Mr. F. O. Voight, Rapid City, Man., writes: "For several years I suffered from Indigestion, Nervous Debility, Insomnia, and Constipation. Had no appetite, and the doctors did not expect that I would live throughout the winter. Your book interested me. I got a 'J.B.L. Cascade,' and in a few days obtained remarkable results I now sleep and enjoy my meals better than for years before. I regard the 'J.B.L. Cascade' as a God-send to me."

The "J.B.L. Cascade" as a perfected appliance for Internal Bathing invented by Dr. Chas. A. Tyrrell of New York, and has been the means of restoring thousands to perfect health. It is shown and explained by the Warne Drug Co., who will be pleased to give you an interesting book called "The What, The Why, The Way of Internal Bathing," on request. Ask for it.

Neōlin
Better than Leather

In wet weather, with leather soled shoes, you have always to wear unsightly rubbers or have damp feet. But there's no such trouble when you wear shoes with Neolin Soles.

These modern soles are waterproof. They keep out the wet—unless you walk in puddles or deep snow—guarding your health, yet not hiding the trim lines of your shoes.

They're comfortable, too, from the very start—easy as an old shoe, and they wear evenly and very slowly. With all these good qualities—Neolin Soles cost no more than leather.

Get them for the whole family, on new shoes or as re-soles.

Vocal Records that Stand Supreme

IN the making of Pathe' Vocal Records, by a recording process used only by Pathe', every note, big or little, every delicate nuance, every breath, tone or expression of the artist is faithfully caught and inscribed.

The Pathe groove in which the minute sound waves are recorded is from two to four times as large as in any other record. This big groove enables Pathe' to get 40% more tone colors and detail. Compare these records with other makes in the same class. Study the detail, the tone quality, the true naturalness of the voice, the orchestral accompaniment, always in perfect sympathy, yet note how voice and instrument each stand out clear and distinct right through to the end. The satisfying completeness of a Pathe' vocal record leaves nothing to be desired.

The Pathe' repertoire includes records by the foremost artists of the world, and will prove a revelation to the critical lover of the exceptional in music.

While to hear Pathe' records at their best, they should be played on the Pathephone, yet if you already have a machine of another make, any Pathe' agent can equip it to play Pathe' records—or, better still—will make you a liberal allowance for your machine in part payment of a Pathephone, which plays any record.

THE BRITISH DID WELL UNDER THE TERRIFIC IMPACT

Canadian Press Despatch:

LONDON, March 23.—Artillery preparation of the Germans in the drive against the British lines, which is now in progress, is described by those who took part in it as the most violent they ever endured, according to the Daily Mail's correspondent on the British front.

"The thing that stands out as characteristic of the fighting up to the present," says the correspondent, "is that we did so well under the terrific impact." Continuing the correspondent says:

USED GAS SHELLS.

"Upon one corps front there was a gun every fifteen yards. The strength of the mortars which the enemy brought up in such great numbers, sent over such an overwhelming weight of iron and high explosives that in most parts of the front, the wire ceased to be an obstacle, and the trenches were obliterated. At the same time all of our known battery positions were drenched with gas, but their gas shells failed to reach all of our batteries, nor did they succeed anywhere in breaking down our wire.

At one point where the Germans found our wire unbroken they set to work with scissors until they made a way through. All of this was done under our machine gun fire."

BATTLE ONLY BEGINNING.

LONDON, March 23. — Confidence that the allied line, though it may bend, will not break, is expressed by the morning newspapers who are unanimously hopeful of the outcome of the desperate fighting between the British and Germans. The papers dwell on the accuracy of the British intelligence service in divining the enemy's intentions and in foreseeing the points and time of attack.

The battles on the western front are only beginning and newspapers think that the assault on the Cambrai front, which probably was chosen because undulating land in this region usually recovers from the effects of winter some weeks earlier than on the Franco-Belgian frontier, may not represent the main and ultimate feature of the enemy's offensive. It is felt there may yet be a sudden attack elsewhere, but there is no doubt of the ability of the British troops to hold the enemy just as they barred the road to Ypres.

Eleven Missionaries Are Coming Here

WILL HOLD A SPECIAL MEETING AT THE TEMPLE.

A party of 11 missionaries for India from the British Isles, are staying over at Peterboro on Wednesday evening next and will hold a very special meeting.

The party is in charge of Colonel Stevens of London, Eng.

Colonel McMillan and Brigadier Morehen will accompany the party.

A monster reception is being arranged and special invitations are being issued, though everybody will be welcome.

The party consists of Colonel Stevens, in charge, Mrs. Lieut. Colonel Hepsey, Mrs. Brigadier Claydon, Major Bryn, Mrs. Staff Captain Tildesay, Mrs. Adjutant Maybee, Mrs. Ensign Mortimer, Mrs. Adjutant Carer, Captain Costley, and Dash Duce.

All but two of these officers have seen long service in India. Everybody will be welcome on Wednesday night.

Do not wrap up any article that is to be put away in white paper, as the chloride of lime in it will destroy the colour of the material. Instead use brown or blue paper.

The Wheat Crop Of 1919 Must Off-Set The Food Production Of Germany In Russia

It is some satisfaction to those who knew and appreciated the desperate straits to which Great Britain and her Allies were being rapidly subjected owing to food shortage to learn that Sir Robert Borden and his Government have at last awakened and are beginning to realize "that food will win the war."

In fact his Government have actually done something. They have bought 1,000 farm tractors, and have promised to sell them to the farmers at cost. They have taken the duty off farm tractors. They have told the people the food situation on the other side of the Atlantic is serious. They have adopted regulations which are resulting in human beings eating more oats and barley and our hogs more wheat. They have advised us to eat less and produce more.

It must be remembered that all this has been done by the same Sir Robert Borden, who, only three months ago, laughed, in the presence of 4,000 people in the Peterborough Armouries, at a forward policy to stimulate the production of "cereals, meats and fats."

But he knew when he laughed that the British Government were at the same time doing their utmost to send food to Italy, and to thereby avert the calamity of her being starved into subjection to Germany. Those were anxious days for Great Britain and her noble Allies to find their immediate supply of "cereals, meats and fats."

I am proud of the fact that I lost my election deposit of $200 in opposing such a Canadian Premier to lead this nation through "the valley of the shadow of death" in these great times.

But it may be asked, "What more could the Government do than they are now doing?" Well, they could stop giving us the Pharisees' advice, "Be ye warmed and be ye fed."

They could organize the resources of this country to produce this year from our land in the North-West that only awaits the plow, an immense quantity of oats and flax, and thereby furnish more fodder for hogs and cattle.

The land is in the North-West already cleared. The tractors and plows, discs, harrows, seeders, reapers, and threshers can yet be obtained. The labour to operate them can be obtained. The money to operate this great enterprise can be obtained, and the beneficient and profitable results can be obtained.

Moreover, this same machinery and labour, and more to be added, could be used to prepare millions of acres of land for the great wheat crop of 1919 to more than offset the product of the poor Russian slaves who will be sowing, reaping and grinding corn for their German task masters in 1919.

Please do not forget that these same Russian slaves can be made to do much useful work for Germany. Russia and the Balkan States have twice the population of the United States and Canada combined. In the piping times of peace these European countries have exported more grain to supply the wants of man than the whole North American Continent twice over.

Let us not live in a Fool's Paradise. Let us realize that we are engaged in a desperate struggle that affects us and generations yet unborn. We must product more and we must create in this country a sentiment against the slothful, the slacker and the Parasite.

Many electors who were misled by race and creed cries are now learning that their deceivers have done much to crimp their supplies of food and coal, but very little to really organize this nation to produce food and obtain coal.

R. R. HALL.

Peterborough, March 23rd, 1918.

An Amazing Cure For Neuralgia Magical Relief For Headache

The Most Effective Remedy Known is "Nerviline"

The reason Nerviline is infalibly a remedy for neuralgia resides in two very remarkable properties Nerviline possesses.

The first is its wonderful power of penetrating deeply into the tissue, which enables it to reach the very source of congestion.

Nerviline possesses another and not less important action — it equalizes the circulation in the painful parts, and thus affords a sure barrier to the re-establishment of congestion.

You see the relief you get from Nerviline is permanent.

It doesn't matter whether the cause is spasm or congestion, external or internal; if it is pain—equally with its curative action upon neuralgia—Nerviline will relieve and quickly cure rheumatism, sciatica, lumbago, strains, swellings or enlarged joints, and all other muscular aches.

Nerviline is a guaranteed remedy. Get the large 25 cent family size bottle. Sold by dealers everywhere, or direct from the Catarrhozone Co., Kingston, Canada.

Has Won D.C. Medal

Mr. H. Peabody, one of the chefs at the Empress Hotel, has been informed that his son, Sergt.-Major Peabody, has been awarded the Distinguished Conduct Medal, and has been mentioned in despatches, by Sir Douglas Haig.

EVERY AVAILABLE GUN HAS BEEN CONCENTRATED AGAINST MASSES OF ENEMY

LONDON, March 23.— French forces to the right of the British lines are now engaged despatches from the British declared to-day. The slaughter at Roiseitincourt is appalling. Every available gun has been concentrated against the solid masses of the enemy.

MUNICIPAL ELECTION FOR LAKEFIELD

Bills have been posted in Lakefield calling for the election of Reeve and Councillor in Lakefield to fill the vacancies left by the resignation of ex-Reeve H. O. Fitzgerald and Councillor Sam Charlton, who resigned on account of a controversy regarding the disposal of some village property on March 4th.

GERMAN REICHSTAG MEETS TO EXPRESS THANKS TO ARMY

LONDON, March 23.—Members of the German Reichstag stood while its Vice-President expressed the House's thanks to the army.

The Vice-President said the German people are conscious of the gravity of this decisive hour and have the fullest confidence in the army and its leaders.

Major Sneath, 8th C.M.R. Is Killed

KILLED IN ACTION.

Pte. J. Routledge, Peterborough, Major T. D. Sneath, formerly of Peterborough Squadron, 8th C.M.R.

To-day's official casualty lists contained the two names given above. Pte. Routledge enlisted outside of this city and was at the front with an infantry battalion.

News of Major Sneath's death will be received with deep regret, especially by those members of the 8th C.M.R., who have returned from overseas. As Lieut. Sneath was in charge of No. 2 Troop of the local squadron of the 8th during the time that unit was in training here in 1915 he made many friends. Major Sneath did splendid work in France, was twice promoted and three times mentioned in despatches for daring patrol operations. His home is in Napanee.

Completes 29th Year Making Curlers' Ice

With the closing of the curling rink to-day Mr. Angus McIntosh completpleted his 29th year of continuous service as ice-maker for the roarin' game. And it's the best sheet of ice in the country. In fact Angus turns out a product as fine as the shots on number eight, and they are invariably perfect. It has been proposed for next winter that preparatory to the games in Lindsay that Angus should try to make a sheet of bad ice in order that the local rinks may beacclimated to surface uncertainties that are the every evening fare of George Little and the rest of the Flavelle flock.

We are to wear little tight-sleeve short coats.

COLLINGWOOD WINS THE INTERMEDIATE CHAMPIONSHIP

TORONTO, March 23.—Collingwood captured championship honours in the intermediate section of the Ontario Hockey Association when they defeated Oshawa at the Arena last night by 2 to 1, thus winning the round by 6 to 5. In the first game in Collingwood the home team won by 4 to 1, but Oshawa equalled the three-goal lead when they won in Oshawa by 3 to 0, making it four-all on the round. With the score tied, the Executive of the O.H.A. ordered that the final game be played in Toronto.

Only Ordinary Hockey.

Although the close score would indicate that the game was close and interesting the reverse was the fact. Both teams were apparently bothered by the large ice surface, and the combination was infrequent and inaccurate. Oshawa opened the scoring when Elterington beat Cooke with a shot from the side in the first minute of play. It required only two minutes for D. Foulis of Collingwood to even the count when after an individual rush he followed in his shot, beating Childs cleverly.

Some Strenuous Back-Checking.

Both teams provided some strenuous back-checking in the second period, and although the Oshawa forwards bothered the Collingwood men persistently they were unable to prevent G. Foulis from scoring what proved to be the winning goal when he took a pass from centre ice and whipped the puck past Childs. In this period there was a good deal of rough play, both teams being equally guilty of slashing and tripping. A large number of rooters who accompanied the teams to Toronto were greatly wrought up by the closeness of the score, although the hockey displayed was of mediocre calibre.

Collingwood's Defence Good.

In the final period Oshawa strained every man to the last ounce in an effort to even the count, but it was futile. McLeod and D. Foulis displayed excellent judgment in their defensive play, breaking up Oshawa's rushes effectively. Oshawa showed fair combination in the first period, but in the second and third periods they resorted too much to the individual style of play and the heavy body-checking of the Collingwood forwards made such tactics disastrous.

HOCKEY PLAYERS IN MILITARY DRAG NET

Toronto, March 23.—Oshawa hockey players and fans accompanying the team to the city for the game with Collingwood got a decided shock yesterday when the Dominion police swooped down upon them at the train and asked all to show why they are not in khaki. The shock was all the greater when it was found that three or four of the supporters of the team did not have their papers and so were hauled off to police headquarters.

But the shock was greatest when it was found that two members of the team itself were also minus their papers, and likewise made a trip to headquarters. And there they stayed until almost six o'clock when a well known business man in the city vouched for them, and so they were released. At that they and the others must produce the precious papers by this morning.

Basket Social In Victoria Hall Last Evening

Sixty Couples Took Part in the Dancing

Victoria Hall was the scene of a most enjoyable dance and card party last night, given under the auspices of L.O.L. No. 80, to raise money for the general funds devoted to orphanages. The committee, Messrs. George Porter, D'Arcy Dunlop, Sutherland and Frank McGee spared no efforts to make the evening the great success it proved to be. After dancing, in which about sixty couples took part, and for which excellent music was provided by Mr. Thompson and Mr. Freeman, violin, and Miss Freeman, the piano, the sale of the fifty baskets provided by the ladies, was held. Mr. Hughson Johnston made a successful auctioneer, and ran the prices for baskets to from 50 cents to $3.50. After supper the partners for which were obtained by finding the lady's name in the basket purchased, dancing was resumed until about 1 o'clock when the evening broke up with singing God Save the King. Over $100 was realized.

GERMANS ARE SAID TO BE WELL EQUIPPED WITH LARGE SUPPLIES OF WAR MATERIAL

AMSTERDAM, March 23.—German newspaper correspondents place great stress on the vastness of the materials back of the German west front, according to despatches received here to-day. They declare the number of German airplanes has been increased ten fold and describe huge tanks of poison and batteries of flammenwerfers (liquod fire projectors.)

Spirit Of Unrest In Canada, etc.

farmers could seed part of their land in this grain. If every farmer would decide to use even five acres of his farm in Spring wheat, the country would realize the increased production of food grain that was absolutely imperative this year.

Reeve Walsh of Douro stated that he had heard some farmers say they would not grow wheat because they could get one dollar a bushel for oats, and could raise three bushels of oats to one of Spring wheat.

Mr. Eason remarked some felt they couldn't raise a satisfactory crop, and the price was not encouraging.

Warden Anderson admitted that Spring wheat was considered a catch crop, but he was sure that the great majority of farmers would utilize at least five acres for Spring wheat as a patriotic work, and the seeding would probably be heavier than that.

Responsibility On Canada.

Mr. Jas. Thompson, M.P.P., informed the Council that one vessel from Canada could transport more than three from Argentine, and more than six from Australia or India. In fact Canada is the only field to draw from for the great essential foods, wheat and pork. The past three years have proved this, and it is now up to Ontario to lend every energy to supply the Allied armies and, with the shortage in the United States also in Canada, prompt action is required.

He also pointed out that the Provincial Government has so legislated that the local Council can take over vacant lands held by speculators and cultivate them for production purposes this year.

Mr. Gillespie remarked that the Council had heard his views during recent weeks. Although help was scarce every person should face the difficulties and strive to accomplish the work needed this year. Mr. Gillespie urged the farmers to show every harmony at this time; it prevailed in the Legislature. He asserted that there were more men applying for work with farmers than there are farmers enquiring for them. He expected that wheat would bring a higher price than is now paid.

Mr. McCrea, District Representative of Agriculture at Norwood, discussed this year's problems along the lines of the previous speakers.

Feel Draft's Effect.

Reeve Squire said he could not understand why so much help was being conscripted without proper consideration of the circumstances. In Kingston there is every evidence of strange operations. The Government's failure to regulate the price of stock feed was detrimental to the purchaser to the advantage of the millers.

Reeve McIntosh of Monaghan stated that unskilled farm labour is practically useless for spring seeding, and the scarcity of men last fall left 25 per cent. of the land unprepared. Spring ploughing was out of the question to grow grain.

Deputy-Reeve Eason, of Otonabee said he had 35 acres of fall wheat sowed and will sow 25 acres in Spring wheat in spite of the fact that somebody was getting a rake-off on the seed and that there was slim prospect for help.

Reeve Nicholls of Smith assured the meeting that his township was alive to the necessity of food, and although help is practically out of the question all the farmers would do their utmost. He was sorry to see so many of his neighbours deprived of their skilled labour.

Reeve Walsh declared that Douro would do its best work, but many farmers needed help and especially skilled help.

Reeve Holland of Ennismore and Reeve Matheson of Havelock, gave similar assurance.

Warden Anderson and Reeve M. Brown were skeptical of the benefits to be derived from calling farmers together. The farmers of Asphodel and Otonabee are working day and night and would continue to do so.

"If the Government had done as well as the farmers there would be none of this trouble to-day," said ex-Warden Brown. "They are talking production now when they should have begun three or four years ago."

Warden Anderson advised that every farmer should sow at least five acres of Spring wheat and as much more as possible.

In feeding adult geese to stimulate egg production, give a mash of equal parts by weight of corn meal, bran, middlings or low grade flour, and 10 per cent. beef scraps.

A REPORT ON FARM CONDITIONS

Marketing of Farm Produce Continues to Be Slow—The Corn Situation

The following is a summary of reports made by District Representatives to the Ontario Department of Agriculture:

Farmers generally are reported to be more alert than ever before in making preparations for spring work. According to the Haldimand Representative a maximum effort is being put forth in that County to stimulate the production of spring wheat this year. This is all the more necessary as the present prospects of the fall wheat crop are not encouraging owing to so much ice having formed recently on low-lying fields.

There has been less fattening than usual, most of the cattle being carried over on a maintenance ration until pasture is ready. As a consequence many beeves have been disposed of under the usual weight. Stockers are hard to secure, some feeders having to purchase young animals from the city stock yards. Dairy cows continue in strong demand, more sales of good grades being reported at prices ranging from $75 to $150. The milk supply is holding up well, as a considerable number of cows are freshening.

The Hog Campaign.

The Hog Campaign is being well sustained—better than the feed situation would warrant," says one report. The "Keep a Pig" movement is now being organized in a number of towns and villages. Prices of pork are at their highest, varying from $18.50 to $19.75 a cwt., according to locality.

The marketing of farm produce continues to be slow owing to the bad condition of the roads, and also to the fact that most of the grains are needed for feeding on the farm owing to the scarcity and high price of mill feeds, etc. Oats are bringing from 90c to $1.15, while hay, which is plentiful, is quoted all the way from $12 to $18, according to quality and access to market.

The corn situation is commanding much attention. The crop has become much depleted, both in the bin and in the silo, and many farmers are worried over the poor prospects for getting a supply of first-class seeds.

The Northumberland Representative reports that those who stored apples last fall and have held on to them are likely to suffer considerable loss owing to the recent decline in prices.

Representatives are receiving many inquiries for all classes of farm help. Applications for employment are also being received, more married men than usual offering, as work is apparently growing slacker in some of the towns. One report states that while some farmers are skeptical about using inexperienced farm labour, others are ready to try out any who are willing to assist.

The United States Government, in order to increase France's crops and to lighten the burden on her almost depleted man power, will ship 1,500 tractors to that country.

Eggs Took Another Drop This Morning

High Cost of Living is Upheld on the Local Market.

Eggs took a further drop in price this morning at the Market and sold from 40 to 45 cents per dozen. Butter was a little higher than last week on account of the shortage of food and a consequent shortage of cattle; chickens brought $1.05 to $1.50 each, and potatoes $1.80 to $1.90 a bag.

Several marketers were disappointed on account of the failure of maple syrup to make its appearance.

LATE DESPATCHES THROW NO NEW LIGHT ON BOMBARDMENT OF PARIS BY THE GERMANS

Official Announcement Must Remain Unexplained Until Further Details Are Received--Calibre of Shells Reaching Paris Is a Little Over Nine Inches.

MAY BE A NEW INVENTION

PARIS, March 23.—An official statement issued here to-day says several airplanes attacked Paris last night, dropping a number of bombs. There were some casualties.

LACK OF DETAILS LEAVES THE BOMBARDMENT OF PARIS UNEXPLAINED

The official announcement that Paris is being bombarded must remain unexplained until further details have been received. The statement in the despatch that the shortest distance from Paris to the front is over one hundred kilometres indicates that there has been no breach in the battle line above Paris as would permit of bringing up guns to within what has been previously regarded as the extreme range of heavy pieces. Unless the Germans have some new invention, no such range as sixty miles is conceivable. The most powerful guns in action heretofore have been able to hurl their projectiles only twenty miles or thereabouts. The calibre of the shells reaching Paris, 240 milimetres, is about 9½ inches.

What will probably end in a serious accident if not stopped at once, is the practice of children sitting on the edge of the creek near Coughlin's Monumental Works. The stream here, as well as at all points, is overflowing and the current so rapid that a rescue could not be made should a child fall in. The police were notified to-day that several children were playing about and had no sooner left the spot than others arrived.

GERMANS HAVE CROSSED THE SOMME RIVER

The Canadians Launched The Greatest Gas Attack in History

Germans Claim Capture of 30,000 Prisoners

Alcohol Is Regarded As Foe By Germans

FRENCH FRONT. — Alcohol is regarded by the chiefs of the German aviation service as an enemy to be avoided by flying men, and its consumption is strongly discountenanced in an advisory circular issued by the General in command of the flying corps. This document, which has just come into the hands of the correspondent of the Associated Press, asserts that alcohol is a bad heat-producer whose effects are very fugitive, and its consumption may produce fatal results to an aviator flying at high altitudes.

Other recommendations considered essential to the efficiency of the flying man advise him not to wash his hands and face nor shave just before a flight. On alighting the aviator is told to wipe his face and hands with a dry cloth and then bathe them several times alternately in cold and hot water.

The document tells the airman to wear woollen or silk underclothing, while his outer garments should be of wool thickly lined with fur or wadding. An aviation suit of leather overalls should cover everything.

None of the clothing should be tight fitting and if possible a sweater should be worn.

As to the legs and feet, which are most apt to suffer from the cold, the underclothing should be of wool or silk, and the airman should wear two pairs of woollen stockings between which should be inserted a thickness of paper. Over these should be worn a pair of fur or camel's hair socks, and the whole covered with a pair of large size leather high boots lined with fur or wadded wool.

For the protection of the hands they should be well rubbed with a protective anhydric ointment, over which should be worn large sized but light woollen or silk gloves, and then another pair of leather gloves lined with fur or wadded wool.

The face should be rubbed with the same protective ointment as used on the hands. A woollen or silk cap, covering the head, ears and neck, as well as the greater part of the face, should first be put on, and over this a leather mask lined with silk, or one of canvas. Between the two head coverings there should be inserted several thicknesses of paper, and over everything a thick leather helmet. Goggles must always be worn, and attached to them protectors for the forehead and cheeks, while it is advisable also to wear a thick woollen scarf for the better protection of the chin and throat.

The New British Line Is Strongly Held And All England Awaits Outcome

British Military Experts Say the Situation is Not Bad and the Fact That Germans Failed in Their Purpose is Akin to a German Defeat—Week-end War Despatches Throw Little Light on the Situation—Details Are Lacking.

GERMAN ADVANCE SLOWING UP

News cables received in Peterborough over the week-end say the new British line is strongly held and all England is soberly awaiting the outcome of the great battle with supreme confidence in Haig and his British army. Official reports say the British aerial supremacy is being maintained and many enemy machines are being brought down. British counter attacks are under way and great things are expected. The British military experts say the situation is not bad, and that fact that the Germans did not accomplish their purpose the first day is akin to a German defeat.

LONDON, March 25.—The situation on the battle front Sunday night was that half the territory wrested or given up by the Germans since July, 1916, is again in the hands of the enemy as a result of four days' fighting. The Germans made use of one million four hundred and sixty-four thousand men against the British.

LONDON, March 25.—General Haig admits the crossing of the Somme River by the Germans. The enemy has sustained huge losses in this sector.

CANADIAN HEADQUARTERS IN FRANCE, March 25.—Canadians discharged over five thousand drums of lethal gas following this up with artillery and bombs.

LONDON, March 25.—The Times says the real test of the offensive is yet to come.

THE WEEK-END DESPATCHES.

German Roads Are Blocked

LONDON, March 25.—A Reuter correspondent says a German attempt to cross the River Somme by means of four bridges on Friday night was frustrated with severe lass by the British artillery. The roads in the read of the German advance are blocked by columns of troops, guns and transport, furnishing targets upon which British artillery is making deadly play. Reports based on statements by prisoners indicate all enemy divisions so far identified have suffered from thirty to fifty per cent. in casualties.

BRITISH MAINTAINED POSITIONS.

LONDON, March 25.—The British are holding the Somme River line. Small German detachments were repulsed while attempting to cross the Somme near Pargny. The British maintained positions, repulsing several attacks. The Germans claim the capture of 30,000 prisoners and six hundred guns.

GERMANS ARE USING CAVALRY.

Late Saturday night despatches from German sources indicate heavy fighting in the vicinity of Ham which would mean a penetration of nine miles. Ham is approximately eleven miles southwest of St. Quentin. The Germans have put cavalry into the field to follow up the infantry.

CANADIANS LAUNCH GAS ATTACK.

LONDON, March 25.—The Canadians on Friday night while the English troops were battling further south, launched the greatest gas bombardment in history toward the German front between Lens and Hill Seventy.

The Bombardment of Paris

PARIS, March 25.—Simultaneous with the offensive, Paris has been bombarded at quarter-hour intervals during the day with what is suggested as being a new aerial torpedo. The sources of the bombardments is not yet revealed.

GUN HAS BEEN LOCATED.

PARIS, March 25.—A later despatch says the gun which shelled Paris on Friday has been located twelve miles behind the German lines (74 miles from Paris). The borbardment of Paris by this gun was re-opened today (Sunday) at 6:55 a.m. Shells fell about the city every few minutes, but people went to Palm Sunday services as usual.

MAY BE TWO LONG DISTANCE GUNS.

PARIS, March 25.—No shell explosions have been heard since two o'clock Sunday afternoon. It is believed the bombardment by the gun is over for the day. It is believed in military circles that Germany is using two long-distance guns against Paris. "All clear" was sounded at three-thirty Sunday afternoon.

A German Official Report

LONDON, March 25.—The number of prisoners captured by the Germans is over 80,000, together with six hundred guns, according to the German official report received Sunday, which also says "French, English and American regiments which were brought up from the southwest for a counter attack were thrown back on Chaulny. Ham and Peronne have fallen."

DAYLIGHT SAVING BILL HAS NO DEFINITE TIME

OTTAWA, March 23.—No definite time is fixed for the coming into effect of the Daylight Savings Bill. The Act, which has been printed for distribution, states that its provisions will be in force in each year during such time as may be prescribed by the Governor-in-Council. The expectation is that the time fixed will be the same as in the United States. The bill gives the Railway Board power to advance by one hour the standard time used by the railways of Canada for such period as may be prescribed by the board.

Colds Settled In The Kidneys

Lumbago, Backache and Rheumatism Was the Result—Now Enthusiastic Over Cure Obtained.

CHATTERTON, Ont., March 27. — The kidneys are extremely sensitive to sudden changes of temperature, and much pain and suffering is a frequent result, as all who have had attacks of lumbago and rheumatism know.

The writer of this letter was a great sufferer until she found that by using Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills she could regulate the action of the kidneys, and thereby remove the cause of lumbago and rheumatism.

Mrs. John Lancaster, farmer's wife, Chatterton, Ont., writes: "We would not want to do without Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills in the house, for we have proven their merits in so many cases. I have weak kidneys and whenever I catch cold it settles in the back and develops into lumbago. I used to suffer terribly from lumbago and rheumatism, but find that by using Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills and applying Dr. Chase's Backache Plaster that I obtain the greatest relief, and am soon all right again. My daughter has also used the pills with splendid results, as has also a neighbour woman who suffered greatly from constipation."

SPRING SENSE--- AND CENTS

Combinations of Materials Vie With Trimmings

NEW YORK WAR FASHIONS

New York, Mar. 18.

New York in war time, fashionable New York, is extremely interesting to the observant person. There are so many makeshifts that point the way, as mileposts do. There are quaint little frocks of the oft scorned calico, gingham, humble mull and other cottons. All wool is taboo; we must combine a little wool with a deal of silk if we are truly patriotic. The cry of expense, of the pocketbook ruling in the long run, is being cast aside. Silks are not more expensive than serge or gabardine, those standbys for the early spring walking costume. Satin does not wear as long as wool, perhaps, but then it does not cost as much in the first place, so things are equalized once more. The cry of wool, wool, wool for our army and navy must be heeded.

The shops on Fifth avenue are fascinatingly tempting. They fairly teem with lovely things, sheer dresses, to be worn even now in the sunny south —far from coal famines and snowstorms. Light weight wraps, there are too, of taffeta, perhaps, with a lining of flannel to make them practical for the raw spring days—for,alas even in spring there are days that are decidedly unpleasant.

ABOUT SKIRTS.

The truth is that the styles are really very much what they were last year, only smarter! (Are not the styles of this year always smarter and more becoming than those of last?) Skirts are a good bit narrower and they are oh, so straight, except when they are not! Sometimes there are tucks, even groups of tucks, to break the monotony. One perfectly adorable little dress that I saw on Fifth Avenue this morning was of gray organdie with a wide hem, then six tiny tucks, then a tuck of two inches, then six more narrow ones, until the hipline was reached. The front breadth then formed a tiny apron with the same effect of narrow tucks and a wide one. The waist was extremely simple, a fold of the organdie being put straight aroound the neck to the waist line. Valenciennes lace edged this collar effect, the wide tucks, and the turned back cuffs on the three quarter sleeves. The girdle was of French blue grosgrain ribbon, tied in a simple bow in front. Can't you just see how fetching the whole thing was?

Charming for Plain and Figured Materials.

COMBINING PLAIN AND FIGURED MATERIALS.

Combinations of materials are the order of the day. One can wear a frock that is made of one material only, if it is very smart and becoming, and feel that it is stylish, too, but the dress where a plain material and a figured one, or materials of different colors, are combined, is really the last word in smartness. Then, too it is a real economy, for there are surprising things in store for the person who does combine colors and materials nicely, in the small amounts needed. The dress illustrated here is a forerunner of summer. Straight and simple as it can be, the flowered voile is charming combined with the plain voile of the upper waist and girdle. The sleeves

UNABLE TO WORK FOR FIVE MONTHS

Had About Given Up Hope of Getting Well—Health Restored

"I was told that nothing could be done for me and, of course, I had very little encouragement to think I would ever get well," said W. M. Haston, in a conversation with the Tanlac man at Tamblyn's drug store, Toronto, recently. Mr. Haston resides at 6 Cavell street.

"I have gained eight pounds by taking Tanlac," continued Mr. Haston, "and my wonderful improvement has surprised lots of people who knew of my dreadful condition. I had suffered from stomach trouble for seven or eight years and all my efforts to find relief were in vain. My appetite was very poor and nothing I would eat seemed to agree with me. In a short while after eating gas would form on my stomach and bloat me all up. Then my heart would palpitate and I could hardly get my breath. A little over a month ago I got in such bad fix that I couldn't strike a lick of work for five months and was told my condition was very serious and that nothing could be done for me. I felt very tired and worn-out all the time and had no strength or energy. I fell off in weight from one hundred and forty pounds to one hundred and twenty-five, and had taken so much medicine that did me no good that I had begun to think myself that nothing could help me.

"One day, I read how Tanlac had helped some one else who seemed to be affected like me and right then I made up my mind to see what the medicine would do for me. Well, I didn't get better by leaps and bounds but I have gradually improved until now I feel like a new man, I never miss a day from my work now and I'm still taking Tanlac, eating hearty and improving every day. My appetite is fine and I can eat the biggest kind of meals without suffering from palpitation of the heart and indigestion like I did. A few bottles of Tanlac have done me more good than everything else I have ever taken combined and I don't hesitate to recommend it for what it has done for me."

Tanlac is sold in Peterborough by W. B. Warne Drug Co., Ltd. In Havelock by A. C. Demike. In Lakefield by Tanner Drug Co., Ltd. In Fowlers Corners by W. A. Hunter. In Gelert by A. J. Scott. In Westwood by G. Pringle & Son

YOUNG TURKISH WOMEN BATTALION'S CONTROL

GENEVA, March 23.—Elaborate regulations are being drawn up for control of the battalion of young Turkish women, which the Turkish War Office, breaking all precedents in that country, recently decided to organize. ## A Perfect Treatment For This Distressing Complaint

WASHO, ONT.

"I had an attack of Weeping Eczema; so bad that my clothes would be wet through at times.

For four months, I suffered terribly. I could get no relief until I tried 'Fruit-a-tives' and 'Sootha Salva'. The first treatment gave me relief.

Altogether, I have used three boxes of 'Sootha Salva' and two of 'Fruit-a-tives', and am entirely well".

Both these sterling remedies are sold by dealers at 50c. a box; 6 for $2.50, or sent on receipt of price by Fruit-a-tives Limited, Ottawa.

"Fruit-a-tives" is also put up in a trial size which sells for 25c.

Lesson in Thorough Bass.

The use of the word "stuff" in the president's Thanksgiving proclamation, comments the Brooklyn Eagle, furnishes the discord needed to emphasize the harmony of the flowing rhetoric. In effect the president says "We are the stuff." If our enemies twist it we shall not care. James G. Blaine was called the "plumed knight" by Ingersoll, and it passed for a fine compliment, but Blaine thought it suggested the "white feather." If the president thinks his boys are the stuff, we shall all agree with him. Here's where the kaiser gets a lesson in thorough bass.

FIRST WHITE BOY

Youth Accompanied Columbus' Expedition in 1492.

Detailed at Helm While Superiors Slept, Youngster Was Blamed for Wreck of Santa Maria.

Many phases of the life of Columbus offer mysteries that the historians have never been able to clear away, and one student of the life of the great explorer has come across an incidental mystery that has an appealing interest. It relates to a boy who accompanied the expedition of 1492—the only boy among its members, and consequently the first white boy to set foot in America.

The contemporary accounts of the first expedition of Columbus mention the boy in question only once and that briefly. They indicate that he was the only boy in the expedition and they place on his young shoulders the blame for the great catastrophe that befell when the Santa Maria was wrecked on the coast of Hayti. To be sure the story of the wreck shows that the boy was less to blame than his elders, but it was easy enough to make him the scapegoat. It was the night before Christmas, 1492, ten weeks after the discovery of the land, and Columbus was pushing his search for gold among the West Indies. The flagship, the Santa Maria, was skirting the coast of Hayti, and late at night, as the wind was light and the ship barely moving, Columbus went to his cabin for rest. He passed the helm over to the captain. He, too, soon felt the need of sleep and went below. His successor at the tiller was a sailor and he shortly followed the example of the admiral and the master. Before he went he awakened the lad in question and told him to mind the helm.

The boy did not go to sleep. He was doubtless a live lad and he felt the importance of being trusted to steer the ship. But he was in strange waters and the currents were treacherous near that coast, says an exchange. The ship struck a reef. The admiral and crew rushed on deck in terror. Of course they blamed the boy. That was the way of the world before 1492 and the fashion has never changed.

That was the end of the Santa Maria. The crew reached the shore in safety and made a fort from the timbers of the wreck. In that fort, which they called La Navidad in honor of the day, about forty of the crew remained while their companions went home to Spain on the Pinta and the Nina. One historian inentions a tradition that the boy remained with this number, but it is only a tradition. The fate of the forty is a mystery, for when the second expedition of Columbus reached that island a year later there were only a few charred timbers and bones to be found. Perhaps the boy perished there. His name has not even come down to us, but the brief glimpse that we have of him is a fascinating one. There is something to stimulate the imagination in that fleeting picture of the boy who stuck to his post while his superiors slept.

IN THE SPRING

will be the great test of a life and death struggle on the Western front. In the everyday walks of life, it is the spring time that brings ill health. One of the chief reasons why the run-down man finds himself in a bad state of health in March or April, is because he has spent nearly all his hours for the past four or five months penned up within the walls of house, factory or office. It is the reason for our diminished resistance—that is, lack of out-door life, coupled with perhaps over-eating, lack of good exercise, insufficient sleep, and constipation. In other words, we keep feeding the furnace with food but do not take out the "clinkers," and our fire does not burn brightly. Always keep the liver active.

There is nothing better for health than taking an occasional mild laxative, perhaps once a week; such a one as you can get at any drug store, made up of May-apple, jalap, aloes, (sugar-coated, tiny, easily taken), which has stood the test of fifty years of approval—namely, Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets. But for the "Spring Fever," the general run-down condition, the lack of ambition, the "blues," one should take a course of treatment every spring; such a standard tonic as Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery, now to be had in tablet form in fifty-cent vials. Watch the people go plodding along the street. There's no spring, no vitality. A vitalizing tonic such as this vegetable extract of Dr. Pierce's gives you the power to force yourself into action. The brain responds to the new blood in circulation, and thus you're ready to make a fight against stagnation which holds you in bondage. Try it now! Don't wait! To-day is the day to begin. Gain a little "pep," and laugh and live. Vim and vitality are the natural out-pouring of a healthy body. It does not spring up in a night. Try this spring tonic, and you gain the courage that comes with good health.

Concealed Weapons.

"Did you hear? The Crosbys were so generous as to give their sedan to the Red Cross. I wonder what was the matter with it."

"My dear, you do knit bee-utifully, but what is it?"

"The major looks so formidable in his uniform, doesn't he? Too bad, the poor man never wore it at home."

"I see comes Miss Veriplain in her red-white-and-blue hat. Who would have thought anything could become her so well!"

"You will go from house to house canvassing for the Liberty loan, Miss Stout. My dear, you have the right idea."

"You put down 20 quarts of beans? Splendid! Splendid! I do so hope they'll keep for you this time."

"The Red Cross is to be congratulated, my dear, in securing the services of a woman of your years and long experience."—Edmund J. Kiefer in Life.

Overcoming Camouflage.

An American physicist believes that the advantages of camouflage—or at least certain kinds of camouflage—can be overcome by an opposing army by providing its airmen and other scouts with colored glasses or screens of contrasting colors to use with field glasses, notes Popular Mechanics Magazine. When the colors of these screens are properly selected, uniforms and other objects may be made to appear in contrast, instead of in harmony, with their surroundings, he claims. Camouflage as practiced in many cases is accomplished largely by the use of paint, objects being given shades that blend with the landscape. In spite of certain difficulties that would arise, it is believed that such efforts at concealment could be rendered quite ineffectual by the means stated.

Should Eat Mushrooms.

Wild mushrooms are a food that should be more largely utilized in this country now that food is scarce, according to William A. Murrill, assistant director of the New York botanical gardens, who thinks the people should be taught how to distinguish the poisonous from the wholesome varieties. Wild mushrooms are eaten in this country almost exclusively by the foreign-born population.

Daily Thought.

Nothing will ever be attempted if all possible objections must be first overcome

The Cost.

Everything is worth what its purchaser will pay for it, according to an old saying.

Doing One's Best.

There need be no comparison in the ways of duty, if each does simply the best that occasion allows him. Our part may be watching from far off, declares a writer, waiting in days of suspense and anxiety; even that part can be done well or may be shirked. And the moment in which we have done our best will appear, as we look back at it, like a mountain peak on which the sun is shining, though at the time it seemed only the sad corner of a limited and feeble life.

To Pump Out Flaming Oil.

A recent fire in which a half-barrel tank of oil proved a stumbling block to the firemen and eventually led to the destruction of a building suggested to me, writes a correspondent, that a suction pump with a long nozzle could be mounted on a two-wheel truck and used to draw such burning liquid out of a building. One operator could hold the nozzle of the pump down in the oil while the others pumped the fluid out through a hose into the gutter.

A Tough Wood.

One of the toughest of woods is that of the so-called Osage orange, which, however, is not an orange at all, but belongs to the nettle family. Some idea of its strength may be had from a report made not long ago by the forest service, which shows that a block 30 inches long and two inches by two inches in cross section, when bent, breaks under a stress of 13,666 pounds.

TO DARKEN HAIR APPLY SAGE TEA

Look Young! Bring Back Its Natural Colour, Gloss and Attractiveness

Common garden sage brewed into a heavy tea with sulphur added, will turn gray, streaked and faded hair beautifully dark and luxuriant. Just a few applications will prove a revelation if your hair is fading, streaked or gray. Mixing the Sage Tea and Sulphur recipe at home, though, is troublesome. An easier way is to get a 50-cent bottle of Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound at any drug store all ready for use. This is the old-time recipe improved by the addition of other ingredients.

While wispy, gray, faded hair is not sinful, we all desire to retain our youthful appearance and attractiveness. By darkening your hair with Wyeth's Sage and Suphur Compound no one can tell, because it does it so naturally, so evenly. You just dampen a sponge or soft brush with it and draw this through your hair, taking one small strand at a time; by morning all gray hairs have disappeared, and, after another application or two, your hair becomes beautifully dark, glossy, soft and luxuriant.

This preparation is a delightful toilet requisite and is not intended for the cure, mitigation or prevention of disease.

An Aviator's Farewell.

Monsignor de Gibergues, bishop of Valence, has lost his seventh nephew in the war—M. Anthelme de Gibergues, amongst whose papers was found the following moving letter of farewell addressed to his parents:

"If one day, with wings broken in the blue heavens, I fall to the earth and return to God, may these lines carry to my father and mother the last thoughts, desires and dreams of the son they loved so tenderly. As my body nears the earth, my soul will soar to unknown heights, and the separation will be victory. It will be a full-hearted 'Magnificent;' adoring prayer of expiation for what I have left undone rather than for what I have done. And lastly it will be a supplicant cry which cannot but be heard for everlasting life, for strength and comfort for those I leave behind, and for mercy and glory for beloved France, the coming of the Kingdom of God."

His Waterloo.

"There is a fellow they call the 'Miracle Man.'"

"Why?"

"Because they say he can do anything."

"I'll bet there's one thing he can't do."

"What's that?"

"I'll bet he can't convince a woman that she snores in her sleep."

Not Satisfactory.

"What did she say when you kissed her?"

"Told me to come around Fridays hereafter, as that was amateurs' night."

In the Right Place.

"You seem at home here," remarked a man at the post office to the postmaster.

"Yes," replied the latter, "this is my stamping ground."

Contrary Evidence.

"The greater cannot go into the less."

"So they say. But how is it on these blowy days that half the dust in the world gets into my eyes?"

FACE COVERED WITH PIMPLES

ASHAMED TO GO OUT

Many an otherwise beautiful and attractive face is sadly marred by unsightly pimples, blotches, flesh worms and various other blood diseases.

Their presence is a source of embarrassment to those afflicted as well as pain and regret to their friends.

Many a cheek and brow cast in the mould of beauty have been sadly defaced, their attractiveness lost and their possessor rendered unhappy for years.

Why, then, consent to rest under this cloud of embarrassment?

There is an effectual remedy for all these defects.

It is Burdock Blood Bitters. This remedy will drive out all the impurities from the blood and leave the complexion healthy and clear.

Mrs. Katherine Henry, Port Sydney, Ont., writes: "Two years ago my face was so covered with pimples I was ashamed to go out at all. I tried several remedies, but they were of no use. At last a friend advised me to try Burdock Blood Bitters. I got a bottle, and by the time it was used I could see a difference, I then got two more, and when I had used them the pimples were completely gone. I can highly recommend B.B.B."

Heroic Wireless Operator.

The heroic conduct of Vignola, the wireless operator in the Messageries liner Natal, sunk in the Mediterranean, was brought to light by survivors. When the collision occurred Vignola, who had been temporarily relieved by a petty officer, rushed to his post and telling his substitute to save himself, sent out a signal of distress. Then he reported to the captain, who replied, "All right, now save yourself!" Instead of doing so the operator returned to his telegraph cabin and with absolute calm sent out fresh signals, which were picked up by the Marseilles station. When the ship sank a quarter of an hour later Vignola went down with it.

Flanders of Today.

Today the name Flanders is applied to two Belgian provinces of which Ghent and Bruges are the capitals, but the name still represents an undefined stretch of country which has been the battleground of Europe for centuries.

"At the war in Flanders" was just as familiar to English ears in the seventeenth and eighteenth centuries as it is today in the twentieth. Every inch of the ground is stained with the blood of patriots and loyalists. And the bravery and courage of these medieval troops has been matched by the sacrifice of the men of the greatest empire the world has ever known. The bones of Canada's heroes will mingle with the dust of generations of patriots and the cause for which they are fighting is not eclipsed in the loftiness of its aim by the Holy Crusaders of medieval times.—Exchange.

Chamois Hunting Is Dangerous.

The chamois in summer go up into the high mountains to the perpetual snow-line, and feed only on mountain sides with a northern exposure. In winter they go down to the wooded lower reaches of the mountain, and it is here that they are hunted. They never graze without a sentinel on the lookout. The most successful way to hunt them is for a number of hunters to form a closing-in circle around a feeding ground. Great danger attends hunting in such high altitudes, but that has given such zest to the sport that the chamois is now rare where once it was numerous.

OUR DAILY SHORT STORY

Gregory Fuller, Model

By Osborn Jones

(Copyright, 1917, by the McClure Newspaper Syndicate.)

There were twelve high-backed rocking chairs on the boarding house verandas, and in each of those chairs sat a woman, varying in age and figure all the way from the six-year lassie, who sat bolt upright, with her chubby bare legs crossed tailor fashion under her, as she laboriously plied the stitches of a wash cloth with her rosy fingers, down, or rather up, to Mrs. Van der Hayden, who looked as we who have never seen a duchess at close range imagine duchesses of three-score and more all do look—portly and haughty and serene. She was knitting an aviator's helmet. All in all, there were twenty-four needles clicking and, save when some one stopped to count stitches, there were half as many tongues gently wagging.

No wonder, then, that the two unattached males whom unkind fate had condemned to abide in the one boarding house in town preferred to smoke their pipes and read their papers on the wooden settle down by the gate of the old house. Except for the fact that they were doomed to share the same bench in this ostracism, there was little in common between Gregory Fuller and the other young man, who sought to entertain and impress Gregory with his social conquests in his home town.

Still, when the young man went for a week-end to that home town, presumably to score a few more triumphs, Gregory felt doubly oppressed in his ostracism; and without knowing just how things stood between Gregory and Margery Drake—the little twenty-year-old school teacher that sat up there in the third chair from Mrs. Van der Hayden and knitted sleeveless sweaters—you might have wondered why he did not seek some other place to spend his Saturday afternoon than down there on the hard wooden bench by the fence, with only a magazine and a pipe to console him. Down there at least he was unobserved, or thought he was, and he could be sure that Margery was safe. He had little reason to feel jealousy, for, except for his erstwhile companion who had gone home for the week-end, Gregory was about the only eligible male in the community.

"Do you know, I think there must be something wrong with these directions." It was the shrill treble of Mrs. Jones—the angular blonde lady with the bediamonded fingers who sat next to Margery. "I have followed them faithfully—bound off thirty-two stitches for the head, knitted five ribs, and then set on thirty-two stitches again, and will you look at the size of the neck?"

Margery beside her compared her own nearly completed sweater with her neighbor's. "Mine is just the same size. I took it for granted that the rules were right."

"But I can't get it over my head at all," exclaimed Mrs. Smith as she seized Margery's sweater and tried to pull it over her blonde pompadour.

"Of course you can't," reproved the duchess, pausing as she counted stitches—"twenty-three, twenty-four, twenty-five—with your hair done over a rat of course your head is larger than a man's."

"You don't suppose I do such a thing," gasped Mrs. Smith. "Though I will admit that my hair is very thick and that may take up more room. But even if my hair is full, don't you think a man's ears are big and would take the extra room in slipping it on? I always think men's ears are very big."

"I have noticed that Mr. Smith's are," suggested the duchess, still counting.

"If we could only try the sweater on a real man," sighed Mrs. Smith. "It's too bad my husband is a traveling man. He's the only husband in the house and he is away."

"But there are other men," suggested Mrs. Van der Hayden.

"Not Mr. Fuller," gasped Margery. "Please don't let's ask him." She had seen at least eight pairs of eyes cast in the direction of the little wooden bench and its solitary occupant. It was too late and useless to protest for the portly Mrs. Van der Hayden had risen and beckoning with her large angular hand, she called: "Young man, Mr. Fuller, will you step this way;" and then, feeling that her word was law, she sank down into her chair again; "seventy-eight, seventy-nine, eighty," she counted on.

Gregory rose and came up the steps to the porch and, as the twenty-four needles ceased to click and half as many pairs of feminine eyes were leveled upon him, he felt the color rise in his cheeks and under his collar.

"You are an average-sized young man, aren't you?" queried the duchess as if she were asking a new gardener whether he could cut the grass.

"Well, then will you let these ladies try their sweaters on you?"

Then the fitting process began and the only consolation that came to Gregory was the knowledge that Margery was blushing confusedly and because he knew that the first sweater that was tried on him was made by Margery's fair hands.

"Yes, I think his ears stick out a bit, too," commented Mrs. Van der Hayden, "but then I suppose the average soldier might have the same defect. It remedied the trouble in my boys—made them sleep in ear bonnets when they were little." Here she tugged regardless of Gregory's features and got the sweater over. Then taking it off again—"and now my good man will you wait a minute till I try this helmet on you. First, I must count the stitches to make sure I haven't lost one."

"Would you awfully mind taking off your shoe," a quiet little lady in black piped up. "I'm not at all sure about the length of this sock."

Gregory was still obliging, and tried on several pairs of socks and then a pair of wristlets, and finally Mrs. Van der Hayden's helmet while his dark locks, usually lying as close to his head as a duck's feathers to its back were disheveled and towseled, and he was limping with one shoe off, for the duchess had given him no time to put his shoe back again.

"It's funny we never thought of getting you to do this before," Mrs. Smith said cheerfully. "You have seemed so lonely down there. Oh, would you awfully mind holding my next skein of yarn? I can use the back of a chair, but I'm sure you would be lots more intelligent about keeping out the knots."

"Thank you," murmured Gregory, and as he looked up at Margery's face he caught just the suspicion of a twinkle in her soft brown eyes.

Perhaps it took as much courage for Gregory to do what he next did as anything he had ever done before in his life—for it does take more courage than some men possess to say the first words to the girls they love when some quarrel, groundless or otherwise, has broken the cord of their friendship. At any rate, when he had finished holding Mrs. Smith's yarn, he deliberately took a skein of the same sort of gray yarn from Margery's work bag, and there, before all the boarders, said to Margery, "Now, let me hold this for you. I am better than a chair; Mrs. Smith will vouch for that."

The rest was easy enough. Margery wound the yarn very prettily, and thanked Gregory with all her old winsomeness when it was done. There were more socks and sweaters to be tried on and more yarn to be wound for the other women in the twelve chairs. And so passed Gregory's Saturday afternoon.

Somehow he managed that evening to ask Margery to stroll around the block with him, and then they sat together on the little wooden bench by the gate.

"Thank fortune tomorrow's Sunday," Gregory said. "You won't have to knit then and perhaps I can get you to go up the river—a little picnic would be good fun this time of the year."

"But we can knit for soldiers on Sunday," insisted Margery. "Even Mrs. Van der Hayden says so. Her minister told her it made a difference."

"She's a cool proposition," Gregory murmured.

"Yes, there are always people like her in every boarding house," replied Margery.

"So much the worse for boarding houses," was Gregory's rejoinder. "Somehow I feel that if it hadn't been for those women, especially that duchess, you and I would have made up long ago. But with their eyes on us, how could we? Margery, do you think my ears are so awfully big?" This with an emphasis on the "you" that indicated that no one's opinion but Margery's counted.

"Boarding houses are dreadful," Margery cooed after assuring Gregory that his ears were ideal.

"Then don't let's live in 'em any more. Let's get married and have a cottage of our own."

"Gregory, how lovely!"

About that time the portly duchess clad in her black china silk bath robe tiptoed across the hall to Mrs. Smith's room. Mrs. Smith was removing the rat from her bountiful blonde hair.

"It's done," exclaimed the duchess, "I knew it when he started to wind her yarn and they're sitting out on the wooden bench now. Well, I'm mighty glad. A boarding house is no place for young people like that anyway."

"It takes you to be a match maker," sighed Mrs. Smith, and then, as she brushed out the golden switch that she had just unpinned, "you were a wretch to tell them all I wore a rat. But I'll forgive you this time."

Lime Water.

Lime water does not look unlike the ordinary fluid which comes from the faucet. It is mildly bitter in its taste and its properties are antiacid and astringent. It is because of this antiacid or alkaline property that it is given in milk or plain water when there is a tendency to sour stomach, nausea or vomiting. The sour or acid condition is corrected and a slightly tonic and soothing effect exerted.

Unless one has an opportunity to get pure, clean lime, it is a better to buy lime water than to try to make it, as it is very inexpensive. If, however, you wish to prepare it at home, take two teaspoonfuls of slaked lime and add to one pint of boiled or distilled water. Lime used for this purpose should be that prepared from marble or chalk rather than the common building lime.—Exchange.

Baltimore, Md.—"Nearly four years I suffered from organic troubles, nervousness and headaches and every month would have to stay in bed most of the time. Treatments would relieve me for a time but my doctor was always urging me to have an operation. My sister asked me to try Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound before consenting to an operation. I took five bottles of it and it has completely cured me and my work is a pleasure. I tell all my friends who have any trouble of this kind what Lydia E. It is only natural for any woman to dread the thought of an operation. So many women have been restored to health by this famous remedy, Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, after an operation has been advised that it will pay any woman who suffers from such ailments to consider trying it before submitting to such a trying ordeal.

CARRIE'S BIG WEDDING FEAST

Father Remembers His Days of Despair When He Invites Guests for the Sumptuous Repast.

Twenty years ago Max Gootschneider landed in New York with a slim young wife, a baby girl that could just toddle, $30 in money and a hopeful disposition. The first few weeks in the strange America was a period of such forlorn and homesick misery that Max never forgot them.

And so, when Max and Mrs. Max, no longer slim, sat in their fine house discussing the details of a celebration which might be suitable to signalize the engagement of the only daughter of a prosperous furrier to marry a rich young diamond merchant, Max had an idea, says the Cincinnati Times-Star.

"Mamma," he said, "you remember when we landed in New York—you and Carrie, our baby, and me? You remember how it was for us then? Well, we shall give a feast for our daughter, Carrie, and her young man, but we will give it to the people who are now like we were then. Our friends are happy. They are not hungry. They are not sorrowful because there is no one to cheer them up. They do not need a feast like the poor people that have come from the old country. Those are the people who shall enjoy our Carrie's wedding feast."

And so the feast was given, away down in East Broadway, in the building which is occupied by the Hebrew Immigrants' Sheltering Aid society, and which overflows nowadays with hundreds of misery-stricken people from the countries at war in Europe.

There was a room where 150 persons could eat at once. As soon as one crowd of 150 had finished, another came in. There were no invitations and no red tape. Max and Mrs. Max and the pretty Carrie and her proud husband-to-be stood at the door and smilingly welcomed all who came. There was chicken and duck and goose and gefilite fish. And everyone was welcome to all of everything.

Even the kids, who stealthily pilfered goodies were urged to pilfer more. And the feast brought joy and good cheer to a thousand people who are homeless in a strange land. And the spirit of kindliness so permeated it all that Mamma Gootschneider, now and then, was compelled to wipe away a sympathetic tear. And after it was all over, Papa Gootschneider declared that his undying regret would be that he had only one daughter to give a wedding feast for.

SUFFERED WITH NERVES
COULD NOT KEEP QUIET

Diseases of the nervous system are very common.

All the organs of the body may be sound while the nerve centres may be affected.

Many women become run down and wornout by household duties never ending, and sooner or later find themselves with their nerves shattered, and the heart action weakened.

On the first sign of any weakness of either the heart or nerves, flagging energy, or physical breakdown, do not wait until your case becomes hopeless.

Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills will at once quieten the shaking nerves, strengthen the weak heart and build up the entire system.

Mrs. F. Bailey, 221 Earl St., Kingston, Ont., writes: "I was suffering very much with my nerves, so much so that I could not keep myself quiet at all. I was recommended to try Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills so I bought three boxes, and I must say I have derived much benefit from them, so much so that my friends have all noticed the change in me."

Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills are 50c. per box at all dealers, or mailed direct on receipt of price by The T. Milburn Co., Limited, Toronto, Ont.

Precious Gold.

Since the beginning of the war, the nations of Europe have sent quantities of gold to our shores. So, as far as gold is concerned, we are richer than ever before, comments a financial exchange. But gold, except that portion of it which is made into gold foil, or used for gilding, or made into jewelry, or otherwise employed in the arts, has no value in itself. Gold, in general, is only a symbol of value, of use for buying; and if the goods are not at hand to be bought, the gold is valueless. You cannot eat it, or drink it, you cannot warm yourself with it. As a financial writer said the other day, "If gold were to be discovered in the same quantities in which copper is found, it would be as beautiful and as useful in the arts and sciences as before, but we should have to stop using it for money. You would need 30 pounds of it to buy a pair of shoes, and the price of the shoes would be about $7,560."

Washington Ate Hoe Cakes.

There was no wheat shortage in America when George Washington was a wealthy Virginia planter, before the Revolution, yet that eminent patriot set an example in the conservation of flour which citizens of today would do well to follow, says an exchange.

Wheat is not essential to a satisfying meal, the food administrator points out. Corn is an excellent substitute. The following excerpt from Irving's "Life of Washington" is interesting now in view of the agitation for a wheatless diet:

"He was an early riser, often before daybreak in the winter when the nights were long. He breakfasted at seven in summer, at eight in winter. Two small cups of tea and three or four cakes of Indian meal (called hoe cakes) formed his frugal repast."

It is said that, even in the days of plenty, big spreads were an infrequent occurrence in the Washington home.

OLE BULL'S COLONY

Norwegian's Dream of Model Home Now Scene of Ruin.

Recalls Misplaced Confidence and Made All the More Tragic Because of Splendid Ideals.

Only the ruin of the villa "Valhalla" remains of the ill-fated Norwegian colony established by Ole Bull in Pennsylvania in the late '50s. The story of the colony, says the Kansas City Times, is one of misplaced confidence, made all the more tragic because of the splendid ideals that led to its establishment.

The great Norwegian violinist, always an admirer of America, wished to obtain a location for a model colony of his countrymen. He bought a thousand acres of a firm of land dealers and soon afterward brought to this country several hundred Norwegians. A clearing was made, the village of Oleana built and, in an address to the townspeople, Ole Bull set forth the hopes that had inspired his mission.

The address follows:

"Brothers of Norway! From the clime where the north wind has its home; where the maelstrom roars, and where the aurora for half the year takes the place of the genial sun, we have come to find a home. When we were among our mountains, and war was bringing want and famine upon us, we heard there was a country in a milder climate where liberty dwelt and plenty reigned. Upon looking over our records, we found that our countrymen, under Thorfin, had discovered that land more than eight hundred years ago, but that they were met by cruel and savage Indians, and had left no record of themselves, except some traces of their sad history engraven in the rocks of Fall river, and one temple which they raised to God on an island at the mouth of Narragansett bay. All other record of them had passed away.

"How different is our reception from that which Thorfin and his followers received. No savage Indian startles us with his war whoop, but kind friends meet us on every side, taking us by the hand and giving us welcome to our new home.

"Brothers of Norway! We must not disappoint this confidence, but by lives of industry and honesty show to our new brothers that they have not misplaced their friendship.

"And now, to these gentlemen of New York and Pennsylvania, who have so kindly assisted by their counsel and advice in this work, I return my most sincere and heartfelt thanks, and casting ourselves upon the goodness of our heavenly Father, resting secure upon his promise, let us go on in the daily performance of every duty, and he will bless us."

There was a pathetic aftermath. Hardly had the pioneers got well under way with their homebuilding when it was discovered that the violinist had been victimized. The company that sold him the land had no valid title to it. The people of Oleana scattered, some of them penniless and with few friends in the new country. Ole Bull, with splendid loyalty to those he had brought to this pass, gave public concerts to raise money for their relief.

An Authoritative Opinion.

When does the honeymoon end? is a question which has been discussed for a good many generations. It would be presumptuous, perhaps, notes the El Paso Times, for us to try to settle it, but just the same we have a strong suspicion that this little sentiment could be prolonged if she, when she hears his footfall, would go to the door and greet him, rather than skid into the kitchen to hurry up a dinner which has languished while she gossiped with the neighbor or bathed the cat.

Use of Surnames.

The custom of using surnames for Christian names, as exemplified in the cases of Harrison and Mr. Holden, goes back at least three centuries, but the people stuck pretty close to Johns, Edwards and Thomases. In this country we have seen a tendency to use, at baptism, the mother's family name as a middle name for the child. This, no doubt, is leading to more free use of family names as given names. For the most part, however, we are John Henry Smiths.

DRINK HOT WATER IF YOU DESIRE A ROSY COMPLEXION

Says we can't help but look better and feel better after an inside bath.

To look one's best and feel one's best is to enjoy an inside bath each morning to flush from the system the previous day's waste, sour fermentations and poisonous toxins before it is absorbed into the blood. Just as coal, when it burns, leaves behind a certain amount of incombustible material in the form of ashes, so the food and drink taken each day leave in the alimentary organs a certain amount of indigestible material, which if not eliminated, form toxins and poisons which are then sucked into the blood through the very ducts which are intended to suck in only nourishment to sustain the body.

If you want to see the glow of healthy bloom in your cheeks, to see your skin get clearer and clearer, you are told to drink every morning upon arising a glass of hot water with a teaspoonful of limestone phosphate in it, which is a harmless means of washing the waste material and toxins from the stomach, liver, kidneys and bowels, before putting more food into the stomach.

Men and women with sallow skins, liver spots, pimples or pallid complexion, are those who wake up with a coated tongue, bad taste, nasty breath, others who are bothered with headaches, bilious spells, acid stomach or constipation should begin this phosphated hot water drinking.

A quarter pound of limestone phosphate costs very little at the drug store, but is sufficient to demonstrate that just as soap and hot water cleanses, purifies and freshens the skin on the outside, so hot water and limestone phosphate act, on the inside organs.

THE DAY OF THE PARTY

CHAPTER XXIV.

The day of the party I woke early. I was as excited as if I were giving the birthday dinner instead of Evelyn. Mrs. Sexton was due at ten o'clock which rather disgusted me, but even she couldn't quite quench my high spirits.

"Have poise my dear Mrs. Howard. A woman without poise is never a popular woman," she told me that morning, and a lot I didn't even hear although I pretended to. I was sure she reported to George, and I was not anxious for a scolding.

After she left I flew upstairs and laid out everything I should wear. I should have to dress early as George would come home to see that I wouldn't disgrace him by not being properly gowned. I suppose I should have felt flattered, but I didn't one bit. I knew he was going back to the club to dinner, and it seemed so silly for him to come way home just to criticize me.

After luncheon I went shopping and bought some fresh gloves and slippers. So that he could have no possible cause to tell me I was not fit.

Then I lay down for an hour before I bathed and dressed. I was all ready however when George came in about six o'clock. The dinner was at seven. George said it was outrageously early, but I thought it just the right hour. I got so hungry when I waited until eight o'clock for dinner, as we had at Mrs. Loring's.

George Approves.

"Yes, you'll do very well," he said as I ran down the stairs. "I think you look better in it than you did when you wore it before. Your hair is dressed more becomingly perhaps."

"No, just the same," I answered, and thought I could tell him if I would why I looked better. It was because I was happier. Then I had been frightened, awed because of the kind of people I was to meet. Now I knew they were all young happy things like myself, and then Merton Gray was to be there too.

"I'll wait and drive down with you," George said.

"Oh that will be lovely!" I exclaimed. "It will almost seem as if you were going," and I smiled happily at him.

He bent down and kissed my lips. It was such little things he did when least expected that kept my love alive. Had he not occasionally shown some feeling I am sure it would have died out almost as soon as I was alone with him.

But I had learned not to be demonstrative when he gave me any sort of a caress, so now I just patted his arm contentedly and sat quietly reading until it was time to go.

George wrapped me in the same lovely blue cloak I had worn to Mrs. Loring's, and after we were in the car and I laid my hand on his knee he took it in his and held it all the way to Evelyn's.

"I am so sorry you aren't coming," I said as he helped me out, and I meant it. I was sorry then; later I knew he wouldn't have enjoyed the evening, and probably would have spoiled it for me. We were altogether too hilarious to please him, too natural.

The Guests Arrive.

I was a little early. I had promised Evelyn I would be, but early as I was, Merton Gray was but a few minutes later.

"This is indeed a 'pleasure,'" he said as we shook hands. "I hope I may be able to console you for your husband's absence."

"Oh yes you will!" I exclaimed, then blushed crimson to think how it sounded.

"Never mind. I know what you meant. He couldn't come, so you have made up your mind to be pleased with his substitute."

Wasn't it wonderful, I thought, how easily he understood me, how he knew just what to say to make me comfortable?

But the other guests came directly and I was carried away by Evelyn to be introduced.

There was a Mr. and Mrs. Rivers, a charming young couple; her name was Olive, Olive Rivers; his was Peter. I thought it so queer—"Peter Rivers"—it didn't sound nice at all, but afterward it seemed as if no other name would ever have been half so disinctive. Then a Miss Mabel Pratt, and Hugh Emery, then Dick Carter and his cute little wife Lilly, and the two Lawson sisters, Jennie and June with their fiancees. They were twins and were soon to be married on the same day, to Frank Arden and Charlton Mott — Jennie to Frank, and June to Charlton. I hoped they would invite me to the wedding. Then there was Merton Gray, Evelyn and Kurts, and myself.

Everyone was so gay over the introductions. They all expressed their sorrow at George's absence very prettily, but all of them were delighted that Merton Gray had taken his place. He knew most of them, and soon made friends with the others. Oh, how good it seemed to be in that laughing, chatting crowd, all talking at once just as we used to at home. I could shut my eyes and almost think I was back with the boys and girls.

GREATEST RULE OF HEALTH

With all their differences in regard to disease, its cause and treatment, doctors are of one mind in regard to the one greatest rule of health, viz: "Daily movement of the Bowels." Unnumbered thousands of people suffer almost continuously as the result of constipation who could be readily cured by Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills.

Germination tests of all grain to be sown are especially necessary at this time.

Caterpillars Make Raid.

A plague of caterpillars devastated the region of Puy, in Auvergne, France. In the village of Aiguilhe they even invaded houses, causing the villagers to flee. At Vals several roads were covered with them to such a depth as to render traffic impossible, while the washerwomen on the banks of the River Borne were obliged to cease work. Great damage was caused to crops, a single night sufficing for the caterpillars to clear large areas. All the usual remedies proved unavailing.

Violets.

Violets are natives to nearly all lands and thrive very generally everywhere, the greater number in the shade, but some in the sun.

Many Reasons Why Liquid Cough Mixtures Can't Cure Bronchitis

But the Healing Fumes of Catarrhozone, Which are Breathed to the Furthest Recesses of the Bronchial Tubes, Bring Quick Relief and Sure Cure.

Every sufferer from coughs, colds, bronchitis and all throat and chest ailments needs a soothing, healing medicine which goes direct to the breathing organs in the chest and lungs attacks the trouble at the source, disperses the germs of disease, and cures the ailment thoroughly. And this medicine is "Catarrhozone."

The germ-killing balsamic vapor mixes with the breath, descends through the throat, down the bronchial tubes, and finally reaches the deepest air cells in the lungs. All parts are soothed with rich, pure, medicinal essences, whereas with a syrup the affected parts could not be reached, and harm would result through benumbing the stomach with drugs.

"I have been a chronic sufferer from catarrh in the nose and throat for over eight years. I think I have spent four hundred dollars trying to get relief. I have spent but six dollars on Catarrhozone, and have been completely cured, and, in fact, have been well for some time. Catarrhozone is the only medicine I have been able to find that would not only give temporary relief but will always cure permanently. Yours sincerely, (Signed) WILLIAM RAGAN. Brockville, Ont.

For absolute, permanent cure, use Catarrhozone. Two months' outfit costs $1.00; smaller size, 50c., at all storekeepers and druggists, or The Catarrhozone Company, Buffalo, N. Y., and Kingston, Canada.

A Handy Utensil.

"The soldiers in the trenches wear gas masks, and near the front the French children go to school with them on," mused a citizen of Parkwinkle, who was of unusual width betwixt the eyes, observes the Kansas City Star. "I believe if I could get hold of a practicable gas mask I would wear it to the town hall tonight, where the handbills announce that Hon. Braggin Blow will talk on the patriotic duties of the hour, but where in reality he will with many words permit us to learn the glad news that at the earnest solicitation of his many friends he has reluctantly consented to become a candidate for re-election to congress."

The Smallest Cartoon.

A certain small boy has drawn a caricature picture of President Wilson upon a single grain of corn. He spent about a half hour in doing the work, for which he used water colors, says Christian Science Monitor. It is said that some time ago he drew a similar picture upon a single grain of corn and, upon sending his work to the president, he received an appreciative acknowledgment from Washington. This is believed to be the smallest cartoon picture in the world, for it measures only about a quarter of an inch in the longest direction. The likeness is in profile.

Airplane Wrecks Train.

An airplane has often proved itself more than a match for its antagonist in an unequal encounter. A French aviator once penetrated far behind the German lines and chanced upon a heavily laden troop train. The speed of his craft being fully twice that of this unusual antagonist, it gave him an advantage he was quick to use. The airplane flew so low that its machine gun was brought to bear upon the cars, raking them with disastrous results. Still flying very low, the airman increased his speed and, on coming abreast of the locomotive, shot both engineer and fireman. Left to itself, the locomotive raced forward uncontrolled, and taking a sharp curve at high speed was wrecked with great loss of life.

Wise Bertie.

Mamma—Oh, Bertie, here you are again all covered with mud from head to foot.

Bertram (in tears)—It isn't my fault. I was sailing on a plank when Willie Meige gave me a push, and over I went.

Mamma—Well, what are you crying so about? Is it painful to be covered with mud?

Bertram—No, it ain't; but I thought that if I came in laughing you would whip me.

Germans Have Been Unable To Break Through British Defense After 4 Days' Heavy Fighting

British Efforts Are Centered on Withdrawing as the Occasion Requires and Permitting the Enemy to Wear Himself Out Before the British Defense---Heavy Fighting is Still in Progress---54 Enemy Machines Brought Down

A MASTERLY RETIREMENT

(By The Associated Press.)

NEW YORK, March 25.—To-day's review of the British position in alFndrse says:

Persistent attacks with strong forces of infantry and lavish use of artillery have not enabled the Germans to break through the British defense, and after four days, the great offensive blow in Northern France has not yet brought a decision for the attackers. Heavy fighting is in progress around Bapaume, near Peronne and where the French and British fronts join.

BRITISH WITHDRAWAL WAS PREVIOUSLY PLANNED.

Field Marshal Haig's withdrawal, previously planned in case of heavy enemy attack, has been executed in a manner described as masterly and great credit for its success is given to small units which sometimes outnumbered eight to one, clung to their posts and impeded the German advance. British have made few counter attacks, but every one attempted has been successful. British efforts are centred on withdrawing as occasion requires and permittin gthe enemy to wear himself out before the British defense.

BRITISH BROUGHT DOWN FIFTY-FOUR ENEMY MACHINES.

The intensity of the struggle is shown by the official announcement that British aviators on Saturday brought down fifty-four enemy machines. The British lost only nine. In addition to carrying out their work in the fighting zone, British airmen again have dropped bombs successfully on Mannheim, Germany.

GERMAN ARTILLERY FIRE HAS BEEN VIOLENT.

Berlin claims that French and American detachments aided the British in the fighting on Saturday, but the identity of the American units have not been learned. It is possible that American and French troops from the Chemin Des Dames sector have moved up to the Oise or north of it, but more probabl thaet American engineers with the British army were concerned. There has been little except artillery fire activity on the remainder of the British front, and on the French and American sector. German artillery fire has been violent along the Chemin Des Dames, in the Champagne, east of Verdun, and in Alsace.

Coal Dealers Disagreed On Method Of Registering The Purchases Made By Citizens

The coal dealers of this city, at a meeting on Saturday night, failed to agree upon the details of a system that would effect a complete registration of the coal distributed in Peterborough this year. All the retail fuel companies were represented, and there was an evident desire to co-operate, but two clearly distinct ideas were presented and developed, and efforts to arrange a compromise were unavailing.

Mayor Duncan, a short time ago, proposed a general scheme, whereby, beginning on April 1st, every order for coal placed with the retail dealers would have to be first recorded, and, in a sense, endorsed by an official appointed by the city.

Most of the dealers at Saturday night's meeting were opposed to this proposal. It amply provided for the recording of the citizens' orders, but it did not guarantee to them that these orders would be filled. In short, it remained at the dealer's option whether he delivered all or any part of such orders. He could easily accept them, but he was not guaranteeing delivery.

The other suggested plan would send the consumers to the dealers first. At the coal offices they would receive cards entitling them to supplies. The cards would be imprinted with tablets of dates and quantities which would be punched by the dealers whenever an order was accepted and delivered. Thus the purchaser would retain a complete record of his orders and receipts, and these would also be shown in the books of the dealer. Under this scheme it was suggested that the dealers would forward every morning to the city's keeper of the coal records a list of the sales made on the previous day.

By this plan, which most of the dealers favoured, it was stated, and is practically identical with the idea disclosed in the recent advertisement of the R. Hicks Co., the city would be assured of the registration of every order of coal delivered, and the citizens would be guaranteed the quantities indicated on the cards. By this plan, if a dealer promises a customer coal the latter's card would show it and the obligation would clearly rest with that dealer. Under the other plan the city would pass an order on to the dealer, but there would be no direct responsibility on the dealer of filling that order. And this year the citizens demand security, and while the dealers as a whole are united in a desire to establish it, they are divided on the detail of method.

The advocates of the second plan mentioned above are convinced that it would be the more satisfactory to the citizens for this reason, among others, no order of coal would be promised this summer unless it could be filled.

SURRENDERED IN THE AIR.

Two German Aviators, Surrounded, Yielded to British Without a Fight.

AMSTERDAM.—How a British air squadron captured two German airplanes in full flight over Ghent is told in a telegram from the Dutch-Belgian frontier.

The British airmen, being in heavy numerical superiority, surrounded their opponents. The Germans saw there was no chance of escape. Rather than fight to inevitable death, the two German pilots hung out white flags and meekly flew away toward the British lines, surrounded by a flock of British airplanes.

WANTS UNFIT OF CLASS I CONSCRIPTED TO FARMS.

County Council of Hastings Passes Resolution to Ask Government.

BELLEVILLE, March 25. — Hastings County Council, at a special session on Saturday, passed a resolution calling on the Government to conscript for farm labour men of Class I rejected from military service on account of physical unfitness, and organized for production in municipalities, with the Reeves as conveners of committees. Five thousand dollars was voted to the overseas work of the Y.M.C.A.

GERMANS HAVE BEEN UNABLE TO MAINTAIN ALL THEIR GAINS

Terrific Encounters With Mounted and Unmoupted Germans Resulted In Driving the Enemy Back

THE STRUGGLE CONTINUES

(Special to the Toronto Star and The Peterborough Examiner.)

(By William Philip Simms.)

WITH THE BRITISH ARMIES IN THE FIELD, March 25.— Under the eyes of Captains and Kings, the great battle crashes on without pause.

Haig and others are fingering its pulse on this side. The Kaiser, Crown Prince Friedrich Wilhelm, Crown Prince Rupprecht, Hindenburg and Ludendorff are in consultation on the other side.

The struggle widens in the night time and contracts during the day.

BOMBING WAR PLANES.

In moonlight of sufficient brilliance to permit the reading of a newspaper, bombing war planes swarm out, carrying high explosives far behind the batle zone. They broaden the area of death scores of miles, few villages escaping.

When the sun rises the bombers, like night birds, return to their roosts, ground fighting speeds up, and scout fleets, succeeding the bombers, fly over the clashing infantry, harrassing enemy columns and observing for the artillery.

British airmen have smashed records. The 47 German airplanes downed Friday were equalled again Saturday and probably Sunday.

The battling is almost exclusively between Tergnier canal and Ham re- While the struggle continues throughout the line, it is the hottest on the British right.

CAVALRY ACTION FRUSTRATED.

Prussian cavalry, hurled forward at various points, attempted to hack through the British lines, but was foiled everywhere.

Terrific encounters with mounted and unmounted enemy in the region between Tergnier cana lad Ham resulted in driving the Germans back.

Although making some progress, the Germans have been unable to maintain all their gains.

In the midst of the most stubborn fighting, the British cannot refrain smiling at the German wireless claim that a considerable portion of the British army is defeated.

U.S. ISSUES PERMITS FOR COAL TO CANADA.

Canada's Fuel Controller May Also Issue Permits to U. S. Shippers.

WASHINGTON, March 25.—Permits for the month of April, May and June have been issued by the Fuel Administration to a large number of coal operators for exports of coal to Canada. C. A. Magrath, Fuel Controller for Canada, has been given the privilege of calling on the Fuel Administration to issue permits to any shippers who may apply to him.

The Administration announcement says that allotments of coal to Canada during the past season were on the same basis as if Canada were one of the States of the Union. In return, Canada furnishes coal to this country.

Much of the product that is used in the north-western parts of the United States comes from the mines of British Columbia.

THE GERMAN OBJECTIVE

The Fall of Amiens Would Assist Enemy to Strike at Channel Ports —Germany's Man Power is Diminishing

A GERMAN REVERSE

LONDON, March 25.— Commenting on the results of the German offensive, the Daily Chronicle says:

"Assuming that the German losses are a least 150,000, the enemy has sustained a reverse, for he has not obtained a strategical success directly conducing to a decision, while he has lost eight to ten per cent. of his effectives wtihout similarly lowering the efficiency of the Allies. This matter is of the greatest importance for Germany at present is at a critical moment when the man power pendulum is swinging in favour of the Allies. No weakness at the Anglo-French junction has yet been disclosed and the task before the enemy in the next days of the battle is more formidable than that already accomplished."

THE ULTIMATE OBJECT.

"The ultimate object of this rapid enemy advance is clearly the great strategic point of Amiens," says the London Times, and though it is still remote, the situation is sufficiently serious to warrant a contemplation of such a catastrophe. The fall of Amiens might have three-fold consequences. It would bring the enemy to a point from which to threaten our northern line, it would assist them to strike at channel ports and it would endanger seriously the safety of Paris.

The item advises British people to take seriously the long range gun which has bombarded Paris, and adds: "We may be quite certain that our own inviolate shores will soon learn what the new gun can do."

PRESIDENT WILSON ALSO CABLES CONGRATULATIONS TO HAIG

(Special to the Toronto Star and The Peterborough Examiner.)

LONDON, March 25.—King George sent the following message to Field Marshall Haig: "I can assure you that the fortitude, courage and self-sacrifice with which the troops under your command continue so heroically to resist greatly superior numbers, are realized by me and my people. The Empire stands confident in its soldiers. May God bless them and give them strength in this time of trial."

FROM PRESIDENT WILSON.

WASHINGTON, March 25.— President Wilson cabled Field Marshall Haig, congratulating him on the British stand against the German offensive and predicting a final allied victory.

The President's message read:

"May I not express to you my warm admiration of the splendid steadfastness and valour with which your troops have withstood the German onslaught, and with perfect confidence all Americans feel that you will win a secure and final victory."

AN AUSTRIAN VIEW OF PRESENT GERMAN OFFENSIVE

Special to the Toronto Star and The Peterborough Examiner.)

COPENHAGEN, March 25.—"The present German offensive is only a link in the great offensive," Gen. Auffenberg of the Austrian armies declared in an interview published in the newspaper Azujsag to-day.

"It will be a long time before the final result is reached."

A useful cement for mending delicate china may be made by mixing rice flour with cold water, and simmering it gently over a fire until it becomes thick.

BRITISH OFFICIAL

The Enemy's Advance Has Been Stopped All Along the Line, Field Marshal Haig Reports

FRENCH OFFICIAL

LONDON, March 25. —The German forces crossed the Somme River south of Peronne, between that city and Licourt, but were driven back to the east bank by counter attacks, Field Marshal Haig reported to-day.

The first hostile attacks this morning developed north and south of Bapaume, Haig said.

(Bapaume is eighteen miles west of Cambrai, and more than six miles south-west of the nearest point held by the Germans before the present offensive.)

BATTLE CONTINUES.

The battle continues with great violence on the whole front.

North of Bapaume yesterday evening powerful attacks were repulsed with heavy enemy losses. At only one point did the Germans reach the British trenches. They were immediately thrown out. Elsewhere, the enemy attacks were stopped by British rifle and machine gun fire and he was driven back with great losses.

ADVANCES STOPPED.

This may be regarded as the most optimistic official statement issued by Field Marshal Haig since the German offensive began. According to the British Commander, the enemy's advance has been stopped all along the line, temporarily at least.

French Official

PARIS, March 25.—French troops relieved part of the Allied forces Saturday, taking over the struggle, the War Office communique stated today.

Hard fighting was reported in the Noyon region. French forces held the heights on the right bank of the Oise against important enemy attacks.

North-west of Rheims, there was violent artillerying in the Courcy and Loivre regions.

RAIDS FAILED.

East of Suippes, (in the Champaign region, where American troops are located) two enemy raids fell down.

Active artillerying occurrred between Arracourt and the Vosges, east of Baden-Villers (where American troops are in the line). The enemy attacked at dawn, but was thrown back with heavy losses.

LUNEVILLE SHELLED

(United Press Service.)

(Special to the Toronto Star and The Peterborough Examiner.)

(By Fred S. Ferguson.)

WITH THE AMERICAN ARMY IN FRANCE, March 27.—No American regiments have participated with the British in meeting the German offensive, it was stated authoritatively here to-day.

Increased activity has been observed in the rear of the German lines.

BOMBARDMENT INCREASING.

German airplanes, flying low, repeatedly have dropped gas bombs on the American trenches.

Luneville (about ten miles behind the sector in which the Americans are fighting) is being shelled for the first time in two years. The German bombardment is increasing.

BIBLE STUDENTS ASK THAT BAN BE RAISED

SAY PEOPLE WILL RESENT PROHIBITION OF LITERATURE.

Ottawa, March 25.—The local class of International Bible Students at their meeting on Sunday afternoon, passed a resolution of protest opposing the ban recently placed on their literature and their protest has been forwarded to the Secretary of State.

The resolution follows:

"Martin Burrell, Esq.,

"Secretary of State for Canada.

"Honorable Sir:—

"Members of the Ottawa Branch of the International Bible Students' Association at a rally meeting, voiced their earnest protest against your action in banning the 'Finished Mystery,' seventh volume in a series of Scripture Studies, together with the tract literature of their organization, known as the 'Bible Student's Monthly.'

"Our association is strictly along religious lines, non-political, undenominational, international, and has as its object the free dissemination of Bible Truth.

"In our estimation the people of the Canadian Commonwealth will resent an action which may well be regarded as an infringement of the inalienable rights of all men to full religious freedom in the interpretation of God's word and the proclamation of its message.

"Signed International Bible Students' Association, Ottawa Branch."

PLAGUE SWEEPING NORTHERN CHINA.

"Thousands Dead," Says Cable Received by U. S. Foreign Mission Board.

BOSTON, Mass., March 23.—The plague sweeping Northern China is causing thousands of deaths, according to a cable received by the American Board of Commissioners for Foreign Missions here.

The report, which came from Dr. Percy Watson, a Johns Hopkins man at Fanchow, said in one city in Mongolia north of the Great Wall of China, more than 1,000 deaths had occurred in five days.

At Kweihwating there are 150 deaths a day. In another city in the Province of Shansi the bodies of 1,400 plague victims were found piled ready for burning.

The Chinese and American health authorities are attempting to stop all traffic through the Great Wall in the hope of preventing the spread of the scourge.

French Forces Are Also In Action North of Bapaume—Failed to Get Through British Barrage.

UHLANS EMPLOYED

Canadian Press Despatch:

LONDON, March 25.— The British this morning were counter-attacking between Nesle and Ham, a Reuter's correspondent at British headquarters reports. The French were also in action. North of Bapaume, he states, the Germans were attacking in considerable force at dawn, but did not get through the British barrage.

The Germans, says the correspondent, are relying upon sheer weight of numbers in their heavy attacks on the British lines, relieving their tired troops by fresh divisions, which press forward without waiting for artillery support. The enemy all day yesterday and throughout the moonlight last night, kept up his hammering of the British positions, the British troops resisting with valiant stubborness. The Germans are employing many small bodies of Uhlans mainly as scouting patrols, it is added.

RUSSIAN MEMBER OF 93RD BATTALION KILLED IN ACTION

Pte. S. Merik of Peterboro' Unit Meets Death in France—Two Other 93rd Men Are Hit

KILLED IN ACTION.

Pte. J. Merik, Canadian Infantry, formerly of the 93rd Battalion.

WOUNDED.

Pte. W. Turner, Mounted Rifles formerly of the 93rd Battalion.

Pte. J. Quackenbush, Mounted Rifles, formerly of the 93rd Battalion.

The names of three former members of the Peterboro county battalion appear in to-day's official Canadian Casualty lists.

Pte. J. Merik, who is officially reported killed in action, was a native of Russian Poland, who enlisted here in the autumn of 1915. He had lived in the district for a number of years. Pte. Merik went overseas with the 93rd and was transferred to another Canadian battalion in France. He was wounded last year but had been back on the firing line for some time and now has fallen fighting for his adopted country.

Pte. J. Quackenbush, whose next-of-kin resides at Zurich, Ont, and who enlisted here with the 93rd, is on the wounded list. He went to France in a draft of the Mounted Rifles.

Pte. W. Turner, an Apaley member of the 93rd, who also was at the front with the Mounted Rifles, is officially reported wounded to-day.

"MADE-IN-GERMANY"

FLOODING RUSSIA.

THE KING'S MESSAGE.

"The Empire stands calm and confident in its soldiers."

The above message, wired by His Majesty the King to Field Marshal Haig, must be made a living reality by the people of Canada as well as by the British Empire. Although the news from France shows an initial success at a very heavy price for the Germans, the world's greatest battle is only beginning.

"THE EMPIRE STANDS CALM AND CONFIDENT IN ITS SOLDIERS."

A STRIKING ADVERTISEMENT.

The advertisement of the Organization of Resources Committee, which appears elsewhere in to-day's issue, is a striking portrayal of the seriousness of the food problem. Beginning with the British Food Controller's statement that "the word 'shortage' is not strong enough, and the whole world is up against a nasty thing, familiar to the people of India, called famine," the committee emphasizes that the heart of the problem is labour."

In the light of the statement that upon the 1918 crop from Canada and the United States depends the fate of the democratic peoples of the world, the advertisement should be read carefully and thoughtfully.

The point touched upon by Mr. Gillespie at Saturday's meeting of the County Council is splendidly brought out as follows:

"The burden is not one to be placed solely upon the farmer; neither can it be placed upon the townsman. It is a personal obligation upon every man, woman, boy and girl in every farm, town and city home, in the province of Ontario.

"AWAY WITH CRITICISM—Co-operate, Mr. City Man; don't say that the farmer should do so-and-so, and thus allow criticism in this hour of our nation's peril to cripple your effort.

"Mr. Farmer: Don't under-estimate the value the city man can be to you."

WILL DO THEIR BEST.

"If the Government had done as well as the farmers there would be none of this trouble to-day. They are talking production now when they should have begun three or four years ago."

In the remarks quoted above and delivered at Saturday's meeting of the County Council, Warden Brown has given a practical farmer's opinion of the agricultural situation, and there is the ring of truth in every word. It has taken the Ottawa Government a long time to realize that food production was going to be a big factor in the struggle against German militarism. Shell factories were encouraged by prices that allowed them to make enormous profits; manufacturers of all kinds of war material received similar asistance, but the farmer was allowed to struggle along as best he could. What asaistance and help he secured last year came from the Provincial Government, while Ottawa's contribution was an occasional advertisement calling upon the farmers to produce.

However, the farmers of Peterborough County are determined to do their utmost to meet the needs of the situation. The resolution of the County Council, calling upon them to sow at least five acres of spring wheat this season and to sow as much coarse grain as possible, will, it is expected, be generally followed, and in this way the production of essential foodstuffs will be greatly increased.

Practically all the reeves reported a great scarcity of labour in their townships—a condition that will be improved considerably if the Minister of Militia sees his way clear to grant leave of absence to all skilled farm labourers until after the first of June at least, as a resolution from the Council asks him to do.

TIMELY COUNSEL.

Mr. G. A. Gillespie, in his address to the County Council, on Saturday, drew attention to a condition that has been rapidly developing in Canada and that is none the less serious because it has not often been discussed in public, and that is the tendency of the urban peoples and the residents of rural sections to draw apart. City dwellers are inclined to look upon many farmers as profiteers and as being responsible for the high cost of living, while the farmer, on the other hand, is trying to produce as much as possible in the face of an abnormal scarcity of skilled labour.

Mr. Gillespie's apeal for a better understanding and for the development of a spirit of co-operation and harmony between the two great sections of Canada's population, was a forcible and timely one, and both city and rural residents would do well to consider his remarks and consider ways and means of uniting their forces for the prosecution of the war.

AN AMERICAN TRIBUTE.

The fame that Canada's soldiers have won for this country is illustrated by a splendid tribute to their courage and self sacrifice which appears in a letter received by the Examiner from Mr. Erwin Keene, 634 Maupas Ave., Savannah, Georgia, commenting on the action of the city council in refusing the Veterans' request for a grant. Mr. Keene happened to note the incident as reported in the Examiner, and from the far south writes as follows:

"As one of thousands Americans who have known, loved and travelled in Canada, it seems to me the city would be privileged in making this grant. Peterboro and Canada will never again have a chance to honour heroes of such supreme courage and self-sacrifice as those who from cities, towns and the far North West literally fought each other to get into your training camps, and so on to the 2nd Ypres, where 10,000 fell out of 12,000 engaged, fighting nearly six days and nights continuously in mud, filth, and starvation that the line might be held."

"And it was held. With a paucity of ammunition, but lion hearts they hung on until relieved and the snarling Hun was kept at bay."

"The places of those early ones were taken by others throughout all the long war, and a list of Canada's battles would be a list of Canada's victories, whereby Mayors and other folk still hold their jobs in safety.

"Those of us in the States who think at all, realize what France, Belgium and the British Empire have done to save our wives and children and our native land from the witches' broth of German invasion. Our regret is that we came in so late. Our hope and belief is that some of our boys may equal the shining deeds of the sons of the Mapel Leaf."

"If they do we shall honour them fittingly, whether by grants for club rooms rental, or in any way they may be willing to allow us to show our appreciation."

THE PROPER PERSPECTIVE.

In gauging the war news from the world's greatest battle now being waged on the Western front it is necessary to get the proper perspective, and not to be carried away by early reverses in the stupendous struggle going on between the forces of democracy and autocracy.

The Toronto Star publishes a letter to one of the staff, written on January 2nd last, by one of the foremost British war critics, which emphasizes this point, and makes a forecast of what may be expected. In the light of the news from the British front his letter, which is as follows, is of peculiar interest:

"You must be prepared at the outset for what will look like serious reverses. The battles which are impending will be the bloodiest in the war—the bloodiest in the history of the world. The German is going to stake his all on one last throw of the dice—he is going to stake his all in the attempt to gain a decision before the summer.

"The battles which are impending will be fought under conditions which will no doubt often render the retention of this ground or that ground by the allies a matter of sheer impossibility. It is not likely that the greatest offensive in the world will be wholly barren of results, particularly in its initial stages. You must expect to see the enemy pushing us—or trying to push us—back to the western slopes of —— and the ——, and wrenching us from the grip of ——. You must be prepared for very heavy attacks in —— and in ——. We are on the eve of a series of stupendous and prolonged batles which will end with the final and absolute exhaustion of one side or the other.

"From what we know of the Germans we may be certain that their offensive will not be lacking in ferocity in its opening stages any more than it will lack thoroughness in preparation. In the face of the first desperate onslaught the allies lines must inevitably bend and give here and there. Ground—and occasionally very much ground—will have to be yielded. But for all that the Germans are not going to get a decision. That is the one prediction we can make with absolute certainty.

"The Germans are not going to beat the allies in the battles impending on the western front. They are not going to starve them out—that is now out of the question. Failing in both designs, I confidently expect to see themselves collapse before the end of August."

EDITORIAL NEWS.

The election of Capt. Redmond to his father's seat in Waterford, over a Sinn Feiner, was a bright spot in the general gloom of Saturday's cable news.

The agitation of the Great War Veterans against aliens in Canada will find many sympathisers.

Not since the first days of the war have the people of Peterboro been so moved by the news from overseas as in the past three days. The Examiner's telephones have been kept busy, while all day yesterday there was a group in front of the bulletin boards.

The election in Waterford, Ireland, seems to have been a lively affair. It was a double knock out for the Sinn Fein candidate, who, after his defeat at the polls, was bowled over by a brick.

Huns opposite the Canadians have litle time to celebrate the success of their comrades in the south. General Currie's men gave them something else to think about on Friday night, when the Canucks turned loose the biggest gas bombardment in the world's history.

WHAT OTHER EDITORS SAY

DOUBTFUL.

(Guelph Mercury)

The ornamental pile at Toronto known as Government House, cost the country $28,000 to keep up. The 960 tons of coal consumed there in a year would have kept over a thousand families in fuel and comfort for a month. It is doubtful if Government House is worth the expenditure.

A LITTLE LATE.

(London Advertiser)

One of the decisions arrived at by provincial premiers in regard to the best methods of increasing production is "to enlist the sympathy of the newspapers." That's fine, seeing that the newspapers have been working hard for months to enlist the sympathy of the governments in the same cause.

SOURCE OF THE KAISER'S POWER.

(Philadelphia Record)

The German resembles a slave ruled by his master by mere word or look, without resort to whip or letters. His servitude is in himself, in his soul. Worse than bodily slavery is spiritual. The German must be freed from within; outward effort is useless. No, this is not a recent thought of President Wilson's. It was penned by Heinrich Heine during the first half of the nineteenth century.

GOOD ADVICE.

(Prairie News).

"If the Government of this great Dominion would get right down to business and put the crimp on the food profiteer and leave the matter of food control to the Canadian housewife, something practical might be accomplished."

WHY, INDEED?

(Kingston Whig).

Why should the province continue paying three license commissioners $18,000 per annum to boss the sale of 2 1-2 per cent. beer?

THE ORIGINAL FIRSTS.

(Toronto Globe)

Such scenes, multiplied by the score as the war-worn veterans mingled with their loved ones, are profaned by description. But they demonstrate that the men whose fearless heroism more than once "saved the situation" in the grim and ghastly struggle for freedom are not hardened and estranged by their terrible experiences. They are the same splendid human comrades who more than three years ago set forth on the great adventure, now ennobled by service, by self-sacrifice, and by new understanding of those things more enduring than life and more profound than death.

Canada's soldiers are still her best citizens.

A TIMELY WARNING.

Montreal Star: A jail sentence for Mr. "I've Been Told" should serve as a timely warning to Mr. "They Say" and Mrs. "Did You Hear" and Miss "A Friend Told Me." These loose-tongued people have made too free for many months with the good name of men who are fighting overseas to keep the stay-at-home busybodies safe.

ONE SOLDIER'S ATTITUDE.

Reconstruction.

"What are you going to do when you are discharged?" a middle-aged patient in one of Canada's military convalescent hospitals was asked. "Do?" he echoed. "I'm going to do what any sane man of my age would do. I'm going straight back to work. This is just marking time in one's life, like having to go to a wedding on one's busiest mail day. I'm not going to exploit the war as a means of getting a living, or do any fool thing like that. I am going straight back to my office, I am. I know exactly where I turned down the page of my sales when I came out—it was page 79—and I'm going to start it again at page 80."

PERHAPS SO.

(Toronto Globe)

Those pretty eight-dollar ladies' bags that the Senators purchased for themselves with public money may have been designed to encourage war time knitting of socks on the part of legislators who have little else to do.

MUST SOLVE IRISH ISSUE.

"Reconciliation in Ireland Urgent in Allied and World Interest"—Asquith.

LONDON, March 23. — "These are critical moments in the fortunes of Ireland," said former Premier Asquith in an address on Friday. "We hear disquieting reports, but one thing is most urgent, not only in the interest of Britain, Ireland and the British Empire, but in the interests of the Allied cause, and the future of the world, reconciliation in Ireland.

"I refuse to believe that at this supreme moment British-Irish statesmanship is so bankrupt that it cannot find an honourable solution."

If the war should last another year, said Mr. Asquith, the national debt would be £8,000,000,000. This could be met only by industrial expansion.

The former Premier declared strongly for continuation of free trade.

Regarding State control of industries, he said: "Our experience has not been altogether happy under a cohort of controllers." He believed Great Britain could not maintain competition against the world under that system.

CHEAP POTATOES.

BIG DANCE ON MONDAY NEXT

Committees Appointed to Complete the Programme.

On Monday evening next, a dance will be held in the Conservatory Hall. The music will be in charge of Musgrave of Toronto, which is a guarantee that it will be of the best.

On Tuesday evening a Military Euchre will be held, at which seventy tables are being arranged. The proceeds are to be given to the funds of the 57th Regiment Band.

The Committees.

The following ladies comprise the committees:

Military Euchre Committee: Mrs. Dr. Gallivan, convenor; Mrs. Dr. Eastwood, Mrs. Dr. Buchanan, Mrs. Dr. Cameron, Mrs Clegg, Mrs. Spence, Mrs. Turner, Mrs. Sharpe, Mrs. Jamieson, Miss Hurley.

Refreshment and Dance Committee: Miss Florence Gladman, convenor; Mrs. G. Lech, Mrs. Gemmell, Mrs. Fisk, Mrs. Schneider, Mrs. Merrell, Mrs. Meredith, Mrs. Westbrook, Mrs. Dr. Carmichael, Mrs. R. Gliddon, Mrs Foote, Mrs Gillespie, Miss Worth, Miss Muriel Gladman, Miss Davidson, Miss Marion Rush.

Maple Sugar Can Be Substituted

Not many years ago cane sugar soared to a price of fifteen cents a pound and relief was obtained by the manufacture of maple sugar.

Your grandmother used it to sweeten her tea and to make her pies and cookies.

Try it now, when cane sugar is so scarce and is needed so badly by France and Italy and Great Britain.

LEGISLATURE WILL CLOSE TO-MORROW

After to-morrow's closing ceremony the Legislature corridors will echo the voices of the law-makers of this Province for the last time for several months. At 3 o'clock Tuesday afternoon His Honour Sir John Hendrie, the Lieutenant-Governor, will visit Queen's Park and officially declare the Assembly prorogued. Then the few out-of-town members who come to the city for the official exercises will hie themselves back to their constituencies and "carry on" until next February or March. And with no election in the offing they will not find it difficult to do that.

Music & Drama

"THE ISLE O' DREAMS."

"The Isle O' Dreams, Rida Johnston Young's romantic play, which was seen here early in the season, paid a return visit to the Grand on Saturday and won fresh laurels for Mr. Julius Velie, the talented young actor-singer and the clever caste which supported him. The story is a logical and entertaining one with a pretty romance running through it, and the audience thoroughly enjoyed the presentation. Mr. Velie's singing of "When Irish Eyes are Smiling," "Mother Machree," and other songs, was a feature.

Vocal solo, 'Canada Our Canada'—Mr. Davis.
Recitation, selected — Miss Muriel Podger.
God Save the King.

A gratifying sum was realized for the Soldiers' Comfort Club.

Letter From Soldier.

Mr. W. H. Casement has received the following letter from Gunner E. T. Shawen, with reference to the death of Corp. P. B. Pattrick, who was a resident of Lakefield up to the time of enlistment:

Somewhere in France,
19th Feb., 1918.

W. H. Casement, Lakefield, Ont.

Dear Sir,— Knowing you to be a friend of Corporal Philip Pattrick, of whose death you have doubtless heard by now, I thought you would like to hear some particulars about his death. At the time of his death he was at one of the training schools out here, taking a six weeks' course in gunnery.

He had just completed his course. I attended the final parade on Saturday, Feb. 16th, where they were inspected by one of the commanding officers of the school. During the inspection he collapsed suddenly. He was taken immediately in an ambulance to one of the stationary hospitals near at hand, where everything possible was done for him. Unfortunately all efforts were in vain, for he died at six o'clock the same evening. He was buried the following Monday at Lapuguory British military cemetery. The doctors stated that the immediate cause of death was paralysis of one side of the body brought on by the presence of a clot of blood on the brain.

His death, sudden as it was, is greatly regretted by all his comrades, who always found him one of the best of men, good-natured and courteous to cheery, good-natured and courteous to all who came in contact with him. I am,

Yours very sincerely,
E. Travers Shawen.

Corp. Pattrick went overseas with the Lakefield detachment of the 33rd Battery and his death is sincerely regretted by many Lakefield friends.

Pay Tribute To The British Resistance

British Gunners Stayed With Their Batteries Until the Last —German Reports

Canadian Press Despatch:

AMSTERDAM, March 25. —German correspondents are a unit in paying tribute to the stubborn resistance of the British, especially the artillerymen covering the retreat, who left their batteries when the Germans were only a few hundred yards distant, according to copies of German newspapers received here to-day.

TANKS DEMOLISHED.

The correspondents claim the British counter attack with tanks was molished by the German artillery. molished by the German artillery. Allied air squadrons also covered the British retreat, it was stated. The booty taken at Peronne is said to have included many motor cars.

Japanese Week At The Y. W. C. A.

Japanese Evening Was Held on Saturday

To wind up the "Japanese week" at the Y. W. C. A., a Japanese evening was given in the Green Room on Saturday night in connection with the course of Saturday evening entertainments given at the "Y". The hall and green room were prettily decorated in Chinese lanterns and Japanese crepe paper for the occasion.

THE PROGRAMME.

Miss Lancaster, who opened the programme, gave a brief and interesting talk on the "History of Japan." Miss Cuthbertson spoke on the "Women of Japan," while, under the supervision of Miss Laura Wilson, Mr. Vernon Fiske showed seventy splendid magic lantern views of Japan.

Miss Mabel Penrose sang two very acceptable solos from the Mikado, and Miss Gladys Halnan also contributed a solo.

JAPANESE DANCE.

A charming item in the programme was a dance gvien in Japanese costume by Misses May Perry, Daisy Davidson and Martha Kirn, under the direction of Miss Littlefield.

EVENING SUCCESSFUL.

The evening was most successful and well attended, and a substantial sum of money realized.

GUN MAY BE AN AERIAL TORPEDO

(Canadian Press Despatch.)

Ottawa, March 25. — One of the highest officers in the military ordnance deptrtment here has stated tha the weapon which is bombarding Paris, is not really an artillery gun, but is a projector of an aerial torpedo which is valuable more for its morale effect on people, rather than as a weapon of actual destruction.

He said that the allies had been working on this invention with more or less results.

WHY PEOPLE FEEL DEPRESSED IN THE COLD WEATHER

Why is tiredness and langour so prevalent just now? A physician explained that the cold of winter drives blood from the surface of the body to the liver. Normally one fourth of the whole blood supply is in the liver, and when more blood is accumulated in that organ everything goes wrong.

No better remedy exists than Dr. Hamilton's Pills which are composed of such vegetable extracts as Mandrake and Butternut, and possess wonderful liver stimulating powers. It's a marvel the way Hamilton's Pills clear the blood of the poisonous humors. They put new life into worn out bodies, build up the appetite, bring back a reserve of nerve energy, tide folks over the cold days of winter and the depressing days of spring. For your health and body comfort get a 25c box of Dr. Hamilton's Pills to-day.

MINERS WILL SUBMIT TO THE COMBING OUT.

British Federation Advises Men Not to Resist.

LONDON, March 23.—It is understood that the Miners' Federation has accepted the Government's proposal regarding the combing out of men for military service.

The Federation passed a resolution advising the men not to resist the combing out of 50,000 men from the mines, in view of the fact that the ballot taken by the miners did not show a two-thirds majority against the proposal.

"Rouse Up"

AT the call of Reveille in every Military District, Canada's latest contribution of sturdy manhood awakes each morning to a soldier's life and duties of a new day.

Your friends are there, your sons or brothers perhaps, and now seven mornings a week these men will rise at the call, to perform the first duty of every soldier . . . . . shave.

It is easy to see, then, why the soldiers appreciate a real razor—one that shaves clean with speed and comfort—and without fuss or frills.

Gillette Safety Razors

have proved their mettle with Canada's previous contingents. In camp, barrack room, billet or trench, it's just the same—a piece of soap, a little water, a Gillette—and in three minutes a clean, smooth skin that will pass any officer's inspection.

Our old army knows the worth of the Gillette Safety Razor—and wants thousands more. Our Allies' army from across the Line is getting them by hundreds of thousands. Our new army should leave our shores with shaving equipment to match their other accoutrements. If your brother, son or friend in the new army doesn't get a Gillette, see to it yourself that he is supplied!

Your friend of the new army needs the comforts you gave your friends of the old. Make his shaving easy under all conditions—give him a Gillette.

Canada's Military Districts
where Gillettes are in demand.

(Scene from Clune's big photo drama, "The Eyes of the World," which opens a three-day engagement at The Grand next Thursday evening, March 28.

The co-operation of America's most famous and widely read story writer, Harold Bell Wright, with W. H. Clune, associate producer of "The Clansman" and maker of "Ramona," and the expenditure of several months labour at unlimited cost, give credence to the claim that "The Eyes of the World," which comes to the Grand next Thursday, is one of the great film ventures of the times.

Sold in book form to more than one million readers, "The Eyes of the World" now comes in visual form with all its romance, gripping adventure and scenic settings, intensified by the dramatic camera.

The new production recently had its premiere in Los Angeles, played for seven solid weeks in the big Auditorium, the largest west of Chicago, to more than 75,000 people, breaking all theatre records of the Pacific Coast. For this production the author amplified his story and actively assisted in the day by day work of interpreting his characters for the screen.

Among the well remembered people whose experiences hold audiences in a spell are Willard, the convict; Oakley, the forest ranger; Sybil, the mountain girl; Mrs. Taine, the fashionable temptress; Mr. Taine, the wealthy rake; King, the artist; Rutledge, the bull necked art critic and others.

Accompanying the picture is a musical score which represents over 300 melodies taken from different composers of the world.

"Oh Boy" A "Different" Kind Of Musical Comedy Is Coming

F. Ray Comstock and William Elliott, producers of a new style of musical comedy successes, will present their fourth New York Princess Theatre hit, "Oh, Boy!" at the Grand Easter Monday night, April 1st.

"Oh, Boy!" is a different sort of presentation, containing a real plot, which, of course, is of youth and love. It is not the stilted style which America has so long chosen to call musical comedy, but a real story intertwined with tuneful melodies, which fit the situations, rather than detracting from the theme. The songs really carry the plot. Song cues are unknown in "Oh, Boy!" as they are unnecessary, for the songs themselves form a part of the action of the play.

Youth, with all its attendant charm and daintiness form the keynote. Girls, with all their sweetness and beauty, are eved in the foreground of the picutre. Even the chorus of lovely girls are well equipped and the boys are there to carry the story. Never are they called on the stage simply to sing and dance, but are always there with definite purpose, which they carry out.

The record-breaking two-year run at the Princess Theatre, New York, as well as the enthusiastic reception of "Oh, Boy!" tendered by theatre-going audiences in cities from coast to coast is proof sufficient of its tremendous popularity.

Its songs are being sung and whistled everywhere, as they are the hummable, whistleable type—full of rythm and lilting note.

The company to be seen here comes direct from a five months' engagement at Ye Wilbur Theatre, Boston, and includes Helen Shipman, Irene Haisman, Charles Compton, Harold Crane, Joseph Allen, Harry Quealy, Jack Raffael, Stella St. Audrie, Mrs. George A. Hibbard, Ethel Forde, Ralph O'Brien, Gladys Dore, Evelyn Dorn, Jack Osterman and others.

The chorus is made up of attractive girls and boys with all the charm and enthusiasm of youth.

Mail orders are now being booked.

Exempted As Farmer In Quebec Handed Over To The Military Here

Napoleon Castagner Joined a G. T. R. Construction Gang and Automatically Cancelled His Exemption Which Magistrate Dumble Critized

Napoleon Castagner, of St. Agnes, Que., was exempted from military service on condition that he continued to work as a farmer. In midwinter, employment agents combed the Quebec countryside for workmen, and Castagner hired with a G.T.R. construction gang. Recently they moved to Peterborough to lay heavy steel, and last Wednesday night Castagner was arrested here as a suspected deserter.

In Police Court this morning he stated that he and his two brothers and father jointly owned a farm of 225 acres in St. Agnes, near the United States boundary. Last year they had 50 acres of wheat and 100 acres of hay. They have also 35 head of cattle. He said that he had intended to go home for the maple syrup season.

Magistrate Dumble counted the Castagner family, and remarked that Napoleon wasn't needed for the making of maple toffee.

Mr. Hatton observed that Castagner was a farmer when he was granted exemption last November, but His Worship replied that Castagner would not have been exempted had he appeared before any tribunal outside of Quebec.

Mr. Hatton pointed out that the young man was exempted by a tribunal that knew him and his family.

"They ploughed only 50 acres last year," said the Magistrate, and added that the whole family was surely not needed for the farm work they performed.

"The military authorities can take the responsibility of deciding his case," the Magistrate decided, as he instructed the Chief to place Castagner under the charge of the draftee officers.

Pte Crevier, an elderly labourer with the G.T.R. gang, stated that the boss had deputed him to tell what he knew of Castagner, and that wasn't much beyond hearsay, which the Magistrate explained could not be accepted as evidence.

Repudiates Story Of Long Range Gun Firing On Paris

Canadian Press Despatch:

NEW YORK, March 25.—Maj.-Gen. Wood, just returned from France, said to-day that no new mysterious gun was firing on Paris, but that a great aerial attack is taking place.

AERIAL TORPEDOES.

"It is my belief and that of my associates that the missiles falling on Paris are aerial torpedoes and nothing more," said Henry Woodhouse, of the Board of Governors of the Aero Club of America to-day.

MAXIM SILENCER.

"It is quite practicable to build a Maxim silencer that would deaden the report of a gun throwing shells into Paris from the suburbs," Hudson Maxim, famous inventor of explosives, declared after reading of the mysterious bombardment of Paris.

TOO EXPENSIVE.

"If the Germans have built a 76-mile range gun it would be so expensive and futile as to indicate their mental deterioration and should be the cause for great allied rejoicing."

SPECIAL PRAYER SERVICE

In St. Paul's Presbyterian Church yesterday afternoon a special prayer service was held. Prayers were offered for the success of Allied arms, and the people were urged to remain calm in the face of the present offensive on the Western front. About two hundred and fifty persons were present at the service.

On Wednesday evening next the union prayer service will be held in Murray Street Baptist Church, when special prayers of intercession will be offered.

Special Meetings In Mark Street

Meetings will be held each evening this week in Mark Street Methodist Church. The services will be patriotic and evangelistic in character. Shall we not hold Passion Week sacred to the service of Christ? If the call of the Cross should find ready response by Christians at all times, what shall we say of these hours when the state of our Empire is hanging in the balance?

Pastors of different churches in the city will preach at these services. To-night Commandant McElhiney will be the speaker. Come and enjoy the services and add your influence and prayer to the spiritual power of the week. Everybody will be welcome.

Abandoned Baby Made A Ward Of Children's Aid

Herbert Jackson, the baby that was left in front of Goheen and Matchett's store some weeks ago, was made a ward of the Children's Aid Society this morning. The note bearing the infant's name, with the appealing information, "I am alone in the world. Please take me for your own boy," which was addressed to Mrs. Matchett, was placed in the keeping of the police. Magistrate Dumble showed his sympathy by advising Mr. Geo. Powell, agent for the Children's Aid Society, to put the note away for safe keeping. "You don't know what value it may have in years to come," said His Worship.

Apparently the investigations of the police have been fruitless, and Mr. Powell will now receive applications from persons who wish to adopt the child. He is anxious that it shall be taken into a good home.

Rev. S. S. Bates Delivers Interesting Sermon In Murray Street Church

'The Educational System of Germany is the Road to Militarism" —Bible is Latest Book Published

DEBT IS REDUCED

Christian education was the theme of an interesting address delivered in Murray Street Baptist church yesterday morning by the Rev. S. S. Bates, D.D., of McMaster University. At the opening of the service the Rev. J. R. Webb, Pastor of the church, announced that of the twenty thousand dollars required for the Building Fund of the Church the sum of seventeen thousand five hundred has been pledged by the members of the church. This is exclusive of the old church property. Rev. Mr. Bates took for his text a number of verses from the fourth chapter of Hosea: "The words of the chapter," said the speaker, are just as appliable to the people of to-day as they were when they were first recorded. In the words of a well-known divine, the Bible is "the latest book published."

"Hear the word of the Lord, ye children of Israel, for the Lord hath a controversy with the inhabitants of the land, because there is no truth, nor mercy nor knowledge of God in the land."

By swearing and lying and killing and stealing and committing adultery, they break out and blood toucheth blood."

PRUSSIAN EDUCATION

Is that true to-day of the German people? asked Mr. Bates. That education which does not embrace our spiritual nature will be a curse, instead of a blessing. Education cannot elevate a man alone. We hear of people who are surprised that Germany could prosecute such a ruthless war because they are an educated people. It is because of this education that the Germans to-day are prosecuting such a terrible war. Education is an influence in national life when it is permeated with the proper conception of spirituality. Bismarck conceived the possibility of creating the desired militaristic spirit in Germany through the medium of that country's educational institutions. Compulsory education was introduced and the young mind of the nation was left to the character forming influence of teachers and professors who were paid by the state. The result has completely changed the national ideals of Germany. This has been the greatest crime of Germany above all others. It is the root from which all other evils have originated. Gladstone said: "As grows the College so will grow the nation"

PAGAN IDEALS.

A Socialist member of the German Reichstag, who is now serving a term in prison for his outspokeness, once said on the floor of the House: "The educational system of Germany is the road to militarism. You act as though you would educate the people, but only because capitalism demands soldiers." The situation to-day is the natural outcome of pagan ideals let loose in Germany. We sit here to-day and worship in peace under the shining sun without a disturbing note. What is going on in Europe to-day? God help us to bear up and have courage.

To-day we have a golden opportunity in Canada to introduce into the young life of Canada, through the educational facilities the principles as laid down in the Bible. If we could only do that, what a nation we would have.

The speaker concluded with a reference to the good work being accomplished by McMaster, Moulton and Woodstock colleges, where one of the chief objects is to create and inculcate in the minds of the students a proper Christian spirit.

Well Known in Peterboro

CHICAGO, March 20.—The Most Reverend Cosmo Gordon Lang, Archbishop of York, gave a private audience at the Blackstone Hotel last night to three Chicagoans who are direct descendants of a former Archbishop of York. They were Markham B. Orde, treasurer Chicago Surface Lines; his daughter, Mrs. D'Arcy Orde, and Charles W. Orde, 8306 Greenwood Avenue. The great-grandfather of the Messrs. Orde, the Most Reverend William Markham, was Archbishop of York in 1777.

Mr. Markham Orde is the son of the late Mr. and Mrs. Orde, formerly of East City, and is well-known locally.

ACTIVITY ON ITALIAN FRONT

Special to the Examiner:

ROME, March 25.—There has been remarkable aerial activity over the lines of the Italian front, the War Office announced to-day. Eight enemy machines were brought down. There has been a lively artillery battle at various places between Lake Garda and the Brenta.

Stand Firm is the Keynote

Special to the Examiner:

LONDON, March 25. — The text of newspaper comment on the great battle to-day is that the hour is one for courage and standing firm at home at much as at the front. The writers agree that this is a time when all political questions, all differences of opinion over the management of the war must be forgotten.

SPECIAL SERVICES AT BROWNTON.

At the Salvation Army Temple, on Chamberlain street, Brownton, next Thursday evening, March 28th, the Young Peoples' Workers will conduct a special meeting. Interesting speaking and singing will be given.

On Good Friday evening the Brownton corps will give a service of song entitled, "From the Cradle to the Grave." A hearty invitation is extended to all to attend these services.

Capt. Spooner, Territorial Scout Organizer, will be visiting Brownton on Tuesday evening, April 2nd. He will hold a meeting with the Life-Saving Scouts at 7 o'clock, and at 8 o'clock give a lantern service entitled "A Trip to England, and the Crowning of a King," to which all are invited.

Lack of Food—Threatens the Battle Line

ONTARIO

"The food wanted by mankind does not exist.
The word 'shortage' is not strong enough.
The whole world is up against a nasty thing, familiar to the people of India, called 'famine.'"
—Lord Rhondda, Britain's Food Controller.

One year ago, only the enemy was on rations.

To-day, Great Britain, France and Italy, are on rations.

To-day, Germany controls the wheat lands of Roumania, Russia, Poland and Ukrania.

To-day, the shadows of hunger, famine, disease and death hang over the Allies.

Upon the 1918 crop from Canada and the United States depends the fate of the democratic peoples of the world.

If that crop is sufficient the Allies can be fed.

If that crop is not sufficient the Allies may have to accept a German peace.

That Battle-Line in France and Flanders Must Not Want

Do you realize what a German Peace would mean to Canada?

Germany covets our natural resources—our agricultural and mineral wealth, our forests, our fisheries, everything that is Canada's.

Germany won't be satisfied with European territory, with teeming masses, wrangling factions and depleted natural resources. She wants colonies—big, thinly-populated countries in temperate zones for her sons and daughters to go to propagate their kind.

The Kaiser would sacrifice millions of Germans to-morrow if he thought that by so doing he could set foot on Canada's shores as Conqueror.

And what's more, the Germans would offer themselves for the sacrifice, so great is their subjection to the military ideal.

The only thing that balks German ambition is that battle line from the North Sea to Switzerland—and the British Navy.

The Only Thing That Sustains Our Men on Land and Sea--Is Food

What are we, each one of us, prepared to do to insure that Food supply?

Germany, by her submarine campaign, has seen that great Armada, the British Mercantile Marine, shrink in volume.

Germany has seen South America, Australia, New Zealand, India and far away outposts of the Empire practically cut off from supplying food to the Motherland because of the lack of ships.

Forty million Allied men and women having been put on war work, food production has dangerously decreased in Europe.

These forty million consume more food than when they were in ordinary occupations, and there are fewer men for farming. Hence an increased demand and decreased supplies.

The harvest of France was one-third less in 1917 than 1916, and this year must be smaller still, owing to lack of fertilizers, which cannot be supplied through shortage of shipping.

The world's decrease in live stock, as compared to 1913, is approximately 115,000,000 head.

Herbert Hoover Says:

"Our European Allies are dependent upon us for greater quantities of food than we have ever before exported. They are the first line of our defence. Our money, our ships, our life blood, and not least of all, OUR FOOD supply, must be of a common stock.

"In pre-war times, Britain, France, Italy and Belgium yearly imported more than 750,000,000 bushels of grain, plus vast quantities of meats and fats.

"The submarine destruction of shipping has made it necessary to abandon the hope of bringing food from South America, Australasia and India.

"Food must, therefore, be shipped from Canada and the United States—the nearest and safest route.

"Canadian and United States supplies are normally 350,000,000 bushels short of the Allied needs. By greater production and conservation Canada and the United States must combine to increase the export of grain by 150,000,000 bushels.

"The remaining shortage of 200,000,000 bushels must be overcome by greater reduction in consumption in the allied countries. And this is being done by Britain, France and Italy rationing their people.

"From two and a half years of contact with the German Army I have come out of the horror with the complete conviction that autocracy is a political faith and a system that directly endangers and jeopardizes the future of our race—that threatens our very independence. It has, however, been able to command a complete inspiration of devotion and self-sacrifice in its people to the interest of their nation. The German farmer, in the name of the Fatherland, supports a nation two-thirds as large as the United States and threatens to subject the world from an area one-half the size of Ontario.

"My vision of war is not of an academic problem to be solved by discussion. To me it is a vision of brave, dying men and suffering women and children, for service on whose behalf the greater exertion of the Allies' farmers comes as a direct necessity and a direct plea. The Canadian and the United States citizen who sees war as I see it, needs no inducement and no inspiration but the thought that every spade full of earth turned, and every animal reared is lessening human suffering and guaranteeing the liberty of the world."

Lloyd George's Warning

"I fear the disciplined people behind the German Army, the rationed family and the determination of wife and sister and daughter and mother to stand and starve—so that their fighting men may be fed—I fear it more than the Imperial German Army itself."

Britain is now on Food Rations.

France is now on Food Rations.

Italy is on the verge of starvation. Only continuous support from us can enable us to hold out.

Only with a disciplined people behind can we hope to win. The rationed British Nation, blood of our blood, bone of our bone, are proudly paying the price and sharing with France and Italy their limited stock of food. For in this there is mighty pride, a conscious measuring of their glory with the best traditions of ancient Sparta, and of Imperial Rome, for Britons know that upon them rests the burden of saving humanity. The story of their service shall ring and echo forever along the hill tops of history.

The Heart of This Problem is Labour

Without More Farm Labour More Food Cannot be Produced

If you really want to serve your Country in a big practical way, register now for farm labour, or urge or assist your male employees to do so.

To Send More Food to Our Allies Is Not Charity

It is war. The Allies have a right to demand it. They have a right to resent the offer of only what is "left over." Those who are fighting the common battle for civilization and for our protection have a higher claim than had Lazarus, to only the "crumbs that fall from the rich man's table."

The Canadian people must recognize that "Our Allies have the first claim on our food supplies.

As the shipping situation makes the Allies dependent upon the North American continent for food, it is vitally necessary that Canada should increase her production of food in order to take a larger part in providing for the Allies' requirements. This is especially urgent as the maintenance of a large United States army in the European field will cause a very heavy drain on that country's food resources.

There must be no peace without victory.

For nearly four years Germany has been struggling against the powers of law and order. She has failed so far to make good her escape with her booty by superior strength and skill. And now she is attempting by intrigue, suggestion, device and propaganda to divert the attention of her antagonists from the struggle itself, and thus to gain her ends by relaxing the strength and skill of her antagonists.

What she can gain from these tactics is plain to all the world in the sorrowful experience of Russia.

Germany's most dangerous weapon is not her Zeppelin—that is obsolete. Not her submarine—that can be overcome. Not her machine-like army—that has been repeatedly hurled back by the living armies of freemen. Her most dangerous weapon is her propaganda of peace.

While with her hands she murders and despoils, with her voice she invites to parleys.

When Liberty is in Peril There is Threat of Lasting Disaster in the Very Word "Peace"

Lord Leverhulme, long known in Canada as Sir William Lever, who knows well the German mind, in a recent interview stated:

"You will never be able to dictate terms to Germany till she is beaten. The argument you mention is founded on the dangerous fallacy that because Germany is sick of this war she is sick of war in general. She isn't. I doubt if her Government is even sick of this war. You've read the speech of that old brigand, Hertling. Is there any sign of repentance in that speech? Is it a chastened speech? Is it the speech of a statesman who wants disarmament and a league of nations? No! Germany is back in her mood of 1914. She believes she is winning the war. She believes she has won now. And if we talk of peace she HAS won it. Why, it would be better a thousand times that every man in England should be dead than that Germany should issue from this war with the feeling of a conqueror. You hear people use the phrase, 'to the last man, and the last shilling,' and you think it is only a bit of rhetoric, but to my mind it's the most solemn and absolute truth. I mean when I say it that it would in very truth be a million times better for the people of these islands to be dead, every one of them, rather than live on as the serfs of a triumphant Prussia."

How can any lover of liberty remain insensible to this peril?

Food means Victory and the world made safe for democracy—

Lack of food means disaster and subjugation to Germany.

The Citizens of Ontario Must Lead This Mighty Crusade for Greater Food Production

They did it last year and will do it again.

As the greatest food-producing Province, Ontario must maintain her leadership in America. Great are our opportunities—our responsibility is tremendous.

Upon every man and woman, boy and girl, rests a personal obligation to serve. Every pound of food produced, in whatever form, is a contribution to the Cause of Freedom.

Ontario farmers should sow 500,000 acres of spring wheat.

Every Ontario farmer whose land is at all suitable should put an extra five acres into wheat, even at the expense of another crop.

What YOU Can Do to Help

At all costs production must be maintained.

That's why farmers and farmers' sons are being exempted from military service. Working on a farm is equivalent to service in the Second Line Trenches.

To enable the farmer to do the work two factors are essential. The first is Time. Whatever we are to do must be done at once. Nature waits for no man. The second is Labor. Many farmers cannot plant the acres they would because they cannot get the necessary help. Many are afraid to increase their acreage because they fear they would not be able to cultivate and harvest an unusual crop after they had raised it.

The burden is not one to be placed solely upon the farmer. Neither can it be placed upon the townsman. It is a personal obligation upon every man, woman, boy and girl, in every farm, town and city home in the Province of Ontario.

AWAY WITH CRITICISM—CO-OPERATE! Mr. City man, don't say that the farmer should do so-and-so, and thus allow criticism in this hour of our Nation's peril to cripple your effort.

Mr. Farmer, don't hastily under-estimate the value the city man can be to you.

Get Together in the Fight For Liberty

Let us not lament what MIGHT be, but earnestly face what MUST be.

Fifteen thousand boys between the ages of fifteen and nineteen must be organized as "Soldiers of the Soil" to work on Ontario farms this season.

Farmers can get one or more of these boys by applying to their District Representatives or to the Public Employment Bureaux at Toronto, Ottawa, Hamilton or London.

Unmarried men, exempted from military service, are urged to take up farm work. Married men who have had previous experience on a farm are urged to resume farm work for a season. Employers of labor are asked to assist men to take up farm work.

We urge the farmers and the townsmen to get together for greater production in the interests of a free people and democracy.

Let the Organization of Resources Committee, your District Representatives or the Public Employment Bureaux act as your intermediaries.

When we have done our best, the cry for food cannot be wholly met.

For the rest—our Allies are tightening their belts.

Organization of Resources Committee

VANCOUVER TAKES SECOND GAME OF THE SERIES

TORONTO, March 25. — Judging from the exhibition of Pacific Coast League hockey, as demonstrated by Vancouver and Toronto in the second game of the Stanley Cup series, it will never be received with anything like unbounded enthusiasm here. Vancouver captured the second game of the series by 6 to 4 in a game that fairly bristled with rough, brutal, illegal tactics, and in which good hockey apparently was the last feature considered by the players of either team.

Each team tallied once in the opening period, while Vancouver got three in the second period and two in the final frame. The Blue Shirts scored again in the second period and twice in the final period, when Skinner whipped a close-in shot past Lehmann in the final minute of play.

Broad blue bands divided the ice into three sections, as is done in the West. In the centre section a player is allowed to take an off-side pass. Western fans advised the local enthusiasts that this was one of the rules of play which made the western game so much faster than the eastern article. On the contrary, the legalized off-side pass slowed the game up, the delays which were not caused by foul tactics being called for breaches of the rule.

No Attempt at Combination Play.

Although the seven-man game was in vogue the players of neither side availed themselves of the opportunity for the brilliant combination possible under the rules of the original game. One-man rushes, such as predominate in the six-man style, were resorted to all too often. The sparkling combination of the Kitchener team which swept through the Winnipeg defence to the Allan Cup would have won Saturday night's fixture for either team. Perhaps the "No Man's Land" in the middle of the ice militated against team play. Perhaps the explanation of the failure of the teams to combine on the forward line is that the contestants were too busy watching for the slugging attacks inaugurated early in the game, to pay much attention to combination. Toronto does not seem to have learned that the team that plays clean hockey and bends its efforts to getting goals is the one that wins. Certain it is that the brutality resorted to by certain of the Toronto players did not assist them in their goal-getting.

On the whole, however, the showing of Vancouver was vastly better than that of the first game. In the initial contest the team, with the exception of McKay, appeared to be more or less bewildered, but in Saturday night's affair there were flashes of brilliant hockey. "Cyclone" Taylor, until he was made a casualty through Randall's vicious slash across the right arm below the shoulders, played in good form. The speed and tricky skating which earned him his sobriquet were very much in evidence. In centre he was opposed by Randall, whose effectiveness was marred by his frequent and prolonged trips to the penalty box.

GERMANS HAVE SUPERIOR FORCE

Enemy Losses Are Estimated At 100,000 Men A Day.

Canadian Press Despatch:

WASHINGTON, March 25. —Field Marshal Haig is holding the great German drive of 97 divisions with only 37 divisions of battling Tommies, it was stated by British military men here to-day.

According to the British strategy, it is believed here, Haig will not rush up greater concentrated forces until he is ready to assume the offensive at the break in the German onrush. During a retirement, it is well not to overconcentrate men, it is pointed out.

British officials estimate the German losses at approximately 100,000 men a day in killed, wounded and captured. At this rate they hold, they are justified in optimism and in the belief that the Germans are defeating themselves by their enormous losses.

War Veterans Meet To-night

A regular meeting of the Peterborough branch of the Great War Veterans' Association will be held to-night at 8 o'clock in the Sergeants' Mess at the Armouries. A large attendance is requested.

Berlin War Office Announces The Capture Of Bapaume

German Official Report Claims the Capture of Forty-five Thousand Allied Prisoners and Six Hundred Guns—Somme River Forced

BERLIN, Via London, March 25.—The passage of the Somme River was forced below Ham, the Berlin War Office announced to-day.

"We mounted the heights west of the Somme," the statement continued.

STATEMENT NOT CLEAR.

Field Marshal Haig, in his official statement, admitted the Germans crossed the Somme south of Peronne, near Licourt, but declared they were driven back. It is not plain whether the Berlin War Office and Haig referred to the same action.

BAPAUME CAPTURED.

BERLIN, Via London, March 25. — The German War Office to-day announced the capture of Bapaume. Forty-five thousand Allied prisoners have been taken, together with more than six hundred guns and quantities of other war material, the German official statement says to-day.

ALLIES THROWN BACK.

BERLIN, March 25.—Germans are now standing to the north of the Somme in the middle of the former Somme battlefield. Bapaume was captured in the night fighting. More than 45,000 prisoners and more than 600 guns have now been captured, the statement says. British, American and French were thrown back through the pathless wooded country, said the statement.

PRISONERS DECLARE THE HEAVIEST BLOWS ARE YET TO COME

Germans Were Hurled Forward in Dense Masses in Spite of Heavy British Machine Gun Fire

(Special to The Toronto Star and The Peterborough Examiner.)

(United Press Service.)

WITH THE BRITISH ARMIES IN THE FIELD, March 25. —With increasing intensity, the fighting thunders on from the Scarpe to the Oise.

Both the British and Teutonic troops are fagged, but continue battling.

Captured prisoners declare that the heaviest blows are yet to come.

LINE IS INTACT.

The Germans at heavy cost have progressed across the old battle field of the Somme, but the British line everywhere is intact.

Haig's troops have withdrawn in the most perfect order.

SEVERE FIGHTING.

All night long the fighting has been most severe, especially along the Sapignies-Bapaume road. The Germans in dense masses were hurled forward in the moonlight, while the British machine guns raked them in an unending rattle.

Observers close up at the front signalled back to the artillery and the half-stripped gunners fired until their pieces were almost red hot.

The Death Of Gladys Seward

Was a Talented Young Musician--A Loss to the Musical World

The citizens of Peterborough, particularly those interested in musical circles, will learn with the keenest regret of the death of Gladys Seward, at the Weston Hospital, Toronto.

Miss Seward was born in the city, and was the daughter of the late Mr. Seward, formerly an organist of St. John's Church, and Mrs. Seward, who, up to a few weeks ago, has been residing with Mrs. E. A. Peck. From her earliest childhood, she showed signs of an unusual musical talent. This was developed under the direction of Mrs. Alice Roger Collins, who took a great interest in the career of a girl whom she felt sure bore promise of a brilliant future, and was later instrumental in raising the fund by which Miss Seward was sent some six years ago to Germany to study with Harry Field, the renowned pianist.

In Germany she became an acknowledged figure in musical circles. Her recitals before noted people received great attention, and she was rapidly gaining world renown. Just previous to the outbreak of the war Mr. Field was completing arrangements for a tour of the States with his gifted pupil. However, such a course became impracticable. After a year of great effort Miss Seward and her mother, who was with her in Germany, were at last able to return to America. Two years ago, on their return, Miss Seward gave a recital in the Conservatory, which created great interest, and only two weeks later her many friends and admirers were shocked to learn that she had developed an illness, undoubtedly contracted in Germany. She was removed to Gravenhurst, thence to Weston Sanitarium, but medical effort could do nothing to save the promising young musician. She was a pupil in the city of the Central School.

There are left of her immediate family her mother and two sisters and one brother.

OBITUARY

MRS. MARGARET KENNEY.

After an illness of about a year, Mrs. Margaret Kenney, a respected resident of Peterboro for the past ten years, passed away yesterday afternoon at her late residence, 285 Reid Street. Mrs. Kenney, who was born in Ireland, 70 years ago, came to this city from Belleville, ten years ago. She enjoyed the respect and liking of a large circle of friends.

The deceased is survived by one son, Mr. P. J. Kenney, of this city, and by four daughters, Miss Margt., at home, Mrs. James Lawless, Kingston, Mrs. M. Lawless, Kingston, and Mrs. M. Clawson, Vancouver, B.C.

The remains will be taken to Kingston on the 8.25 G.T.R. train to-morrow (Tuesday) morning, leaving the family residence at 7.30 o'clock. Interment will take place at Kingston, on Wednesday morning.

MRS. LORNE MORROW.

Very sad circumstances attended the death of Mildred Maud Maria Reynolds, beloved wife of Lorne Morrow, 267 Reid street, and daughter of Archibald Reynolds, formerly a prominent resident of Fraserville, who passed away yesterday evening in Nicholls Hospital after an illness of a few weeks' duration.

Mrs. Morrow was born in South Monaghan twenty-eight years ago. During her residence in Bailieboro she was a much valued church worker and member of the English Church choir. Since coming to the city she has attended the Presbyterian church.

There are left of the immediate family besides her husband and father two children, Margaret and Grace, two sisters, Mrs. Brown, North Monaghan, Miss T. Reynolds, at home; four brothers, Albert of South Monaghan, Joseph of Peterborough, Roland of Delisle, Sask., George of Springville.

Interment will take place in Fraserville. The time will be announced later.

BIRTH.

MANY VETERANS WILL BE HOME

In a letter received this week from Nursing Sister Douglas, 16th Canadian General Hospital, Orphington, she says: "How are you getting on with the War Veterans' Club? You'll find that there will be an awful lot of them home this summer."

GIRL MISSING.

Ward of Children's Aid Society Away From Home Since Monday.

Lillian Martin, aged 16, a ward of the Children's Aid Society, Peterborough, has been missing since Monday from her foster home at 43 Tyndall avenue, Toronto. She went down town to visit friends, but has not yet returned. The detectives are investigating. This girl was made a ward of the Society about a year ago, and was placed in a splendid home in Toronto.

RUSHING IN AUTOMOBILES.

Importations at Windsor in Two Days Pay Nearly $100,000 Duty.

WINDSOR, March 25. — Hints from Ottawa that the Government might prohibit the importation of automobiles have caused United States manufacturers to rush hundreds of cars into the Dominion.

In the past two days more than 400 machines of various makes were carried across the Detroit River by the Ferry Company, an extra boat being used to meet the demands of the Detroit automobile companies. The shipments included cars of several makes. The amount of duty paid in amounted to approximately $100,000, a record for two days for the port of Windsor since the war began.

BRITISH ARE STILL RETIRING IN GOOD ORDER

Reinforcements Are Being Rushed To France

The British Are Still Retiring In Good Order And Contesting Every Point Of Vantage

British Reinforcements Are Being Rushed to France Together With Guns and Supplies—German Losses Are Estimated at Two Hundred Thousand Men

TWO MORE TOWNS CAPTURED

Canadian Press Despatch:

LONDON, March 26.— The British are still retiring, but all in good order, and battling for every point of vantage. There are no signs of disintegration. Premier Lloyd George wires Field Marshal Haig to say that when necessary to replace those lost are on the way or in France and all guns and more supplies will be rushed.

THE GERMAN LOSSES.

It is estimated that the Germans have lost two hundred thousand men. A British official report say the towns of Nesle and Guiscard have been captured by the Germans.

CANADIANS NOT ACTIVELY ENGAGED IN PRESENT OFFENSIVE

Canadian Press Despatch.

OTTAWA, March 26.—Sir Robert Borden announced in the House of Commons that he had official word that the Canadians were not actively engaged in the present battle on the Western front.

Straight one-piece dresses are made of linen.

TEUTONS TO DEVELOP AERIAL SERVICES.

AMSTERDAM, March 25.—The Cologne Gazette says that an aerial mail service is being established between Vienna and Kiev and also between Odessa and Constantinople.

The Vienna Neu Friepresse says that water transportation to the Ukraine has been established, the lower Danube as far as Sulina being free of mines.

NOTHING CAN COMPARE WITH IT

Mr. Fred Adams, New Rose N.S., writes—"I have tried many medicines for coughs and colds but never found anything to compare to Dr. Chase's Syrup of Linseed and Turpentine. We have had the greatest never fails to relieve a cough and loosen satisfaction with this medicine for it is up."

"A Bit Of Blarney" By The Dramatic Club Of Ennismore

Wednesday Evening Was a Big Night in Ennismore—Peformance Was Largely Attended

On Wednesday, March 20th, St. Patrick's Day was fittingly celebrated at St. Martin's parish hall, when the young people of Ennismore presented "A Bit of Blarney" to a highly delighted audience. A goodly number attended the matinee, while at the evening performance the hall was filled to overflowing. In spite of the unfavourable condition of the roads not only Ennismore but Peterborough, Bridgenorth, Young's Point and Downeyville were well represented.

SACRIFICE OF TIME.

Too much credit cannot be attributed to Rev. Father McAuley for the untiring zeal with which night after night he sacrificed time and energy to make the play a success. That he was amply repaid, however, for his efforts, was shown by the excellent manner in which all those taking part acquitted themselves.

THE CAST.

The cast was as follows:

Rody, the Rover—Simon A. Perdue.
Cuddeen Casidy—Victor Sullivan.
Squire Rossmore—P. J. Scollard.
Edward Lawton—James McGuire.
Teddy Burke—Ronald Galvin.
Captain Castleton—Jas. Harrington.
Sergeant Corkery—Eugene Maloney.
Darbey Darney—Harold Flood.
Rosaleen O'Connor—Miss A. Scollard.
Lady Patrice—Miss B. McNamara.
Shevan Jack—Miss Mary Maloney.
Peasants—Misses Julia and Nellie Killen.
Police—Johnny Scollard and Herb. Maloney.

MUCH APPLAUDED.

Though every one of the characters was admirably suited to his part special mention must be made of Miss Scollard, who as a "Sweet Flower from an Irish Hillside" could not be surpassed. Her sweetheart, Rody the Rover, won the hearts of more than Rosaleen, by his lively repartee, and merry song. His rendering of "My Own Irish Girl" and "Sweet Rosaleen" were much applauded. However, Mr. Victor Sullivan, as Cuddeen Cassidy, the villain, though he did not play the role to win his audience, yet he is most deserving of comment. His tone, his gesture, his every move, whether during the murder of Teddy Burke or in lighter parts of the play, proved him a worthy successor to Henry Irving, himself.

BETWEEN ACTS.

Between the acts St. Martin's Orchestra ably asisted by Miss Florence Leahy and Mr. "Mac" Murty of Peterborough, and by Mr. and Mrs. C. Telford and Mr. J. K. Galvin of Ennismore gave an appropriate musical programme. The many encores was proof positive of their ability.

Nor must we forget to mention the presence of Rev. P. J. McGuire of Peterborough, whose Irish smile and ready wit are alwa-s enthusiastically welcomed by his old parishioners.

The singing of the National Anthem closed a thoroughly delightful evening.—Com.

NUMEROUS BATTERIES ARE BEING TRANSFERRED

Canadian Press Despatch.

WASHINGTON, March 26.—Numerous batteries of artillery of large calibre are being transferred from the Russian to the Belgian front.

Says Enemy Has Many More Surprises in Stock

Canadian Press Despatch.

ROTTERDAM, March 26.—Gen. Ardenne says although further measures of our leaders may not be discussed it is certain they have many more surprises in store for the Allies.

OFFENSIVE ON ITALIAN FRONT

Canadian Press Despatch.

ROME, March 26.—There is reason to believe that an Austro-German offensive will break on the Italian front as soon as weather conditions permit. Aviators report the massing of large numbers of fresh troops behind the enemy lines.

NOTHING IN IT YET.

Persistent Rumours Attributed to a Broker's Office Are Lacking of Confirmation.

Rumours, attributed to a broker's wire, which were current in the city to-day, to the effect that the British had captured 300,000 Germans and again that the Crown Prince had been taken, were not confirmed by press despatches. Although the rumours persisted throughout the day, there was no verification forthcoming.

UNEARTHLY WAS THIS MUSIC

German Publication Reprimanded by Press Agent for Mistranslation of Adjective "Heavenly."

The censorship of foreign language publications by the post office department won't be at all offensive to one of the musical comedies which recently opened in New York. And if the censorship can extend to the point of gathering altogether a certain German periodical, then the press agent will be even stronger for the government.

His animosity dates back to the hand-painted account of the opening of his play, which he wrote and sent out some twelve hours before the curtain was raised on the premiere. However, his description of the charms of the chorus, the plot, the scenery and the personnel of the audience didn't suffer on account of anything like that.

On the question of the beauty of the music he was especially grandiloquent and when he called up the German editorial offices the next morning he felt that his grievance was just. For here they told him he had used a part of his own copy, without changing a single word, merely translating it into German.

"Oh, you did," raved the young press agent, and his voice audibly told that he was tearing his hair. "I wrote that the music was celestial, and your blamed translation made it say that the music was unearthly."

Important Information For The Farmer

Where Spring Wheat Seed May Be Obtained

The world demand for wheat in 1918 justifies the greatest possible effort towards increased production. The small acreages of fall wheat put in last fall will mean increased acreage in Ontario available for spring wheat. The Ontario government is co-operating with the farmers in order to provide seed. It has purchased 50,000 bushels of No. 1 Marquis Spring Wheat through the Seed Branch of the Federal Department of Agriculture. More will be purchased if necessary to fill needs.

Distribution.—Seed is sold only in 2 bu. bags. Carloads will be placed at certain points in the Province where less than carload orders can be filled. Where Farmers' Clubs or other organizations bring in carload loads, the price at their local stations will be the same as at the distributing points.

Where to Buy.—Purchases may be made either in the warehouse, at the distributing points, or orders may be placed with the nearest District Representative of the Provincial Department of Agriculture, or they may be sent direct by mail to the Markets Branch, Department of Agriculture, Parliament Buildings, Toronto.

Payment in Cash.—Price is $2.74 per bu.

In all Cases, Without Exception, Cash Must Accompany Order.—Send remittance by marked check, postal note, post office or express money order made payable to Ontario Department of Agriculture, Markets Branch.

Order Early.—In the event of the requirements of the Province being underestimated, there may not be enough seed to go around. It is advisable in order to insure having their orders filled that purchasers should place their orders as soon as possible. All orders are subject to confirmation and will be filled in order received. As seed is delivered in 2 bu. bags, order should be for an even number of bu., and no order for less than 2 bushels can be accepted.

GRAIN MARKET

The trend of prices yesterday indicated a general weakening in the tone of the market, which could not altogether be attributed to the war news, though the latter reason was put forward as accounting for the declines in the speculative market. Cash prices reflected rather the improvement in receipts, and the fact that buying for export is not so active. Manitoba oats at Fort William are quoted 1 3-8c lower than Saturday. Ontario cash oats 1c lower. Barley, rye and buckwheat stll hold firm and unchanged. There is a slight increase in mill feeds.

Manitoba wheat—No. 1 Northern, $2.23 1-2; No. 2, $2.20 1-2; No. 3, $2.17 1-2; No. 4, $2.10 1-4, including 2 1-2 cent tax, in store Fort William.

Manitoba oats, No. 2, C. W., 91 1-2c; No. 3, 90 1-2c; extra No. 1 feed, 89 1-2c, store, Fort William; No. 1 feed, 88c.

American corn—No. 3 kiln dried, U. S. A. War Board prohibits importation.

Ontario oats, No. 2 white, 93c to 94c, nominal; No. 3 white, 92c to 93c.

Barley—Malting, $1.78 to $1.80.

Ontario wheat—No. 2 winter, $2.22, basis in store, Montreal.

Peas—No. 2, $3.60 to $3.70, according to freights outside.

CATTLE MARKET

Union Stock Yards—Receipts, 186 cars, with 3,446 cattle, 448 calves, 1,779 hogs and 135 sheep and lambs.

The market was slow and 25 cents lower than last week. There was a big run of cattle in, the quality of which averaged poor as compared with a week ago. A load or two of choice heavy steers comprised all there was in that class. A lot of medium butcher were held over.

Lambs were strong, one deck of extra choice making a new high record at $20.85.

Hogs were steady with last week's close, at $20.75 fed and watered.

Dogs Saved Boy From Bear.

Two small pet dogs saved the life of their thirteen-year-old master, Bruno Westerman of St. Paul, when Teddy, a pet black bear, attacked the boy.

As the bear seized the boy the dogs gave battle and Teddy dropped the child and sought refuge in a near-by tree.

Carl, the sixteen-year-old brother, finally killed the bear with ten shots from a shotgun and a fusillade from a .22-caliber revolver. The brother retreated to the house to protect the mother, and from an upper window opened fire on Teddy, who had taken to a tree after he wounded Bruno and the dogs gave him battle.

FIGHTING AGAINST FAMINE.

The World's Population and the Food Supply.

Every so often in all ages food production and humanity complete a cycle. Humanity outgrows the food supply. They must break out into new fields or famine and pestilence reduce them. Even in India, organized with relief works, the heroic famine worker is bowed down with the knowledge that many lives carried over from one famine must be the victims of the next. The more virile northern people constantly burst their bonds and overflowed into lands of plenty; or oftener where genius could produce plenty and virility be maintained, apart from his environment of change and storm, the northern man deteriorates, becomes dependent on labor of low efficiency and without renewal perishes. In new fertile lands, no matter how cold and inclement, he sets himself to provide. He has the instincts of the squirrel to storage; it is part and parcel of his northern heritage. So is his faith in demand. He may overproduce, but he feeds the product of the land so that it goes to market on its own legs. Transportation will come; he has abiding faith. Meantime his stock eats of those rich stores, the golden corn, even the human staple wheat, until gradually—often so gradually that he does not realize it—the cycle revolves and again comes round where a deficiency of human food is recorded.

Meantime a cheaply-fed people has flocked to town, the soil lacks labor, agriculture has sunk to the least profitable pursuit; but the wheel he turned just the same whether man heeds its revolution or not. The townsman would hie him back to the land, but he finds the neglected acres of his youth appreciated in value while the wheel has turned and he has stood still in some employment. His chance in the country has largely gone. If he has the instinct of his forebears he may yet win back, but by fully as toilsome a road as they travelled, although the difficulties are financial and not those of the rugged wilds that appeal to young manhood. The townsman is no longer young, time is no longer on his side. He may establish his family, but that is about all without capital.

But the wheel is still turning. No one can foretell when the last cycle shall elapse that means that population must cease to increase or starve in the hard old way; but every cycle of the wheel brings the inevitable consummation nearer. It must come at last, even although science aid to the uttermost, because all the resources of the globe are finite, the increase of population with food is infinite.

The northern man will renew himself and adapt himself the longest. Even climatic cold would only carry him south whence he came. The man on the land will eat last and longest, but his stock must eat other than human food.

Children Had Whooping Cough

Whooping cough, although specially a disease of childhood, is by no means confined to that period, but may occur at any time of life. It is one of the most dangerous diseases of infancy, and yearly causes more deaths than scarlet fever, typhoid or diphtheria, and is more common in female than male children.

Whooping cough starts with sneezing, watering of the eyes, irritation of the throat, feverishness and cough. The coughing attacks occur frequently, but are generally more severe at night.

On the first sign of a "whoop" Dr. Wood's Norway Pine Syrup should be administered, as it helps to clear the bronchial tubes of the collected mucous and phlegm.

Mrs. George Cooper, Bloomfield, Ont., writes: "It is with pleasure I can write and tell you that there never was a better cough medicine made than Dr. Wood's Norway Pine Syrup. Our children had whooping cough last winter, and that is the only thing that seemed to help them. It loosens up the phlegm so that they could raise it easily. I will never be without it."

"Dr. Wood's" is 25c. and 50c. a bottle; put up in a yellow wrapper; three pine trees the trade mark; manufactured by The T. Milburn Co., Limited, Toronto, Ont.

A STIRRING SONG.

Music Helped to Win the Battle of the Marne.

"Why do not our bands play 'Sambre et Meuse,' that song on which, as Joffre modestly put it, the French politus won the battle of the Marne?" queries a correspondent. It is one of the great French war songs, but, like "Petere la Victorie," it is not generally familiar to audiences this side of the Atlantic. An officer writing from Paris, may stimulate a demand for the piece.

I am very glad that you got hold of the "Sambre et Meuse." It is about the most inspiring thing in the world, and I meant to send it to you long, long ago. I must tell you about the first time I ever heard it. It was a year ago in June, when we were just beginning to find out a little about the real French spirit and what a wonderful country France was after all.

An ambulance unit had come to a temporary halt, and we were sitting around on our cars, lined up in the public square of the little town in which we were stopping. Suddenly, just around the corner, come a terrific blast of bugles, and we knew that it was a regiment of our division, passing through the town on the way up to Verdun—from which only a half of them were to come back ten days later. Another blast from about 40 bugles, and then came the strains of the "Sambre et Meuse."

I never had heard it before, but with the very first notes cold chills ran up and down my back, and I could hardly keep from crying. The streets were instantly lined with people, every one as affected as I. The music became louder and louder, and almost immediately the leaders came into sight bugles shining in the sun, and all elevated at exactly the same angle, and right behind them the endless line of blue uniforms.

You know from the music that while the tune goes steadily along, periodically the bugles come in on a new theme, not during the minor parts but when the original martial theme comes back.

Well, just before the bugles come in, all 40 of them go up in the air and perform a few flourishes, all in perfect time and then they all come horizontally to the lips just at the exact fraction of a second when it is their turn to play, everything precise and in perfect rhythm, brass drums, and the steady beat of thousands of feet; after the brass, the regimental colors, which everyone salutes as they pass, the highest officers leading on horseback, and then wave after wave of blue.

Your spirits go up and down with every variation of the music. The eyes fill up with tears during the quieter parts, and then when the original martial theme comes back and the bugles come in with a roar and the drums roll louder and louder, you instantly have a change of heart and become wildly elated.

The music itself is wonderful. But when you have three or four crack French regiments marching behind it is still more so. When in addition you have Verdun to think of, and you know what a call and rallying cry it is to every one of the French soldiers passing before you, you can well imagine that the ensemble is overwhelming and plays havoc with your nervous system.

The Easter Lily

By T. RUSSELL SHELTON in Richmond Times-Dispatch.

EMBLEM of chastity, sweet nun of flowers,
A rosary of dewdrops thou dost wear;
And thy fair head droops gently, as in prayer,
As if thou ever dreamed of Easter hours.

Faith looks at thee, then turns and walks with one
Through the dark garden of Gethsemane,
Hears the deep groan, sees the accursed tree,
And kneels before the sepulcher alone.

Perhaps when Mary trod, at break of day,
The path that led her to the empty tomb
Lilies, all white and pure, sprang into bloom
Around the stone which had been rolled away.

Till all about the sepulcher became
A garden where celestial flowers grew,
Sweeter than all the buds that Eden knew
And fairer than the immortelles of fame.

No chimes awoke the scented eastern air,
Mankind was dumb, but nature found a voice,
And birds and brooks with angels did rejoice,
While the fair lily drooped her head in prayer.

Today the bells in sweet rejoicing ring,
They tell of him who died to set us free.
They sing: "O grave, where is thy victory?
O death, where is thy sting—where is thy sting?"

Today the lily blooms as sweet and fair,
With drooping head and rosary of dew;
Today Faith turns, her risen Lord to view
And all the glory of his love to share.

Nor sin nor pain nor death can e'er refill
The bitter cup he drank on Calvary.
The voice that groaned in anguish on the tree
Seems evermore to whisper, "Peace, be still."

And sweet it is to feel that nevermore
Shall mortals move like captives to their doom,
For when he rose he triumphed o'er the tomb
And cast aside the ceremonis he wore.

Bloom on, sweet flower, symbolic of that day
And of the resurrection yet to be.
May faith bloom in my soul as pure as thee
Till griefs shall fade and tears be wiped away.

The Easiest Way To End Dandruff

There is one sure way that never fails to remove dandruff completely and that is to dissolve it. This destroys it entirely. To do this, just get about four ounces of plain, ordinary liquid arvon; apply it at night when retiring; use enough to moisten the scalp, and rub it in gently with the finger tips.

By morning, most if not all, of your dandruff will be gone, and three or four more applications will completely dissolve and entirely destroy every single sign and trace of it, no matter how much dandruff you may have.

You will find, too, that all itching and digging of the scalp will stop instantly, and your hair will be fluffy, lustrous, glossy, silky and soft, and look and feel a hundred times better.

You can get liquid arvon at any drug store. It is inexpensive, and four ounces is all that you need. This simple remedy has never been known to fail.

NO MORE LEAVES FOR HIM

Canadian Says It Takes Heart Out of One to Get Out of the Muddy Trenches.

"I won't go back to the trenches," said a Canadian on leave the other day, according to a Paris correspondent. "I've had enough. Seventeen months without leave. I've overstayed my leave three days now, and I won't go back until they catch me. I'd rather be in jail than at the front."

The other men at his table listened in silence.

"I won't go back, I tell you," he repeated. "This war is getting worse and worse. There never was such fighting as we've just gone through. Don't let anybody tell you the Boche is quitting. He's fighting harder than he ever did."

The others looked at each other silently. One of them nodded in affirmative.

"It's just murder, I tell you," the Canadian burst out again, hitting the table with his fist. "Murder! A man hasn't got a Chinaman's chance out there."

The next day the same man appeared.

"I'm going home," said he. These men refer to the trenches as "home." "Only, if this war lasts forty years I'll never ask for another leave. I can't stand it. It takes the heart out of you to get out of that muddy hell for a time and see decent people."

He got up to go.

"After all," he said, "I'll do it again. A man's got to do it, you know."

Paraguay Cattle Lands.

Paraguay contains some of the best cattle lands in the world, although these resources have not yet been adequately developed. The republic now contains about 4,000,000 head of cattle.

Use the Soft Pedal.

"I wonder why it is that we love the old songs best?" asked the sentimental one. "I think," said her workaday hearer, "it's because they're not sung so often."

Prices High In Germany.

I have before me an estimate of the cost for four persons a week drawn up by the workers' representatives of the firm of Shichau, in Elbing, as given in the "Metall Arbeiter Zeitung," which calculates the expense of such a family on the most modest scale at 71 marks, or over £3 10s. a week. In this list only 3 marks 25 are allowed for bread, of an inferior quality, which would give a little over two pounds of bread to each person; and the commonest fish is over a mark a pound. There is neither tea nor coffee in the list, and only four eggs. The rent of this family is six marks a week, while taxes and insurance cost another four marks. The cost of living for this family before the war was less than half what it is now, and for that they could have bought more.—Westminster Gazette.

Sacred to Three Religions.

As a religious centre, Jerusalem has been in the hands of the Jews about 1,070 years of its total known existence of almost 4,000 years; in the hands of the Christians about 417 years (this is the period which has especially left its impress on the land in architectural and cultural remains); in the hands of the Romans 255 years, and of the Moslems 1,147 years; not counting the 1,000 years of its earlier history before its conquest by David. During a relatively small portion of this long period has Jerusalem been independent and always, on account of its strategic position, it has tended to be a bone of contention between the Asiatic great powers and Egypt, being, however, oftener in the possession of the former than of the latter.

BIG EATERS GET KIDNEY TROUBLE

Take Salts at First Sign of Bladder Irritation or Backache

The American men and women must guard constantly against Kidney trouble, because we eat too much and all our food is rich. Our blood is filled with uric acid which the kidneys strive to filter out, they weaken from overwork, become sluggish; the eliminative tissues clog and the result is kidney trouble, bladder weakness and a general decline in health.

When your kidneys feel like lumps of lead; your back hurts or the urine is cloudy, full of sediment, or you are obliged to seek relief two or three times during the night; if you suffer with sick headache or dizzy, nervous spells, acid stomach, or you have rheumatism when the weather is bad get from your pharmacist about four ounces of Jad Salts; take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast for a few days and your kidneys will then act fine. This famous salts is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and has been used for generations to flush and stimulate clogged kidneys; to neutralize the acids in the urine so it no longer is a source of irritation thus ending bladder disorders.

Jad Salts is inexpensive, cannot injure, makes a delightful effervescent lithia-water beverage, and belongs in every home, because nobody can make a mistake by having a good kidney flushing any time.

OUR DAILY SHORT STORY

A Deacon's Deal

By John Boylan

(Copyright, 1917, by the McClure Newspaper Syndicate.)

There is an ancient idea still floating around that because a man is a church deacon he must take the small end of the bargain when he either buys or sells. If he trades horses he must take a blind one in exchange and be thankful that the equine has four legs to move about on.

If he makes cider to sell he must turn out the pure quill, whereas any one else is excused for a dilution of five pails of water to a barrel.

For about fifteen years Deacon Goodhue had been governed by the ancient idea, and had been looked upon as a man that would be a leader among the angels, but all of a sudden there came a change. He had been thinking things over, and when he killed an early fall pig he did not send the remains around among the nearest ten families, as had been his wont, and keep the ears and bristles for his portion. And hereupon the people exclaimed:

"Deacon Goodhue has surely backslid!"

"Within a month he'll be selling milk instead of giving it away."

"He can't develop such a spirit as this and expect to remain in the church!"

Deacon Goodhue dug thirty bushels of potatoes from his garden that fall, and instead of giving away twenty of them, and living on turnips after January, he stored every peck of them in his own cellar. Some folks said that the evil omen had surely got hold of him, and some almost excused his unheard and unwarranted conduct by saying that he was losing his mind.

Whatever it was, he kept right on springing his surprises. Brother Absalom Springtree had a sick cow. He asked a tin peddler to diagnose the case, and, after looking at her eyes and twisting her tail, the man looked wise and said:

"That 're cow has got a bad case of the holler-horn."

"Shoo! Will she die of it?"

"The chances are nine out of ten that she will."

"What had I better do about it?"

"Trade her off, and that without a day's delay. Don't you know of any one around here you can stick?"

"Um! Why, there is Deacon Goodhue?"

"Go for him!"

The cow was driven over to the deacon's. He stood a red away and looked over and shook his head and replied:

"Bad case of the holler-horn."

"But you can cure it."

"I don't want to. Let her die on your hands!"

That reply went to the parson, and he was asked to entertain charges.

"Was there any cheating on the part of the deacon?" he asked.

"N-o-o, not skassly."

"Then what can he be charged with?"

"Why, refusing to do a neighborly act!"

"You believe in Moses, don't you?"

"Of course, parson."

"He was a good man?"

"A mighty good man."

"He was the owner of cows?"

"He was."

"Do you think he would trade a good cow for one with the hollow horn?"

The caller went away disgruntled, and the deacon kept right on being good to himself.

No deacon has ever been considered a good business man, and when it was known that Deacon Goodhue was branching out a little it was predicted that:

The eggs he sent to market would all addle.

That the butter would all turn frowny.

That the strawberries would turn sour, and that the calfskins would be a losing venture.

They went to the parson again, and after he had heard the story he replied:

"Oh, I don't know."

"But you will surely talk to him?"

"Oh, yes. I will tell him that I wished more men of the world attended my church!"

"Parson Stebbins!" was gasped.

"In which event my salary, poor as it is, would not be from five to six months behind!"

Deacon Goodhue was like a dramatist. He worked up to a climax. Perhaps it was because he was not a business man that he got a hint that a railroad was coming to town, and that the site of the depot and a repair shop would just cover what was the town graveyard. There had been talk for years about abandoning the old site for one better located, and the deacon's offer for the land was thought a liberal one. Under a state law, however, if a single objection was filed no move could be made for a certain length of time.

The widow Raymond had filed an objection. She had lost her husband some five years before, and to put it in her words when the deacon called on her:

"There is to be a judgment day, isn't there?"

"Yes, they say so."

"Gabriel will blow his horn?"

"I expect he will."

"And the quick and the dead will rise up?"

"Yes."

"Deacon Goodhue, how far is it from this to the town of Guilford?"

"Just seven miles, widder."

"And a straight road?"

"There hain't a bend in it."

"Well, everybody in this village knows that my Peter used to start for Guilford every Saturday for years and years."

"He did, widder—he did."

"And everybody also knows that he got lost as regularly as he started, and it took two days to find him."

"Two days, widder, and sometimes three."

"When Gabriel blows that horn ain't there goin' to be such a bustlin' and hustlin' as this world has never seen?"

"Quite likely."

"Peter will be among 'em. When he pops out of his grave he'll take a look around, and if he sees the same old landmarks he'll hustle straight for the golden gates. If he's been dug up and buried in a strange spot it'll be like goin' to Guilford over again, and the gates will be shet agin him. No, I want to give Peter a fair show with the rest of 'em, and I shan't withdraw my protest."

Did the deacon argue the point? Not a bit of it.

Did he offer a whopping big price, and thereby arouse the widow's cupidity, and start her making inquiries?

Not at all. He just went home and sat down and thought aloud:

"When a widder woman is a widder woman what does she want most on this earth?

"When a widder woman has to make her own garden, milk her cow, feed her hogs, take care of the chickens, split the wood, shovel snow and build her own fires what does she most sigh for?"

"For a man, of course," he answered himself—"any fool knows that!"

The deacon set out with horse and buggy and rode over most of the country. He finally found the man he was looking for, and accosted him with:

"Do you want to marry a widder woman with about $3,000?"

"You bet your hat I do!" was the ready reply.

It did not take over half an hour to settle the details, but the deacon thought best to wait ten days longer before calling on the widow Raymond again. She met him with a smile and said:

"Deacon, I am ready to withdraw my protest."

"Has something happened, widder?" he innocently queried.

"I am going to marry a man named Rogers."

"You don't say!"

"Yep. No more single blessedness for me."

"But about Peter when the horn blows?"

"Oh, as to that I've been thinkin'. If Peter, when the judgment day comes, can't keep up with the scramble, he must put up with the best he can do!"

And when the villagers heard that the deacon had made a clear $15,000 by securing a husband for the widow and selling the property to the railroads, they went to the parson again.

"As I take it," he replied, "the widow couldn't look around, and so the deacon did it for her."

"But he made $15,000."

"And out of it he has paid up my back salary, and is going to repaint the meeting house and provide it with a spire and pew cushions. The deacon's all right."

GREYHOUND FAST AS PIGEON

English Dog Can Cover Ground at the Rate of From 18 to 23 Yards Every Second.

Comparatively few people realize of what remarkable speed dogs are capable, observes a writer in the Springfield (Mass.) Republican. The wolf can run between 50 and 60 miles in one night, and the Arctic fox can do quite as well, if not better.

Eskimo and Siberian dogs can travel 45 miles on the ice in five hours, and there is one case on record in which a team of Eskimo dogs traveled six and one-half miles in 28 minutes.

English setters and pointers hunt at the rate of 18 to 19 miles an hour, and they can maintain the speed for at least two hours. Foxhounds are extraordinarily swift, as is proved by the fact that a dog of this breed once beat a thoroughbred horse, covering four miles in six and one-half minutes.

Greyhounds are the swiftest of all four-footed creatures, and their speed may be regarded as equal to that of carrier pigeons. English greyhounds which are carefully selected and which are used for coursing are able to cover at full gallop a space between 18 and 23 yards every second.

It is said that a hare at its greatest speed never goes faster than at the rate of 18 yards a second. These interesting statistics fully prove the right of the greyhounds to rank as the swiftest of the quadrupeds.

A Bitter Reflection.

"Do you subscribe to the theory that it is better to have loved and lost than never to have loved at all?" asked the sentimental person.

"That depends on the circumstances," replied the cynical bachelor. "There's precious little consolation in the thought that you have loved and lost, if the object of your affection has a fortune approximating seven figures."

TELLS DYSPEPTICS WHAT TO EAT

Avoid Indigestion, Sour Acid Stomach, Heartburn, Gas on Stomach, Etc.

Indigestion and practically all forms of stomach trouble, say the medical authorities, are due nine times out of ten to an excess of hydrochloric acid in the stomach. Chronic "acid stomach" is exceedingly dangerous and sufferers should do either one of two things.

Either they can go on a limited and often disagreeable diet, avoiding foods that disagree with them, that irritate the stomach and lead to excess acid secretion, or they can eat as they please in reason, and make it a practice to counteract the effect of the harmful acid, and prevent the formation of gas, sourness, or premature fermentation by the use of a little Bisurated Magnesia at their meals.

There is probably no better, safer or more reliable stomach antacid than Bisurated Magnesia, and it is widely used for this purpose. It has no direct action on the stomach and is not a digestant. But a teaspoonful of the powder or a couple of five grain tablets taken in a little water with the food will neutralize the excess acidity which may be present and prevent its further formation. This removes the whole cause of the trouble and the meal digests naturally and healthfully with out the need of pepsin pills or artificial digestants.

Get a few ounces of Bisurated Magnesia from any reliable druggist. Ask for either powder or tablets. It never comes as a liquid, milk or citrate, and in the bisurated form is not a laxative. Try this plan and eat what you want at your next meal and see if this isn't the best advice you have ever had on "What to eat."

What a Railroad Did.

Let me cite one instance of what the building of a railroad has meant, writes B. C. Forbes in Leslie's. Montana had always been regarded as a grazing state until A. J. Earling, president of the St. Paul railroad, while traveling over the state by horseback, spent a night at a ranch and noticed a bumper field of wheat next morning. The owner confided that he had raised similar yields for over ten years without one bad crop, but had not gone in for wheat raising on a large scale because he was 60 miles from the nearest railroad. Mr. Earling's peregrinations convinced him that, although there had scarcely been a furrow plowed in the whole Judith Basin at that time, it could be developed into one of the greatest wheat-growing sections in the world. Last year, thanks to the St. Paul's railroad building, the Judith Basin, extending some 200 miles east and west and 160 miles north and south, produced the greatest part of the 22,000,000 bushels of wheat grown in Montana, as well as a large part of the 62,000,000 bushels of all grain marketed by Montana, placing it among the foremost grain-growing states.

Source of Strength.

Let us draw strength not from twice-told arguments, but from the busy spectacle of our great city's life, remembering that all her magnitude she owes to men with the fighter's daring, the wise man's understanding of his duty and the good man's self-discipline in its performance.—Exchange.

To Protect the Patient.

A physician said this is one of the best aids to a speedy recovery from pneumonia: Make a tight-fitting jacket of cheesecloth, sleeveless, and interline with two thicknesses of sheet cotton. Line with the cheesecloth. Fasten in front with snaps; it is worn next the skin. It is best to have two of these little coats. They protect the patient from any chance draft when changing the clothes or bedding.

Electrified Crops.

Experiments carried out in 1916 on a farm in Dumfries to demonstrate the effect of overhead discharge of electricity on plant growth gave some remarkable results. The tests were carried out on a field of oats, and the electrified area of one acre gave an increased yield of 873 pounds of grain, or 49 per cent. over the two half acres unelectrified, while the straw yielded an increase of 58 per cent.

HE WAS "LOGIE" TO THEM

General Who Makes Soldiers Out of Canadian Recruits So Introduced Himself to Villagers.

There was much excitement in the small village of Angus (Ontario, Can.) when work was started to transform the old pine plains into the greatest Canadian army camp—Camp Borden, observes a Canadian correspondent. The sight of soldiers and high-up military men strolling down the streets caused, to say the least, a sensation.

Two villagers were talking about the new camp one day when they noticed an imposing, well-built officer walking briskly towards them.

"Is it the general?" they asked each other, meaning Gen. Sir Sam Hughes, then minister of militia for Canada.

When the officer reached them one of the villagers stepped up to him, and with the easy familiarity of a country man hailed him as follows:

"Here, there! Are you Sam?"

The officer chuckled and entered into the spirit of it and said: "Me Sir Sam! Oh, no! Why I'm only a little fellow. Sir Sam's a prize boxer compared to me!"

"Well, what's your name, then?" the villager queried.

"Oh, I'm only Logie," was the answer of the modest but well-beloved soldier, who holds a proud record in Canada for the thousands of recruits he has turned into valiant defenders of humanity, General Logie of Toronto.

Varieties of Mistletoe.

There are more varieties of mistletoe growing about the world than could be named in a column of newspaper print, but the commonest in America is that which the botanist, Nuttall, named after the Greek fashion, "tree thief," or phorandendron.

THERE IS NOTHING FOR THE LIVER SO GOOD AS MILBURN'S LAXA-LIVER PILLS

They will regulate the flow of bile to act properly on the bowels and will tone, renovate, and purify the liver, removing every result of liver trouble from the temporary, but disagreeable bilious and sick headaches, to the severest forms of liver complaint.

They are small and easy-acting, do not gripe, sicken or weaken like the old-fashioned, nauseating, griping purgatives.

Mrs. A. Kirk, 53 Yorkville Ave., Toronto, Ont., writes: "I have tried and tested Milburn's Laxa-Liver Pills, and have received good results, for which I am very thankful. I took them for liver trouble. I came out of the hospital on May 3rd, last, after having had a serious operation which might have been saved had I taken your remedy sooner. I have given some to my sister for biliousness and sick headache, and she has found great relief. A lady who lives in my house has started to take them. I will do my best to recommend them to all my friends."

Did John Say It?

Some one asked John D. Rockefeller why he was so seldom seen at public dinners. "Well," replied the millionaire, "in the first place I don't eat much, and while you don't have to eat you do have to sit through the speeches. And, to my mind, the average after-dinner speech is like a bicycle wheel—the longer the spoke the greater the tire."

Rattlesnake's Rattle.

The rattle of the rattlesnake is developed from the single conical scale or epidermal spine, which in most snakes forms the internal tegument of the tail. The bone on which the root of the rattle rests consists of the last caudal vertebra and is covered with a skin which is the beginning of the rattle in young rattlesnakes.

HEAD STUFFED FROM CATARRH OR A COLD

Says Cream Applied in Nostrils Opens Air Passages Right Up.

Instant relief — no waiting. Your clogged nostrils open right up; the air passages of your head clear and you can breathe freely. No more hawking, swollen mucous membrane and relief snuffling, blowing, headache, dryness. No struggling for breath at night; your cold or catarrh disappears.

Get a small bottle of Elys Cream Balm from your druggist now. Apply a little of this fragrant, antiseptic, healing cream in your nostrils. It penetrates through every air passage of the head, soothes the inflamed or comes instantly.

It's just fine. Don't stay stuffed-up with a cold or nasty catarrh.

The Woman Who Changed

By JANE PHELPS

THE DINNER

CHAPTR XXV.

Just before we went out to dinner I overheard Peter Rivers say to June Lawson:

"That little Mrs. Howard is very young, isn't she? Wonder Howard isn't with her. Rather unusual, don't you think, for a man to allow a young wife, almost a bride, to go to dinner parties without him."

"Oh, I don't know! That depends entirely on circumstances," June had replied. "He may have had an engagement, or he may not have cared to come. He is awfully highbrow in some ways, I have heard. And he seems years older than any of us. But he surely is generous with her. She is beautifully dressed."

"Why shouldn't she be? Howard is disgracefully rich."

"Those rich men usually have their own good times, I guess. I'm glad Charleton isn't burdened with money. It will keep him out of mischief earning enough to take care of me." They both laughed and just then dinner was announced.

"Meron, you take Helen. Mrs. Howard, in," Evelyn said, to my delight. I was frankly pleased, and told Merton Gray so, although it wasn't perhaps good form to do so. It was good to be with one who understood.

"The only two formal dinners I have been to, you have taken me in," I said gaily as I took his arm. "I am so glad Evelyn paired us off together." I was a little disturbed over Peter Rivers' remarks.

"So am I!" he answered in the same joyous tone. "It is a good omen."

A Poverty Dinner.

Of course I was in the secret, but the rest were astonished when they saw the table. Evelyn had decided to give a poverty dinner. Not as far as the food was concerned, not by any means. But the tablecloth, dishes, etc., were all arranged with the poverty idea in view. A paper table cloth and napkins. Tin or wooden plates for each course. The fruit cocktails served in cheap aluminum cups, the same cups used afterward for coffee. The centre piece was a scraggly looking bit of pine set in a yellow mixing bowl.

Every one was so surprised, and we became so jolly that I almost forgot I was an old married woman, and had determined to be very dignified.

The dinner was delicious. From the fruit cocktails to the dessert made of chopped almonds and cream, everything was perfect. Kurts was so proud of Evelyn, so surprised at her plans for his birthday party, that after we all had donned the paper caps lying beside each plate, he made a funny speech then Merton Gray got up and replied to it. After the coffee, which we drank at table, we all trooped into the drawing-room together. There was no sitting alone waiting for the men to smoke and gossip as the women had done at Mrs. Loring's.

While we were at dinner the rugs had been taken up, and we danced. I danced first with Merton Gray — and he danced so well, just as he did everything else, I thought. Then in turn I danced with all the men. Peter Rivers asked me some questions about George; and I repeated my untruth:

"He had an engagement. I suppose I should not have come without him," I added, "but Evelyn insisted."

You Did Perfectly Right.

"I don't see why you shouldn't!" he returned. "You did perfectly right to come. Think what the rest of us would have missed," and he smiled down at me. Afterward Peter came to be one of my very best friends, Peter and Olive both; but that night when I first met him, I didn't much care for him.

We danced until one o'clock. Then Merton Gray took me home. I had asked George if he would call for me, and he had said "no." He would send the car for me at any time I wished.

"I am not going to be made to feel that I must stop whatever I happen to be doing at a certain time so that I may come for you," he had finished.

So when Evelyn said to Merton "You will see that Mrs. Howard gets home all right, won't you, Mr. Gray?" he had gone with me, although I had said it was unnecessary. The chauffeur was all the protection I needed.

When we reached the house he walked up the steps and stood with me until Annie, who always waited up for me, came to the door. Then as he bade me good night he added:

"May I call some afternoon soon, Mrs. Howard?"

"I should love to have you!" I said with enthusiasm, then more quietly: "If you come late in the afternoon, you will be more likely to find Mr. Howard at home."

"I shall time myself to do so," he replied.

I hurried upstairs, anxious to tell George what a lovely time I had had. But he had not yet come in, and didn't until I was ready for bed.

To-morrow—George Is Indifferent."

TORTURING, ITCHING ECZEMA

Mrs. J. B. Horth, Pabineiac, Bonaventure Co., Que., writes:—"Thanks to Dr Chase's Ointment I have been completely cured of that horrible disease eczema. I was held as if in prison from going among other people, for I was ashamed of the raw, flaming sores. Doctors could do nothing for me and I was almost desperate with suffering when I began to use Dr. Chase's Ointment. In one month I was completely cured and think that this was little short of a miracle."

Search for Oil in Britain.

Certain eminent American geologists, the house of commons was told lately, hold that it is well worth while to spend a considerable sum of money in exploring for possible petroleum deposits in Great Britain, according to a London correspondent. The speaker, a spokesman for the board of trade, added:

"It is impossible to exaggerate the importance of finding oil in this country. We cannot yet say that it is here, but it is certainly worth looking for.

"Oil is almost more important at this moment than anything else. You may have men, munitions and money, but if you have no oil you are without the greatest motive power we are using."

Concerning the Tussock Moth.

The New York state college of forestry at Syracuse has recently sent out a circular letter to chambers of commerce throughout the state warning against the ravages of the tussock moth, which bid fair to be severe on shade trees during the next growing season. The egg masses, which are white and conspicuous, may be seen readily at the present time on the bark of elms particularly, and these may be collected and destroyed or daubed with creosote so that they will not hatch. The college in its letter has suggested that local shade tree or park commissions take the matter of destroying the egg masses in hand at once and rush it vigorously.

WAS KITCHENER'S OWN CITY

Khartoum Rebuilt by British Leader After It Had Been Sacked by Dervishes on Their Retreat.

A sentimental interest will always attach to Khartoum, for it is Kitchener's city. He fought his way to it up the Nile, to find the old town blasted, sacked and destroyed by the dervishes, writes a correspondent. He is said to have drawn the plans for the new Khartoum on the sand with his own hand, and the engineers set to work the same day to build it up. The streets and squares are laid out in the design of a monster Union Jack.

All that was only in 1898, but the new Khartoum is already a place of beauty and importance. There are many groves of noble trees, a feature only to be appreciated by the desert dweller, for the dervishes were not schooled in the refinements of modern warfare. They sacked the town on their retreat, but they failed to girdle the trees. They were only ignorant savages and they did their best, but thanks to their unfamiliarity with modern methods, Khartoum has some beautiful groves today. There are rose gardens, too, that were planted by the unfortunate Gordon himself.

The Blue Nile runs past the city; river gunboats helped Kitchener to encompass its fall. The White Nile is only a few miles away. These two great arteries of trade stretch their way southward into the unknown and northward flows the united river toward Cairo and the Mediterranean. The trade of the town is augmented by all manner of parties from the savage interior, and about Khartoum are native villagers built after the fashion of all the tribes of the Sudan. The people are drawn from all the ends of Africa, negroes and Arabs, and from Europe and Asia come Syrians, Greeks and Copts. The upper classes are Egyptians in commercial circles; in the political and administrative world the English, of course, are dominant. It is a strange and cosmopolitan city that has grown from the plan that Kitchener sketched on the sand, with the dead of the last day's fighting still unburied on the plain.

Women! Here Is A Dandy Thing

Few drops on corn or callus stop pain, then they lift off.

Your high heels have put corns on your toes, and calluses on the bottom of your feet, but care now?

This tiny bottle holds an almost magic fluid. A genius in Cincinnati discovered this ether compound and named it freezone. Small bottles of freezone can be had at any drug store for a few cents. Don't limp or twist your face in agony and spoil your beauty, but get a little bottle of freezone and apply a few drops on your tender, aching, corn or callus. Instantly the soreness disappears and shortly you will find the corn or callus so shriveled and loose that you can lift it off with the fingers.

Just think! You get rid of a hard corn, soft corn or a corn between the toes, as well as hardened calluses, without suffering one particle. Millions of women keep a tiny bottle on the dresser and never let corns ache twice.

UNITY IN FILIPINO TRIBES

Recent "Maulud" Held in Department of Mindanao and Sulu Was Evidence of Existing Harmony.

Commenting on the prevalent belief that the islands need a speed nationalisation of the different sections and a rooting out of sectional and tribal feeling, the Philippine Review says editorially:

"While as a matter of fact we have to acknowledge that sectional feeling seemingly exists in the islands, its existence is not of basic character. For the elements of unity are in actual existence, and sectional feeling will only seemingly last while no actual intercourse between the sectional groups of the islands takes place. It is, therefore, but a matter of common education or educational intercourse, not real lack of spirit of nationality; and with the present government efforts to provide the people with good popular education, this so-called lack of national spirit will shortly be overcome."

Perhaps no better evidence of the harmony existing among different tribes and factions could be offered the skeptic than the recent "Maulud" held in the department of Mindanao and Sulu. The Maulud corresponds to the Christian Christmas, being the celebration of the birth of Mohammed. It consists in ceremonies lasting two days during which there is much feasting and chanting by "imams" (priests) and lady singers.

The last Maulud was celebrated at the residence of the governor of Sulu. All the chiefs and every other Mohammedan of prominence, 100 imams, 30 lady singers, 3,000 Mohammedans, the government officials, and all the civilians of any distinction attended the monster feast. Mohammedans and Christians, Americans and Filipinos, dressed in beautiful Moro costumes, forgot their religious, social and political differences, and threw themselves heart and soul into the celebration of this greatest of Mohammedan fiestas. No one could have witnessed the scene without being convinced of the oneness of the Mohammedian and Christian Filipinos, and the hearty good feeling between Americans and Filipinos.

POETS GET INTO FRONT RANK

Some Soldiers Develop as Writers of Verse While Knights of Quill Also Become Warriors.

The literature of the war proves that some soldiers are made into poets, and we know also, of course, that some poets have been made into soldiers. Mobilization and conscription take little account of persons and no account at all of professions. There is one great poet of history, however, and one great painter, too, who were denied entrance into the ranks of the army—Poe and Whistler.

The story of why Whistler did not become a soldier is well known, but it may bear repetition. Like Poe, he was a cadet at West Point, and like Poe, he was discharged from that institution long before the completion of the course. Whistler was found deficient in chemistry, and when he was asked why he did not graduate and become a soldier he answered: "If allices were a gas, I would be a soldier."

Found the Dragon Fly.

Aunt Elizabeth and her nephew Harold, were looking at a comic picture, the characters represented by insects and animals. They were pointing out each kind, but the dragon fly hadn't yet been located. Soon Harold spoke up. "I think this is the one, Aunt Elizabeth. He looks as if he were draggin' sumpin'."

Early Bubble Blowers.

In the Louvre, in Paris, there is an old Etruscan vase, decorated with the figures of children blowing bubbles with a pipe. Since these children must have lived long before the Roman empire there is no way of knowing whose soap they used to blow their bubbles.

Railway Rates and Production

Mr. Grant Hall Compares Prices of Farm Produce and Cost of Carriage.

"Will an increase in railway freight rates discourage greater production of food stuffs in Canada?" was the question put to Mr. Grant Hall, Vice President and General Manager of the Canadian Pacific Railway. In reply he said:

"Why should it? With present prices prevailing all one has to do is to compare the present and the past prices for farm produce and the cost of carriage in the past and at present.

"In 1914 the average price for No. 1 northern wheat at Fort William was 90.2 cents. For the price of one bushel we carried 16.3 bushels from Brandon to Fort William, a distance of 552 miles. In 1917 the price of same bushel of wheat at the same market was $2.21. In 1917 we carried 28.2 bushels from Brandon to Fort William for the price of one bushel.

"In 1914 hogs were selling for $7.66 per hundred. For the price of one hundred pounds of hogs we carried 4,640 pounds from Minnedosa to Winnipeg, a distance of 135 miles. In 1917 hogs sold for $14.95 per hundred and we carried the same distance 9,370 pounds for the price of one hundred pounds.

"In 1914 cattle sold at $6.88 per hundred. For $6.88 we carried 3,931 pounds from Souris to Winnipeg, 149 miles. In 1917 cattle sold for $9.08 per hundred, and for that amount we carried 5,320 pounds from Souris to Winnipeg.

"In 1914 butter sold for 26½ cents per pound. For 26½ cents we carried 220 pounds of butter from Carberry to Winnipeg, 106 miles. In 1917 butter sold for 38½ cents and we carried 148 pounds for the price of one pound.

"In order to make my point more clear it can be stated that if a farmer sold one bushel of wheat locally in Brandon to pay for railway carriage he could ship nearly twice the amount for the price of one bushel in 1917 than he did in 1914.

"You know the story of the Kansas farmer who complained to the dealer about the rise in the price of a buggy? Yes, it was true the price of buggies had advanced but the last time he bought a buggy he paid for it with one load of grain. Now for the one load he got a buggy and the balance in cash, or in lieu of cash he would throw in a kitchen range, cooking utensils, and to make good measure he would give him a pair of overalls and a pair of gloves.

"Recently a man in Vancouver was talking to me about the high freight on dressed beef between Calgary and Edmonton and Vancouver. What do you think would be a fair rate for that haul I asked him. He thought three cents per pound would be about right. If that man can get a rate of three cents on beef from Edmonton to Vancouver this company will haul all the beef he can offer, give him back two cents per pound and then get more than it does now.

"I sometimes wonder if the people who make the biggest noise whenever a great national question appears, would make just as much if they were sure their noise would not appear in the public press. You know it says some place in the Bible that when a man prays he should go to the inner chamber. That advice must have been inspired, for a close study of human nature will soon tell one that if nobody is present except the man and his God he won't say a thing only what he thinks; he won't try to put over any bunk because he hopes it will be read the next day; he won't try to deceive himself. It is when a man prays in public and he knows people are listening that he generally prays the loudest.

"What I would like is to have the people of the west make somewhat of a study of the economics of the question. Did you ever stop to consider how very little the cost of transportation really enters into the cost of the everyday existence of the average citizen? Do you know that it costs more to send a letter from Montreal to Winnipeg than it does to carry your chat the same distance by freight? Did you ever stop to consider that the pair of shoes you are wearing, and which has doubled in price very recently, was loaded into a car and hauled 1,400 miles for one-fifth of what the barber charges for a shave?

"In view of some of the facts that I have given, do you wonder that burdened by increased wages; increased cost of capital and increases of from 100% to 500% in the cost of fuel, oil, material and supplies, that the railways are seeking relief through the medium of fifteen per cent raise in freight rates.

"Let us just compute what such an increase would mean. On a suit of clothes, a hat or a pair of shoes from Montreal to Winnipeg; 30 dozen eggs from Po Point; seven pounds of live beef om Calgary, the total fifteen per cent increase is equivalent to one red street car ticket in Winnipeg—three cents."

Former Czar's Abode.

No two papers seem to agree on the subject of the former czar's new place of abode, says an exchange. A favorable account speaks of Tobolsk as the "Boston of Russia," the "home of the arts," a picturesque old town, and a favorite winter resort in western Siberia. Its refinement and culture are attributed to the large number of Swedish officers who were interned there after Peter the Great's victory at Poltava. The town never lost the influence of their advanced civilization.

Marries Her Step-Son.

The strangest attempt yet discovered to evade the draft was revealed in New York the other day, when a man charged his wife with bigamy, naming his son by a former marriage as the woman's second and living husband. At the trial it was found that the woman had married her step-son in order to enable him to escape the draft.

Cents and Cigarettes.

The tobacco trade finds no difficulty in using cents in making prices. Cigarettes are priced as closely as anything sold in any department store. Perhaps the reason is that smokers do not have to have "smokes" and that the trade would shrivel if prices were not kept attractive.

Rheumatism, A Sneaking Disease Has At Last Met its Conqueror

Throbbing Muscles and Swollen Joints Made Well

RUB ON NERVILINE

Old age knows no foe more subtle, more unrelenting than rheumatism.

At first only a grumbling pain is felt. But, alas, it settles in the joints and muscles, and finally tortures its victims.

To-day the disease may be in the muscles of the back, thigh, shoulder or neck—to-morrow in the joints of the hand, toes, arms or legs it may work with redoubled fury.

Whether the pain is constant or occasional, makes no difference to "Nerviline."

Because other remedies have failed, don't be discouraged. Nerviline has cured the worst of cases. It has brought health to those in the deepest despair, has ended years of awful suffering for those who never hoped to be well again.

There is a marvellous healing power in Nerviline which it derives from the extracts and juices of certain rare herbs and roots. It allays almost magically the awful pain that only rheumatics can describe.

Congestion is drawn out of the muscles, stiffened joints are eased and limbered up, the old time feeling of depression is cast off, and once again Nerviline brings the sufferer to buoyant, vigorous, lasting good health.

Every home needs good old Nerviline, needs it for earache, toothache, headache, neuralgia, lumbago, sciatica, stiff neck, chest colds and sore throat. Wherever there is pain, congestion or inflammation, Nerviline will cure it.

This Letter From Newcastle

IS A MESSAGE OF GOOD CHEER TO PEOPLE SUFFERING FROM NERVOUS AND KIDNEY TROUBLES.

Newcastle, Ont., March 25.—Mr. Wilmot had been treated in hospital and at medical springs but found that cure only came when he used Dr. Chase's medicines.

His kidneys were deranged, circulation was bad, so that he suffered from cramps and the nerves were upset. By the combined use of Dr. Chase's Nerve Food and Kidney-Liver Pills he was enabled to entirely restore the system to health, and thereby get rid of the many annoying symptoms.

Mr. B. W. Wilmot, Newcastle, Ont, writes:

"For the last eighteen months I have suffered from nerve and kidney troubles. My hand would cramp up and also my side, and at times my hands were utterly useless. My kidneys pained and my liver was also deranged. I took doctor's medicine, was in a hospital, and even went to medical springs, but I must say that nothing has done me so much good in so short a time as Dr. Chase's Nerve Food and Kidney Liver Pills. Since using this combined treatment my cramps have completely stopped and I feel a great deal better. I may also say that the word constipation need never be mentioned since the goodness of Dr. Chase's medicines has been found out by the public. You may use my letter and my name if it will aid others to profit by my experience."

Dr. Chase's Nerve Food, 50c a box, a full treatment of six boxes for $2.75, at all dealers, or Edmanson, Bates and Co, Limited, Toronto. Do not be talked into accepting a substitute. Imitations only disappoint.

GERMAN LOSSES HAVE BEEN VERY HEAVY

NOYON IS NOW EVACUATED BY FRENCH

Haig's Forces Have Established Themselves to the East of Albert

Enemy Losses Have Been So Great That He Has Been Obliged to Reinforce His Battle Front From All Parts of the Western Theatre.

BRITISH OFFICIAL

Canadian Press Despatch:

LONDON, March 26.—(Official.) — The War Office officially reports to-day that the fighting died down during the night, and the British have established themselves east of Roye and Albert. The Germans this morning began new attacks against the combined French and British forces south of the Somme. The German losses have been so great that the enemy has been obliged to bring up reinforcements from all parts of the western front.

FIGHTING DIED DOWN.

The statement follows:

"The fighting died down during the night. Our troops established themselves on new positions east of Roye and Albert. North of the Somme a continuance of the fighting is expected, but it has not yet developed. Attacks are reported to be developing this morning south of the Somme against our troops, and those of the French, in the neighbourhood of Roye and Chaulnes the enemy's losses continue to be severe. He has been obliged to reinforce his battle front from all parts of the western theatre. Over seventy divisions are known to have been engaged in the battle."

Campaign is Meeting With Good Success—Solo Cornetist Joins the Organization

The 57th Regt. Band's Campaign, having for its object the increasing of the present membership from thirty to fifty, although only in its initial stages, is meeting with good success. At last night's rehearsal in the Armouries, eight new men presented themselves for membership and were accepted. Some of these were originally members of the 59th Band, that veteran overseas organization which had a fair representation of musicians from this city, while others represented the old 93rd. One particularly good recruit was Mr. McDonald, of Ingersoll, a solo cornetist of considerable experience and well-known in musical circles in Western Ontario cities. Mr. McDonald is a dairy expert of note and has just closed a three-year contract with the Peterborough Creamery. If the programme as now outlined by the 57th, continues to meet with success, our citizens will be treated this summer to a series of park concerts superior in every way to anything ever attempted in this city heretofore. On account of Friday being a public holiday, the 57th will rehearse to-morrow (Wednesday) evening, in the Armouries.

More Soldiers Arrive Home From Overseas

Another party of Peterborough men invalided home from overseas, reached home via the 5.35 G.T.R. train last evening, and were met by Mayor Duncan, City Clerk Armstrong, and Ald. Taylor, Worth and Dobbin. The party included Pte. James Sharman, who was a member of the 8th Canadian Mounted Rifles. Gunner W. Bocock, Canadian Field Artillery and Ptes. W. McColl, Sidney Allen, and Harry Graham, all of whom went overseas with the 93rd Battalion.

The British Machine Guns Exacted An Awful Toll

NEW YORK, March 26.—To-day's Associated Press wire criticism has the following to say:

"The British resistance to the mighty German blow west of Cambrai apparently is stiffening. The Germans, despite new masses of reserves which are being hurled into the battle line continuously, are slowing up on some parts of the attacking front before the defense of Field Marshal Haig. On the extreme north and in the centre, German progress has been appreciably slower while around Bapaume, on the old battlefield of the Somme and east and north of Noyon the enemy has made gains, but only at a cost of a fearful toll of lives exacted by machine guns and artillery. The fighting on these sectors continues to be of the most severe character.

Activity On Italian Front

Despatches Indicate That Italians Have Begun a Demonstration in Their Theatre of War

Canadian Press Despatch:

ROME, March 26.—Activity on the Italian front is becoming increasingly greater in co-operation with the Allied defence in France.

The cable above would indicate that the Italians have begun a demonstration in their theatre, either to prevent further withdrawals of Austrian forces for use on the west front, or in the hope of compelling Hindenburg to use a portion of his reserves in Italy.

ROME, March 26—(Official.)—Along the whole front there has been usual artillery actions and moderate activity by our reconnoitering patrols. Six hostile airplanes were brought down.

Tanks Were Used By Huns

Semi-official Berlin Statement Credits Tanks With Breaking Up British Machine Gun Nests

Special to The Examiner:

BERLIN, March 26.—German tanks, reinforced by captured British tanks, says a semi-official statement to-day on Sunday's fighting in the west, took a leading part in breaking the brave enemy resistance. Great celebrations all through Germany. The German tanks fought south-east of St. Quentin and "stood the test brilliantly," according to the despatch received here to-day.

Their speed and mobility were universally praised. All returned undamaged. Mainly due to them, the tenacious resistance of the British machine gun nests was broken.

Charming Bird Houses Made By School Children Displayed At R. Neill's Store

A building boom in bird houses has been created by the children of the Public and Separate schools in the competition for the prizes offered by Mr. Robert Neill for the best productions in each school. Both windows of the Neill store on Simcoe street are piled high with little houses that will soon be raised to the dignity of homes when the mating birds shall have discovered them. The success of this competition is amply demonstrated in the number and excellence of the houses. There are bungalows, cottages, apartments, a whole community of dwellings that should demand increased rentals from the feathery tourists in view of the high cost of lumber this year. There are attractive conceptions in paper white, birch finish, sober-hued but pleasing designs in cedar bar, and the open front "dug outs" for robins. Some of the ideas have been executed to the last perfection of finish, and all the children who entered this praiseworthy competition have done well.

One little girl brought to the store a green painted house that was plainly not of the quality of the more pretentious mansions. The roof was of tin, with the corners bent a bit, and it lacked the prevailing note of class that characterizes this aerial estate exhibition. This little girl looked shyly at the other houses, and then glancing at her humble offering, broke into tears as she said, "I made mine all myself anyway, giving expression to her thought that the other girls and boys must have been helped at home.

Several boys looking at a house intended for robins were frankly doubtful of its future tenants. One of them said: "Robins won't build in that. They're fresh air cranks and they want lots of it." They singled out several open, but completely roofed designs and agreed that the robins would fight for its possession.

One dainty little arrangement painted in white and green bore the name "Wren Inn," and another in a red, white and blue colour scheme, with a Union Jack at the top of its flag pole bore the witty inscription, "For the Flying Corps."

Mr. A. Mowat, Public School Inspector, to whose interest in this competition its success is largely due, is to be congratulated upon the response of the children. The youthful builders for the birds were permitted to make their houses either at home or in their manual training classes, the only condition being that the work was entirely their own. They were allowed to obtain information regarding construction form books or from their teachers.

The houses will be judged on Wednesday night and at 3.30 p.m. on Thursday they will be returned to the children who made them and must be erected at their homes for the birds that claim Peterborough for their summer flights and nesting. This wealth of welcome may be unfamiliar to the local feathered visitors who have been sadly neglected until Mr. Neill espoused their natural claim for protection and care. The small boy may eventually become so transformed by just such movements as this that instead of stoning the birds and their young and robbing their nests, they will continue to vie with one another in housing and guarding their little summer friends.

THE CHICAGO GERMANS WERE CELEBRATING WHEN POLICE CALLED

Canadian Press Despatch.

CHICAGO March 26. — More than fifty persons were arrested last night for celebrating the German offensive. Early in the evening the police were attracted to one house by the strains of "Die Wacht Am Rhein," and as a result of arrests made there, federal and civic authorities combined in a drive through the German settlements, where it was found that a general celebration was being held.

The evening gown of white should be brightened by a single red rose worn in the corsage.

THE SPIRIT IS UNBROKEN

British Soldiers Are Cheerful Throughout the Front—Hindenburg is Sparing No Lives

RESERVES BEING USED

(United Press Service.)
(Special to the Toronto Star and The Peterborough Examiner.)
(By William Philip Simms.)

WITH THE BRITISH ARMIES IN THE FIELD, March 26.—When Gen. Von Below's men crossed the Somme south of Peronne, the battle recommenced on the vast war wrought desert over which the half maddened Germans were driven a year ago along the line from Peronne to Albert.

There are no trees, no houses, in this region, which is shell pitted for miles.

SPARING NO LIVES.

Then the Germans were unable to bury their dead. They are now fighting over their comrades' bones. Thin columns of the enemy are slowly driving forward against the battering of the British guns. Their reinforcements are coming up from all parts of the lines. Prisoners say these reinforcements include reserves from Flanders, Laon, Rheims and Verdun.

Hindenburg is sparing no lives. The Kaiser is putting all in the melting pot.

TOMMIES ARE CHEERFUL.

Monday night finds the Tommies cheerful throughout the front. The spirit is unbroken. I saw them playing football within ordinary gun range of the enemy. These were reserves awaiting orders.

Civilian refugees, refusing to allow themselves to be captured, are taking their lot stoically.

The British troops are sticking to their positions to the last man against tremendous odds. Falling back in good order when their thin line finally cedes this or that point.

STILL GREATER SURPRISES ARE TO BE EXPECTED

Special to The Examiner:

LONDON, March 26. — Morning newspapers call upon civilians to accept still more privations and make greater sacrifices in these fateful days. The Daily Telegraph: "We hope that the history of the last few days has had its due affect on that section of our population at home which has hitherto been unable to release perilous exigencies of the situation. This is no time to talk of individual rights or to make much of grievances which affect this or that department of the nation's industry. The country, in the very crisis of its fate, calls upon everyone of us to submit to any and every sacrifice to secure its present safety and its future welfare."

United Effort.

The "Graphic" says thousands of civilians, comfortably sheltered at home, are doing nothing to help win the war. It adds: "Many of these are selfishly squandering unwonted earnings and at the same time actually hindering the output of war work. Clearly it is the duty of those who cannot fight to give all their available energy to any kind of work that helps to win the war, and to save every penny they can and put it into war loans."

Frank Jenns Says:

Have you ever thought of the importance of choosing your clothing carefully because it is war time? On every side we hear of food economy and we realize the importance of saving food for our soldiers and their allies.

We should also endeavour to save as much wool as possible for our soldiers by buying clothes only when we need them; by buying clothes that wear the longest; by buying clothes that give back, for the materials and labour put in the greatest amount of satisfaction and value.

You will find that Semi-ready clothes fill these requirements. "Come to me."

THE FRENCH OFFICIAL

Noyon Was Evacuated by the French During the Night—Battle Continues With Violence

HEAVY LOSSES INFLICTED

Canadian Press Despatch:

PARIS, March 26.—The battle continues with the greatest violence and the Germans are making still greater efforts along the whole front between Noyon and Chaulnes, the War Office announces. Noyon was evacuated by the French during the night. The left bank of the Oise is being held firmly by the French.

The statement follows:

The battle continues with violence. During last evening and in the night the enemy multiplied his attacks on the whole front between Noyon and Chaulnes. The French artillery well established in the region of Noyon and supported effectively by our infantry, is retarding the German thrust. Frequent counter attacks have been made and heavy losses inflicted on the enemy.

THE SITUATION HAS IMPROVED

Canadian Press Despatch:

WASHINGTON, March 26.—Information received to-day by the British military attache, Major General James D. McLachlan, is that the situation at the battle front decidedly improved during yesterday.

Sixth Day of the Monster Battle Finds the Struggle Moving Across the Famous Pozieres Ridge.

WEATHER IS FINE

(United Press Service.)
(Special to The Toronto Star and The Peterborough Examiner.)
(By William Philip Simms.)

WITH THE BRITISH ARMIES IN THE FIELD, March 26.— The sixth day of the monster battle finds the British and Germans fighting like Tigers across the famous Pozieres Ridge, which Haig wrested from Hindenburg in the fall of 1912.

Furious fighting continues, the enemy throwing masses in the direction of Albert from the high ground around Montauban. Here the British, in machine gun positions, are resisting stubbornly.

THRUSTING WESTWARD.

The Germans also are thrusting westward from Nesle, attempting to drive a wedge there, but their progress continues slow. The Allied resistance is daily stiffening. The enemy is violently endeavouring to break through at three points, south of Arras, toward Albert and toward Noyon. The east sector is the scene of the heaviest fighting, night and day.

The Germans were reported to-day along a line through Logeast Wood, Ligny, Thilly and Montauban, fighting madly toward the valley of the bloody Ancre.

WEATHER IS FINE.

The weather continues fine, favouring the Germans. For a few hours this aftern on the barometer fell and clouds came up, but the wind veered to the north, clearing the sky.

The air men are profiting, however by both the sunshine and starlight. During the past four days' fighting more than two hundred machines have been brought down. One hundred and twenty have been seen to crash to earth in kindling wood, while eighty-three were observed falling beyond control.

Low flying machines are ceaselessly harrassing the German attackers, sometimes simultaneously bombing advancing waves.

The Germans' Last Trump

Allied Military Authorities Are Confident That the Tide Will Turn

Special to The Examiner:

FRENCH FRONT IN FRANCE, March 26.—Entire confidence reigns that the Germans' last trump in the world battle will be overtrumped when the proper moment comes. The Allied military authorities were fully cognizant that the enemy's supreme effort would cause a retreat until measures could be taken to check the irruption into Allied positions.

THE SITUATION IS "TERRIBLE" SAYS UNITED STATES SENATOR

Senator Lodge Urges That American People Be Told the Truth—"American Has No Guns in France Except a Few Old Coast Guns"

(Canadian Press Despatch.)

WASHINGTON, March 26. — Senator Lodge to-day characterized the situation now confronting this country as "terrible," and urged that the American people be told the truth. It has been known for weeks Senator Lodge declared, that the United States had no fighting planes in France. "We've no guns in France except a few old coast guns. That's hard fact. We have turned out only two American ships, although the country has been led to believe there were thirty-six ships. It is to the last degree painful to say these things, but it is the truth. Let the American people know the truth whether good or bad. What have we shown? A wasted year. We may be fighting before very long for our very existence as an independent nation."

An impassioned plea for speeding production was made by Senator Thomas of Colorado, who declared German forces are "thundering at the gates of Paris" and that the country should be "aroused to the peril that confronts us."

"The situation at this time," said he, "is graver, perhaps, than at any time in our history. We need every resource, to tell them we are coming five million strong with our treasure, our coal, our ships and our food."

Other Senators urged utmost speed in every department of war preparations.

Frank Comment On The Offensive

Manchester Guardian Says We Have Suffered a Defeat But Not a Disaster

(Special to Peterboro Examiner and Toronto Star.)
(United Press Service)
(By Ed. L. Keen.)

LONDON, March 26. — Although Great Britain's traditional calmness is unperturbed and its confidence in Haig's ability to hold the enemy is unshaken, there is a general disposition to face the facts squarely and not minimize the possibilities of further retirement.

One of the frankest comments on the subject is that of the Manchester Guardian.

"We have suffered a severe defeat, but we know how to draw a victory out of defeat," declares the Guardian. "But it is not a decisive defeat and won't be."

"As long as our alignment is maintained, the enemy's advance, instead of being progressive, will be retarded.

"We have lost ground, but we are still far in advance of the positions which have saved France for two years.

"It is a defeat, but not a disaster. It is a time of great anxiety, but we are justified in awaiting the future with confidence."

SPECIAL EFFORT TO REPORT LOSSES

MINISTER OF MILITIA MAKES AN APPEAL

Canadian Press Despatch:

LONDON, March 26.— An appeal was made to-day by the Minister of Munitions, Winston Spencer Churchill to the effect that a special effort might be made to repair promptly the serious loss in guns, machine guns and ammunition resulting from the battle now in progress.

GERMAN ADVANCE IS BEHIND ITS SCHEDULE

Special to The Examiner:

LONDON, March 26.—Exacting the heaviest toll for every foot of ground, the British forces continue to withdraw slowly before the pressure of the German masses, a correspondent at Paris wires. In a large part of the battles the retirement is being voluntary, so as to maintain an unbroken front. Prisoners say the German advance is away behind its schedule.

"Peterborough Presents Possibilities Unsurpassed."

TUESDAY, MARCH 26TH, 1918.

A SPENDID REPORT.

Peterborough citizens will be generally interested in the annual report of the Canadian General Electric Company for the year 1917, which has just been issued and which shows that the company's financial position is a very strong one. There was an increase in total assets from $19,815,213 to 29,095,127, the current assets alone increasing from $8,340,013 to $8,557,946, while the earnings closely approximated previous records. Mortgage liabilities on purchased property were reduced to $24,000 and the net profits after setting aside reserves were $1,133,506. The figures are gratifying to say the least as the interests of the company and those of the city of Peterborough are so closely interwoven that the continued prosperity of the Canadian General Electric Company will have a beneficial local effect.

HIS SPRING OFFENSIVE.

After a long silence, Sir Sam Hughes has started his spring offensive. The ex-Minister of Militia opened a barrage of questions in the House yesterday, and one of them at least seems a peculiar query to come from a responsible member of the House, if it be permitted to speak of Sir Sam in that way.

The member for Victoria asked if the government had any information as to why the allies, splendidly armed and equipped, in chosen positions of their own, made up of the best men in the world, and numbering from seven to ten men per yard of front, recently gave way before an enemy neither their equal in manhood nor superior in armament, even though they numbered thirty men a yard of front in an attack?

Now just what did Sir Sam mean by that question? What impression was he trying to create?

The former Minister of Militia should be asked for an explanation of his asking a question that is mystifying to say the least, and that would seem to reflect upon the allied command.

THE MAGNIFICENT TOMMIES.

The story of the British stand against the full weight of the great German army is an echo of the retreat from Mons in the first few days of the war. Sobered as we may be by the gains made by the German war machine, saddened as we are by the realization of the grief stricken British homes when the casualty lists become known, there is in the epic fighting of the British Tommy against fearful odds, a wonderful demonstration of that courage in the face of death which has always distinguished the Empire's defenders, and which in the last analysis is going to prove the determining factor in the world's greatest battle.

It will be days before the full details of how British regiments, facing divisions, and British divisions grappling with army corps, fought in the hour of peril, will become known, but enough has come through already to show that the British battled with matchless courage and tenacity. Many as have been the glorious feats of arms in the world war, there has been nothing to eclipse the exploit of the Seaforth Highlanders at Demicourt on Friday when, with their flank on their right exposed, they made a last stand to cover the withdrawal of their comrades, holding the position until the Germans brought up two field guns and fired into them at point blank range. Equally as magnificent were the defence of Mory by the Leicesters and the feats of English, Irish, Scottish, Newfoundland and South African troops.

It is in the revelation of the calibre of the men of the British army that our confidence rests.

"A POLITICAL CANNON."

Judging by the frequency with which the subject has cropped up in conversation during the past couple of days, many people seem to be paying more attention to the mysterious bombardment of Paris than they are to the situation on the battle front, which is precisely the object for which the Germans have been striving. Wherever the shells that landed in Paris were fired from, whether really from a gun firing 74 miles, or from aircraft, from a cannon equipped with a Maxim silencer and hid far behind the British and French lines, or if indeed they are a type of aerial torpedo, their military effect is of little value. The whole incident is a bit of theatricalism, intended by its effect upon the imagination to lower the morale of the allied people. It is not succeeding in doing so as far as the inhabitants of Paris are concerned. The Echo de Paris truly calls the gun "a political cannon," and L'Homme Libre, President Clemenceau's newspaper says that the password of the hour is confidence.

"Germany," it declares, "has wished to make it a complete offensive on all fronts—the land, water and air fronts, as well as the "front of the rear." We are facing an enemy who wishes to end it as soon as possible. That suits us. Every shell that fall into Paris drives deeper into us the confidence of an intimate victory."

FOUNDATIONLESS RUMOURS.

Among the minor horrors of war may be listed the circulating of wild and foolish rumours that either cause unnecessary depression or a false elation, according to whether their purport is favourable to the allied cause or the reverse. Usually it is the case that the news put into circulation in this way pertains to disasters, the story that a Canadian transport carrying 1,700 Original Firsts had been sunk, which was spread broadcast a few weeks ago, and which caused great anxiety among the relatives of men expected home, being an example.

Yesterday, however, the rumour factory turned out an optimistic bulletin—a masterpiece in its way—which spread like wild fire throughout the city and which in spite of its extreme unlikelihood in view of the news that had been received over the wires earlier in the day, was quickly swallowed by many who heard it, and who in turn helped to promulgate the good tidings. The story was that the German Crown Prince had been captured and with him thousands of his soldiers, the most pessimistic estimate placing the prisoners at 30,000, while the optimistic citizen ran the total up to 300,000.

People should understand that any news that comes from overseas will be received by the Examiner. Through this paper's connection with the Canadian Press and with the Toronto Star, with its splendid service, every available channel for authentic war news is open to the Examiner, and when any such capture as that rumoured yesterday actually happens and we all hope that it will come soon, this paper will have the story practically as soon as it is received from across the Atlantic.

It would be a grand thing if the originator of some of these stories could be detected and properly punished. Stock brokers' desire to stimulate the market by favourable news is said to have been the cause of yesterday's yarn.

EDITORIAL NOTES.

The British are fighting as magnificently as ever. Don't be discouraged.

The British Empire has always been at its best when the odds were the greatest. People at home must be as firm in spirit as our brave men at the front.

It is the Germans' last big effort. The collapse of the present drive will bring peace. Always bear that in mind.

Canadian cavalry have likely been in the thick of the fighting. The Royal Canadian Dragoons, Strathconas and Fort Garrys were with General Byng's Third Army when last heard of in advices from overseas.

An Eastern Ontario Battalion again finds its way into the limelight through the despatches. More laurels for the 2nd or 21st Battalion.

People should not worry about that long-distance gun. Its military value is not equal to an attack by a single aeroplane.

Farmers and townspeople should sink their differences in the face of the news from France, and get together in the greater production campaign.

If you want to serve your country, and are unfit for the firing line, register now for farm work.

"The Eyes of the World"

Based on Harold Bell Wright's Novel—A Wonderful Spectacle

Heralded as the most notable contribution to the present era of mighty film ventures, "The Eyes of The World" will make its initial advent at the Grand Theatre on Thursday, commencing a three day engagement.

Based on the most popular romance of the times, by Harold Bell Wright, with a record of over one million sales in book form, the cinema translation is declared to excel the remarkable California story of love and adventure in every way, adding the virtues of remarkable scenic beauty, strong character acting and visualized dramatic clash.

The flight of Sibyl Andrea into the mountains; the search of the forest rangers for the lovely heroine; the kidnapping of the girl; the pathetic wanderings in the mountains of California of Willard, the escaped convict, and the combat of the rival lovers on the cliff, are well remembered episodes of the book which make great material for a thrilling drama.

An elaborate musical score accompanies "The Eyes of the World."

There will be popular priced matinees on Friday and Saturday only commencing at 2.30.

Pte. Calberry Is Wounded

Former 39th Man Again Appears in the Casualty List

Pte. Gordon F. Calberry, who enlisted here early in 1915, with the 39th Battalion, is officially reported wounded—the second time he has appeared on the casualty lists. Pte. Calberry went overseas with the 39th, and with 11 other Peterboro boys was transferred to the 25th Canadian Battalion in France. In the fighting in St. Eloi, in the spring of 1915, Pte. Calberry was shot in the head, and was in an hospital in England for some time. On his return to France he found only one of the original 12 local men left on duty, in the person of Pte. Ephraim Lindsay, who like Calberry, had come back to the firing line after being wounded.

Pte. Calberry's relatives live near Crowe's Landing, Stoney Lake.

Unprecedented Advancement For Local Boy

Major Hugh Wallis Who Enlisted as a Private is Now Brigade Major of the 4th Canadian Brigade

His many friends here will be glad to learn that a well known Peterboro boy, Major Hugh Wallis, has been promoted to the responsible position of Brigade Major of the 4th Canadian Brigade, in France. The young officer's advancement has been almost unprecedented. He enlisted in the first Canadian division as a private, and fought in the ranks in France for some time before he was granted a commission as lieutenant. Since then he has twice been promoted, and now comes the news of his latest appointment.

His brother, Major Harold Wallis, also rose from the ranks, going overseas as a private with the 1st contingent.

Union Prayer Meeting In The Murray St. Church

The union prayer meeting of St. Paul's, George street and Murray street churches will be held to-morrow night in Murray street church, not in St. Paul's as was stated in last evening's issue.

In view of the conditions in Europe this week and the great dangers to which the men of Britain are exposed for our sakes, it is suggested that every member of these congregations should be present at the mid-week hour and that the thought of the evening should be, "God's power to comfort His people and to bring victory to His cause."

Our king is asking that such services be held. The admirals and generals are making requests for prayer—the extremity is certainly one which should make the people anxious to find their way to the House of God.

Let no one forget the Wednesday war prayer service to be held in Murray street Baptist church.

More than the entire wool production of the United States will be used for American armies. Where is the wool to come from to make clothes for the civilians?

Missionaries For India At Temple On Wednesday Night

Twelve missionaries and some of the children on their way to India, are arriving here on the C.P.R. to-morrow afternoon at 3:26, and will have a drive around the city. A muster march at night at 7:15 in which both Corps of the Salvation Army in the city including Guards and Scouts will take part.

His Honour Judge Huycke will preside at a great missionary demonstration in the Temple at 8 o'clock. Nearly all the women who compose the party have worked many years in India and will no doubt have some great experiences to tell.

If you want to know something first-hand about missionary work, come to the Temple to-morrow night at 8 o'clock. Everybody will be welcome.

SERIES OF PASSION WEEK SERVICES

The first of the series of Passion week services held in Mark street Methodist church was marked by an encouraging attendance, inspiring address and spritual power.

Commander McElhiney's attendance was much appreciated. To-night Rev. D. Brown, of Park street church, will speak.

These patriotic and evangelistic meetings should elicit the interest of everyone. Come to Mark street church to-night at 7.45.

STRAWBERRIES HERE.

Selling at Thirty Cents a Pint Box—Tomatoes Due This Week.

Louisiana strawberries are selling here at 28 and 30 cents a pint box. They have arrived two weeks earlier than usual. The first car of Florida tomatoes and Cuban pineapples were due to reach Toronto to-day. The "pines" are $7.50 a case, and will retail at from 35 to 50 cents each. New cauliflowers are selling at 25 to 35 cents, and Florida and California celery at from 15 to 25c cents.

Voice of The People

Correspondence under this heading containing or involving attacks on individuals, or violent or extreme statements, must, to secure insertion, be signed with the writer's real name, the owner of which thus assumes the responsibility.

To the Editor of The Examiner:

Sir, Mr. R. R. Hall, in an article appearing in your paper on Saturday, the 23rd inst., said:

"They (the Dominion Govern-"ment) have adopted regulations "which are resulting in human be-"ings eating more oats and barley, "and our hogs more wheat."

A number of your readers are at a loss to know what his statement really means. It would be interesting to your readers to learn how Mr. Hall comes to this conclusion.

Yours truly,

ENQUIRER.

Mr. Hall, on being shown the above letter, pointed out that the Dominion Government has passed regulations fixing the price of wheat at $2.25 per bushel, but the price of oats and barley are not fixed. Oats are selling at $1 per bushel.

We will assume that an intelligent farmer has, say, 300 bushels of oats, and 100 bushels of wheat. The farmer knows the food value of wheat and oats in feeding hogs. He knows that he can get the same result by feeding one bushel of wheat to his hogs as he can by feeding them 3 bushels of oats.

The question arises, what will an intelligent farmer do when he has 300 bushels of oats, and 100 bushels of wheat?

He knows he can get $1 a bushel for his oats, which would net him $300 for 300 bushels, but for his 100 bushels of wheat at $2.25 a bushel, he can only get $225, but for the purpose of feeding his hogs, 100 bushels of wheat will produce the same results as 300 bushels of oats; hence he will keep his wheat and feed it to his hogs, and sell his oats to be manufactured into oatmeal to feed human beings, and he will make a profit of $75 upon the transaction.

To the Editor of the Examiner.

Sir,—Being inclined to attend Divine service when possible, I availed myself of the opportunity last Sabbath morning and was pleased to note the earnestness manifested by the Pastor in advocating combined prayer for the successful carrying on of the war. He remarked that it would be a nice thing to have the churches open continuously—IF THAT WERE POSSIBLE—so those inclined could assemble there and invoke God to lead the armies of the Allies in the right, to a speedy and successful issue. The same Divine was shocked at the number of people who attend "Picture Shows." Is it to be so wondered at, when we know that the multitude follows like the proverbial sheep? Why can't the churches be open to the public SEVEN days in the week? Even if only two or three met together in sincerity during each day wouldn't it be worth it? Do not the churches cater to the crowds—on Sabbaths of course, but during the rest of the week they allow the "Picture houses" to gobble them up. Unconsciously perhaps, the public is waiting to be led aright, and I thoroughly believe the Churches are the places where you would find many of the patrons of the "Movies" if given the opportunity. The Divines, no doubt, are well aware that it is the one and same people who attend both the "movies" and the church. Which has the stronger influence remains to be seen.

ONE INTERESTED.

Two Leading Characters in "Oh, Boy."

"Oh, Boy!" which comes to The Grand, next Monday evening, direct from a five months' run at Ye Wilbur Theatre, Boston, with the same big cast and production, is the fourth of a series of musical comedy successes from the New York Princess Theatre. The book and lyrics are by Guy Bolton and P. G. Wodehouse with music by Jerome Kern. "Oh, Boy!" is described as an intimate musical comedy and is replete with tinkling tunes, brilliant repartee, lovely girls, effervescent with sparkling enthusiasm, and the beauty of youth. It differs from that style of entertainment which America has come to know as musical comedy inasmuch as it carries a real story, the unfolding of which is not interrupted by interpolation of songs and dances, but the songs and dances help to carry the plot, each number having a direct bearing on the play. The song numbers are as follows:

"Let's Make a Night of it."
"You never Know About Me."
"A Package of Seeds."
"An Old-Fashioned Wife."
"A Pal Like You."
"Till the Clouds Roll By."
"A Little Bit of Ribbon."
"The First Day of May."
"Koo-La-Loo."
"Rolled into One."
"Oh, Daddy, Please."
"Nesting Time."
"Words are not Needed."
"Fluffy Dub, the Cave Man."

Refinement and Atmosphere are Two Essentials in Millinery Sought by Discriminating Women

Be it ever so plain, or just the reverse, a hat to be smart and fashionable must combine these two qualities. Two milliners may set to work on the same shape—one evolves a $5.00 hat, the other's to fetch twice the price. So it is not what the hat is made of or its trimmings, but the manner of placing these trimmings so as to give the smartest appearance.

In our collection of millinery at $6.00, each hat has been designed by the highest-priced milliners, and who are paid for their artistic taste and original creations.

The Poke Hats $5 to $8

On special display in one corner among the new Spring millinery. These hats have been the centre of wide comment. With their slightly upturned brim and small shapes, they have proven marvellously becoming to all types of faces. Of lisere straws. For the most part, have effective ribbon bows and loops; some trimmed in Georgette.

Crepe de Chine Frock $21.50

Of pretty crepe de chene, embroidered in effective combination, and finished with the collar to match. Has the new overskirt. Hardly a day passes but that some such pretty dress finds its way here from New York. This has just been unwrapped and will be on display to-morrow.

MAN FOUND WANDERING DIED IN BRAMPTON.

Told Jail Authorities He Had Relatives Living in Hamilton.

BRAMPTON, March 18. — Eight days ago an old man calling himself Albert Haight was found wandering about in the neighbourhood of Port Credit. County Constable Rutledge, of Port Credit, brought him to Brampton, thinking he would be better off when lodged in the county jail, as he was in a very feeble condition. He was placed in charge of Dr. Heggie, jail physician. As the old man stated that he had a niece in Hamilton, Chief Herks, of Brampton, communicated with the Hamilton police. When the old man learned that no one in Hamilton connected with him could be located, he sank rapidly and died Saturday about noon. He was about 76 years of age, and wore a thin, grey beard. Three fingers are missing from the right hand. The remains are being held in hopes that word will be received from some relatives.

HIS DEATH UNSOLVED.

Inquest on Lt. G. E. Robinson Fails to Explain Manner.

BROCKVILLE, March 23.—That Lt. George E. Robinson, of Orangeville, came to his death by a fall from a cliff from seventy to eighty feet high to the ice below in a manner unknown to them, was the verdict of the Coroner's jury here. Robinson was attached to a forestry draft here, and fellow-officers testified that the day previous to the departure of Major F. O. W. Tidy and draft, he appeared remorseful over being unable to accompany his comrades overseas. The body was found by a military policeman shortly before the draft was scheduled to leave. He had been missing about twelve hours.

ed German monster cannon is "pretty much of a myth."

"I would be willing to stand up before that gun at ten cents a shot," declared the general, who went on to say that the shells which fell in Paris were likely aerial torpedoes, which "were not new, likely to be buffeted about by the wind, might hit a large city like Paris occasionally; but could not accurately hit a distinctive mark."

WANTS INFORMATION.

Proceeding to discuss the British withdrawal, the General was not satisfied with official explanations thus far given. "The old British army," said General Hughes, "faced under General Rawlinson, with a man to a yard and a half, onslaughts in which in Germans massed fifteen and twenty men to the yard; and their line was never broken; this despite the fact that at that time the German artillery was infinitely superior to the British; and Rawlinson, moreover, had only a single line of trenches.

"Major Bridges, at the battle of the Marne, with his cavalry cut through the Germans, who outnumbered the British thirty to one, three times and then put them to rout and the same feat was performed by Col. Long, of the Scots Greys, well known in Ottawa.

AT ST. JULIEN.

"Then, take the battle of St. Julien—the Canadians, green troops, with less than thirteen thousand bayonets, of whom less than ten thousand were in action, had only a few machine guns, no aeroplanes for observation, with only a couple of batteries of artillery, practically without ammunition, and only a single line of trenches, faced an attacking army fifteen times their number, and held their line without a break, although the Algerians had given away twelve thousand yards on their left. They blocked the way to Calais nearly as wide as the one at St. Quentin.

"There is need for further explanation," concluded General Hughes.

Young green vegetables should be cooked in salted boiling water.

A three pound lard pail is good for keeping fish in the ice box.

ESOLUTION AGAINST ALIENS PASSED BY GREAT WAR VETERANS

erboro Branch Declares In Favour of Conscription Of Foreigners Whose Countries Are Fighting on the Side of the Allies—Food Production Resolutions Are Also Passed.

solved,—That all foreigners, who ng to our Allies and are enjoying freedom of the British flag in Can- should be conscripted at once, ved in active service.—Carried.

esolved,— That these foreigners, are not medically fit for active ice overseas, and all other foreign- who come under this class, should conscripted and used by the Do- minion Government in whatsoever capacity they may deem advisable, which we hope may be in the greater production of food. Further, that the pay of these men shall not exceed the pay and allowances of our Canadian private soldier.—Carried.

The term foreigner in this clause is taken to mean all those born under another flag other than the British flag, and who is not naturalized.—Carried.

Resolved,— That all eligible male chauffeurs in the employ of private individuals, driving for pleasure, be dismissed with a view to aiding in the greater production of food or used in active service. Returned soldiers excepted.—Carried.

Resolved,—That the Food Controller be requested to take drastic measures to enforce the conservation of food, and that the sale and consumption of such articles as beef, bacon and bread be prohibited on certain days.—Carried.

Resolved,—That the Government b approached with a view to the takin over or the commandeering of all food products now in cold storage or other wise, and to provide for the distribu tion of these products to the needs of ourselves, and our Allies at cost price N.B.—This was done in Britain three years ago.—Carried

Resolved,—That a strict public investigation should be made into th exemptions allowed by the variou tribunals, in view of the fact there be ing so many exemptions allowed o flimsy excuses, this being very n liceable in the Province of Quebec. Carried.

Resolved,—That all medically fitted men, now in Government employ on home service, should be sent overseas at once.—Carried.

Resolved,—That those employed in home service who do not come under this heading be discharged to civil life as soon as a returned soldier can be found to fill their positions.—Carried.

Resolved,—That all officers and warrant officers who have refused to revert their rank be discharged to civil life and not allowed to hold government positions, and that they should be conscripted under the Military Service Act.—Carried.

Resolved,—That the age limit stated for the M.S.A. should be lowered so as to include those of eighteen and nineteen years.—Carried.

Resolved,—That that there should be no exemptions in the realm of sport.—Carried.

Resolved,—That all single men exempted by the M.S.A. should be forced to contribute weekly one day's pay, either to the various war funds or to the patriotic fund.—Carried.

Resolved,—That all tillable land should be made to produce this year, and that in the event of a farmer being unable to carry on this work, the government should conscript aliens, it being understood that the farmer should pay the standard scale of wages, but that the alien should receive only $1.00 and allowances, the balance to be used for patriotic purposes.—Carried.

Resolved,—That all ice cream parlours and confectionery or candy stores should be closed at once for the duration of the war, with a view to the conservation of sugar and milk, etc., and to release this labour for greater food production.—Carried.

The above resolutions were passed at the meeting of the Great War Veterans' Association in the Sergeants' mess room of the Armouries last night. Comrade J. A. McNabb was in the chair.

Many other branches of the G. W. V. A. have passed similar resolutions and the intention is to have them placed before the Dominion Government as soon as they have been endorsed by all the branches of the Association.

Nearly all the resolutions were passed unanimously and with but little discussion.

Three members were added to the strength of the association. Lieut.-Col. T. W. H. Young, who has recently returned from overseas, being one of them.

It was announced that all preparations had been completed for the banquet to be given by the Association to night at the Empress Hotel in honour of the Peterboro "Original Firsts."

THING LIKE PHOSPHATE TO INCREASE STRENGTH, VIGOR AND NERVE FORCE

DINARY NITRO-PHOSPHATE WILL OUBLE THE STRENGTH OF WEAK DELICATE, NERVOUS PEOPLE IN TWO WEEKS' TIME IN MANY INSTANCES.

Weak nerves quickly reduce the strong d robust to an extremely pitiable con- ion and rob men and women of all the s of life. Slowly and stealthily the lth is destroyed, the poor suffer- only realizing the magnitude of his ment when faulty memory, sleepless- s, indecision, lack of energy or other mistakable symptoms indicate weak rves. Then it is a serious and danger- s mistake to resort to the use of so led tonics, alcoholic or drug stimu nts.

Weak and exhausted nerves need food d nourishment—not stimulants that h them into temporary activity. The od and nourishment advised by presen physicians is just one 5-grain tablet are Nitro-phosphate taken during e mediately after each meal. Simple ad but its soundness has been proved and over again.

Moreover the genuine standard nitro- sphate is inexpensive and is sold by Ormrod & Jury and most all good ggists under a binding guarantee of isfaction or money back.

A Chicago woman had entered a newspaper office for the purpose of inserting an advertisement in the want column.

KORNILOFF'S ARMY WAS SMASHED

(Special to the Toronto Star and The Peterboro Examiner.)

(United Press Service.)

(By Joseph Shaplen.)

PETROGRAD, March 25— (Delayed.)—Soviet forces smashed Gen. Korniloff's army, which appeared suddenly on the borders of the Charkoff Province, in the Dor region, near the station of Pissarevskaya, it was reported here to-day. Koroniloff's men fled in wild disorder.

Only 40 Local Boys Ready To Work On Farms

The boys of Peterborough are falling behind in the soldier of the soil movement, according to Mr. Roper of the Y.M.C.A., who reports that so far only 40 local boys have volunteered for farm work. Other places in the district have done much better. Lindsay enlisting 93 boys and Omemee reporting the signing up of eleven boys out of the twelve attending the High school. Norwood is out to beat last year's record of 75 boys and girls engaged in farm operations. Peterborough boys have still an opportunity to join in the movement.

Parliament Was Prorogued To-day

(Canadian Press.)

Toronto, March 26.—The fourth session of the fourteenth Legislature of Ontario, was prorogued with simplified ceremonies this afternoon. The majority of the members left for home last week and the prorogation speech by Lieut.-Governor, Sir John Hendrie, was delivered to an audience composed principally of cabinet ministers and their friends.

Sir John emphasized the importance of the legislation passed this session, particularly in regard to the conservation of food and fuel, preparation to aid returned soldiers, and the act to combat venereal diseases.

Two Years For Slacker

(Canadian Press.)

Toronto, March 25.—Declaring he would not put on the King's uniform until the political situation in Ireland was changed, John MacSweny, who was recently tried by district court martial, was to-day sentenced to two years imprisonment with hard labor. This is the maximum sentence under the act.

A PRESENTATION IN SMITH TOWNSHIP

MR. AND MRS. BRAY WERE HONORED.

About thirty of the friends and neighbours of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Bray, 2nd line of Smith Township, met at their home on Tuesday evening March 19th, to present Mr. and Mrs. Bray with two handsome chairs, tokens of the esteem and affection of the assembly for them in their departure to reside in Emily Township. Although taken completely by surprise Mr. and Mrs. Bray made gracious little replies to the gifts and expressed their sorrow from departing from a neighburhood which has grown so dear to them.

THE ADDRESS.

After the following address was read and presentations made, a pleasant, social evening was spent in games, music and refreshments

Mr and Mrs. Harry Bray, Smith Township.

Dear Friends,—Hearing of your intended immediate departure from o neighbourhood, we have met here t evening to spend a social hour and tender you our best wishes in yo new home.

During the seven years of your r sidence in our midst you have bo won your way into our hearts and i terests, and we shall all greatly mi you in our Sunday School and R Cross work and in our social a neighbourly intercourse.

Please accept the accompanying fering as a small souvenir of o pleasant associations and personal gard.

Wishing you both the success y would wish yourselves and trustic you may enjoy continued good healt

Signed on behalf of your friend and neighbours. — Albert Middleto Cliffford Hancock.

A Home For Incurables Is Growing Need In This City

Charity Board Directs Public Attention to Difficulty of Caring For Number of Incurables—Provincial Institutions Are Taxed to Limit of Their Capacity.

The need of a home for incurables in this city or district was discussed at last night's meeting of the Charity Board. The subject arose out of a report that a number of local cases offer considerable difficulty to the authorities for the reason that the several Provincial Homes are overcrowded, and such patients are not welcomed in general hospitals.

Mr. A. J. Johnston moved, seconded by Mr. R. C. Braund, that the Charity Board feels that a Home for Incurables is greatly needed in the city as there are several patients now that should be placed in such an institution, but there is no room for them in any such Home in the Province; and the public attention is called to this need.

DE LAVAL ARE CHAMPIONS OF THE TEN PIN LEAGUE

Last Friday night the final match in the Bowling League was rolled off and then ended one of the most successful bowling leagues ever held at the Water Street Alleys.

The De Laval team finished victorious over all the other seven teams, winning out by the small margin of one game over the Printers.

The Printers rolled in fine form all the way and had a chance for first place until the Canadian General Electric team beat them two games last week and spoiled their chances of being champions. However, when it came to the final game between the Printers and the De Laval, the Printers clinched second place, by defeating the De Laval.

The Hig Rollers, the third team in the race, were fighters to the finish.

The Canadian General Electric, although only in fourth place, were really the toughest aggregation of bowlers in the League to beat.

Dawson, of the Centrals, was high average man with 185 for twenty-six games, and Solomon was a close second with 182 for 42 games.

Henderson and Anderson of the Printers were the next two in the high averages and rolled very consistent games all the way. Fielder of the Canadian General Electric, and Cairns of the Printers' teams, were the next in the standing, and they both showed good form in the second half of the League.

The high three games was rolled by Henderson of the Printers team with 635.

The high single game was rolled by Barrette of the De Laval team—256.

Too much praise cannot be given the De Laval team, who were in first place from the start. They did not have a man away up in the high averages, and their games were not so high for an average as the Printers, but they rolled consistently and did the essential thing in a bowling league—they won games—and they won the most games, hence their standing and the championship.

The standing of the League, as they finished, was as follows:

The STANDING.

| | Won. | Lost. | P.C. |
|---|---|---|---|
| DeLaval | 29 | 13 | .690 |
| Printers | 28 | 14 | .667 |
| High Rollers | 25 | 17 | .595 |
| Can. Gen. Elec. | 24 | 18 | .571 |
| Grocers | 18 | 24 | .429 |
| West Ends | 16 | 26 | .381 |
| Centrals | 15 | 27 | .357 |
| The Macs. | 15 | 27 | .357 |

THE TWELVE LEADERS.

| | Games. | Average |

TWO CANDIDATES FOR PRESIDENCY OF LACROSSE BODY

Ernie Doyle and Fred Waghorne the Opponents— Two Amendments to Be Dealt With on Friday.

TORONTO, March 25.— Nominations for offices in the Ontario Amateur Lacrosse Association closed on Saturday, with the result that Messrs. W. J. Westwood, of St. Catharines and A. G. Davis, of Brampton, are elected vice-presidents, and James E. Dundas, secretary, by acclamation. The following is the list:

President—E. Doyle, Newmarket; F. C. Waghorne, Toronto.

First vice-president—W. J. Westwood, St. Catharines.

Second vice-president—A. G. Davis, Brampton.

Secretary-treasurer—J. E. Dundas, Toronto Maitlands.

Treasurer— J. Labatt, Toronto, J. E. Dundas, Toronto.

Committee (10 to be elected) — L. Smith, Toronto; J. Labatt, Beaches; J. Sullivan, Riversides F.; Jacobs, St. Simons; F. S. Coombs, Maitlands; H. Halpin, Peterborough; L. A. Best, Campbellford; Whitby Sterling; G. Robinson, Collingwood; E. H. Johnston, London; R. E. Vandusen, Paris; Dr. Lou Campbell, Orangeville; W. Clapper, Aurora.

Auditors—J. Stevenson and D. A. Rose.

J. E. Dundas will stand for the treasurship only if the offices of secretary and treasurer are amalgamated.

There are two amendments to come before the annual meeting, which will be conducted in one session next Friday morning at Labour Temple, viz.: Fred Waghorne's, for the midget series, and Charlie Parkinson's, to reduce the senior players to ten, same as intermediates and juniors.

SPORT GOSSIP

Rudolph Balks at Salary Cut.

Rudolph, who was one of the highest salaried players on the Boston roster, was asked to accept a big cut in his salary this season, but after having a three-year contract for a high salary, from the Gaffney regime, Dick refuses to play.

It is understood that Haughton offered the pitcher a conditional contract with a salary of $5,000 if he turned in fifteen victories, but this does not quite suit Rudolph, and he has not yet given his answer to the proposition.

At the recent dinner given to Hans Wagner by the Stove League in Pittsburgh, Hugnie Jennings, manager of Detroit, paid a high tribute to the old Pirate shortstop. Said Jennings: "He has built an unseen monument that will live forever to hold the worship of the boys. The character of Hans Wagner, while his name was in front of the entire nation, was such as to earn only the greatest commendation. For more than twenty years Hans occupied the crest, but his true spirit of humility tempered his every act. The tremendous power he has influenced in the lives of Young America will never be known, but the truth is being brought nearer home in these strenuous days when our manhood is being tested with splendid results."

The Boston Marathon, which has been staged annually for twenty-one years, will not be run this year. A marathon relay race for men in the service is to take the place of the old long-distance running classic.

Eighteen years ago Barney Dreyfuss bought the Louisville team for $25,000 a figure amounting to about one-half the price that a single star pastimer brings nowdays. And the Louisville team included Honus Wagner, Fred Clarke, Rube Waddell, Deacon Phillippi, Claude Ritchey and a dozen other players.

Pichter "Lefty" Tyler may be placed at first base for the Cubs, according to a Chicago story. If a perfectly good left hand is what is needed to become a star first sacker, George is going to crowd Hal Chase for the honours.

So much printing ink is being wasted on bunk offers for a Jess Willard-Fred Fulton fight that a "bull-less" day ought to be declared by the powers that be.

Fighting Has Died Down

Special to The Examiner:

LONDON, March 26.—Fighting has died down east of Roye and Albert, Field Marshal Haig reported to-day. The British have established new positions there.

Albert is twelve miles south-west of Bapaume. It was toward this city that the only German advance recorded yesterday afternoon, occurred.

Roye is seven miles southwest of Nesle, which marks the farthest German advance in the present drive. Roye is 24 miles south-west of St. Quentin, where the lines were held before the German advance began.

THE PETER ROBINSON CHAPTER WILL AID IN GREATER PRODUCTION.

At a meeting of the Peter Robinson Chapter, I.O.D.E., last night, the members decided to aid in greater production by starting a vegetable garden in a vacant lot, the proceeds to be devoted to patriotic purposes.

The Chapter have also adopted a novel plan in entertainment and fund raising. The young ladies will demonstrate as mannequins the new Spring costumes belonging to the leading dry goods stores.

This idea was worked out in Ottawa by a patriotic club with complete success and will probably be just as successful in the city.

Had Summons In His Pocket When Taken By P. C. Wigg

Cephas Munroe of Lindsay attracted the attention of P. C. Wigg at the G.T.R. station last night, and tucked away in his pocket was a summons to appear in the Lindsay Police Court on Wednesday, March 27, on a charge of assaulting his wife. P. C. Wigg seems to possess a special faculty for scenting evaders, military and otherwise. He approached Munroe with a suspicion that he was a defaulter under the Military Service Act, and at the police station the Lindsay man was subjected to a lengthy enquiry into his past and present. He stated that he was a married man and had seen military service, although he had not reached France. According to his story, which began to wobble and blur in its military details, Munroe had enlisted with the 100th Battalion at Havelock.

The police told him they couldn't recall the recruiting of that unit in the Peterborough district, although Toronto and other cities were combed for recruits by the Lindsay officers.

When Munroe was searched the incriminating summons was sufficient reason for holding him until the Lindsay Police department were notified of his detention here.

When intercepted at the railway station he was apparently on the first stage of a journey that was intended to seprate him from the Lindsay police court, but he reckoned not with P. C. William Wigg and the local police practice of visiting the stations when trains are arriving and departing.

92 DOGS CAUGHT.

All but 24 of Them have been Destroyed.

After several days of silence, the dog catcher reports renewed activity—bringing his total catch up to 92 dogs, 24 of which have been returned to their owners.

W. A. Revoy of Hunter street, paid 75c this morning for the destruction of his dog. It was caught on the street, but to the police he expressed a desire that it be killed at his expense, instead of the city's.

The Gates record since February 21st, therefore, is almost 100 dogs taken, and the great majority of them have been trotted before Mr. Gates at sunrise.

FOWLER'S PEBLO GLASSES

GENUINE GREATNESS

Genuine greatness is marked by simplicity. Glasses fitted and made by Dr. Fowler, on his own grinding plant, are simply genuinely great. The luxury of seeing perfectly, and having complete use of the eyes after perhaps months of short sightedness and other eye-troubles is great also. You will think so when Dr. Fowler has looked after your eyes.

OBITUARY

EDWARD HEALEY.

Edward Healey, an inmate of the House of Providence, passed away yesterday. The deceased originally resided in Grafton. The funeral took place this morning from the church of the Immaculate Conception to St. Peter's cemetery.

FRANK NEWELL.

Frank Newell, an aged resident of Lakefield, died this morning after an illness of some months. Deceased, who was about 95 years of age, had become practically a landmark of the village. He leaves two sons and several daughters, one of whom, Mrs. Peacock, resides at the Commercial House, Lakefield, where Mr. Newell died. He was born in Douro.

The funeral will take place to-morrow at 3 o'clock.

FRANCIS CAREW.

After an illness of three months the death occurred late yesterday of Francis Carew. The deceased, who was sixteen years of age, was a son of Mr. Nat Carew, who resides just below the Locks bridge. Three sisters survive, namely, Mrs. Harper, and Gertrude, of Toronto, and Vera, at home; also two brothers, Fergus and Harold at home. The mother predeceased him about four years ago.

The funeral will take place to-morrow morning at eight-thirty o'clock, to the Sacred Heart Church, and then to St. Peter's cemetery.

MRS. WM. STEVENS

Death ended the sufferings on Sunday morning after about a year's illness, of a well known and highly respected resident of Lindsay in the person of Isabella Hunter, beloved wife of Mr Wm. Stevens, corner of James and George streets.

The deceased was born in Manvers township, being the daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. David Hunter. She lived in Lindsay all her married life where she enjoyed the esteem and respect of of a wide circle of acquaintances. She is survived by her husband, two daughters, Mrs. Alex. McConnell, of Sydney, C.B. and Miss Pearl, of Lindsay; one son, W. D. Stevens, of Peterboro; five brothers, John, Havelock, Wesley and David, of Carmen, Manitoba; Henry, of Moose Jaw; Samuel of Reaboro; also three sisters, Mrs. Edward Harden, Madoc; Mrs. Fred Shaw, Mill street, Lindsay.

The late Mrs. Stevens was a member of the Queen street Methodist church.

Funeral will leave her late residence at 2.15 o'clock. Interment at Riverside Cemetery.—Lindsay Post.

FUNERAL TO-MORROW.

The funeral of late Mrs. Lorne Morrow, who died on Sunday night, will take place to-morrow (Wednesday) afternoon at 2 o'clock. Service at the house, 267 Reid street, conducted by Rev. Mr. Mackenzie, before proceeding to the Fraserville cemetery.

GAVE A TALK ON THE FARM TRACTOR

Interesting Demonstration in the Deering Warerooms.

The educational campaign for conveying information on the use of the farm tractor, which was held in Peterborough this afternoon in the Deering warerooms, 387 Water street, awakened considerable interest in the method of farming, which is comparatively new in Ontario.

Mr. A. S. Allen, representing the International Harvester Co., of Hamilton, who has been conducting similar campaigns practically all over Canada, gave a most interesting talk on the new methods of using the tractor, which use will revolutionize farming. By a series of charts and lantern slides he explained to the large number who attended from the country, the construction and operation of the engine and the uses to which it may be put for farm use and the wonderful asset the tractor will be to the farmer in these days of scarce labour conditions, in lightening the work and putting it through in a fraction of the time formerly needed.

BIRTH.

INNES.—In Peterboro, on Monday, March 25, 1918, to Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Innes, 217 Townsend St., a son.

Noon Service In George Street

Owing to the war situation a noon hour prayer service will be held in the Sunday School room of George Street Methodist Church on Wednesday and Thursday. It is hoped the citizens will take advantage of this opportunity for united supplication. Men and women on their way or returning from work, are urged to drop in and take part.

Social and Personal

Mr. and Mrs. Francis Jackson left this afternoon for Keppel, Alberta, where they will reside in future. The young couple carry with them the best wishes of their numerous friends and relatives. Mrs. Jackson was formerly Miss Else Paul.

Mr. C. J. Bateman was in Lindsay yesterday on business.

Mrs. Barber is the guest of Miss Florence Cameron, Stewart street.

Miss Ethel Burnham, Cobourg, is visiting Dr. and Mrs. Halliday.

Miss Winnifred Orde, Ottawa, will spend the Easter holidays with the Misses Hatton, Monaghan road.

Miss Mary Traill is spending a few days in the city en route for Brantford, from where she will leave for her home in the west.

A wedding of considerable local interest is announced in "Canada," which says: On Wednesday, February 20th the wedding was solemnized of Lt. William Francais Arthur, Canadian Infantry, and Fredericka Herbert Doris Jackson, of Brockville. Miss Jackson was a visitor at the home of Judge Huycke frequently.

Mrs. Frank Savigny, of Otonabee, wishes to announce that she will be at home to her friends on Wednesday, April 17th and the second Wednesday in the succeeding months.

Mrs. F. R. Yokome will continue to occupy her home, 500 Gilmour street. The rumour that the house is for sale or to rent, or that any rooms are to let, is incorrect.

Miss Gilespie, head milliner of the Robt. Fair and Co. Ltd., his just returned from Toronto, where she has secured the latest Easter novelties in millinery.

Lakefield Hotel Changes Hands

Mr. William Newell, who lately returned to Lakefield after thirty-three years' residence in the North West, has, with Mr. Peacock, proprietor of the Commercial House, Lakefield, purchased the Leahy Hotel in that village and will conduct an hotel on an up-to-date scale.

Use Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets to Help Your Stomach and Do Not Worry.

"Believe Me, I Enjoy My Meals to the Limit. No Fear of Consequences, Either, While I Have Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets to Fall Back Upon."

Dyspepsia, indigestion, weak stomach and similar names simply mean that the supply of digestive juices is inadequate. That is where Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets come in—by supplying this deficiency.

If you will eat a Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablet after each meal and one just before you go to bed, you will learn that there is no harm in your meals.

The reason is clearly plain. Your system lacks the proper digestive juices to make your meals easily digested. Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets give the stomach and other organs of the digestive apparatus the wherewithal to digest food.

Get a 50c box from any drug store and try them.

The German Offensive Is Slowing Up

The Enemy Took Roye Yesterday —First British Wounded Arrive in Paris

Canadian Press Despatch:

LONDON, March 27.—The War Office announced last night that the Germans took Roye at ten-thirty yesterday morning. The enemy has been checked west of Roye and Noyon. In the Roye area the French, British and American troops are fighting side by side. French reinforcements are coming up. Thousands of refugees behind the British lines are being removed to places of safety by the Red Cross.

AEROPLANES DESTROYED.

Canadian Press Despatch:

LONDON, March 27.— The British have brought down two hundred and sixty-four airplanes in four days and lost thirty-one.

The first British wounded from the German offensive reached Paris last night.

SLOWING UP.

Canadian Press Despatch:

LONDON, March 27.— A despatch received this morning says: After six days of intense fighting the German offensive is slowing down.

BERLIN, Via London, March 27. — The number of guns captured now total 963 and more than one hundred tanks were found in captured positions, says Army Headquarters.

BURIED AT PORT HOPE.

Funeral of Samuel Caldwell, Who Died on Friday.

The funeral of the late Samuel Caldwell took place this morning from the G.T.R. station upon the arrival of the train from Perrytown. While working in the yard on Thursday, Mr. Caldwell did not notice the cellar door was open and when he stepped backwards he fell headlong down the steps. He was severely injured about the head and also suffered internal injuries. A doctor was immediately summoned and everything possible was done; owing to Mr. Caldwell's advanced age however he was beyond aid and he passed away the following morning without regaining consciousness. The late Mr. Caldwell was one of the most prominent and highly esteemed residents of the village. He took an active interest in municipal affairs and served at the Council Board for several years afterwards taking the position of assessor. He was a member and a regular attendant of the Methodist church and took a very keen interest in all church work.—Port Hope Guide.

Tit for Tat.

The subject of the Sunday sermon at one of the uptown New York churches was the duties of the citizen in time of war. The need of conservation of all foodstuffs was emphasized, and among the persons who gave ear was a small boy, replete in Sunday finery. He sat with his grandfather, a stout, rather red-faced man, who was obviously devoted to the youngster. "And at this time," said the clergyman, in the course of his sermon, "it is the small sacrifice which means so much to the good of the nation generally. There is a shortage of sugar. Well, let us eat less candy, for instance." The stout man nudged his grandson. "It is time for sober, clear-headed action on the part of all," continued the clergyman; "and when there are so many war needs for alcohol, why, for instance, should any man now partake of spirituous liquors?" Then the small boy nudged his grandfather.

The Fighting Yesterday Was Another Waterloo

Masses of Enemy Troops Were Mowed Down by the Intense Fire of the British—Enemy Reserves Are Dwindling

(Canadian Press Despatch.)

BRITISH ARMY HEADQUARTERS IN FRANCE, March 26. — There is reason to believe important events will be recorded within the next few hours, which may lead to a betterment of the position of the armies which are stemming the German onslaught. The enemy is fighting desperately hard against time. On the first day his reserves were reduced to fifty-two divisions. At the end of the second day some forty divisions from the reserves had been put in. A heavy German attack yesterday about Ervillers was completely smashed by British artillery fire.

TENACIOUS RESISTANCE.

LONDON, March 26. — The tenacity of the British resistance, prisoners say, exceeded anything the Germans deemed possible. They complain of great privations on account of lack of supplies, and extreme weariness also is telling heavily. Owing to the dense masses of supporting troops, however, the enemy is able to replenish his forward line with fresh units. The weather remains dry, thus favouring the enemy. Yesterday was a supreme day for British gunners says a correspondent. Attacking from the north of Ervillers to the point of British contact with the French, the Germans were held up nearly everywhere by the ceaseless intensity of the British artillery fire.

ANOTHER WATERLOO.

Masses of enemy troops which, coming forward in waves again and again attempted to reach their objectives, met with the same fate as the old guard at Waterloo. In only one sector, near Sapignies, did they succeed in bending back the British front. It was to conform the front with this indentation that the British fell back during the night, straightening the line.

Reports from all along the front indicate that the German loss of life yesterday was heavy. The enemy advanced against the Allied gunners who were firing with open sights. Last night the British airmen took a heavy toll from the German infantry near Bapaume. No official figures are at hand, but from compilations made personally the correspondent is convinced that at least one hundred and thirty German airplanes have been brought down in the last five days.

A SMILE OR TWO

ASKING TOO MUCH.

(Exchange)

Hub (growling at the food) — Steak done to crisp, and no white-bread!

Wife—You know, dear, we must make some sacrifice these war times.

Hub—Well, I'm willing to sacrifice, but (pointing to steak), what about this burnt offering?

WHAT IT DOESN'T SAY.

(Boston Transcript).

Mother—There, now, don't whip Johnny. You know the Bible says, "Let not the sun descend upon your wrath."

Father—That is all right, but it doesn't say not to let your wrath descend upon the son.

HAD HIS WAY.

(Yonkers Statesman)

"I'll just scream if you attempt to kiss me," said the sweet young thing.

"But I don't want you to scream," replied the young man.

"You don't want me to scream?"

"No."

"Oh, very well. That's like a man. You're bound to have your own way."

NOT INVITED.

"Good morning! I came to tune your piano."

"Piano? But I didn't send for you."

"No, madam, but the neighbours said I ought to call."

TOO MUCH ZIGZAGGING.

"Didn't you know that if you struck this pedestrian he would be seriously injured."

"Yes, sir," replied the chauffeur.

"Then why didn't you zigzag your car and miss him?"

"He was zig-bagging, himself, your honour."

RUSSIA NOT LOST.

(Pittsburg Gazette-Times)

"The Russian element attempting to organize armed opposition to the German peace is as near right as it is possible for any group to be at this time. They seem to be leading a forlorn hope, but such hopes have frequently triumphed in the world's history. The country is not lost as long as a few are gathered together in the name of patriotism."

FREE PASSAGE.

(Albany Argus)

"Otto Knapp, who made $45,000 in the United States and returned to Germany to live on the interest of his money, has, according to a letter from a friend in Switzerland, been killed at Verdun. All his savings were taken by the government and he was pressed into the army. If there are any others of his kind in this country who wish to go back to Germany they should be given free passage."

Honey is particularly good in cakes and cookies.

CIVILIAN GOT V.C.

Two Other Brave Men Who Received No Reward.

I have been asked several times if the Victoria Cross was ever given to civilians by the British Government, says a writer in the Mail and Empire. When Gen. Sir Colin Campbell arrived at Lucknow, in November, 1857, with regiments that he collected wherever he could get them to relieve the 32nd; with all the civilians, women and children, and Gen. Havelock and Gen. Outram and their regiments that had fought their way into the Residency and had to remain, after losing a large number of officers and men. With the rear-guard fighting, trying to save them, Mr. Cavanaugh, one of the civilians inside the Residency, dressed himself as a native and came out during the night through the mutineers and passed clear after he thought several times he was caught. He reported himself to Sir Colin Campbell outside of Lucknow when he was preparing to advance to relieve the garrison. This civilian, knowing Lucknow, his information changed the plans of the advance and saved a great loss of life. After the relief the British Government put through a special Act of Parliament to grant him the Victoria Cross. He was the first and last civilian to receive the Victoria Cross. The late Sir W. H. Russell, the London Times' war correspondent during the Crimean War, recommended the British Government to make a cross, star or medal from the Russian brass guns captured in the Crimea and bestow the decorations upon officers and soldiers who were recommended for acts of bravery. The British Government paid attention to his advice and named the decoration the Victoria Cross.

During my service in the British army I have known cases where soldiers have done brave deeds and received no rewards. I will mention two. A sergeant in the regiment I served in volunteered at 12 o'clock on the night of Sept. 8th, 1855, to go into Sebastopol and find out what the Russians were doing. He went in among them and saw them retiring from the east side of the city across a pontoon bridge on the harbor to the north side. He saw that all the warships were sunk. This was the first British soldier that risked his life to go into the city and returned with information to the comamnder-in-chief.

The second case was in September, 1857, when the transport Sarah Sands, with the 54th Regiment on board, from Portsmouth to Calcutta, India, during the mutiny, caught fire in the Indian Ocean. Men volunteered to go down into the powder magazine and pass out bags of powder from one another up to the top deck, where it was dropped overboard. This was done with the fire all around them. The end of the transport was cleaned out by the fire, also the magazine, when the transport sailed into the Island of the Mauritius. This was bravery and British army discipline, with no rewards to the soldiers of the 54th. The history of the British army is full of such records. I could go on and fill up a few more pages.

Importance of the Follower.

Not all can be leaders; some must follow, notes a writer. It may be that you are eminently qualified to follow the leadership of some one. If so, follow gracefully. The follower is none the less honorable, none the less important, none the less admired.

Go and Do It.

A man was asked how he accomplished so much in life. "My father taught me," was the reply, "when I had anything to do to go and do it."

As to Our Looks.

"Improved photography," remarked the man on the car, "has given us the mistaken notion that we are better looking than our ancestors."

Terrific Explosion In New Jersey

Canadian Press Despatch

NEW YORK, March 27.— A terrific explosion in a building covering nearly two city blocks began shortly after two o'clock in Jersey City last night. Several smaller explosions occurred after the first one, indicating the building contained ammunition. It is not known whether there was any loss of life.

Heart Beat So Fast
Could Not Sleep
HAD TO SIT UP IN BED

Heart trouble has of late years become very prevalent. Sometimes a pain catches you in the region of the heart, now and then your heart skips beats, palpitates, throbs, or beats with such rapidity and violence you think it will burst. You have weak and dizzy spells, are nervous, irritable and depressed, and if you attempt to walk upstairs or any distance you get all out of breath.

There is no other remedy will do you so much good, restore your heart to a natural condition, build up your strength and give you back vigor and vitality as Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills.

Mrs. A. Russell, Niagara Falls, Ont., writes: "At nights I could not sleep, and had to sit up in bed, my heart would beast so fast.

"When I went to walk very far I would get all out of breath, and would have to sit down and rest before I could go any further. I was advised to get Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills, and before I had used two boxes I could sleep and walk as far as I liked without any trouble."

Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills are 50c per box at all dealers, or mailed direct on receipt of price by The T. Milburn Co., Limited, Toronto, Ont.

TRAINING THE FLYERS

IMPORTANT WAR WORK DONE AT CAMP HOARE.

Near the City of Toronto Is the Largest Airdrome In the British Empire, Probably In the World, a Fact That Is Unknown to a Great Many Canadians.

IN a recent articles in an English paper, Hamilton Fyfe suggests that few persons know that in Toronto is an aircraft factory with a production probably larger than that of any other in the world. Near Toronto is the British Empire's largest airdrome, and there also is a school for flyers as completely equipped as any in the world. Here in a factory planes and spare parts are being turned out at a rate equal to 175 complete machines a month. The organization in Toronto was built up in a little more than eight months, and is self-supporting, getting no supplies from England. It is under Brigadier-General Hoare, who "came out" with fewer than a dozen assistants last January, aged 35, and a colonel.

By February 5, ten days after his arrival, he had selected the site for an airdrome, acquired the ground and arranged for the buildings. He had his own desires for these. The ground was covered with two feet of snow and the site was dotted with tree stumps that had to be removed from the soil. Barracks already existed at Camp Borden and into these came 2,000 workmen, who in six weeks got the place ready.

Fifteen airplane sheds were built, each to contain several machines. Offices, lecture rooms, barracks and other accommodations were constructed. Good roads were laid, and water, drainage and heating systems installed.

Camp Borden is sixty miles from Toronto. Now that winter holds Canada fast the students have departed for Fort Worth, Texas, where they are training with Americans. But when the weather warms again and the snow melts they will return. At their Camp Borden school and at the flying school in Toronto, where the camp has borrowed quarters from the university, ingenious methods of teaching airmen how to use Lewis and Vickers guns, how to drop bombs, how to correct artillery fire, are in practice. In one class-room a class sits on a platform running round the walls just below the ceiling watching a big map spread over all the floor space of the room, a map of the country round Poperinghe, in Flanders drawn to a scale that makes it look as the ground would look from an aeroplane flying at 6,000 feet. Once a student in a Curtiss machine, on the floor of another class-room, drops bombs. Below the machine is a map like the other. The student fixes a spot which looks like a farmhouse, pulls a lever and hears a whirring noise from a little apparatus fixed to the side. From the height at which he is supposed to be flying the bomb would take twenty seconds to reach the earth. At the end of twenty seconds the little apparatus releases a little bomb which falls as near the farm as his skill permits it. Until a cadet has shown a certain degree of skill at this game he cannot go up and practice bomb-dropping from the air.

"Our aim all through," one of the officer-instructors said, "is to make the men familiar with the idea of being in the air. Airmen have to act automatically. They have no time to think over what they will do. We try to give them that automatic action, that perfect unison of hand with brain which is so necessary both for attack and defence."

Gun practice in the air is not easy without an enemy to practice at. But this lack of targets has been in large part circumvented. Gunnery is the last course the cadet takes before he passes out. He begins at a camp near Toronto, where he learns something about what "being in the army" means. Next he goes to school in Toronto. Then he goes to camp. Besides Borden there are four smaller camps. But all cadets have to go through Borden before they are pronounced fit for their commissions. Three wings are permanently there, each consisting of five squadrons. In a squadron there are eighteen machines and ninety men. Only eighteen or twenty are airmen. The rest are mechanics and others engaged in keeping the machines in flying and fighting trim. Squadrons are grouped and repairs done more quickly. Centralization gives excellent results. Yet, even so, the machines in actual use at any given moment are seldom more than half of the total number of the strength. But the hope is that this figure may be raised to 70 per cent.

For repairs of a more than light character both fuselages (bodies) and motors are sent to repair shops in Toronto. They are full of machine tools of the latest kind and provided with all means of dealing quickly and effectively with every kind of damage. They are able also to make certain small parts and fittings and so relieve the pressure on the airplane factory.

This is something new in factories. Designed for its special purpose by an active brain, it has features which are original and extremely interesting. In this carpenters' shop the framework of the wings passes from table to table, beginning as rough wood, becoming at every stage more and more developed until at the last table the delicate though sturdy skeleton is complete, ready to be clothed with the "doped" linen which turns it into a wing. The building of the factory, organized by a remarkable man, Mr. F. W. Baillie, was equally with the preparation of the airdrome a marvel of speed. It was begun when the thermometer stood at 10 degrees below zero. That was in February. The wide, high, light and airy shops were occupied in April. Early in May the first airplanes were delivered. But the school orders are wisely not for "so many planes," but for "so many machines and so many spares."

The question of spare parts to replace breakage has been turned into a science at Toronto. It is established that the amount of flying which can be done depends directly upon the number of "spares" available. The school directors know just what quantity of "spares" must be provided to make that amount of flying possible. In one month, for one wing alone 190 new propellers were required. The cadets do not leave before they have passed all tests and proved themselves fully equal to the work they will be given to do in war.

SCHOOL GIRL TELLS OTHERS

How They Can Find Relief From Periodic Sufferings.

Nashua, N. H.—"I am nineteen years old and every month for two years I had such pains that I would often faint and have to leave school. I had such pain I did not know what to do with myself and tried so many remedies that were of no use. I read about Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound in the newspapers and decided to try it, and that is how I found relief from pain and feel so much better than I use to. When I hear of any girl suffering as I did I tell them how Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound helped me."—Delina Martin, 29 Bowers St., Nashua, N.H.

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, made from native roots and herbs, contains no narcotic or harmful drugs, therefore is a perfectly safe remedy to give your daughter, who suffers from such painful periods as did Miss Martin.

The reason so many girls write Lydia E. Pinkham Medicine Co., Lynn, Mass., for advice, is because from their 40 years experience they have a store of knowledge which is invariably helpful.

TAKE CHANCE ON HAPPINESS

Grasp the Mood as It Passes and Join the Great Throng Wearing Smiling Countenances.

We were coming home from a dinner party together, my friend and I. It was late at night and rather rainy, and as we sat together in the damp, almost empty trolley car, my friend spoke very suddenly and seriously, writes Margaret E. Sangster in the Christian Herald.

"Just now," she said, "I've a chance to be very happy. But I'm almost afraid to take it!"

The rain beat, in a futile manner, against the car windows. I listened to it for a moment before I spoke.

"Why?" I questioned at last—"why are you afraid to take your chance—to be happy?"

"Because," answered my friend, and her eyes looked far away—past the car and the rain, even—"because I'm afraid that it won't last!"

When it is autumn, and the leaves are crimson and gold-colored and very beautiful, we know, even as we admire them, that they will be brown and withered some day. But that does not keep us from loving their glorious colors.

It's like that, too, with flowers, and springtime, and the blue sky of summer. We know that the flowers will fade away and that springtime will go and that there will be winter storm clouds where there were once sparkles of sun.

And so this is the answer to my friend and to other friends of mine:

Never be afraid to grasp at happiness because it may not last. For happiness is as beautiful as the flowers of spring and the sky of summer and the vivid leaves of autumn. And even though it might not last, happiness is too beautiful to pass by with never a glance.

And then, as the philosopher said, and as we know, don't be sure, as you take your chance at happiness, that it will not stay. Look around your circle of friends, look at your business associates, look at the casual crowds that you pass every day and you'll see that the average of happy faces is rather high. You'll see more smiles, I think, than frowns; more merry faces than sad ones!

Don't be afraid to take a chance at happiness because you fear that it is too beautiful to last. Take your chance, instead, arguing that happiness is too beautiful not to last!

A Baseball Philosopher.

Sentiment plays most of the strings in this little musical instrument of a world, says a writer in an exchange.

I didn't see any of the world's series baseball games held in New York and Chicago. But my heart was quite a loud beating affair each day in the bleachers. And it was beating for the Chicago White Sox.

I'll tell you why.

The head, heart and owner of the Chicago White Sox is Charlie Comiskey. They call him "the old Roman." One day an important game was on and his great Chicago park was crowded with something like a $30,000 crowd. Then old Pluvius got busy and started dumping wetness in torrents onto the park.

It looked bad. So bad that one of Comiskey's friends hunted him out, and worried-like in excitement, exclaimed, "Comiskey, do you think it's going to stop?"

"It always has," replied "the old Roman."

No wonder the White Sox won the world's series.

PLEASURE OF BEING NEEDED

To Know You Can Lend Assistance to Some One Greatly Lessens the Strain of Discontent.

"I'm really worried about Miss Eustacia," Mrs. Jessup declared. "Of course everyone knows that it was hard for her to lose her savings and go into the home, but the home's pleasant, and she has a big room all to herself; and we are always sending her things or inviting her round to tea to show that she isn't left out; yet she goes round with a face as long as my arm, and the tears come into her eyes if you look at her. Really, I'm almost out of patience. I wouldn't have believed it of Miss Eustacia."

Mrs. Crane looked out into the yard. She was a plump little woman with tender, luminous brown eyes that had a way of seeing far into the heart at times.

"What pretty little tea parties Miss 'Stacia used to give," she said musingly. "She made a different 'feel' about them somehow."

"I know it," Mrs. Jessup agreed. "I don't know exactly why, unless because she was so happy over them herself that she made everyone else feel the same way."

"And how many summers was it that she took to her home a little fresh-air girl?" asked Mrs. Crane, with an air of innocent reminiscence. "Last time it was a mother and a sick baby, wasn't it?"

"I guess it must be full as much as fifteen. I hadn't thought of that before, but I suppose she does miss that!"

Mrs. Crane's soft eyes shone with sudden passion.

"Miss them? Things like that—giving things—were her life, Ellen Jessup! Do you suppose that being invited to tea and having flowers carried to her are going to make up to Miss 'Stacia for having nothing to give?"

"But—she hasn't anything we want!" Mrs. Jessup said bewilderdly.

"Exactly. That's what's breaking her heart."

"But you can't make yourself want things when you don't," Mrs. Jessup argued.

"I suppose not," Mrs. Crane said with a sigh. "Well, I must be going along. Run over soon, Ellen."

At the turn of the road Mrs. Crane met Lauretta King. The girl nodded with sullen brows. Mrs. Crane stopped.

"What's the matter, Lauretta?" she asked.

"Matter? I want Miss Eustacia, that's what's the matter. I used to run in every day or two when things were hard at home, and she'd help me through, but now—"

"Have you told her so?" Mrs. Crane asked quickly. "Oh, Lauretta, have you?"

"Told her? I haven't been up there. She'll be too busy with all those people."

Mrs. Crane even gave her a push. "Go, Lauretta; go this minute. She's been eating her heart because no one needed her. And tell her that I'm coming tomorrow. I want her—just her—to help me do a dozen things. Hurry, Lauretta!"

But Lauretta was already gone.

Hot Times.

"These times are making it warm for the motorists."

"Yes; they are either getting roasted by the public or scorching themselves."

Hot Water Each Morning Puts Roses in Your Cheeks

To look one's best and feel one's best is to enjoy an inside bath each morning to flush from the system the previous day's waste, sour fermentations and poisonous toxins before it is absorbed into the blood. Just as coal, when it burns, leaves behind a certain amount of incombustible material in the form of ashes, so the food and drink taken each day leave in the alimentary organs a certain amount of indigestible material, which if not eliminated, form toxins and poisons which are then sucked into the blood through the very ducts which are intended to suck in only nourishment to sustain the body.

If you want to see the glow of healthy bloom in your cheeks, to see your skin get clearer and clearer, you are told to drink every morning upon arising, a glass of hot water with a teaspoonful of limestone phosphate in it, which is a harmless means of washing the waste material and toxins from the stomach, liver, kidneys and bowels, thus cleansing, sweetening and purifying the entire alimentary tract, before putting more food into the stomach.

Girls and women with sallow skins, liver spots, pimples or pallid complexion, also those who wake up with a coated tongue, bad taste, nasty breath, others who are bothered with headaches, bilious spells, acid stomach or constipation should begin this phosphated hot water drinking and are assured of very pronounced results in one or two weeks.

A quarter pound of limestone phosphate costs very little at the drug store but is sufficient to demonstrate that just as soap and hot water cleanses, purifies and freshens the skin on the outside, so hot water and limestone phosphate act on the inside organs. We must always consider that internal sanitation is vastly more important than outside cleanliness, because the skin pores do not absorb impurities into the blood, while the bowel pores do.

Women who desire to enhance the beauty of their complexion should just try this for a week and notice results.

Deliveries by Ford One-Ton Truck

THE commercial car is looked upon today as a necessity by progressive business firms who have hauling and delivering problems to consider.

Wholesale or retail merchants who must deliver quantities of merchandise have found the horse-drawn delivery to be too slow, expensive, and entirely inadequate.

The Ford truck, with a single driver, will do more work and cover more ground than two teams and two drivers, for it travels in half the time. This truck will reduce your hauling costs. It eliminates one driver's salary and the care which horses always require. It will make your delivery service more efficient. It will widen your area of distribution. It will be constantly ready for work—day or night. It will show a profit on your investment.

There has been a popular demand for a Ford truck as is shown by the many uses, for commercial purposes, to which our standard chassis has been put. Now, after most careful designing and exacting tests, we are able to offer the Ford One-Ton truck to meet this demand.

The Ford truck is supplied as a chassis only. This permits the purchaser to mount any one of the many body styles specially designed for the Ford truck, and already on the market, and he can select it to meet the individual needs of his business.

Price $750 f.o.b. Ford, Ont.

GEORGE IS INDIFFERENT

CHAPTER XXVI.

"I had an awfully nice time, George," I said as he came in, "I wish you had gone."

"I'm very glad you enjoyed yourself, but just the same I know I shouldn't have cared for it," he answered with a yawn.

"Mr. Gray, Merton Gray, the artist, brought me home—rather, rode home with me; he asked if he might call and pay his respects, and I told him we would like to see him."

"He's becoming quite a fellow! I'm surprised he feels he can waste his time with a lot of children."

"But they weren't children." I exclaimed indignantly, "Most of them were married, and those that weren't, are going to be," then when he paid no attention to my outburst, I added: "It was a poverty dinner. We had such fun. I wish you had gone with me."

"I was very well satisfied where I was, thank you," and no more was said anent the party.

Disturbing Thoughts.

The next day the conversation I had overheard between Peter Rivers and June Lawson recurred to me. Was June right, and was it better to marry a poor man who had to work hard for you? What did she mean anyway? She had intimated that rich men were more apt to get into mischief. But the idea of my dignified husband getting into mischief made me smile. I was glad they had said he was generous, and that they had noticed I was well dressed. I mustn't forget to repeat that to Howard. It might please him. They had called him "high brow." But I didn't resent that; I rather liked the idea that they thought him of the elect.

George always keenly resented any disapproval of his actions, but I would only repeat the nice things. He surely would be pleased at that. Really he was a law unto himself—and to me, as I had found out. He would not brook criticism from anyone, least of all from me. It was a fatal error to question anything he said or did. Fatal, if I wished to be happy.

So I had not asked him where he had spent the evening while I was at Evelyn's dinner. I had supposed him at some club, playing cards or amusing himself with his men friends. And I couldn't help commiserating him in my thoughts. He would have had so much better time, had he gone with me.

That next night, at dinner, he was unusually talkative and pleasant.

"Oh, George, such a good time! I told him as I referred to the dinner the night before. "Wait until you hear. I couldn't half tell you last night."

Breathlessly I told him all about the quaint way of serving the dinner. The tin cups and plates, etc. Then I described the bountiful menu, the delicious birds, the wonderful salad and dessert. Then I added:

"And we all went into the drawing-room together. It is so much nicer than going in alone, and have the men come later."

"That's all pretty well for that kind of a dinner. Now I want to talk to you about doing a little entertaining ourselves."

An Unwelcome Plan.

He then began a long, detailed exposition of what he considered good form at a dinner party. I tried hard to comprehend all the details he minutely explained to me. If he wanted to give a dinner, I would do my very best to have it as perfect as possible. Evelyn would help me.

"We will have only eight besides ourselves. As it will be your first attempt to entertain, I don't care to have more. Of course Mrs. Sexton will manage all the details."

"What?" I asked, not sure I had heard right.

"Mrs. Sexton will manage all the details. I shall make it a point to see her. Tell her in a general way my wishes, then leave the rest to her."

"But I thought I was to do it," I returned, my cheeks burning.

"What experience have you ever had in dinner giving, that you should think yourself capable?" he asked in the tone that when he used it always made me want to weep.

"But Evelyn would help me, and George please let me try! Really I know I can do it all right. Really I can!"

"Mrs. Sexton will attend to it. Of course no one is supposed to know that save ourselves. So I hope you will pay close attention to all she tells you as to the duties of a hostess. You have much to learn."

I choked back the sobs. I wasn't even allowed to plan a dinner party in my own house. Mary was an exceptional cook, and I was positive that with her help I could manage. To think that Mrs. Sexton was to do it, was almost more than I could endure. You see I had been brought up to be a good housekeeper. It seemed an insult to my intelligence.

For a stunned five minutes I sat without saying a word.

To-morrow—Mrs. Sexton is Overbearing.

Title of Admiral.

The rank or title of admiral did not exist in the United States navy until 1866, when it was created by congress and conferred on David G. Farragut. He held it until his death, in 1870, and his successors have been: David D. Porter, 1870 to 1891, and George Dewey, from 1890 till his death, January 16, 1917. With his death the title lapsed and has not been revived.

Brave British Editor Who Visited Trenches Says Germans Are Beaten

AN article by Horatio Bottomley, the well-known English editor, entitled "Somewhere in Hell," tells what life on the western front is really like according to the testimony of a soldier who has seen two years of it. This soldier, Pte. Frank Jarvis, of the First Canadian Mounted Rifles, sent the article to his brother in New York, with these remarks:

"Horatio, during his short visit to the front, has certainly made a very good and accurate summation of the conditions under which our boys have been fighting for three years. He portrays the scenes just about as they really are, and, as you know, I have been among this sort of stuff for just a little over two years and should be pretty well able to judge his accuracy on the subject."

"Somewhere in Hell" appeared in Mr. Bottomley's paper, John Bull. In it he said:

"I know it is customary, when writing from the western front, to address one's articles from 'Somewhere in France.' But, after what I have seen during the week I spent there, I decline to be a party to such a libel on the fair name of our ally. Let me tell you some of the things I have seen and you shall judge the choice of my title—'Somewhere in Hell.' I have seen hell! Yes, I have looked through its gates and have seen the hosts of God fighting the imps of the devil. And — forgive the apparent blasphemy of the words—God is winning all along the line.

"I have seen 50,000 men in hospital—many of them writhing in all the agonies of hell—and no one complaining.

"I have seen the roads of France a mass of shell holes—roads which were once the wonder of the world.

"I have seen bridges and viaducts blown out of existence—except for, here and there, a few solitary piers.

"I have seen thousands of German prisoners for once earning an honest living by the sweat of their brow, and, afterward, being kept out of mischief in cage compounds.

"I have seen African and Indian laborers—and Chinese, too—helping to repair the ravages of the Hun.

"I have seen Naga tribes from Northern India chanting their weird songs, and even doing their wild war dances, in their rest hours on the battlefields where they were employed on salvage work.

"I have seen a thousand silent graves—hundreds of them inscribed simply 'A British Soldier'—on hill and mound—on roadside and in valley—where, not long ago, they who now rest there, fought like mighty heroes for the right.

"I have seen the lads in the trenches.

"I have seen the places where towns and villages once stood—now no more than masses of bricks and mortar, and human remains.

"I have seen our guns playing upon the enemy lines.

"I have seen gallant airmen hurtling to destruction from the blue, and—heaven be praised!—I have seen the grinning and exultant Hun, as he came out of his trenches to gloat over their fate, mown down by our machine guns.

"I have seen the desolated towns and villages of France—every woman in black and not a man of military age anywhere.

"I have seen the German lines.

"I have seen and talked with German prisoners and German wounded.

"I have seen our wireless stations intercepting the messages of the enemy.

"I have seen wonderful women—many of them risking their lives—in every department of war work.

"I have seen lords and laborers, peers and peasants, fighting and falling, and resting in silent graves, side by side.

"I have been in the first-line trenches — within 200 yards of the enemy.

"I have been in the reserve lines—which is much more dangerous than the first.

"I have sat alone with Sir Douglas Haig and talked of the great work upon which he is engaged — and have learned many things.

"And now for what I have learned. We will have the truth from the trenches, at last. The war is won. Germany is beaten. On every front she is weakening and weakening—and it is now only a question of the psychological moment to strike. That momentous decision rests upon one man—at least, I hope to God it does. If the politicians will kindly keep out of the ring Haig will very soon administer the knockout blow.

"I know what I am saying. I do not profess to speak as any military expert or prophet. I say that which I have learned. I mention no names—I disclose no secrets—I abuse no confidence. From Field Marshal Commander-in-Chief, right down to the rawest Tommy in the trenches, there is but one spirit—that of absolute optimism and confidence. And there is not a German prisoner who does not tell the same tale. 'Es ist fertig' said every one of them with whom I talked—'It is finished.'

"Another thing I have learned—and learned very thoroughly — is that the one person of whom the soldiers are apprehensive is the politician. Throughout all ranks there is a deep-rooted idea that when Germany throws up the sponge the politicians will evince a tender solicitude for the welfare of the vanquished foe by agreeing to terms of peace which will deprive us of all for which we have fought and bled. I feel it my duty to convey that message to the Prime Minister. I believe we have a War Aims Committee, and that it is already on the stump enlightening the people as to what we are fighting for. I have before observed that it seems rather late in the day to inaugurate such a campaign, but if he will take my advice I would urge him, with all the force of which I am capable, to issue a manifesto declaring in plain words, 'understanded of the people,' that we will have no official peace talk until our troops are in occupation of Berlin. Such a declaration would send an electric thrill throughout the trenches and would remove the only ugly feature I found there. Wherefore I pray that, Lord Haldane—who some time ago made a sinister statement that, when peace comes to be discussed, he will be 'heard of again'—and others of his ilk, may be told that their services are not required, and that Sir Douglas Haig may be assured that the work his men have begun, and are so gloriously performing, shall be finished to his personal satisfaction. There must be no 'next time!'

"Would that each of you could see as I have seen—could have heard as I have heard. One incident puts it in a nutshell. I was talking with a young university undergraduate. He had left his college because his King and country called him. 'Shall you go back after the war?' I asked. He smiled, and pointing to the scene around us—we were in the trenches—said, 'Go back? Isn't this a sufficient education for any man? I knew nothing before the war.'

"There you have it. Neither did I. But in one week I have had my education. I know all I want to know—of life and death; and those two words embrace all knowledge — and only knowledge is education."

Cough Nearly Gone in 24 Hours

That's the usual experience with this home-made remedy. Costs little—try it.

Anyone who tries this pleasant tasting home-made cough syrup, will quickly understand why it is used in more homes in the United States and Canada than any other cough remedy. The way it takes hold of an obstinate cough, giving immediate relief, will make you regret that you never tried it before. It is a truly dependable cough remedy that should be kept handy in every home, to use at the first sign of a cough during the night or day time.

Any druggist can supply you with 2½ ounces of Pinex (50 cents worth). Pour this into a 16-oz. bottle and fill the bottle with plain granulated sugar syrup. The total cost is about 55 cents and you have 16 ounces of the most effective remedy you ever used.

The quick, lasting relief you get from this excellent cough syrup will really surprise you. It promptly heals the inflamed membranes that line the throat and air passages, stops the annoying throat tickle, loosens the phlegm, and soon your cough stops entirely. Splendid for bronchitis, croup, whooping cough and bronchial asthma.

Pinex is a highly concentrated compound of Norway pine extract, and is famous the world over for its healing effect on the membranes.

To avoid disappointment ask for "2½ ounces of Pinex" with full directions and don't accept anything else. A guarantee of absolute satisfaction or money promptly refunded goes with this preparation. The Pinex Co., Toronto, Ont.

WAR MARRIAGES.

280,000 Wedded In England During the War.

In his address at the Royal Statistical Society, recently, Sir Bernard Ballet, registrar of births, deaths and marriages in London, referred to the effect of war upon marriages. He said during the second, third and fourth quarters of 1915 and the first quarter of 1916 a sudden and phenomenal rise occurred, when war marriages swelled the totals until they reached record heights.

Thereafter the boom in marriages continued, but with diminished force, and by the third quarter of 1916 the numbers had fallen below the ave. "Crudely stated," he declared, "the war has resulted in 200,000 people being married between August, 1914, and June, 1917, who, in the ordinary course, would not have married." The marriage rate for 1915 was the highest recorded, 19.4, the previous maximum being in 1854, which was 17.9.

As regarded belligerent countries in Hungary the effect of the war had been that over 600,000 people, who in the ordinary course would have married, had not done so. In Prussia, Bavaria, Saxony, Hesse, Hamburg and Bremen, six states containing more than 20 per cent. of the German population, the total number riages in 1913 was 434,103 1914, 392,053, a decrease of or nearly 10 per cent. in s great outburst of war marria ing the first month of the England war marriages wer lated by the generous allowa pensions. The United King speaker pointed out, had los fall in births over 500,000 lives, Germany had lost 2,600 Hungary 1,500,000. It was fact that the war had prod effect upon the figures of ille birth.—London Telegraph.

"THE RUN OF THE BIG YEAR."

Romantic Aspect of the Salmon Fishery Has Disappeared.

British Columbia salmon is a staple product the world over. The superior quality of the sockeye salmon, especially, has created a market for them wherever there is a demand for canned fish. This world-wide reputation has naturally led to an extensive exploitation of the fishery, and, in spite of a measure of restrictive legislation and artificial propagation, there has been a steady decline in the catch during the past twenty years. This is especially true of the Fraser River fishery. The international character of the stream has made it impossible, up to the present, to secure adequate restrictions and regulations.

As is well known, the life history of the sockeye salmon extends over a period of four years and, each year, the fish that were spawned in the upper waters of the Pacific Coast rivers four years before, come in from the sea to deposit their spawn in turn and then die. It is during these seasons of inward migration that the fishermen gather their harvest. One of the strange and romantic features of these migrations is that every fourth year the run of fish is many times larger than during any of the three years preceding or following it. This phenomenon has occurred so regularly that it is commonly spoken of as "the run of the big year." The explanation most generally accepted is that, at some period, before the advent of the white man, the fish were overtaken by some disease, or other calamity, which either prevented spawning or destroyed much of the spawn during a period of three years. As if to confirm this theory, the enormous rock slide in the Fraser in 1913—a big year—which prevented the salmon getting up the river to spawn caused a tremendous falling off in the catch of 1917. Thus, in 1913 2,401,488 cases were packed by Fraser river canners, while a close estimate of the total pack of 1917 is only 529,600 cases, or only about 15 per cent. of the pack of 1913. Such a decline is a calamitous one and only the most carefully enforced restrictions over a period of years can restore, or even save, the fishery.

At the ninth annual meeting of the Commission of Conservation, Mr I. P. Babcock, Assistant Commissioner of Fisheries, British Columbia, said:

"The history of the fishing in the Fraser River district in the past fourteen years is a record of depletion—a record of excessive fishing in the lean years; a record of failure on the part of the authorities of the State of Washington to realize the necessity of conserving a great fishery, not withstanding the convincing evidence submitted to them by agents of their own creation that disaster was impending to one of their great industries.

"The Canadian authorities, on the other hand, have, by their representations and acts, evinced, in unmistakable manner, their willingness to deal squarely and adequately with conditions that foretold depletion and to join with the State of Washington or the United States Government in legislation to prevent it."

If this can be done there should be no reason why in the course of time "every year should not be a big year." On the other hand, a continuance of the present wasteful methods of fishing, especially by American fishermen, can only result in the complete depletion of this valuable fishery.

Our War Figures.

Canada's war expenditure for the nine months of the fiscal year ending December 31 amounted to $171,748,839. During the same period in the previous fiscal year the expenditure was $170,229,748. For the months of December alone, the war cost $19,779,563, in December, 1916 it cost $23,702,217.

The revenue of the Dominion for the nine months was $190,658,370 as against $166,854,349 for the similar period in 1916. For December alone the revenue was $20,617,363. In December, 1916, it was $21,943,775. Expenditure chargeable to revenue, $96,982,537, as compared with $81,696,505 in the previous year.

The total national debt of the Dominion on December 31st stood at $976,428,504. On the same date in 1916 it was $722,111,449. During December the debt increased by $18,427,803, which was approximately a million less than the war expenditure for that month.

The grain dealers of Western Canada estimate that the acreage sown to wheat in 1917 is 12,756,000 acres as compared with 13,800,000 acres in 1916.

TO SUFFER FROM HEADACHES
Makes Life Miserable.

Headaches seems to be habitual with many people. Some are seldom, if ever, free from it, suffering continually with the dull throbbings, the intense pain, sometimes in one part, sometimes in another, and then over the whole head, varying in its severity by the cause which brings it on.

The varieties of headache most common are sick or bilious headache, nervous headache, headache from constipation, debility or indigestion and periodical and spasmodic headache, and undoubtedly the cause must be removed before permanent relief can be had.

Burdock Blood Bitters, that has been on the market for over 40 years, removes the cause of the headaches, and not only does this but also restores the entire system to healthy action and buoyant vigour.

Miss Emily Smith, 204 Bellwoods Ave., Toronto, Ont., writes: "I cannot speak too highly of Burdock Blood Bitters. For two years I was greatly troubled with violent headaches, particularly in the morning. I tried everything to cure me until a friend recommended B.B.B. I tried it, and now I am completely cured."

SEVEN MORE V.C.'S.

Brave Lads From the Dominion Receive Great Honor.

The heroic deeds of Canadians in the recent fighting on the western front was described during the King's award of Victoria Crosses to seven Canadians, out of 18, decorated recently.

How Capt. J. O'Kelly advanced his command at 1,000 yards after the original attack failed, took two enemy positions on the crest of the hill under heavy fire, and then personally organized and led attacks against "pill boxes," capturing six with 100 prisoners and ten machine guns, was graphically gazetted.

Another hero was Corpl. Colin Barron, who, single-handed, rushed enemy guns, killed four of the crews, and captured the others, and then turned the captured guns on the retiring enemy, causing severe casualties.

Sergt. George H. Mullin captured a "pill-box" single-handed, rushed a snipers' post in front of him, destroyed the garrison with bombs, and, crawling on a "pill-box," shot two gunners with his revolver. Mullin's clothes were riddled with bullets from the rapid-fire guns directed against him, but he did not falter.

Other heroes, equally daring, charged "pill boxes," killed, captured, or silenced the enemy, and cleared the way for the advance of troops and saved the lives of many of their comrades. They are Capt. George R. Pearkes, and Pte. Thos. W. Holmes, Cecil J. Kinross and James P. Robertson.

The accounts of the deeds for which the Victoria Cross was awarded embrace events which must have been as thrilling as any during the war. Capt. Robert Gee, of the Royal Fusiliers, when the enemy pierced the British lines and captured brigade headquarters and an ammunition dump, finding himself a prisoner, killed one of the enemy with a spiked stick and succeeded in escaping.

He then organized a party of the brigade staff, with which he attacked the enemy, clearing the locality. After establishing a defensive flank, Gee, with a revolver in each hand, rushed and captured an enemy machine gun, killing eight members of its crew.

Sergt. C. E. S. Packman, of the Border Regiment, and Corpl. R. McBeath, of the Seaforth Highlanders, also were awarded the Victoria Cross for capturing an officer and thirty men who had taken refuge in a dugout.

Canada's Papaw.

A picture card has come to me from an island afar, where the waters of the Caribbean Sea wash its shores, and the sun of the tropics ripens its luxuriant fruit, says a correspondent of The Toronto Mail and Empire. And in the picture are papaw trees, under whose wide palmate leaves cluster the dense masses of fruit, at the summit of the tall straight trunk. And my correspondent has just had a breakfast of the delicious papaw, while the thermometer registers 90 degrees. Also superlatively luscious oranges have companioned the papaw, and are for sale in the streets at one penny per dozen. Just think of that now! While we are surrounded by the snow, of this winter weather, and if one is a fruit-eater, paying fifty cents a dozen for unripe oranges, away off in this island of the Southern Seas, people are eating golden fruit at a penny a dozen.

I had just finished the story of a man who for his health, went to Australia and settled on an island in the region of the Great Barrier Reef. He talked of tropical birds, and wonderful fruits particularly this same papaw, till I was ready to pack up at an instant's notice (cash permitting) and take passage for these paradises and become, as he called himself, a 'Beachcomber." Just as my soul was loosening itself from the thrall of tropic sights, as seen through this 'Beachcomber's" eyes, this card with its papaws and oranges at a penny a dozen—just two of our little round cents, mind you—comes along, and my fruit and woods-loving soul suffers a severe relapse. "O, for the wings of a dove," or any other kind of wings that would transport me free of charge to these wondrous climes. But tickets on man-managed things that carry passengers are expensive, particularly with the war tax added. So I must e'en "sort my heart to patience" and remain amid the snow and cold sunshine of the north.

But we in Ontario are blessed, for we too have our papaw. Not so luscious, perhaps, and certainly not now. But with returning spring, should our footsteps chance to wander in the southwestern part of our fertile province, we may find a tree in bloom in April, whose dark purple velvety flowers appear with the oval leaves. This will be our northern papaw. In October the fruit ripens and hangs in clusters of several together, like bananas, three to seven inches long. Many times have I found this "custard-apple" in wandering over the Niagara peninsula, and though more insipid in flavor than its sister of the tropics, it is very pleasant eating, when one is tired of tramping on a hot day of early autumn.

Artificial honey consists of syrup of glucose slightly flavored, and sometimes a little pure honey is added.

Children Like It

It is not an easy matter to get a medicine that children like, or to force them to take one they don't like. Most mothers know that a cough medicine, while palatable, should contain no drug injurious to the child. The great popularity of is explained by the fact that it contains no opium or narcotic of any kind, and at the same time is so pleasant and agreeable to the taste that children like it. For this reason it is a favorite with the mothers of young children.

Chamberlain's Cough Remedy

Yours for health,

Canada's Democratic Army.

"Canada's Democratic Army," is the title of a column special article in The London Chronicle, intended to show that insistence on staff college standards of leadership in the field is a mistake. The writer points out that the commanding officer of the C. E. F. Army Corps, Gen. Currie, though always a keen military student and citizen soldier, is a real estate agent; Gen. Turner, commanding the Canadians in England, is a member of a large Quebec firm of wholesale grocers, but a born soldier; the Canadian Artillery is led by a former editor of The Ottawa Citizen, Morrison; Brigadier-Gen. Ross is a miller in business; Brigadier-Generals Maclaren and Griesbach, and the late Gen. Mercer were all solicitors, and Brigadier-Gen. Watson, commanding the 4th Canadian Division, who had no active service before the war, was formerly a reporter.

One might, says the writer, go through the whole list of Canadian generals and find not more than four or five professional soldiers. The bearing of all this is that the British armies are full of extremely able and highly trained civilians who are not getting a chance. Staff college training has proved again and again a disadvantage. The Canadian civilian showed common sense and no cobwebs, and has frequently done better than has staff college men.

TURN HAIR DARK WITH SAGE TEA

If Mixed With Sulphur It Darkens So Naturally Nobody Can Tell

The old-time mixture of Sage Tea and Sulphur for darkening gray, streaked and faded hair is grandmother's recipe and folks are again using it to keep their hair a good, even color, which is quite sensible, as we must live in an age when a youthful appearance is of the greatest advantage.

Nowadays, though, we don't have the troublesome task of gathering the sage and the mussy mixing at home. All drug stores sell the ready-to-use product, improved by the addition of other ingredients called "Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound." It is very popular because nobody can discover it has been applied. Simply moisten your comb or a soft brush with it and draw this through your hair, taking one small strand at a time; by morning the gray hair disappears, but what delights the ladies with Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound, is that, besides beautifully darkening the hair after a few applications, it also produces that soft lustre and appearance of abundance which is so attractive. This ready-to-use preparation is a delightful toilet requisite for those who desire a more youthful appearance. It is not intended for the cure, mitigation or prevention of disease.

May Electrify England.

The universal electrification of all Great Britain, including the railroads and all factories, is the gigantic project promulgated by the Coal Economy Committee for the reconstruction commission and announced by the Minister of Reconstruction. It includes the use of electricity for domestic purposes.

It is proposed to consolidate all the electrical establishments of the United Kingdom and create sixteen gigantic central super-power stations of 20,000 to 50,000 horsepower each, supplying their districts through trunk lines. It is calculated that this project would save $500,000,000 in coal annually and would end the notorious London smoke.

Probably it would end the London fogs also, as they are caused by peculiar atmospheric conditions through which a blanket of smoke is held over the city.

An immense cheapening of power is promised, resulting in the greater employment of mechanical power and an increase in the industrial output. The commission finds that America employs nearly twice as much power per workman as Great Britain, which explains the greater American production per capita.

V.C. General Wounded Nine Times.

It is officially announced that Brig.-Gen. Adrian Carton de Wiart, V.C., D.S.O., whose name appeared in the casualty list only a fortnight ago, has again been wounded—for the ninth time since the war began. Shortly before the outbreak of war he lost the sight of an eye while serving with the Camel Corps in Somaliland. He lost his left hand in the early fighting at Ypres, and was again wounded in July, 1916, when he gained the V.C. for rallying three battalions which had lost their commanding officers. He went back to the front two months later with five gold stripes on his sleeve, and since then his name has appeared in the casualty list on four occasions. He served in the South African war as a trooper of the Middlesex Yeomanry, was wounded three times, and gain his commission in the Dragoon Guards. Gen. Carton de Wiart is only thirty-four years of age.

HARE HAS SNOWSHOES.

Nature Has Provided White Rabbit With Protective Coloring.

The well-known hare of the east and north, the Northern hare (L. Americanus), the so-called "white rabbit," is good game in his proper season, and he possesses the great advantage over the "jack" of being also good eating. Child of the snow that he is, he makes his home in the wilds, fearing neither piling drift nor biting blast. He loves the unbroken forest, the snarls of tangled thicket, the twisted wreck of the tornado, the dusk of swamps, soundless beneath lonely hills. This hare, like the ptarmigan, furnishes a beautiful example of nature's loving provision for the welfare and safety of her feebler children of the north. In summer the ptarmigan wears a mottled coat which admirably blends with the prevailing tints of the lichened rocks of its home. Upon the approach of winter the bird's plumage gradually turns white, while a growth of hair-like feathers upon its legs and feet thickens until it forms the snowshoe foot—the best possible thing to support the bird upon snow and to protect its feet from frost. The hare, lacking wings, requires better protection, and nature attends to it. The prevailing color during summer is a greyish brown, which is the most inconspicuous of tints among roots, shrubs and the various surroundings of the breeding season. The hare's special gifts, without which he would speedily succumb to various foes, including climate, are: shape, speed, coat, and foot. His long, narrow body is designed to easily pass between close-growing saplings, while his speed is quite sufficient to insure him a fair chance of escape from his deadliest foes. But his form and fleetness would be well-nigh useless in deep, loose snow, were it not for his peculiar foot. This in winter becomes a veritable snowshoe, a truly marvellous contrivance which enables him to patter at will over drift and level which would otherwise hold him fast, a helpless prey to rapacious bird or beast that chose to attack. Nothing better for their purpose than his furry pads can be found among nature's many marvels. His coat, too, plays an important part. Thin and cool during the heated term, as the cold weather approaches it thickens apace until it forms one of the lightest and warmest of coverings. The wild men of the north were quick to appreciate its valuable features and wove strips of it into the coziest of wraps. But the warmth of the coat is not its sole peculiar feature. Brown fur upon snow would be entirely too conspicuous, so nature meets the difficulty with another beautiful provision. As the coat thickens as a guard against cold it gradually turns white to match the increasing snow. The brown pales to a cream, and the cream whitens till only a darkish stripe down the springy back, and patches about the big eyes, remain to tell of the summer garb. Soon these too fade until the hare is either pure white, or so nearly so that he can squat amid the snow and so closely match his surroundings as to escape even practiced eyes. If by chance discovered, he can speed away upon his snowshoes and in a few bounds vanish in the snowy woods, where every log and stump is a perfect cover. This is well, for in addition to man, he has natural foes which know not mercy. Chief among these are the lynx, fox, wolf, fisher, marten, the great horned and snowy owls and other birds of prey. Other creatures, too, prey upon him more or less, for if once cornered he offers no defence whatever.

Cedar Keeps Wonderfully.

Three kinds of wood—cedar, redwood and cypress—are especially durable. Because of their power to resist decay they are used more than any other kinds of wood for making shingles. It is said that red cedar never rots. Houses built of it over 100 years ago are practically as good now as when they were erected. A writer in The Scientific American tells of a fallen cedar that was found with roots of other trees growing on it. The age of the standing trees was estimated at about 1,500 years, which, of course, makes the fallen tree much older than that. Though it had lain on the ground all those centuries its fibre was found to be thoroughly sound throughout.—Pathfinder.

Offensive Breath Caused Usually By Catarrh

A Simple Remedy Discovered That Cures Without Drugs.

The American people suffer more from Catarrh than from any other disease. It undermines more constitutions and creates more sickness than all other diseases combined. It is, therefore, very dangerous.

You can't successfully treat Catarrh by internal dosing—you must in some way send a purifying, healing agent through the breathing organs, so that the germs can be reached. This you do every time you inhale Catarrhozone. Its rich essences and healing balsams are breathed all through the nose, throat and lungs, and effectively, destroy every trace of Catarrh. This is a proven fact.

"I endorse Catarrhozone because I know of six bad cases of Catarrh, including my own, that it has cured. It is a sensible remedy because it is capable of going where the disease is. I believe it cures quicker than other remedy because it gets sooner to the source of the disease than anything else I know of. I had headaches, bad breath, and much stomach trouble associated with my Catarrh, but they have disappeared since using Catarrhozone, which keeps me free from colds, headaches, catarrh and all winter ills." OTTO E. KRAMER, Belleville, Ont.

Catarrhozone is needed in every home. Large size lasts 2 months, price $1.00; small size, 50c.; trial size, 25c. At all storekeepers and druggists or The Catarrhozone Co., Buffalo, N. Y., and Kingston, Canada.

Sawing Ships In Half.

The Great Lakes have contributed liberally of their vast tonnage to replace the ravages of the German submarines. Through the entire autumn the coming of heavy ice and the closing of navigation upon our inland seas was forecast by a steady procession of their craft down the River St. Lawrence. Nor was that as easy as it reads, for the passageways from the four upper lakes—upon which the greatest traffic rides—to the blue waters of the salt seas is barred by great natural impediments. But long years ago the Canadians passed them by means of canals. And the determining factor in navigation from Lake Erie to the sea has been the chambers of the canal locks, about 250 feet in length, 45 feet in width, and 14 feet in depth. Long ago the lake craft that conformed to these dimensions were found by searching eyes and taken out to the Atlantic, and other craft were built at the abundant and efficient steel and wooden shipyards along the upper lakes. And between fifteen and twenty modern steel vessels, averaging from 350 to 385 feet in length—almost the extreme for a cargo-vessel of less than 45 feet beam—were taken through the Welland canal and the canals of the upper St. Lawrence this last autumn.

The process was simple, although not particularly easy. The vessels were sawed in half. Gangs of men in the dry docks of Cleveland and Buffalo, equipped with acetylene torches, did the job in a time to be measured in hours rather than in days. Temporary water-tight bulkheads were installed and the vessel towed in two sections to the deep water harbor of Montreal. It was another job of hours rather than days to join the hull together at the dry docks of that port and to fit the fresh water tramp with condensers and other equipment necessary for a craft who digs her heels into salt water for the first time.—Harper's Magazine.

Used Canadian Apples.

Canada figured in one of the most dastardly of the plots hatched by the pro-German influences in Russia to end the war while the Czar was on the throne. Aided by that arch-fiend, the Czarina, the Kaiser sent 150 barrels of Canadian apples inoculated with cholera germs for distribution through charitable institutions with a view to starting a plague, and so discouraging Russia, but the fruit decayed en route and was thus unfit for consumption on arrival.

GREAT FIGURES REPORTED BY THE SUN LIFE

THE TOTAL INSURANCE IN FORCE IS NOW $311,870,000.

The Sun Life, amongst Canadian companies, is in a class by itself. Its business in force increases every year by a greater amount than the total new business of most other companies, and its new business itself is more than 50 per cent. greater than that of any other Canadian company. Last year its new business paid for was $47,811,567, and the addition to the business in force was $30,436,245, or well over 60 per cent. of the new issue. The Company adds to its assets every year more than the total amount of the assets of most individual Canadian companies. Last year the addition to the assets was $7,211,178, bringing them up to a total of $90,160,174, and the end of the year will thus see them near the $100,000,000 mark, even if they do not pass it. The company's increase in annual income was greater than the total income of most native competitors, the increase being $789,866, and the total income $19,288,996.

It is astonishing to read that the Sun has already paid to its policy holders $69,094,316, and that last year alone it paid them $8,840,245.

The Company's new Head Office building which adorns Dominion Square, Montreal, is now in occupation, and is unquestionably one of the finest insurance buildings in North America. It will no doubt materially assist the efficient handling of the Company's vast affairs.

OUR DAILY SHORT STORY

Worth Winning

By George Elmer Cobb

John Beardsley charmed people. He was forty, rubicund, jolly, an encyclopedia of jokes and quaint sayings. He was liberal, too, and he made haste to tender the fullest service.

There was no hotel at Bassford, but there were half a dozen grain elevators which drew the farming community for miles around. This meant established trade for the one general store, which was a customer worth having for the jovial travelling man.

Beardsley had to stay overnight at Bassford always, for the trains were infrequent. At his first visit he asked the storekeeper if there was any prospect of making an arrangement for meals and a room anywhere in the village.

"Why, yes," readily answered the merchant. "Mrs. Lisle has done something in that line for transients. She's a widow, and thrifty, and industrious and needs all she earns. Fine woman sir! but had a scallawag of a husband who drank himself to death, leaving her a house and lot and a little child of five. That's her place," and the speaker pointed out an old-fashioned house a block distant. "Tell her I sent you, for she is shy with strangers."

Neither the blooming, kindly faced widow nor the pretty, lively little Ruth were long shy with Beardsley, however. He bustled in upon them, frank and hearty. He paid what was charged when he left, avowing that the lavender-scented bed awarded him had induced the soundest sleep he had enjoyed for years, and the scrapple and pancake dainties would leave a lasting longing for more. Something seemed to pass out of the lives of the mother and child when he came to bid them adieu. He waved kisses to the responsive little one until he was out of sight, with his great echoing voice promising her the prettiest city doll he could find, on his next visit.

Beardsley and the doll arrived on schedule time, and at the end of his second day at the neat, homelike domicile of the widow, Beardsley was more effusive than ever in his enthusiastic appreciation of the comfort and attention awarded.

After that, not only Mrs. Lisle and Ruth, but he himself looked forward to these monthly meetings as an event in their lives—he always the genial, pleased visitor, friendly, but respectful, the widow cheery, eager to prepare for him her best cooking, and little Ruth delighted while he was in the house and in tears when he went away.

One wintry night a belated train carried an unusual and unfamiliar John Beardsley through the drifts and snowdrifts, for the smile was absent and the kindly eyes dulled with gloom. Beardsley had just left a town where a former fellow traveling man had settled down. A memory of the cheery home, the loving wife, the comfort anchored husband made him reflect that he was missing the best gifts of life. He was a lone sheep, indeed, he mourned, a wanderer, a species of domestic outcast. However, once beside the cheerful fireplace of the Lisle home his ordinary good nature revived.

He awoke the next morning at the sound of a vigorous knocking on his bedroom door.

"Oh, Mr. Beardsley!" called out Ruth's voice, "mamma says you've hardly got time to get up to eat breakfast and catch your train."

"No wonder!" retorted Beardsley. "After those hotel beds this one is a luxury. I'll be right down, little one."

He hurried his breakfast, for he had limited leeway of time his watch told him. He ran up to his room, lit a cigar and began piling his traps into the satchel. He placed the lighted cigar on the window sill and forgot all about it, leaving it there and rushing down the stairs and Mrs. Lisle called up:

"Mr. Beardsley, you have barely four minutes, and I hear the train already whistling at the crossing. Ruth insists on seeing you off."

"Good for little Ruthie!" cried Beardsley. "Here I am," and they left the house in company, and he had just time to pile into the rear car of the train as it pulled out of the depot.

He stood on its platform, swinging his hat, while Ruth threw him kisses, and Mrs. Lisle waved him a friendly good-by.

The dull season came on, and it was three months before Beardsley again visited Bassford. During the interim he had sent little Ruth gifts from time to time, and when he was ready to start on the road again he wrote the Bassford merchant, telling him when he would call on him.

It was dark when Beardsley reached Bassford. A little figure was there to greet him, Ruth, and her mother was with her.

"Well, I declare! It's heart warming to have true friends waiting to welcome you," cried Beardsley, and he not only grasped, but held the proffered hand of Mrs. Lisle.

"Mr. Morton, the storekeeper, told us when you would arrive," exclaimed the widow diffidently, "and as we have moved since you were here last, we came to take you to our new home."

"Moved? How's that?" inquired Beardsley.

"We have got a smaller house," explained Mrs. Lisle evasively, and he found it so when he reached it, but immaculately clean and cozy as the old one.

"I'm going to stock up Morton," said Beardsley, "so I shall be here two or three days."

He arose early the next morning and took a stroll before breakfast. As he passed the site of the old Lisle home he halted, quite staggered, for it showed the burned-out skeleton of the house in which he had passed so many pleasant hours.

"I say!" he hailed a neighbor, going about his yard on crutches, "what's happened here?"

"Oh, the house burned down."

"When was that?"

"About three months ago. It was the first of February, as I well remember, about eight o'clock in the morning. It caught in the west room. I saw the curtains on fire from my place here, but I was alone. I'm a cripple, and I couldn't do anything. I telephoned the fire house, but it was all in flames by the time the hose cart got here."

"How did it catch?" questioned Beardsley, dawning intelligence in his face.

"Don't know—mystery. Mrs. Lisle and little Ruth had gone to the depot with a visitor, and when they got back they found themselves homeless.

Beardsley started briskly away from the spot. There was a queer, inspired, resolute glow in his eye. The first of February! Eight o'clock in the morning! Curtains on fire in the room in which he slept!

"Where I carelessly left my cigar!" he muttered. "That splendid woman must have guessed it, tried to hide it from me, and never let out a word. Bless her dear, honest soul! but I'll surprise her."

Two hours later, a roll of blue paper under his arm, Beardsley reappeared at the new home of the Lisles.

"Oh, dear! where have you been, Mr. Beardsley?" cried Ruth. "We've kept breakfast waiting for two hours, and mamma was afraid something had happened to you, and was almost crying."

"Nonsense," flushed up the widow.

"Blessed woman," apostrophized Beardsley audibly. "Never mind eating," he almost shouted. "I'm too excited for that. Now then, Mrs. Lisle, here are the plans for a new house I've ordered built for you on the old lot, to replace the one I burned down."

"The one you—" fluttered the widow.

"And you knew I did, and you never told me, or blamed me! Dear soul! If I wasn't an old roustabout bachelor, and not worthy of thoughts from any woman—I'd—I'd—" his extended arms quivered—"I'd grab you, and hold you, and ask you to marry me."

"You are nothing of the sort!" resented the widow indignantly. "You're the best man I ever met."

"You think that, do you?" cried Beardsley hopefully.

"I know it," declared Mrs. Lisle stanchly.

"Then—"

"Oh, Mr. Beardsley! if we have a new house, why don't you be my papa, and stay with us all of the time?" put in Ruth.

"You've said it, little one!" chuckled Beardsley. "And what do you say?" he challenged, turning to the blushing mother.

Her eyes drooped and her head sank low. There was no need of words, however, for she had placed on his arm a warm, trembling hand, the symbol of perfect confidence and love.

Building up for the Spring Attack as the Frost is a good deal like putting the body in condition for an invasion of the germs of grip, pneumonia or "Spring fever" here at home.

At this time of the year most people suffer from a condition often called Spring Fever. They feel tired, worn out, before the day is half thru. They may have frequent headaches and sometimes "pimply" or pale skin and white lips. The reason for this is that during the wintertime, shut up within doors, eating too much meat and too little green vegetables, one heaps fuel into the system which is not burned up and the clinkers remain to poison the system—a clogging up of the circulation—with inactive liver and kidneys. Time to put your house in order.

For an invigorating tonic which will clarify the blood, put new life in the body, sparkle to the eyes, and a wholesome skin, nothing does so well as a glyceric herb extract made from Golden Seal root, Blood and Stone root, Oregon grape root and Wild Cherry bark. This can be had in convenient, ready-to-use tablet form at all drug stores, fifty cents, and has been sold for the past fifty years as Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. By reason of the nerves feeding on the blood, when the blood is pure the nerves feel the effect, and neuralgia or other nerve pains disappear because such pain is the cry of the starved nerves for food. When suffering from backache, frequent or scanty urine, rheumatic pains here or there, or that constant tired feeling, the simple way to overcome these disorders is merely to obtain Dr. Pierce's Anuric from your druggist. In tablets, fifty cents.

SOAP BUBBLES ARE DURABLE

If Blown in Accordance With Scientist's Directions They Can Be Made to Last for Months.

The transient existence of the soap bubble is proverbial, but Prof. J. Dewar, in a discourse delivered at the Royal Institution in London, explained how soap bubbles could be made to last for months, and exhibited several specimens.

The first requisite is that the air used in blowing the bubble shall be free from dust. In Professor Dewar's process the air is filtered through cotton wool, and the bubbles are blown by opening a stopcock in the air-supply tube. For the soap solution he prefers the purest oleic acid (tested by the iodine number) and ammonium soap (not potassium or sodium.)

To make a bubble durable the sac of liquid must be removed from its bottom by suction through tubes applied from outside. The lecturer showed bubbles more than half a yard in diameter, blown in glass vessels containing pure air at atmospheric pressure. A little water is kept at the bottom of the vessel. A uniform temperature of about 50 degrees Fahrenheit is favorable to longevity.

Professor Dewar said some of the smaller bubbles were a year old.

No Place Like Home.

Neighbor—Hello, Jenkins! How are you? Haven't seen you for quite a time, and you never come and see the wife and me now. Why is that?

Jenkins—Well, the fact is, old chap, that it's not through ill will or bad feeling, or anything like that, you know; only you and Mrs. Posmore have borrowed so many things from me that when I see your place it makes me feel homesick.

DON'T BE DYSPEPTIC.

The dyspeptic has thought only of the stomach when the real source of trouble is the Liver, Kidneys and Bowels. Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills thoroughly cleanse and purify the digestive and excretory system and in this way put the organs of digestion into splendid working condition. A little patient urging on of the organs when sluggish will restore the habit of healthful digestion.

Growth of Y. M. C. A.

In 1916 there were 2,757 Young Men's Christian associations in North America, with a total membership of 689,023. They owned 782 plants and buildings valued at $83,263,469, and aggregate property, including real and personal, at over $100,000,000. The local associations with 4,353 secretaries and other paid officers, showed an enrollment of 152,160 men and boys in Bible courses, and 82,358 others in educational courses. The total operating expenses for all the associations was $15,812,250. New buildings costing all together more than $6,000,000 were opened during the year, and by the end of the year $8,900,000 had been pledged toward the erection of more than 40 additional buildings.

Argentina Cattle.

The Argentina cattle industry is capable of much expansion in time of war stimulation. In the northern end of the pampas are boundless fields of grass where the cattle feed the year round. Sweet water there is in abundance, and windmills dotted over the plains keep the animals plentifully supplied. There are no better beef cattle in the world than those from Argentina, the breed being the excellent result of mixing fine Spanish blooded strains with the hardy native stock. Breeding very easily could raise the total of production materially.

The Burden of Anxiety falls on the Women

ALMOST everybody is living under a tense nervous strain during these trying times, but the burden rests particularly heavy on the women in the home. Whatever their employment about the house, the mind has much time to dwell on the dreadful things that might happen.

There is nothing so wearing on the nerves as worry and anxiety. Nerve force is consumed at an enormous rate, and as the nerve cells become starved and depleted you find yourself unable to rest or sleep. You soon get so you can only see the dark side, and become down-hearted and discouraged.

Headaches, neuralgic pains, indigestion and failure of the vital organs to properly perform their functions are among the symptoms which tell of exhausted nerves and low vitality.

Dr. Chase's Nerve Food will help you if you will only give it a chance. We know this from long experience with this great food cure. We have proven it by evidence published in this paper from time to time. It only remains for you to put it to the test.

You may wonder why people are so enthusiastic in recommending this treatment for the nerves. But you will understand after you have experienced the benefits that are to be obtained by its use.

You will find yourself resting and sleeping better, appetite and digestion will improve and you will know again the joy of good health.

Of Small Account.

"Over 2,000,000 iron crosses have been given out by the German authorities." We doubt if the German soldiers place any great value on these crosses. We recall a good-natured old German who spent the declining years of his life in Toledo. One day, with due modesty, he showed an iron cross he had won in the Franco-Prussian war. "You may have it," he said quietly. "It means nothing to me."—Toledo Blade.

His Case.

"I know a man who knows perfectly how to manage a wife in every particular."

"He may know how, but does he do it?"

"No, because they won't let him out of the insane asylum long enough to try."

Dollars and Religion.

It is religious to make a dollar and then to make the dollar make another. It is more religious sometimes to spend a dollar than to save it, and at other times more religious to save a dollar than to spend it.

Seems Rather Conservative.

We are frank to say that we would hardly accuse the Pittsburgher, who sued his wife for divorce after she had left him 40 times, of being overly precipitous.

True Sarcasm.

"I play entirely by ear," said the amateur musician, proudly. "Ahem! So I perceive," replied the caustic person. "Has it ever occurred to you to consult an aurist?"

WILD GOOSE SHOT BY AN OPS FARMER.

A plump well developed wild goose was shot on the farm of Reeve Robertson of Ops, yesterday morning at a distance of 155 yards. It weighed 13 pounds.

It appears that a number of wild geese find a resting place in a low lying piece of land on this farm every year, but as a rule they have evaded the hunter's gun.

There's No Sentiment About This— It's a Cold-Blooded Talk to Employers

Let us be frank. More farm labour must be found. It serves no purpose to continually urge the farmer, and repeat "produce more food — produce more food." The farmer did produce more food last year — and he will produce more food this year — all that he possibly can. He is already working to his limit, and that means for many more hours per day than the city man works. The farmer says: "I'm willing to put more land under cultivation, if you will send me the labour to do it. And I'm willing to pay the labour good wages, but without labour I cannot do more than I am doing."

Now, farm work is a man's work. Any willing, intelligent man can be of great help on a farm; and besides, there are many men working in offices, stores, warehouses and factories, in towns and cities, who because of their early training upon farms could readily go back to farm labour and become useful workers in a short time. And remember, the financial obstacle should not be magnified, because the wages plus the board, which a farm labourer gets to-day equals, and often exceeds, the wages paid to office, store, factory, warehouse, and other general classes of labour.

"But," says the factory, store and warehouse employer, "I can't spare men. My staff is already reduced to a minimum."

To these employers we say, replace some of your men by women workers. OFFER WOMEN EQUAL PAY FOR EQUAL WORK, and in many cases the women will do the work as well as some of the men you are now employing.

When the munition manufacturers in Canada, United States, Great Britain and France were told "You must get women, and make munition workers of them," they were as loathe to try the experiment as other employers now are. But the Government said "The munitions must be produced and only women can be secured in sufficient numbers to produce them." The experiment was tried and as a result many a manufacturer is carrying on certain operations in his plant with woman labour to-day more efficiently than he had done with men.

In Great Britain and France you don't see able-bodied men behind store counters, wrapping up neck-ties, fitting shoes, measuring off calico, dispensing soda water, wrapping up flowers and serving trinkets in jewelry stores.

Neither are able-bodied men shining shoes for other men. Neither are they waiting on table at lunch counters, or hotels. Nor do you see able-bodied male book-keepers, typists, tailors, street car conductors, elevator operators, etc. In fact you don't see able-bodied men doing any job that a woman can do without sacrifice of true womanhood or health. The old saying "Men must work, and women must weep" has gone into the discard. It now is, "Men are fighting, so women must work."

CANADA IS AT WAR, and the sooner all our people wake up to the fact the better it will be for them and for Canada.

If some easy-going men object to being shifted out of their comfortable jobs, when actual national needs must be met, it is high time they should be made to feel that great issues cannot be settled without inconvenience to many. The farmer has also been inconvenienced.

Our faith is that Canadian women will gladly do the work of these men who ought to go on the farm, as when given an opportunity, they filled the places left by many men now overseas.

We even believe that women would gladly and efficiently collect fares on street cars, take over bread and milk routes, act as clerks in grocery and general stores, etc.

We are down to elementals to-day. We either must win, or bow down in serfdom to the German. If we don't send Our Allies sufficient food we won't win.

But make up your mind to this— Canada cannot stop short in any effort for food production — Food Our Allies must have, and every true Canadian is determined that food they shall have.

We ask employers, in all respectfulness, to look over their men to-day, and get ready to comb out every one that is able-bodied, even though his muscles are soft, who is doing work that could and should be done by women in war time. Line them up and say: "Some Canadian farmer needs you more than I do. Go!" There's no use evading the issue—Do it.

Fill out the form below, and we will undertake to get you a competent woman employee for every man you release.

Lack of Food—Threatens the Battle Line

THE HOME HEALTH CLUB

(Edited by Dr. David H. Reeder, Chicago, Ill.)

Forethought in Child-birth: There came to me many years ago a bright, active woman whose only son, aged about 12 years, had the mental capacity and development of a normal child of 3 years. He was fairly well developed physically, but slightly lame.

After careful inquiry, I learned that the mother was 5 days in labour at the time of his birth. The forceps were finally used and the head showed plainly the marks of the instrument for many months. I found also that in three later confinements, the labour had been prolonged from four to five days and finally the loss of the infants' lives.

The poor mother then explained that she would willingly give up her own life if she could only give to her husband a normal, healthy child. He loved children and was so grieved about their defetcive child and still more so because of the subsequent losses. She expected to be confined again in about three months and, if possible, wanted to save herself and the infant. During all previous pregnancies her physician had kept her at vigorous physical exercise up to the last, with the result that her muscles were very hard and firm. Her diet also had been of such a nature that it had caused a large bone and muscular development in the fetus, all of which was directly opposite to what this particular woman required.

I at once put her on a diet that would cause rapid brain and nerve development in the fetus and relax and soften her muscles. I then gradually reduced the exercises and stimulated mental training in the mother. In a short time her fears and worries decreased and a couple of weeks before confinement I had her take, four times a day, the old-fashioned herb syrup that I have told you so much about, and I felt confident there would be no trouble later on.

At full terms she was in labour not to exceed two hours and the infant was a normal, healthy boy. I have never witnessed such profound relief and joy as that man and woman displayed, and their gratitude was fully expressed. There was nothing extraordinary about the treatment of the case that would not apply in any other condition of a similar nature.

In some cases vigorous outdoor exercise is wise, but should seldom be indulged in during the last few weeks. The muscles are kept too hard and firm. They do not relax readily. It is only during the first five months of pregnancy that bone and muscle food should predominate. That is the period when the physical development of the body is made while the mental and nervous system is developed during the last 4 months.

The simple herb decoction will not only keep the bowels and stomach in good condition, but has the effect of relaxing the muscles of the pelvic organs. As a rule, I have found that those that observe a diet largely composed of fruits, vegetables and cereals during the last 4 months, and use the herbs during the last 6 or 8 weeks are very likely to "go overtime" instead of "undertime," the duration of labour is seldom over 3 hours and in many cases not half of that time. As a rule also, I find the babies normal healthy, happy and contented. They develop rapidly and cause little trouble if properly fed and cared for.

Dear Doctor: For amny generations my ancestors have been heavy meat eaters. Bread, potatoes, and some fruit has been the principal diet so long as I can remember, and my grandfather says it was the same in his family since the day he was born and before. Seldom has a meal been put on our table without meat, and now because we are intensely patriotic and observe, according to the request of the government, the meatless Tuesday, and as always before use fish and eggs on Friday, I have been woudering if any harm was likely to come to grandfather as well as to my parents from the change that I believe will continue until there will be 15 meatless meals each week. That is, meat will be allowed only once daily on five days of the week.

Personally I find no difference in my working capacity, but I sometimes have a "want more" taste in my mouth on the meatless days. I sleep better and am less troubled with constipation than before. S.W.

(Answer): Anyone that will carefully study the food values of various fruits, nuts, vegetables, milk, eggs, fish and vegetable oils can easily prepare a diet that will not only satisfy the appetite, but will amply supply all the needs of the body just as well as did the meat. Meat, wheat and sugar are the three things which we should as far as our powers of substitution will permit, eliminate from our diet, in order that we may send them to our men in Europe as well as our allies, not because they could not also be well nourished with the other foods, but because these three are highly concentrated foods, and can be safely shipped long distances without requiring so great a storage capacity for transportation.

In the meatless menu there is fertile field for developing new and nourishing dishes. The shortage of meat and fat will not end with the coming of peace, but may grow more acute and continue for five or six years, thus making it worth while to develop menus of grain, vegetables and fish on a more or less permanent basis. Meat can be replaced by cereals, nuts and beans, and other protein foods, or may be served in very small portions as a flavoring for other food. In making up meatless menus, our American creole and southern cuisine opens a broad field for investigation.

I am inclined to believe that not only your grandfather but the entire family will be better off in the long run with the new system of meatless days than when using meat three three times per day.

"WE ARE AGAIN AT A CRISIS IN THE WAR" SAYS GEN. HAIG

A HEAVY ENEMY ATTACK WAS REPULSED DURING THE NIGHT

Germans Were Thrown Back at One Point by British Counter Attacks--Situation is Unchanged North of Albert ---General Ludendorff Praises the British For Their Tenacious Resistance.

THE BRITISH OFFICIAL STATEMENT

LONDON, March 27.—A heavy attack was, made early in the night against the new British line south of the Somme. It was repulsed after severe fighting, the War Office announces.

In consequence of the attacks yesterday afternoon and evening astride the Somme, British troops on both banks were forced back a short distance in the neighbourhood of Bray.

The announcement follows:

"As a result of the enemy's attacks yesterday afternoon and evening astride the Somme, our troops on both banks were forced back a short distance in the neighbourhood of Bray. A heavy attack made early in the night against our new line south of the Somme was repulsed after severe fighting. At one point in the neighbourhood of the river the enemy forced his way into our positions but was thrown back by our counter attacks. Further local fighting has taken place also north and northeast of Albert, but the situation on this part of the battle front remains unchanged.

A GREAT BATTLE HAS BEEN FOUGHT AND VICTORY HAS BEEN WON, SAYS GERMAN GENERAL

(Canadian Press Despatch.)

AMSTERDAM, March 27.—A great battle has been fought and victory has been won, but nobody can foresee what will be the result from it, said General Von Ludendorff, Cliief Aide to Field Marshal Von Hindenburg, in an interview with a correspondent at the front of the "Tages Zeitung," of Berlin.

PRAISED THE BRITISH.

The General praised the British for their tenacious resistance and continued: "The British believed they could rely on the strength of machinery. The employment of tanks and great numbers of machine guns is typical to their methods of warfare."

The German infantry, the General adds, has had only one night's normal rest during the five or six days of battle. In a battle like this, the infantry must risk their lives hundreds of times.

Ludendorff's comparison of the value of blood as against machinery is typical of the utter recklessness with which the Germans threw their infantry into the battle. It is thought this statement was given out to prepare the German people for undreamed of losses among their troops.

The Germans Last Night Continued Their Furious Onslaught Southwestward From Ham.

British Army Headquarters in France, March 27.(By the Associated Press)—The Germans last night continued their furious onslaught southwestward from Ham, against allied defenses in the region of Roye and Noyon, having slowed down in their patent attempt to cut through the British line farther north, where such desperate resistance was offered. The Germans have now reclaimed virtual-Germans have now regained virtualning of the Battle of the Somme in 1916. At some places they have not retaken all the ground, but at other points they have overstepped it somewhat. Hard fighting occurred last night about the town of Albert. Large enemy forces pushed forward toward the place, but at last accounts the British were holding them doggedly at this possible gateway to Amiens. The conflict in the sector around Roye and Noyon appears to be of great importance from many indications that the German higher command is attempting to split the allied front there and start a rolling-up process either way. From the average of casualties in the various German units, as given by prisoners, one arrives at the conclusion that the German Emperor has lost fifty per cent. of these men since he gave the signal for the advance.

AMERICA'S EFFORT TO MEET GERMAN SUBMARINE WAR

Chairman Hurley of the Shipping Board Makes a Frank Statement

Canadian Press Despatch:

NEW YORK, March 27.—America's effort to meet the German submarine war, whose full menace has just been revealed in the British Admiralty figures on the sinking of ships, was outlined here last night by Chairman Hurley of the Shipping Board, in a frank statement setting forth the shipbuilding situation in the United States, before the National Marine League. Mr. Hurley disclosed that despite delays, the country soon will have 730 steel and wooden ways turning out ships and that the government's mammoth steel shipbuilding programme of eight million tons on March 1 was 28 per cent. on its way to completion. This does not mean that 28 per cent. are in the water, but that construction as a whole had advanced that far. Eight per cent. of the vessels actually have been put into service, Mr. Hurley said. The high point in the curve of production has been delayed, Mr. Hurley pointed out, by a number of causes. Gradually these are being overcome, he declared, and before many months the peak will have been reached. When the high point of the curve finally has been reached and the magnitude of America's shipbuilding programme is realized, he said, it will be a continuous performance of production and launching.

PASSION WEEK SERVICES ARE WELL ATTENDED

The Passion Week services being held each evening at seven forty-five in Mark street Methodist church are well attended. Last evening the Rev Dougall Brown, pastor of the Park street Baptist church, spoke on "Christ as the Way to God." The address was very helpful and much appreciated.

To-night the Rev. A. J. Thomas, pastor of the George street Methodist Church will be the speaker.

The meetings are patriotic and evangelistic in character and are planned to help everyone. Ministers from the different denominations will preach during the week. Every person is invited to attend the meetings and join in prayer for the boys at the front and the brave allies!

Enemy Has Been Obliged to Slow Up—New French Divisions Engaged

RESERVES ARRIVING

(Special to The Toronto Star and The Peterborough Examiner.)

PARIS, March 27.—Last night the German advance was held up everywhere according to the official statement of the War Office to-day. The enemy, weakened by heavy losses, it adds, has been obliged to slow up his efforts.

GERMANS WEAKENED.

The statement follows:

"Last evening and during the night the Germanes weakened by their heavy losses, were compelled to retard their efforts. The valiance of French troops defending the ground foot by foot is beyond all praise. The French are holding the line running through Lechelle, Staurin and Beuvraignes, north of Lassigny, in front of the southern part of Noyon and along the left bank of the Oise. During the night the French repulsed strong reconnoitring parties which attempted to approach their positions northwest of Noyon. On the remainder of the front there was an intermittent bombardment.

RESERVES ARRIVING.

PARIS, March 27.—"Only a few French divisions are engaged," sub-Secretary of War Abrami declared today.

"The bulk of the French army is awaiting events, while the most powerful British reserves are just arriving on the field."

Important Notice To Exempted Men

Young men who have received temporary exemptions are notified that they must inform the Registrar when their exemptions terminate. This is clearly set forth in Clause F, sub-section 2, section 11, of the Military Service Act, as follows:

"It shall be the duty of every man holding a conditional certificate, within three days after the conditions stated therein cease to exist or after his exemption terminates, to give notice in writing of such fact to the Registrar of the Province in which he ordinarily resides, and if he fails without reasonable excuse to do so, he shall be guilty of an offense and liable on summary conviction to a penalty not exceeding $250.00."

MUST GIVE UP CERTIFICATE.

Under Section 20, the following clause should be observed:

"In every case in which the tribunal refuses to renew or terminates the exemption, it will, if this can be conveniently done, obtain from the man concerned, his exemption certificate if any has been issued to him, and will forward same to the Registrar."

British Hold Strong Reserves

Canadian Press Despatch:

AMSTERDAM, March 27.—"The enemy holds strong reserves south of the penetrated front, with which to attack our troops from the flank," declared the Berlin Vorwaerts, in copies received here to-day.

SPECIAL PRAYER SERVICE SATURDAY

The Local Council of Women in compliance with a request from the executive of the National Council, will hold a service of prayer and intercession for the allied armies on Saturday, March 30th at 4 p.m., in the Murray street Baptist church. This service will be entirely undenominational, and is open to all. This is a direct call to women, and it is hoped that as many as possible will avail themselves of the privilege.

ENEMY PAYS HIGH PRICE

Germans Strew the Ground With Their Dead As They Slowly Press Forward

Ten O'clock Despatch

(United Press Service.)

(Special to The Toronto Star and The Peterborough Examiner.)

(By William Philip Simms.)

WITH THE BRITISH ARMIES IN THE FIELD, March 26.—(Night.)—At the battle develops, the Anglo-French view coming events calmly and courageously.

The British are holding the gates to Albert determinedly against the Hindenburg masses, as this is cabled.

Along the Pozieries Ridge, astride the Somme, across the obliterated villages of Ovillers, Warlencourt, Lesars, Flers, Longueval, Montauban, Namete and Courcelette, the Germans are strewing their corpses as they slowly press forward.

BATTLE APPROACHES CRITICAL STAGE

The battle undoubtedly has not yet reached its critical stage.

Hindenburg is striving desperately to break through, now here, now there, unmindful of the huge gaps torn in his massed ranks by the British guns.

The German storm troops are so thick the gaps close automatically like holes in soft dough.

The French and British are forcing the enemy to pay dearly for every inch of ground. Nesle was taken only after furious combats, the French resorting to bayonets, grenades and knives, fighting body to body in a death lock.

Much the same scenes have been enacted by the British at Gerauvillers, Ligny, Thilloy, Montauban and elsewhere, withdrawing only when ordered, or sticking until the last man, fighting like wild cats until overcome by sheer weight of numbers.

SPIES ATTEMPT TO SPREAD PANIC

German spies continue attempting to spread panic among civilian refugees from one village to alarm the people in the next, with the most absurd rumours, which come as facts five miles away.

Inevitably refugees are war's most pitiful spectacle. The military has encouraged their exodus, owing to the enemy shelling and bombing towns far behind the lines. The refugees are given every possible aid.

"The Enemy Is In Albert"

"The Situation is Less Critical Than at Any Time in the Last Three Days" Says Director of Operations

(4 O'clock Despatch.)

LONDON, March 27.—"The situation is less critical than at any time in the last three days," declared General Maurice, Director of Operations, at three o'clock this afternoon, summing up the reports received up to one o'clock.

"The enemy is in Albert," Maurice said. "We hold the railway embankment on the western outskirts. This morning comparatively small reinforcements arrived. We recaptured Morcourt, advancing as far Proyart.

THE LINE IS STEADY.

"Elsewhere the line is steady. One or two attacks were repulsed. The enemy progressed slightly in the outskirts of Coignau, and at Ersch, Lechelle and Staurien.

"Our airmen last night dropped 22 tons of bombs on enemy reserves at Bapaume and Peronone.

"Our total losses in guns have been about 600. German estimates of prisoners are likewise exaggerated."

Seventh Day Of German Offensive Finds No Reason For Pessimism

FIELD MARSHAL HAIG ISSUED GENERAL ORDER TO THE TROOPS

LONDON, March 27.—Field Marshal Haig issued the following general order Saturday to all British troops in France and Flanders, it was announced:

"To all ranks of the British in France and Flanders.

"We are again at a crisis in the war. The enemy has collected on this front every available division, aiming at the destruction of the British army.

"We have already inflicted on the enemy in the course of the last two days very heavy losses, and the French are sending troops as quickly as possible to our support.

"I feel that everyone in the army, fully realizing how much depends on the exertions and steadfastness of each one of us, will do his utmost to prevent the enemy from attaining his object."

FRENCH ARE KEENLY AWAITING EXTENSION OF THE OFFENSIVE

Civilian Morale is Equally as High as the Army's--Are Determined to Demonstrate Their Courage

OFFENSIVE PLANS

(United Press Service.)
(By Henry Wood.)

(Special to The Toronto Star and The Peterborough Examiner.)

WITH THE FRENCH ARMY IN THE FIELD, March 27.—I have just returned from Paris and other cities where bombs have been dropped. There I ascertained that the civilian morale is equally as high as the armys. Both are determined, at any sacrifice, to insure victory.

AWAIT EXTENSION OF THE OFFENSIVE

The poilus on the entire front after four months of the most intensive work in defensive preparations, today are keenly awaiting the extension of the offensive to the French sectors. Inspired by the British resistance, they are determined to demonstrate that their courage and ability are equal to that of their Allies on the north.

Fully half the German divisions are now facing the British, while a majority of the remainder are in the German Crown Prince's command.

DYNASTIC REASONS EFFECT THE PLANS

Military experts consider that dynastic reasons are effecting the German offensive plans. Should the Bavarian Crown Prince's offensive meet with a measure of success, it is considered highly probable the German Crown Prince will take advantage of the situation to launch a second offensive in the Champagne region, for the purpose of restoring Hohenzollern prestige.

GERMANS PROMISED TO TAKE FRENCH CAPITAL WITHIN TWO MONTHS

German Boast That Paris Would Fall Was Made Openly at the Russian Peace Conference

DISCUSSED OFFENSIVE

(United Press Service.)
(By Joseph Shaplen.)

(Special to The Toronto Star and The Peterborough Examiner.)

PETROGRAD, March 26 (delayed)—Russian military officials and delegates to the recent Brest-Litovsk peace conference, declare German officers openly discussed the then forthcoming west front offensive.

The Germans, they said, promised to take Paris within two months, and make a general German peace by Christmas.

Lawn Bowlers Held Meeting

At a meeting of the Lawn Bowlers' Association held last night in J. E. A. Fitzgerald's office, definite plans were made and business put into shape for the annual meeting, which will take place on Monday, April the 8th. Mr. Brightman, the president, who was in the chair, spoke very optimistically of the prospects of the coming year.

BOWLING On Water St. Alleys

The play off of the blind score 140 last night proved very interesting to the many spectators. At the end of the play off Fitzpatrick, Heaslip and Lacheur were tied with 140 each. In the play off of the tie, Fitzpatrick and Heaslip were again tied, with 144 each, and in the final Fitzpatrick won out with 147 against Heaslip's 145.

PETERBORO BOWLERS FOR TORONTO.

The local five pin bowlers will take part in the big tournament to be held at Orr Bros. alleys in the Queen City during the week of April 8th. Mr. F. C. Weber has entered two five-men teams from the Water street alleys to represent Peterboro in the big tournament.

Peterboro bowlers are well known to the Toronto pin spilers as during last fall they defeated the strong aggregation of Toronto bowling club.

SATISFACTION COMES NOT ALONE

From properly fitted lenses. The frames or mountings must be neat, and serve the purpose you want them for. We guarantee to suit you in every way. See Dr. Lacey, 410 George street. Open Wednesday evening.

The Germans Are Four Days Behind Their "Time Table"—New Lines Are Holding Firm—Germans' Main Object.

ENEMY LOSSES HEAVY

(By Ed. L. Keen.)
(United Press Service.)

(Special to The Toronto Star and The Peterborough Examiner.)

LONDON, March 27.—The seventh day of the big German drive finds no reason for pessimism and increasing reason for confidence, of which the following are outstanding:

ARE FOUR DAYS BEHIND.

Although they have regained most of the territory they had lost since 1916, the Germans are three or four days behind their "time table."

NEW JUNCTION IS FIRM.

Notwithstanding they are using a third of all their western forces on an eighth part of the line, including two-thirds of their entire strategic reserve, the indications are now that the enemy's main object, a wedge between the French and British, cannot be accomplished. The new junctioning is most firm.

RESERVE NOT PARTICIPATING

The Allied reserve army is not yet participating, presumably awaiting a favourable opportunity to strike the weakest point in the lengthening German flanks.

RETIREMENT ORDERLY.

All authorities agree the British retirement is perfectly orderly. Their is no flight, no panic. They are maintaining their alignment throughout.

LOSSES ARE REPLACED.

It is stated authoritatively that most of the losses in men and material already have been replaced.

ATTACKERS LOSING HEAVILY

Meantime, the attackers must be losing three or four times as many men as the defenders.

AIR SUPREMACY OBVIOUS.

The overwhelming Allied air supremacy is obvious. The home morale is splendid. The only press criticism of the Government is for continuing to allow the Germans to make the first announcements of their accomplishments.

MANY GOOD SHOWS FOR THE GRAND

Manager Webber Turner has booked a splendid list of attractions for the Grand during the next few weeks. Among the shows coming soon are:

"Oh Boy"—April 1st.
"Mrs. Wiggs of the Cabbage Patch"—April 6th.
"Gus Hill's Minstrels"—April 8th.
"Pollyanna"—April 13th.
"20,000 Leagues Under the Sea"—April 17th, 18th.
"The Trail of the Lonesome Pine"—April 20th.
"You're in Love"—April 23rd.
"Watch Your Step"—April 26th.

Frank Jenne Says:

Have you ever considered how intimate is the comradeship between a man and his hat? Where one goes, there goes the other. The longer they are acquainted the better they like each other and the more inseparable they become.

There is something about a "Borsalino" hat which induces the feeling of dependableness. Let your Easter hat be a "Borsalino." "Come to me."

ARTICLES MADE BY THE MURRAY STREET RED CROSS AUXILIARY.

The Murray street Red Cross Auxiliary report the following articles made during the past month:

9 grey flannel shirts.
30 stretcher cape.
12 personal property bags.
12 bed socks.
21 suits of pyjamas.
57 pairs of socks.

Average attendance each week has been 19.

THE CANADIANS' TURN.

The people must steel themselves to the realization that although the Canadian forces have not been actively engaged so far in the terrible battle raging in Picardy it may not be long before Gen. Currie's corps will be in the midst of the fighting. Their position, in the Lens district, is only ten miles north of the right wing of the German striking forces and they may soon be involved in the maelstrom of the greatest battle in the world's history.

Canadians at home will endorse the message wired to General Currie by Premier Borden that "The Canadian people have perfect confidence that the Canadian forces when called on to take their full part, will maintain the splendid traditions of the past three years."

TIGHTENING UP.

The indications of a tightening up in the operations of the Military Service Act, as evidenced by the sentencing of a Toronto man to two years for refusing to don a uniform, and of an Ottawa citizen to twelve months' imprisonment for interfering with police officers engaged in raiding a pool room in search of defaulters, will be welcomed by the country generally. Through the laxity that characterized the first few weeks of the Act's operation the impression was created among many people that its regulations could be ignored with impunity. Only this week a Winnipeg citizen, within the draft age, wagered that he could travel from Winnipeg to Ottawa without any exemption papers and unmolested by the authorities. He did not succeed in his attempt, being arrested at North Bay. But the very fact that a wager of this kind was made shows that many people had an impression that the provisions of the Military Service Act were not being very vigorously carried out.

CONFIDENT VETERANS.

It is too bad that the citizens who are inclined to become panicky over the news from France, could not have been present at the Great War Veterans' banquet last night to receive the benefit of the confidence and optimism of the men who have been "over there." Naturally, no body of men in Peterboro are more directly interested in the outcome of the titanic struggle than the War Veterans. Gathered around the tables last night were returned soldiers to whom the northern end of the Somme battlefield is as familiar as George street. There were many there who in 1916 had helped to wrest from the Hun the very ground over which his massed thousands have fought their way during the past few days—men who had charged at Courcelette, and who speak of Death Valley and Pozieres as casually as our citizens do of Central Park or the Market Square. Many had left their comrades buried on the Somme battlefield, and were saddened as they realized that the great struggle is being fought over the very graves of those who less than two years ago died that the territory now relinquished should be torn from the grasp of the invader.

Saddened, they were, undoubtedly, but their confidence was unshaken. When Col. Mills pointed out that it was no time for any one to throw up his hands, and that Field Marshall Haig was not doing so, the Veterans cheered enthusiastically, and they made the dishes rattle as they acclaimed Col. Ackerman's statement rades they had left in France, and manders they had left in France, and his further prediction that the line might bend but it would never break.

THE SOLDIES OF THE SOIL.

Are Peterboro boys going to fall far below the standard of their older brothers? Peterboro men of military age placed this city on a high pinnacle in the days of voluntary enlistment for military service, but the boys not yet old enough for the firing line are failing to show the same spirit. Only forty Peterboro boys have so far said that they are willing to strike their blow at the Hun on the farms of the district. Lindsay has more than doubled this record, and little Norwood is aiming at beating her mark of last year when seventy-five boys and girls did their bit on the farm. It is not too late for Peterboro to show the way for the rest of the district. The parents of boys big enough for work on farms, have a responsibility in this crisis that they cannot dodge. They should see that their sons take their places on the third line of defence.

Boys, the way to do your part in the world struggle is open. Don't miss the opportunity.

THE HOUR OF PRAYER.

No matter how far we drift from our highest ideals and convictions, there abides in the background of the life of most men a belief in the efficacy of prayer. In our better moments we all feel with Tennyson that "More things are wrought by prayer than this world dreams of." We can find many who are ready to tell us what we ought to have done years ago, and another school who are anxious to dictate a policy for "after the war," but, perhaps, we are all ready to agree that the present duty, in view of the bodeful days through which we are passing, is that as individuals, as families, and as a community, we should push past all human instrumentalities, and lay hold of "The Arm that moves the world."

To-night, we notice the North end churches are uniting in a Great War prayer service in the Murray street Baptist church. To-day and Thursday, a noon day prayer meeting is announced for the George Street church. Last Sunday two hundred and fifty Presbyterians gathered for an afternoon prayer service, and today the announcement is made that the Women's Council will hold such a service in the Murray Street Baptist church on Saturday, at 4 o'clock. This is not too much—we all need "The hour of prayer."

THE BOARD OF TRADE.

The Peterboro Board of Trade is to be congratulated upon the large attendance and the splendid enthusiasm that were features of the annual meeting last night, and that augur well for a successful year. There is a magnificent field of operations for the organization, which can be made a wonderful power for good in the community. The re-election of President J. J. Turner and Secretary B. D. Hall, is a tribute to the work these gentlemen have done in the past, and it must be gratifying to them to realize that the prospects before the Board of Trade are infinitely brighter than they were a year ago. The appointing of deputies representing the different sections of the city's business, mercantile and professional, is a step that should add considerably to the Board's efficiency, and, to quote from President Turner's excellent address: "The Board is practically ready to commence business with a perfected machine to deal with almost any problem that may come to its knowledge."

Every citizen who believes in his home city, and who wants to do his full share to further its interest, should become a member of the Board of Trade, and give that body the support which its aims and ideals so richly merit.

EDITORIAL NOTES.

Congratulations are due Majors Harold and Hugh Wallis upon their recent promotions in France. Both boys enlisted and fought as privates before getting their commissions.

The Ontario Government will allow responsible persons to make maple syrup on Crown lands throughout the province. Sir William Hearst announces.

The celebration by Chicago Germans of the reverse sustained by the Allies in France, shows what Uncle Sam has to contend with. Probably in some of our German settlements in the west there was similar rejoicing.

"Why should our boys be fighting in Italy, and a healthy young Italian of military age allowed to remain here making money?" was a pertinent question asked at the War Veterans meeting the other night.

The Kaiser is distributing signed photographs of himself as a reward for his troops. A splendid recompense for facing Haig's men on the Somme line.

Undiverted by what is happening in France General Allenby continues to systematically finish his work in Palestine.

Some of that inside work the Toronto N.H.A. team handed out the other night would be very useful on the western front just now.

People who believed that yarn about the Crown Prince being captured, were paying a compliment to the Kaiser's heir. Little Willy thinks too much of himself to get close enough to the front line to be bagged.

The patriotic farmer will grow as much Spring wheat as possible this Spring.

The Germans who held the Lens line last Friday night, when the Canadians projected 5,000 drums of gas into the trenches, would hardly credit the statement that the maple leaf corps have not been actually engaged.

A German submarine has been sunk by its own torpedo, which was deflected, described a semi-circle, and struck the under-sea boat. Here's hoping that the pirates have many more of that kind of torpedo.

CO-OPERATION.

The need of co-operation between city dwellers and the farming community which formed the basis of Mr. G. A. Gillespie's address on Saturday to the members of the County Council is the subject of a striking war bulletin issued by the Southam Press. The ground is so thoroughly covered in a few words that the re-publication of a portion of the bulletin should be of general interest. Says the message:

"A better understanding, more co-operation between the urban and rural populations is all that is necessary. But that ideal condition absolutely necessary for a perfect efficiency in food production, isn't posible without a long educative campaign, and in the meantime our soldiers, our friends, our allies, are hungry.

"Can't the urban population this summer, commencing in April—the men, women, girls and boys—throw off their selfish state and realize that all farmers aren't "pikers," and can't the rural population realize that all city people are not "dubs" and that even a "dub," by kindly encouragement, might help. Even that preliminary stage of co-operation would work wonders.

"We, all of us, might by slightly tightening our belts, save others from tightening their's too painfully, and might have an excuse for feling, when the Hun is whipped, that we helped in the whipping."

FORMER PETERBORO' MINISTER DEAD

Rev. James Thom, visiting Methodist Chaplain of the Western St. Michael's and Grace Hospitals, died yesterday at his residence, 163 Ossilio street, in his eighty-eighth year. He was born in Scarboro' township, and was educated at the University of Toronto. He was ordained to the Presbyterian ministry in 1860, but in 1875 joined the Methodists, and as a Methodist minister was superannuated in 1902. In 1905 he became Visiting Chaplain to the hospitals. He is survived by two daughters and one son, Mr. D. J. Thom, K.C. of Regina. His wife predeceased him a short while ago. The late Mr Thom at one time occupied the pulpit of Mark Street Methodist Church.

BRITISH TENACITY.

(Toronto Mail and Empire.)

If there be some in Britain, or in the Dominions overseas, who think the war is pressing hardly on the motherland, and who fear the strain may be too much, they will find encouragement in reading the history of British tenacity in the Napoleonic war. A graphic summary of the difficulties faced, and triumphantly overcome, was given not long ago by Hon. F. M. Fisher, the Australian Commissioner to Britain. It is worth special mention:

"During the Napoleonic war we saw France the military aggressor in Europe, with Napoleon at the zenith of his career, threatening with his military domination, the rights and liberties of the whole civilized world. Let us try and picture now what the Englishmen of that day had to face. France had to her credit a long line of glorious victories on the Continent. England was in a perilous condition. The Bank of England suspended cash payments; many banks crashed; thousands of individuals became bankrupt; 15,000 people died of starvation; we had an expedition to the Dardanelles that was a colossal failure; another to Egypt that showed endless incompetence; another to Walcheren that marked the hopeless stupidity of the English commanders; a rebellion in Ireland beside which our late experience was a mere detail; the landing of the invader in Britain on three separate occasions; our own navy in mutiny at Spithead and at the Nore and blockading London at a time when we were threatened by the combined navies of the world; soldiers ringed our coasts and practised fighting breast deep in water; the blockade of Britain was decreed from Berlin, and fighting was going on in every part of the continent. And yet, with a tenacity of which we have always been proud, and for which we have always been grateful, our people held on and endured all the hardships, horrors and privations of that day in order that we in our turn might emulate their example, and hand down to our children an Empire even more splendid than that we inherit."

LARGE ATTENDANCE AT THE ANNUAL MEETING

ers and others promptly answered and followed up, and several matters of importance dealt with.

"The Food Controller has addressed numerous communications to the Board dealing with the food situation and for information, and he has expressed his appreciation of the assistance rendered.

"The Superintendent of Immigration has arranged for the distribution of material descriptive of the city and district in the British Isles, and a number of booklets and pamphlets have been disposed through him, where they are sure of inspection by interested persons.

"Inquiries have been received from manufacturers considering locating in Ontario, and through lack of facilities for dealing with such matters, have been referred to the Industrial Commissioner. The Manufacturers' Committee of the City Council, on which three members of the Board sit, by courtesy, has kept in touch with all such manufacturers giving any indication that they might advantageously locate here.

"Applications for licenses of various kinds from the Canada Food Board, have been distributed, and continuous touch kept with different organizations active in various fields as the Express Traffic Association, Ontario Safety League, Associated Boards of Trade, and various associations dealing with the freight situation, which has lately been of deep interest and concern to shippers and the public generally."

RESOLUTIONS FORWARDED.

The Board has again been represented on the Hydro-Radial Association executive, and this district will at the proper time reap the benefit of the work now being done in keeping our needs before this important and influential body.

Resolutions were passed and communications to the proper authorities on the following matters:

Prohibition of the use of cereals in the manufacture of liquor.

Grading of Monaghan Road for extension of Radial Railway.

Replacing returned soldiers into productive employment.

Industrial and technical education.

The necessity for Street Railway extension.

Agricultural Representative for West Peterborough.

GREATER PRODUCTION ACTIVITY.

The Board arranged a meeting in the Grand Opera House in the interests of Greater Production, at which Dr. Riddell and Mr. McCready of the Organization of Resources Committee, Mr. Frank Yeigh, of the War Lecture Bureau, and Captain Hezzlewood, of the Canada Food Board, delivered very timely and useful addresses on the need of increased effort to produce food. The meeting was largely attended and fully served its purpose of educating the people of this district in regard to the present situation.

Meetings with the farmers of the county had previously been held and arrangements have been made for the calling of meetings in different localities throughout the county to impress on the producers the grave danger to the allied cause of want of food during the coming winter, and for the enrollment in the city of men and women able and willing to assist in this great work by giving some or all of their time during the planting and harvesting seasons to work on farms or market gardens.

STATISTICS SHOW PROSPERITY

The past has been one of continued prosperity in our community. The barometer of prosperity is the bank clearings and these are as follows:

For 6 months, 1914—$11,338,896.
For 6 months, 1915—$20,970,677.
For 6 months, 1916—$26,675,636.
For 6 months, 1917—$32,917,018.

CUSTOMS RECEIPTS.

The Customs Receipts at Peterboro have been for the year—

1st April, 1915, to Mar. 31st, 1916, $821,070.76.

1st April, 1916, to 31st Mar., 1917, $858,316.73.

1st April, 1917, to Feb. 28, 1918, (11 months), $727,788.17.

BUILDING PERMITS.

1914, 304 permits, $452,340.
1915, 167 permits, $98,610.
1916, 128 permits, $128,040.
1917, 135 permits, $963,503.

THE VICTORY LOAN.

Labour has been fully employed during the year. Manufacturers are all busy. Merchants report increased sales; there have been few vacant properties in the city and generally, conditions locally have been in a very healthy state. One evidence of prosperity of the community was given by the response of citizens to the Victory Bond campaign when the splendid total of $1,748,700.00 was raised in Peterborough County.

During the year some publicity was given to the Civic planning schemes of the Commission of Conservation by the Engineers' Club, and Mr. Adams, the town planning adviser of the Commission, delivered an address to the Club and also spoke at length to the general public on the work of the Commission in this respect, and made several recommendations regarding the local situation. The Board has tendered its assistance to the Engineers in this work.

SINEWS OF TRADE WAR NEEDED.

In conclusion, there is much useful work to be done by our Association, and there are two prime requisites for its successful accomplishment—money and men. With the finances of the Board in satisfactory condition and a group of men willing to devote the necessary time to the work, there is no reason why the Peterborough Board of Trade should fail to fill the place open to it in our community. We are all agreed that our city has great natural advantages; let us pull together to make it known throughout the continent as being fully alive and fulfilling its destiny, and thus will we leave posterity something to thank us for and justify our existence in these stirring times.

An invitation is extended to all citizens of Peterborough County to join the Board and take an earnest part in its activities.

THE GOOD ROADS SYSTEM.

At this time it might be well to call attention to the position occupied by our County in the matter of good roads. Only four counties of the Province operate under the old system, and on them falls alike with those which enjoy the advantages of the County roads system that part of the cost of construction and maintenance of the roads of all the other sixty-eight counties paid by the Province. We, in Peterborough County, are generous and are proud of our record of doing our full share in all the calls that have been made upon us, but isn't this carrying generosity to the extreme. Everyone now agrees that good roads are advantageous to all residents in their neighbourhood, and if we have to pay for them anyway, why should we not secure their location where they will be of some benefit to us.

THE SECRETARY'S REPORT.

Secretary-Treasurer B. D. Hall reported the receipts last year at $120.58, of which $102 represented membership fees. The present balance is $5.57, but outstanding accounts will wipe this out, leaving a debit balance of $30.08. The Board's Greater Production initiative this year has left a deficit of $63.86 in that special account.

During the year the Executive held seven meetings, and there were numerous meetings of the committees. The secretary received 154 letters and sent out 170. One hundred of the Board's booklets were distributed.

BRANCHES INCREASED.

Messrs. Jas. Hamilton and G. R. Munro moved and seconded that the Board of Trade, while retaining its constitution intact, form the following sections, to be added as distinct groups—engineers, underwriters, public service, contractors, physicians, dentists, barristers, Trades and Labour, automobile and commercial travellers.

Mr. J. J. Hartley reported that the Trades and Labour Council had appointed, as delegates to the Board, Messrs. Wm. Stevens, Jas. Stevens, A. J. Bolwell and himself.

STREET RAILWAY SERVICE.

Mr. J. W. Worth, discussing the proposed street railway extensions, directed the attention of the board to the persent service in the north-west end, and asserted that it was the worst accommodation of the whole local system.

Mr. Canfield, speaking for the engineers, promised that they would co-operate with the Board.

The contractors have no organization, Mr. Sheehy stated, but he would endeavour to bring them into the Board of Trade fold.

Dr. Buchanan assured the Board that the doctors would be willing to form a section.

Each section would find a wide scope of work, Mr. Breyfogle stated, and none had a greater opportunity than the doctors. Public health and sanitation, for example, were two problems that should attract the interest of the Board of Trade. In dealing with such questions, the advice of the doctors' branch would be invaluable.

In a similar manner the Finance section would offer the knowledge and experience of expert financiers, when needed. There was opportunity for all the branches, Mr. Breyfogle stated, but there must be the most cordial co-operation by the citizens, and their realization that they have a big work awaiting them for Peterboro's advancement through the medium of the Board of Trade.

General Gibson Says Every Soldier
WHO GOES TO THE FRONT
Should Take Nuxated Iron

General John L. Clem, who was Sergeant in the U. S. Army at 12 Years of Age, General David Stuart Gordon, Hero of the Battle of Gettysburg, Judge Samuel S. Yoder, for 18 years a Practicing Physician and Formerly Surgeon Major in the Army, Also Tells How They Were Benefited by a Short Course of This Remarkable Product.

Dr. James Francis Sullivan and other physicians explain why Nuxated Iron helps to increase strength and endurance, and build up weak, nervous, run-down folks.

What every soldier most needs is tremendous "stay there" strength, power and endurance, with nerves of steel and blood of iron. To help produce this result there is nothing in my experience which I have found so valuable as organic iron—Nuxated Iron, says Dr. James Francis Sullivan. "I have personally found it of such great value as a tonic, strength and blood builder that I believe if General Gibson's advice were followed many of our fighting men would find it of great benefit. In my opinion there is nothing better than organic iron—Nuxated Iron—for enriching the blood and helping increase strength, energy and endurance.

General Horatio Gates Gibson says Nuxated Iron has brought back to him in good measure that old buoyancy and energy that filled his veins in 1847, when he made his triumphant entry with General Scott into the City of Mexico.

Another remarkable case is that of General David Stuart Gordon, noted Indian fighter and hero of the battle of Gettysburg. General Gordon says: "When I became badly run-down this year, I found myself totally without the physical power to 'come back' as I had done in my younger days. I tried different so-called 'tonics' without feeling any better, but finally I heard of how physicians were widely recommending organic iron to renew red blood and rebuild strength in worn-out bodies. As a result I started taking Nuxated Iron and within a month it had roused my weakened vital forces and made me feel strong again, giving me endurance such as I never hoped to again possess."

Another interesting case is that of General John Lincoln Clem, who at the early age of 12 years was Sergeant in the U. S. army and the last veteran of the Civil War to remain on the U. S. Army active list. General Clem says: "I find in Nuxated Iron the one and ever-reliable tonic. Two months after beginning the treatment I am a well man."

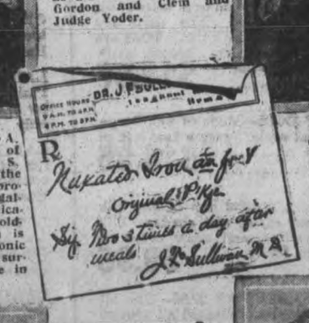
Dr. L. Saner, a Boston Physician, who has studied both in this country and great European Medical institutions said: "Nuxated Iron is a wonderful remedy. If people would only take it when they feel weak or run-down instead of dosing themselves with habit-forming drugs, stimulants and alcoholic beverages, I am convinced that there are thousands who might readily build up their red blood corpuscles, increase their physical energy and get themselves into a condition to ward off the millions of disease germs that are almost continually around us. It is surprising how many people suffer from iron deficiency and do not know it. If you are not strong or well you owe it to yourself to make the following test: See how long you can work or how far you can walk without becoming tired. Next take two five-grain tablets of Nuxated Iron three times per day after meals for two weeks. Then test your strength again and see how much you have gained."

Dr. Schuyler C. Jaques, Visiting Surgeon of St. Elizabeth's Hospital, New York City, said: "I have never before given out any medical information or advice for publication, as I ordinarily do not believe in it. But in the case of Nuxated Iron I feel I would be remiss in my duty not to mention it. I have taken it myself and given it to my patients with most surprising and satisfactory results. And those who wish quickly to increase their strength, power and endurance will find it a most remarkable and wonderfully effective remedy."

NOTE—Nuxated Iron which is prescribed by Dr. Sullivan, and which has been used by Generals Gibson, Gordon, Clem, Judge Yoder and others with such surprising results, is not a secret remedy but one which is well-known to druggists everywhere. Unlike the older inorganic iron products it is easily assimilated, does not injure the teeth, make them black, nor upset the stomach. The manufacturers guarantee successful and entirely satisfactory results to every purchaser, or they will refund your money. It is dispensed in this city by McDermid & Jury, and all other druggists.

General John L. Clem, U. S. A. (Retired), the drummer boy of Shiloh who entered the U. S. Army as a drummer boy at the age of eleven years. He was promoted to be Sergeant for gallantry at the battle of Chickamauga when only 12 years old. He says that Nuxated Iron is the one and ever-reliable tonic—that he obtained most surprising results from its use in two weeks' time.

Dr. James Francis Sullivan, formerly physician of Bellevue Hospital, (Outdoor Dept.) New York, and the Westchester County Hospital, says every soldier and civilian who wants something—to help increase his strength and endurance should have this prescription filled and take Nuxated Iron three times daily as did Generals Gibson, Gordon and Clem and Judge Yoder.



The above is Dr. Sullivan's prescription for enriching the blood and helping to make strong, keen, red-blooded Americans — men and women who dare and do.

Judge Samuel S. Yoder, Statesman, Jurist and for 18 years a practicing physician—formerly Surgeon Major in the Army and now Commander in Chief of the Union Veteran Union, says: "Nuxated Iron restores, revivifies and rehabilitates the system. To the man of 70 as I am it is just as certain, just as efficacious as to the youth in his teens."

General David Stuart Gordon, U.S.A. (Retired), promoted for gallant conduct in the battle of Gettysburg; well-known Indian fighter. General Gordon says: "Despite my own advanced age Nuxated Iron has made me fit and ready for another campaign, and if my country needs me, I stand ready to go."

PUBLIC OPINION

Welcome Home!

(New York Sun.)

America is glad to welcome back into citizenship Barrett Buck, who voluntarily became a Britisher to fight with Canada's war contingent. We're using all the men of that kind we can get in our own army now.

DEPENDS ON SHIPS.

(Hamilton Herald.)

The reports made by returned soldiers of the treatment accorded them on the ocean trip differ widely. Some complain bitterly of the food, the water, the accommodation. Others express themselves as well satisfied. It will be found that the character of the report depends upon the ship in which the soldiers travelled. Some commanding officers made it their business to look after the comfort of the men; others didn't. Probably that is the real explanation.

Shifting Burdens.

(London Advertiser.)

Major-Gen. Mewburn would refer all who are not receiving justice from the Government in separation allowance to the patriotic fund. That is one way of shifting burdens, but if the Government is to make use of the fund it is time it also took over the raising and administering of it.

And Here, Too.

(New York Times.)

Profits are adequate, wages are high, (with liberal pay for overtime), but the will to win the war is not what it is in France. There is 100 per cent. of patriotism "over there." Why not over here?

What Veterans Want.

(Kingston Whig.)

Canada might well take a lesson from the decision of the French Government to call up all male residents belonging to Allied and neutral nations between the ages of 15 and 50, and to use them in the production of food. This is also the course advocated by our Great War Veterans.

38 Inspections Of Braund Building By City Engineer

Board of Works Grants Permission For Removal of Trees

City Engineer Parsons reported to the Board of Works last night that he has made thirty-eight visits of inspection to the old Snowden House, now undergoing extensive alterations by Braund Brothers One of his comcents stated that while the buliding is substantial, it is being built at the least possible expense.

Mr. Parsons also reported that Mr. R. Neill and Mr. Pappas had arranged to raze the walls of their ruined place of business. Mr. J. Montgomery has charge of the work for Mr. Neill.

TREES TO BE REMOVED.

Mr. Parsons reported that the trees in front of No. 560 Donegal street did not need to be thinned.

Ald. Dobbin moved, seconded by Ald. Jones, that permission to remove any of them be refused.

Mayor Duncan moved, seconded by Ald. Saunders, that two elm trees, at the corner of Romaine and Lock streets, be removed because they are in a dangerous position.

Requests from R. Watt to cut down two trees on Perry street, and from J. Waldie, for permission to remove two trees at 276 Romaine street were granted.

A poplar tree on the north side of Sherbrooke street, west of Rubidge, must go, after the property owner is notifiedd, and F. Middleton is permitted to remove a poplar in front of his residence on Rogers street, on the approval of the Engineer, and providing Mr. Middleton will replace it.

A. Young, 596 Donegal street, received permission to remove a small, basswood tree from in front of his house.

Two trees on Donegal street, at McDonnel and one on Benson Avenue, west of the bridge are dependent upon the City Engineer's decision after he has observed their positions.

The City Treasurer was instructed to issue cheques for the Board of Works truck and City Engineer's car, and the latter will be used on the same arrangement as has existed for several years.

ADVERTISE FOR CEMENT.

Mr. Parsons was authorized to advertise for tenders for the supplying of the city with cement and tile pipe.

PRICES OF ROAD OIL.

Ald. Edgar moved, seconded by Ald. Jones that the City Engineer get prices on oil and tarvia as quickly as possible.

J. A. McIntyre was given permision to put in an approach on Charlotte street to a garage at No. 319

The Board decided to hire a team of horses from the Fire Department at 50 cents a day for the summer.

Ald. Weir and Street Commissioner Evans were authorized to purchase a horse and also to dispose of the black horse if they deem it advisable, and that it be paid for on the order of Ald. Weir.

Voice of The People

To the Editor of The Examiner,

Sir,—I observe that "One Interested" while at Church last Sunday was in sympathy with the Pastor in advocating that churches be open to the public seven days a week, and might say that there are three large churches, viz., St. Peter's Cathedral, the Sacred Heart Church, and the Church of the Immaculate Conception, which are open to the public seven days a week and fifty-two weeks in the year, and anyone wishing to go into any of those churches to pray to our Dear Lord and Saviour, present on the Altar, would be most welcome.

Yours very truly,
"OBSERVANT."

At a "tractor school" held in Ohio there were more than 2,000 present at some of the sessions, and demonstrations were given by 22 different kinds of tractors.

Germans Continue To Bombard Paris

Canadian Press Despatch:

BERLIN, March 27.—The Germans have not halted their long range bombardment of Paris, the announcement says.

"We continued the bombardment of the fortress of Paris."

Sentenced To Seven Years In Kingston

Canadian Press Despatch:

ST. CATHARINES, Ont., March 27.—Robert Rosborough, alias Sergeant R. F. Boyd, who was arrested at Buffalo charged with forging the name of Sir Sam Hughes, late Minister of Militia, to letters purporting to be credentials for collecting for Red Cross and other patriotic moneys, and who was prominently connected with war savings stamp campaign in Buffalo, was this morning sentenced by Judge Campbell to seven years in Kingston penitentiary.

Prisoner's Remarks.

When the Judge said seven years, Rosborough appeared somewhat dazed. "That's rather hard usage for a man who has been overseas fighting for his country, don't you think Judge?" said the prisoner. "It would be best for you not to say anything at all," returned His Honour significantly, "in view of the fact that other charges might be brought against you."

MISSIONARIES FOR INDIA AT SIMCOE ST. TEMPLE TO-NIGHT

The party of Indian missionaries, who arrived this afternoon, have seen many years of service among the peoples of India.

Colonel Stevens is one of those who pioneered the work 30 years ago, and has seen whole villages turn to Christianity.

Mrs. Colonel Hepsey was once editor of the Ceylon Wail Cry, and is now with her husband a territorial commander. She has with her a son 10 years of age, born in India.

Mrs. Ensign Mortimer is the wife of a medical missionary, who has translated the Gospel by St. John into the vernacular of the peoples with whom he works.

Mrs. Adjutant Mabee has spent years with the criminal tribes of India and has some wonderful stories to tell.

Major Byre has spent 30 years there. They all will have some most interesting and profitable stories to tell to-night at the S. A. Temple at 8 o'clock.

They will dress in Indian garb and sing in Indian. You are cordially invited.

CANADIAN STANDARD EFFICIENCY TEST

A meeting was held last night in the Y.M.C.A. for the purpose of forming an organization among the older boys of the city, that will provide a programme of activities for them during the summer months, when the boys' clubs in the churches seem to lag and attendance drops off.

The programme, if carried out, would hold the boys together, sustain their interest in Christian work and make for cleaner and healthier sport among our boys, for it is proposed to carry on the work under the rules of the Canadian Standard Efficiency Test, and works for the spiritual, mental, physical and social development of the boy, which while providing for the social demands of the boy, develops the spiritual side of the boys' nature.

Organization Formed.

At last night's meeting an organization committee was formed, composed of Mr. Sisson, Anglican; Mr. Gates, Methodist; Mr. Roper, Presbyterian; Mr. Moore, Baptist.

This committee will draft a constitution and call a meeting within two weeks, when committee leaders will be appointed and the work started with enthusiasm and co-operation from every Sunday school in this city.

The committee hopes that every minister and Sunday school superintendent will take a lively interest in this movement and bring its objects to the attention of every older boy in their church.

SHE HAD TO BE PROPPED IN BED ON PILLOWS

Mrs. Lancaster Suffered Twenty Years—Tanlac Brings Relief

I have been practically an invalid for twenty years and Tanlac has given me the first real relief I have had during all that time," declared Mrs. Annie Lancaster of 67 Palmerston, Avenue, Toronto, recently. Mrs. Lancaster and her husband, John Lancaster, have lived in Toronto for almost a quarter century and have many friends who will be glad to learn of Mrs. Lancaster's wonderful improvement.

"Mr. Lancaster said just the other day," continued Mrs. Lancaster, "that Tanlac has been the best friend we ever had and I think so, too, for it has certainly done more for me than anything else ever has. Before I began taking it I suffered terribly from indigestion and in a little while after eating, gas would form and bloat me up until I would almost suffocate, and I simply suffered agony until I took something to make me vomit. Sometimes the gas would press up around my heart and almost cut off my breath. I had to be propped up in bed with pillows and even then couldn't breathe good. I couldn't eat meats or any nourishing food, if I did I would almost die. For years I had to live on milk and just the lightest things possible and even then I had those awful spells with my stomach. I tried everything in the way of medicine, but nothing helped me and I suffered more than I can find words to tell.

"Before I finished my first bottle of Tanlac I felt better and could see that I was improving. I have been gradually getting better ever since. I have taken seven bottles and the way it has helped me is nothing less than wonderful. I can eat good hearty meals now and things that used to disagree with me don't bother me in the least. My food digests fine, the gas has stopped forming and I don't have any more of those awful smothering spells. I am so much better than I have been in years that I feel like a new person and if I can help others by telling them about Tanlac, I am certainly glad to do so.

Mr. Lancaster, who witnessed Mrs. Lancaster's statement, said: "It is true that Tanlac has done my wife a world of good and she couldn't feel any more grateful over the fact than I do. For years I have bought her every medicine I read of or any one suggested, but Tanlac has helped her more than everything else combined, and it's a genuine pleasure to endorse such a medicine."

Tanlac is sold in Peterborough by W. B. Warne Drug Co., Ltd., in Havelock by A. C. Denike; in Lakefield by Tanner Drug Co., Ltd. In Fowler's Corners by W. A. Hunter; in Gelert by A. J. Scott; in Westwood by G. Pringle & Son.

HADN'T EXEMPTION PAPERS, POLICE ARE MAKING ENQUIRIES

Having left his exemption papers at home on the piano, Orme Fadir of Maple Creek, spent last night on the hard boards in the police cells, and will be detained until his statement is confirmed. He lives nine miles north of Haliburton where, he states, he works as a farmer. His exemption was granted, according to his story, on the condition that he continued to work as a farmer. P. C. McIntosh arrested him last night as a suspected deserter, and the police are awaiting a report from Major Cook of Kingston. Fadir declared that he strayed into Peterborough on business, but he needs a strong case to keep him out of khaki, judging by the precedent that has already been established by Magistrate Dumble in forwarding to the military authorities men exempted as farmers who wandered into other work during the winter.

RED CROSS SOCIETY HELD SUCCESSFUL TEA YESTERDAY

MUSICAL PROGRAMME WAS WELL RECEIVED.

Yesterday afternoon at the home of Mrs. MacNab, 528 Gilmour street, St. Andrew's Red Cross Society held a most successful tea, which was well attended, both in the afternoon and evening. The drawing room, in which Mrs. MacNab, Mrs. Rowand and Mrs. Kerr received, was charming with its gay bouquets of daffodils, while in the dining room a delightful air of spring and Easter prevailed. Daffodils, Easter bunnies and chickens blended prettily with the costumes of the ladies who assisted and who wore white with yellow caps and broad belts of the same colour. Mrs. B. F. Foster and Mrs. Sills had charge of the dining room. Mrs. Rae and Mrs. Jamieson poured tea and were assisted by Mrs. Henderson, Mrs. Wren, Mrs. Cook and Mrs. Emmerson.

Musical Programme.

An attractive musical programme was presented by several ladies and gentlemen, which included solos by Mrs. Widdess, Mrs. King, Mr. Graham and Mr. Brown, Miss Davidson and Miss Helen MacLaren. Mrs. C. S. MacClelland played most acceptably on the piano during the afternoon and evening.

What Physicians Prescribe For Nerves

THE USE OF ORGANIC PHOSPHORUS.

Something over sixty years ago Pelouz, a French scientist, discovered a form of organic phosphorus which when taken into the human system, was quickly converted into nerve tissue.

To-day it is an admitted fact that in the treatment of those ailments, directly or indirectly due to depleted nervous vitality, such as neurasthenia, nervous weakness, premature old age, insomnia, lack of energy, fatigue, nervous debility, thinness, etc., it is unequalled.

Physicians and hospitals everywhere now recognize its merits by its use in ever increasing quantities, and it is therefore a matter of more than ordinary interest to all such sufferers to learn that this organic nerve building phosphorus is now obtainable from McDermid & Jury and good druggists everywhere in the form of 5-grain tablets of pure bitro-phosphate, at a cost so low as to be within the reach of everyone. There are a great variety of so-called phosphates, but the genuine standard bitro-phosphate is composed wholly of the original nerve building substance as discovered by Pelouz.

One of these tablets should be taken with each meal, and the results in many instances are little short of marvellous. Dull eyes become bright, sleep is restored to the sleepless, the nerves regain their strength, thin people put on flesh and the whole system becomes charged with that strength, vitality and energy which makes life so truly worth while.

Wounded Men Reach London

CROWDS CHEERED AND THREW FLOWERS.

Canadian Press Despatch:

LONDON, March 27.— Four trainloads of wounded officers and men from the battle front in France reached London last night. As they were being transferred to ambulances, crowds cheered and threw flowers. The wounded responded smiling to these greetings. They said "Fritz just rained shells on us like a hail storm."

ACTRESS WANTS TO WED SON OF FORMER OMEMEE MAN NOW MILLIONAIRE

President of Sherwin Williams Paint Co. Prevents Marriage of His Soldier Son.

NEW ORLEANS, La., March 27. — 'No power on earth can prevent William and me from being married before he goes to France,' sobbed Edna May Sperl, vaudeville actress, whose marriage to Sergt. William Caldwell Cottingham was prevented a few days ago by the arrest of her fiance.

He is charged with absenting himself without leave from Camp Sheridan, where he has been taken to face trial. His father is president of the Sherwin Williams Paint Co., of Cleveland, Ohio, and the young soldier is heir to ten millions.

"William's father is to blame," continued the eighteen-year-old girl, who would have been a bride in a few minutes if a Federal marshall had not interfered. "We don't care for ten million dollars or a billion. They can put me in pail, but it won't be long before I see William. When two people get busy to marry they are just the same as married. It may be a week or a month, but we will win.

"If William is old enough to fight for his country, he is old enough to select a wife."

NINE MONTREAL SEATS LEFT UNCONTESTED.

Raising of Deposit Scares Would-Be Aldermanic Candidates.

MONTREAL, March 25.—Nominations for civic honours closed at noon Saturday, and as a result nine seats in the new City Council will be uncontested. For the remaining eleven seats there are twenty-three candidates and there are but two aspirants to Mayoralty honours, Mayor Mederic Martin and Controller Joseph Ainey. The raising of the deposit from $200 to $500 is given as the reason for the exceptionally small number of candidates. The elections will be held on April 2nd.

Fashions for Spring

Of Special Interest to Women Assembling Smart Spring Wardrobes Are These

EASTER TIME DISPLAYS OF COATS and SUITS

Loveliest interpretations of the new season's modes are these—slender lined and very chic. Each presenting conclusive evidence that the conservation of materials has worked no hardship; instead, the styles are exceedingly smart.

THE SUITS

The conservation of materials has brought about an era of strictly original styles, which is very evident in the graceful slender lined suits of Spring. Instead of going to former style periods for inspiration, designers have developed modes in accord with the times.

The result is most pleasing. Skirts are usually plain and straight, of short to top length. Jackets vary in length; some have ripple backs, others are quite plain; in some the vestee and graceful wide collar are featured. Among the featured shades are sand, beige and blue.

Because of their very simplicity we are certain these new Spring Suits will meet with your whole-hearted approval.

THE COATS

Velours and Serges are the favored fabrics of the graceful Spring Coats. To these may be added gabardine and wool poplin—truly a splendid variety when one considers the increasing scarcity of woollen weaves. There are many bright colors, and a goodly array of quieter shades.

Stocks are most complete just now; because of scarcity of materials prices will probably be no lower. Therefore we suggest prompt selection, knowing that it will be decidedly to your advantage to do so.

Whether you choose for style or for service you'll discover many pleasings in our Splendid pre-Easter Showing.

THE 1918 MILLINERY

Be the Hat very large, or very small, with high crown or extremely flat—if it "Different" and from a jaunty quill to a lavish feather or a gorgeous flower the effect is altogether New.

The selection of shapes is practically unlimited—the sailor—with brim straight, rolling or mushroom, is always good—while the showing of smaller, more snugly fitting hats is quite inclusive—Poke shapes—Bustle effects, turbans and toques in styles to suit any face. The popularity of facings is undimmed.

The trimmings comprise new wing and quill ideas—stiff ribbon fancies—flowers and fruit—or a bead ornament.

Colors—again a great diversity—so great that scarcely one shade is neglected—though probably most frequently seen are African Brown, Crow Blue, Pearl Grey, Purple, Artillery Red, Green, with all the shades of Sand and Beige, and a strong tendency towards the All-Black hat.

Given such an assortment from which to conduct your spring coat, suit or hat, choosing a style that appeals to your particular personality will be a real pleasure.

TURNBULL'S THE BIG STORE

ORIGINAL FIRSTS ARE ENTERTAINED BY THE GREAT WAR VETERANS

Peterborough Members of 1st Canadian Contingent Are Guests of Association at Most Enjoyable Banquet in the Empress Hotel

Most enjoyable and successful in every respect was the complimentary banquet tendered by the Peterborough branch of the Great War Veterans' Association to the Peterborough "Original Firsts" last night in the Empress Hotel. The affair was arranged in honour of the Peterborough members of the 1st Canadian contingent, who are home on furlough, four of whom, Wheeler E. Renouf, Driver Wm. Payne, Corp. Chas. Powell and Lance Corp. Stenner, were in attendance, but all original members of the 1st contingent were included among the guests of honour, making a total of twenty-two Original Firsts.

In addition many other War Veterans were present and many different units of Canada's splendid overseas forces were represented around the tables.

Lieut. J. A. McNabb, who was chairman of the banquet committee, very ably presided as chairman of the evening.

While ample justice was being done to the good things provided, Gazley's orchestra gave a very enjoyable musical programme.

The Menu.

The menu, served in excellent style was as follows:

Cream of Oyster, a la Salisbury Plains

Queen Olives not from the Canteen
Iced Celery, Valcartier Fashion

Fried Fillet of Whitefish, Sauce Tartare, a la Plugstreet

Roast Young Goose, Apple Sauce, 4th Battery Style
Napoosed Potatoes Stewed Sugar Corn

Boston Cream Pie, 2nd Battalion Style

1st Division Ice Cream Shrapnel Cake

Cafe au Lait

The Guests.

Chairman McNabb, in opening the second part of the programme, extended a warm welcome to the members of the Original Firsts who are here on furlough and in whose honour the banquet was being held.

The toast to the King, proposed by the chairman, was heartily honoured by the singing of the National Anthem.

The British Empire.

The next toast, that to "The British Empire," was most eloquently proposed by Lieut.-Col. Miller, who emphasized the glorious history of the Empire which had always offered assistance to the weak against the strong, and the flag of which had never been unfurled save in honour's cause. Lieut.-Col. Miller graphically described the rallying of the colonies of Great Britain when the motherland sent out her call for men, and paid a warm tribute to the work that the volunteer soldiers of Canada had done overseas. He reminded his hearers that those at home must do their share in order not to prove unworthy of what our soldiers had done at the front.

Mr. Joseph Wearing's eloquent reply elicited repeated applause as he pointed out the features that distinguish the Empire. All other great Empires had been founded upon fear and force but the ties that bound the British Empire were ties of love. The test of their worth came at the outbreak of the war, and there was no doubt as to the result. Mr. Wearing pointed out that England was well armed the motherland, because her control was of the kind maternal nature of a mother as contrasted with the stern, harsh discipline of the German fatherland.

Commandant McElhiney, in replying to the same toast, emphasized the fact that the foundation of the British Empire was righteousness, and because that was so there was no doubt as to the ultimate success of its cause in the present conflict. Much blood had been shed in its defence and much more would have to be shed, but the speaker was confident that the Empire, and the principles for which it fought were worthy of the sacrifice.

Mr. Herbert Rush, himself an Original First, delighted the gathering with a spirited rendition of "There's a Land," and in response to a hearty encore sang, "Oh Canada" with equally good effect.

Our Fallen Comrades.

In asking the gathering to do honour to the memory of their fallen comrades, His Honour Judge Huycke said that he would not ask them to drink a toast—it was too solemn an occasion for that, but to stand for a few moment with bowed heads.

His Honour's reference to the men who had passed on brought a moisture to many eyes around the tables. Of them no finer epitaph could be written, he said, than "Dead on the Field of Honour." There were few knew, some in the room who had lost brothers in blood, or sons in blood, and all had lost dear brothers in arms. The men who had died may not all have been good men in their lives at home, but their death had been a splendid one— they had died doing the greatest duty that could be asked of them. "Much as we owe to the men of the 1st contingent who have returned, we owe more to the men who have gone on," said the speaker. "Those who have come back offered all, but those who died in France did more, they gave all."

The Original Firsts.

To Lieut.-Col. Johnston fell the duty of proposing the health of the guests of the evening, the "Original Firsts," and in doing so, the former commanding officer of the 93rd Battalion, expressed his appreciation of the honour conferred upon him. Words, he said, could not repay the Original Firsts for what they had done. It was the work of the 1st contingent that raised the standard of the Canadian army to its present high level, and there was a deep obligation to its members which could only be repaid by action.

The toast was enthusiastically honoured and the singing of "For They are Jolly Good Fellows" and "Rule Britannia."

In replying, Lieut.-Col. Mills gave an interesting sketch of the early days of the 1st contingent, referring to the many difficulties they had encountered The smiles on the faces of some of the Originals when he talked of such familiar things as Salisbury mud and leave in London showed that they enjoyed his brief review.

Referring to the great battle going on in France, Col. Mills said that it seemed to be causing a depression among many citizens. "They should not be," declared the speaker amid applause. "General Haig is not throwing up his hands. The Prime Minister of England is not throwing up his hands."

The question was whether the great battle would wake the people up to a realization that we are at war and whether it would stir the government into action against the alien, and in a more vigorous application of the Military Service Act, which had only yielded some 30,000 men out of an estimated 300,000 of military age.

Lieut.-Col. Ackerman said that it was an honour to be a guest at such a banquet. Arranged by men who had themselves done their bit, it was a tribute to be appreciated. Col. Ackerman gave some interesting reminiscences of the early days of the 1st Canadian contingent and then passed on to deal with the responsibility of the returned man at home. It was up to them to encourage and stimulate the morale of the people, to inculcate a staunch spirit among them. "Convince the people that we have confidence in the comrades we have left behind," he remarked, amid cheers, "and we have confidence in them. The line may bend, but it will never break."

Mr. D. A. Carlisle was heard to great advantage in the stirring solo, "The Battle of Stirling Bridge," which was heartily applauded.

The G. W. V. A.

In proposing the toast to the Great War Veterans' Association, Mr. G. N. Gordon outlined the aims and objects of the Association as follows:

1. To perpetuate the close and kindly ties of mutual service in the great war.
2. To preserve the memory and records of all who have suffered or died for the nation.
3. To ensure proper provisions for the sick, wounded and needy.
4. To inculcate loyalty to the Empire and unstinted service to Canada.
5. To prevent oppression and imposition upon those whose chief support and defence has fallen.
6. To try to give the soldiers' child a fair chance in life.

Founded on such lines the Association could not fail to be a success, Mr. Gordon emphasized the duty of every

PREMIER OF FRANCE SOUNDS AN ENCOURAGING NOTE

Canadian Press Despatch:

PARIS, March 27.—"Within forty-eight hours the Allies will be masters of the situation," Premier Clemenceau declared to-day, on his return from the front.

The Premier said Amiens is well defended and that it is improbable the Germans will break through. The Berlin Lokal Anzeiger published a despatch from Lauzanne, declaring the British saved their entire complement of heavy artillery.

MORE LOCAL BOYS HOME FROM FRONT

Signaller Percy Gray, of the Canadian Cyclist Corps and son of Sergt. Wm. Gray, C.F.A., returned yesterday from overseas service, and is being given a warm welcome home by his many friends. Signaller Gray enlisted here in September, 1914, with the 21st Battalion, and transferred to the 2nd Divisional Cyclists, with which unit he went overseas in the spring of 1915, reaching France in the autumn of that year. Signaller Gray saw service at the front until February of 1917, when he was invalided to England.

Several other Peterborough soldiers have returned home in the past couple of days, including Pte. W. W. Simmons, an Original First from the 2nd Battalion, Pte. H. M. Young, who enlisted here with the 8th C.M.R. and was twice wounded in France, and Corp. A. Daniel of the Canadian Army Medical Corps.

Large Attendance At The Annual Meeting Of Board Of Trade A Bright Feature

Mr. J. J. Turner Re-elected President—Appeals For Support of Citizens Under New System of Grouping —The President's Address

BOARD OF TRADE WANTS PETERBOROUGH COUNTY IN GOOD ROADS SYSTEM

The following resolution, passed at the Board of Trade meeting last night, seeks to remove Peterboro from its conspicuous and undesirable isolation as the only county in Ontario that has not adopted the Provincial Good Roads System:

Moved by C. E. Canfield, seconded by Dr. Harvey, that—

Whereas the Peterborough Board of Trade deems it advisable that the County of Peterborough adopt the County Roads System;

Now therefore be it resolved, that the County Council of the County of Peterborough be requested to again take the question of good roads under consideration at their next session and to allow a deputation from the Peterborough Board of Trade to be heard in support of the change to the County Roads System.

This resolution was referred to the Public Service Branch of the Board.

The Board of Trade at its annual meeting in the Council Chamber last night, gave every evidence of having been born again of enthusiasm, a new and livelier spirit of co-operation and a desire to serve, not only the interests of Peterboro, and its people, but also of Canada, and the great cause in which she has assumed no little part. The unmistakable signs of regeneration were admittedly a pleasant surprise to the fifty members who comfortably filled the too distant gallery. The barrier of space that separates the council's seats of the mighty from the slat benches provided for the comfort of deputations who only pay the taxes, may be entirely satisfactory to the Aldermen but it forms a no-man's land across which ideas that arise at meetings like last night's, hesitate to venture. That brass railing glitters like a string of footlights and inevitably creates an illusion of division where conference spirit strives to prevail.

To Mr. J. J. Turner, last year's president, and to the executive that stood by him in his efforts to restore the Board of Trade to the sphere of influence it should occupy in Peterboro, the warmest congratulations are due for the success of last night's annual meeting and its promise of a year of great endeavour.

The organization had become almost completely disorganized, but persistence and perseverance kept it before the public. To-day it auspiciously enters a new phase of its existence with fresh vigor and greater opportunities of proving to the citizens, with their earnest support, its worth as a community endeavor.

ON WITH PRODUCTION.

The Board decided to follow up its initiative in the greater production campaign this summer by appointing the following committee to carry on the work, and to further the movement in Peterboro as energetically as possible:

G. A. Gillespie, chairman, J. J. Hartley, W. R. Breyfogle, J. W. Meyers, J. J. Duffus, J. Smith and V. Eastwood.

FEE UNCHANGED.

A proposal to increase the membership fee to five dollars, formally introduced by Dr. Middleton, as a means to raise more revenue this year, was withdrawn following a discussion that emphasized the desirability of providing for the requirements by securing many new members at the present fee.

"It would be a serious mistake," Mr. W. R. Breyfogle said, "The Board of Trade should represent the brains of Peterboro. We need men more than money. It is not a question of two or five dollars. If I thought it was only my two dollars that was wanted, and not my personal assistance, I'd be absent. Let us make our appeal for the cooperation of the citizens on that basis, and make the board a broad and strong organization."

Mr. W. R. Morris congratulated Mr. Turner and his assistants on their accomplishments last year. He frankly stated that the progress of the Board was a revelation to him, adding that not in fifteen years had he seen so large an attendance. He endorsed the opinion of Mr. Breyfogle, and expressed his confidence that the Board could be made a big factor in Peterboro's affairs.

Dr. Harvey said he was surprised that the membership was last year only fifty-one. It should have been five hundred. A fee of $2 was plenty but the Board should have 500 members. It needed an injection of "ginger" and should have the material support of the whole city.

Mr. W. J. Roberts stated that Windsor had 600 members in its Board of Trade and expected to increase the number to 1000 this year. The members pay a fee of $10, hold weekly luncheons, and wields a big influence in the city's interests.

THE SLATE OF OFFICERS.

The following officers were elected for 1918—

Hon. President: Mayor Duncan.
President: J. J. Turner.
Sec.-Treas.: B. D. Hall.
Section Deputies as follows:
Manufacturers: W. R. Breyfogle.
Mercantile: T. C. Elliot.
Trades and Labor: J. J. Hartley.
Engineers: C. E. Canfield.
Physicians: Dr. N. D. Buchanan.
Dentists: Dr. W. T. Holloway.
Barristers: G. N. Gordon.
Agriculture: G. A. Gillespie, M.P.P.
Financial: W. H. Dunsford.
Contractors: Richard Sheehy.
Underwriters: Fred Sedgwick.
Public Service: G. O. Cameron.

THE PRESIDENT'S REVIEW.

In reviewing last year's work, Mr. Turner conveyed to the members his appreciation of the support they had given him. The efforts of the Board in 1917 had been directed largely to reorganization. He sketched the new and urgent problems that confront Canada.

"It is necessary that we realize our responsibility," Mr. Turner said, and do our utmost to perfect the machinery for producing, handling and exporting our products with the minimum of waste. For the accomplishment of this object the closest cooperation between different interests is necessary. The Board of Trade recognizing this necessity, has done last year perhaps the greatest work ever accomplished by a similar or any other organizations."

SECTIONS ORGANIZED.

The following sections of the Board were established: Manufacturers, Merchants, Financial, Agricultural, and Trades and Labour. The Retail Merchants have not definitely linked up with the Board but it is only a question of time until their juncture is effected. The organization of a Farmers' Section is under way, and this branch will soon be an accomplished fact.

"The Board is then practically ready to commence business with a perfected machine to deal with almost any problem that may come to its knowledge. Capital, labor, industry, middleman, producer, all meeting together in harmony should be productive of much good in our community and produce a great benefit to the ultimate consumer, and save him considerable money. Friction in the business machine costs money, just as it does in any other machinery, and must be paid by the consumer, so it behoves the consumer to support the Board of Trade."

QUESTION OF FINANCE.

Last year's membership was fifty-one, yielding $102 in fees. Expenses exceeded $130, and outstanding accounts amount to $60 more. The recent Greater Production meetings cost $170, which was paid by several of the executive of the Board, and other patriotic members.

To make the Board a success, this year's requirements, Mr. Turner estimated at $600. Two ways of raising this fund were open to the members: One was to raise the present membership fee of two dollars, the other to increase the number of members to at least three hundred.

THE YEAR'S ROUTINE.

"While the activities of the Board have been confined to preparation and perfection of the organization, routine business has been fully attended to and all trade enquiries and letters from tourists, shippers, deal-citizen to encourage and help the G.W.V.A. when possible. It was but a slight return for the great service its members had done overseas and it was a sacred duty that this service should not go unrecognized.

In reply, Vice-President W. Perks expressed the thanks of the Association to Mr. Gordon for his references to the work of their body. The speaker pointed out that the returned men had a duty at home and invited all soldiers who had come back to identify themselves with the G.W.V.A., who extended them a hearty welcome.

The Old Songs.

An enjoyable interlude in the programme was the singing of favourite soldier songs by the gathering. They opened with "Take Me Back to Dear Old Blighty" and ended with that classic number, "If the Sergeant Steals Your Rum," while in between, "Pack All Your Troubles," "Keep the Home Fires Burning," "Soldiers of the King" and "We'll Never Let the Old Flag Fall" were sung with a vim that rattled the dishes on the table.

The Ladies.

The toast to the ladies was the next honoured, Mr. E. A. Peck, who proposed the health of the fair sex, said that this had formerly been done in a jocular manner. Now, however, the ladies had come into their world by their work on behalf of the soldiers overseas and by their heroic sacrifice in permitting and encouraging their husbands and sons to go out to fight the battle of liberty.

After the toast had been duly honoured, Secretary Comrade Sidney Whatley suitably replied, referring in appreciative terms to the noble work of women in hospital and convalescent homes, and to their unceasing labour for the men at the front. The War Veterans in particular owed the ladies a deep debt of gratitude, as without their assistance it was hardly probable that they would soon be moving into new club rooms.

A Toast to the Tommies.

Lieut.-Col. Mills asked permission to add a toast to the list. He had always, he said had a warm spot in his heart for the British Tommy. Mr. Thomas Atkins of the regular army and this had grown into positive love as he had seen him at close range. He asked the gathering to drink to the health of the 1st British expeditionary force.

The toast was heartily honoured the gathering singing "Tommy Atkins" with a vengeance.

Sergt.-Major Sid Whatley and Sergt. Chas. Payne both of whom left Peterborough at the outbreak of the war and joined their old regiment, the 1st Wiltshires in time to take part in almost the earliest of the fight, and Farrier Sergt. J. Cooper and Pte. R. H. Muir, who served in the Imperial army before going overseas with the Canadians, made brief replies to the toast.

Hearty votes of thanks were passed to the speakers, to the members of Gazley's orchestra, to Messrs. Rush, Carlisle and Devey, and to Chairman McNabb for their services. In referring to the latter, Judge Rutherford paid a warm tribute to Lieut. McNabb's faithful work as military representative.

The most enjoyable affair was brought to a close at midnight with the singing of "The National Anthem" and "Auld Lang Syne."

Instead of using soda for washing clothes, add one teaspoonful of turpentine. This not only saves soda, but also coal, as the clothes take less time to boil.

Letter Refers To Peterboro' Soldier

Mrs. Josephine Russell, 77 1-2 Smith street, has received the following letter in reference to her son, L.-Corporal William Russell, who was gassed on December 30th:

France, Feb. 27, '18.

Dear Madam,—Replying to your letter of Jan. 27th, just received, I would advise your son, L.-C. Wm. Russell was gassed on Dec. 30, but not as a serious casualty. Since writing you have no doubt heard direct from him. I am glad, however, to take this opportunity of congratulating you upon the splendid courage displayed by your son, which was partially recognized by the award of the military medal on the 23rd of November for his gallantry at Passchendaele, October 26th. Canada has indeed reason to be proud of its men at the front, and whilst at home. The wives and mothers have the greater burden in their constant anxiety, in such cases as yours there must be great compensation in knowing that the man in France has so distinguished himself.

Yours sincerely,
W. W. Foster, Lt.-Col.,
Commanding 52nd Can. Battery.

THE SITUATION IS STILL EXTREMELY GRAVE AND EVERYTHING DEPENDS UPON THE NEXT FEW HOURS.

Canadian Press Despatch:

LONDON, March 27.—"The situation last night was undoubtedly more hopeful than it has been since the battle began," says the Times to-day. "But it is still exceedingly grave, for although the enemy's rush in the northern section is apparently held, there is clearly a race against time in the progress in the south, and everything depends upon the next few hours.

"We regard to-day and to-morrow as very critical. The enemy south of the Somme has crossed the 1916 Allied line from a point near Bray to near Roye, but south-east of Roye he is still well within the 1916 line. This is a point which gives most anxiety, and also the most ground for hope.

FUNERAL HELD THIS MORNING.

The remains of Francis Carew were laid at rest this morning in St. Peter's Cemetery. Service, conducted by Rev. Father Peter Maguire, was held at the Sacred Heart Church, while Father J. J. O'Brien officiated at the cemetery. Six of the boys' little comrades from St. Peter's Continuation School, where he had been a student, bore the little body to the grave. These were: Fred Shannon, Emmett Sheahy, Louis Lebar, Willie Carroll, Chris. McCarney, and Ambrose O'Brien.

THE ZONE OF OPEN WARFARE IS CONTINUING TO ENLARGE AS THE ENTENTE FORCES FALL BACK UNDER PRESSURE.

Canadian Press Despatch:

LONDON, March 27.—The zone of open warfare is continuing to enlarge as the Entente forces fall back, fighting under the enormous weight of German numbers, says Reuters. It is now clearly established, he adds, that the present offensive is the great main effort of the Germans, and that it has not been as successful as they anticipated.

Hun Leaders Held A Ground Council

PETROGRAD, March 28. — Grand Council of German generals, presided over by Hindenburg, decided operations in the Ukraine should be continued but reduced to a minimum in order to throw wall artillery against the Franco-British front.

THE NEW FIGHTING GROUND OFFERS CERTAIN ADVANTAGES TO THE BRITISH FORCES

The Wooded Hills, Valleys and Villages Will Serve as Good Screens For the Fighting Armies of the Allies

A WAR-MADE DESERT

(United Press Service.)
(Special to The Toronto Star and The Peterborough Examiner.)

(By William Philip Simms.)

WITH THE BRITISH ARMIES IN THE FIELD, March 28.—The British are holding the line west of Albert, fighting every rod, according to the latest reports at the moment of cabling. The British have retired west of the town.

(This is the first news of retirement by the British from Albert, where Haig's official statement reported local fighting north and north-east with the situation unchanged."

Thus, with the war made desert of the Somme battlefield now crossed, the fighting will begin to offer certain advantages to the British who have good communications behind the wooded hills, valleys, villages and towns offering good screens.

HEAVY FIGHTING.

The fighting is heavy between the converging Ancre and Somme rivers. It is the hottest around Meaulte, south of Albert, where one of Haig's divisions was reported holding its own.

A fierce attack against Auchonvillers, north of Albert, was driven off, while northwest of Colincamps an entire German patrol was made prisoner.

The enemy is reported as heavily shelling the line between Hamel and Beaumant Hamel. At 4.35 this afternoon (London time) a report that they were in Henuturne was unconfirmed. Likewise a rumour that German armoured cars are advancing, lacks confirmation.

SITUATION UNCHANGED.

Yesterday the enemy was attacking in the region of Albuy Wood, north of Albert, while north of this point the situation was unchanged, save for an attempted enemy raid west of Arras.

All roads in the Somme region converge on Amiens, but Hindenburg's most desperate efforts to push forward to this place are meeting with the most stubborn resistance.

Enemy airmen bomb the city nightly. The famous cathedral was very nearly hit by a huge bomb.

Proposed Strike Is Abandoned

LONDON, March 28.—The Amalgamated Society of Engineers abandoned the strike on account of the critical condition at the front.

GERMANY IS ESTIMATED TO HAVE LOST 400,000 MEN IN THE GREAT OFFENSIVE

Enemy's Supreme Effort to Break the Allied Front in the West is No Nearer Accomplished To-day Than it Was on the Day the Great Drive Started—Allied Lines Show An Unbroken Front.

FORCES ARE MASSED FOR A DRIVE

NEW YORK, March 28.—The Associated Press says: Germany's supreme effort to break the allied front in the west apparently is no nearer accomplished to-day than it was on the day the great drive started, and she is estimated to have lost 400,000 in the futile effort during less than a week's fighting. She has not given up the attempt, however, advices from the front indicating that her forces are massed for a drive in the region of Roye and Noyon in an effort to break through there as a preliminary to a rolling up process either to the north or to the south as against chances of her accomplishing this purpose may be counted a factor of forewarning for the allies. There seems no doubt now as to where the heaviest hammer stroke is to fall and opportunity is offered of disposing the vast allied reserve forces to meet it, an opportunity lacking in the earlier stages of the drive. The Allied line shows an unbroken front.

BRITISH OFFICIAL

Report Issued Late Last Night Indicates Retirement is at an End

GROUND REGAINED

Canadian Press Despatch:

LONDON, March 28.—The night British official states the British forces are offering strong resistance to heavy enemy attacks north and south of the Somme. Have also carried out numerous attacks resulting in the regaining of ground and driving back the Germans at many points. Haig says heavy casualties were inflicted on the enemy.

RETIREMENT AT AN END.

LONDON, March 28.—Last night's report says the British retirement is at an end. The road to Amiens is effectively barred. Reserves are pouring into the fighting area and smashing back the German storm troops, regaining ground and some strategical points. The British delivered a counter attack yesterday between the angle of the Ancre and the Somme regions and recaptured Morlancourt and Chipilly, the War Office announces.

CANADIANS ENGAGED.

OTTAWA, March 28.— Royal Canadian Horse Artillery and Canadian machine guns were engaged in the present big battle and did gallant work in stopping the enemy. Two Canadian batteries believed to be lost. Canadian railway troops and other units also engaged.

Farmer Members Opposed Daylight Savings Bill

It Passed in Second Reading But Has to Run the Gauntlet of the Third and a Final Passage in the Senate

DAYLIGHT SAVING DATE.

Canada Won't Start Same Time as U.S., but will Finish Season With Them.

Ottawa, March 27.—There is no chance of Canada's Daylight Saving Bill going into effect on the same day as that of the United States but the proclamation fixing the time for its operation will likely name the same day for a return to normal time as is chosen by the United States. The Canadian measure is yet to have its third reading in the Commons, and may have a stormy passage through the Senate, which does not meet until after the Easter recess.

Ottawa, March 27.—That the present Parliament is quite as windy as its predecessor was evidenced by the debate on Sir George Foster's Daylight Saving Bill, which passed its second reading without going to a vote yesterday afternoon. Also, the said House might adopt as its motto "Words, not Deeds." For after strenuous opposition, led on the government side by Dr. Michael Clark, of Red Deer, and William Smith, of South Ontario, and on the opposition side by Archie McCoig, of Kent, and D. D. McKenzie, of Cape Breton, the opponents of the measure lacked the courage of their expressed convictions.

They refused to come to their feet in sufficient numbers to make the division bells ring. And as a matter of fact Sir George Foster must have heaved a great sigh of relief when his favorite economy got by so easily. The grilling it got at the hands of the farmers made it look like a close thing. In fact, as the Government were practically behind the bill it was thought at one time that it might be withdrawn to avoid trouble. But Sir Wilfrid Laurier took no part in the argument while some of his followers spoke in Sir George's behalf. So the opponents lacked definite leadership and got more or less tangled in the parliamentary machinery.

A LONG ADDRESS

The debate which the Minister of Trade and Commerce started with a long address that nearly put the House to sleep, did not promise to amount to more than a passing zephyr till Archie McCoig of Kent, suggested that the hired man on the farm might figure it out as an excuse to quit at five o'clock. In a moment the war in France was forgotten. The sacred and inalienable right of the farmer to make the hired man do a full day's work, no matter where or how he might wash his feet, was threatened. The honest agriculturist rose and protested, rose two or three at a time, and for hours it looked as if it might be necessary to fall back on closure in order to let the House out for the Easter recess. The statesmen from the towns and cities fought back nobly and the engagement became general.

EFFECT ON PRODUCTION

The men who are getting $2.23 for their wheat told how production would suffer with an hour cut off the end of the day when the farmer is just getting warmed up to his work, and ready to do the chores. They told how in the morning the dew is on the grass and reaping and sowing an impossibility. They almost wept as they pictured work undone, production reduced and suffering added in a starving world.

CAN PLAY BASEBALL

Tweedle of Edmonton, roused opposition when he told how the bill is to aid clerks from the stores, who could play a full game of baseball between five o'clock and sundown. Euler of Kitchener, a famous bowler and steady talker, who doesn't tire anybody except his hearers, didn't help any by giving the bill his support.

William Smith, of South Ontario, "bull moosed" openly. The farmers had not been consulted, he said; in fact, the farmers were not consulted in anything at all. "I don't expect much from this government, and I don't want it," he declared, and he sounded a note of warning: "If the hon. gentleman forces this bill on the country," he said, and he said it with due emphasis, "he may find out that though the farmers have been hewers of wood and drawers of water for the Government, they may not always remain so."

FREAKISH LEGISLATION.

Donald Sutherland, of Oxford, also talked earnestly. "This is no time for freakish legislation," he said. And he declared that the bill was simply meant to furnish opportunities for bowling, motoring and tennis.

Aching Head, Pains In Back

Heart Action Was Weak and Nerves Greatly Exhausted—Now in Extra Good Health.

TWEED, Ont., March 28.—This is a cheering letter from Mrs. Wagar, because it describes the condition in which many women find themselves and tells how cure was effected.

Once the food cure was resorted to the system was gradually and certainly built up and reconstructed. The old symptoms disappeared, because the reason for their existence had been overcome. It is well worth while to give Dr. Chase's Nerve Food a trial when such results are obtained.

Mrs. H. E. Wagar, Tweed, Ont., writes: "My system was in a run-down condition, I could not sleep well, and was very nervous. I had frequent headaches and pains through my back, and my nerves used to twitch. I took weak spells, was short of breath and my heart action seemed weak. I was in very poor health generally. I went to a doctor and he advised me to take a rest, anod gave me medicine, but it did not help me. My husband got me some of Dr. Chase's Nerve Food one day, and this treatment gave me such relief that I took many boxes—I cannot tell just how many, but enough to build up my system and rid me of the old symptoms. I gradually began to get stronger, until I could get around and do my own house work. I am not bothered now with sick headaches and am enjoying extra good health. I would recommend Dr. Chase's Nerve Food to all suffering from nervousness of any kind."

Dr. Chase's Nerve Food, 50c. a box, a full treatment of six boxes for $2.75, at all dealers, or Edmanson, Bates & Co., Limited, Toronto. Do not be talked into accepting a substitute. Imitations only disappoint.

Army Profanity.

They say there is a great deal of swearing among the men of the expeditionary forces. And some of the younger secretaries, says a female writer in Association Men, were worried when I first came out for fear the fellows would make a break and it would be embarrassing all around with their bad language. But the swearing around me has been scarce. I have heard only one or two things, the same things you hear your brother and your father say and that you might occasionally indulge in yourself. Having a woman around (the secretaries say this, and the boys say it, too) is a good thing. I think it takes off the homesick edge a bit, and I think that it is a good deal easier for some of those young boys to tell their troubles to a woman than to tell them to another boy soldier or a boy secretary. So I hope we shall have women workers, level headed, not easily shocked, and cheerful, young women who are willing to mess wherever they can mess; to go without a warm and comfortable wash; who are willing to stand up all day, doing nothing; to tramp through the rain and go with muddy feet and chilly fingers without "remarking."

English Life in Quebec

QUEBEC'S life is English as well as French, but one would have to dwell for some time in the city before being fully conscious of this fact. For that life is segregated, secluded and almost as precarious as the hold of the attacking British under Wolfe, until that "one perfect volley" gave them a permanent footing. It is a curious circumstance that the "colony" has clung to the old battlefield ever since. The English quarter is almost wholly without the walls, amid the gardened villas of the upper plains.

The visitor with introductions to the leading "English" families soon finds himself whisked off to the Little England on the heights. Little England does not necessarily mean that he is going to meet Englishmen and Englishwomen, though they may be as ruddy of feature and just as familiar with London life as he himself. But in setting, in speech, in the little, all but unnoticable ways of living, the illusion is almost complete. Outside of the host's house will run a fence, probably guarded, in approved English fashion, by a quaint English lodge. A path, spread with imported brown English gravel, will wind amid the trees and flowers to the front door of an Elizabethan brick mansion, a gardener will be mowing trim lawns, or tending his precious charges in a conservatory, and an English servant maid, in unmistakable "cap," will probably open the door. Not all the houses answer this description, however, not all have this charm of exclusiveness or quiet, not all the paths are trim. There is, indeed, a subtle nuance of differentiation, a native flavor that is new, strange, and slightly confusing. But the ensemble is neither French nor American, and five o'clock tea on the lawn or verandah soon convinces the visitor that the concomitant characteristics of English life are certainly there. It is not unlikely that the hostess has chosen her maids in the Old Country during the winter. For woe come upon her before the April showers are spent. Quebec is a dull place to her in its coating of snow. No theatres, no music, no entertainments to beguile her, she closes her shutters, dismisses her servants, and, spreading her wings, she flies away to more hospitable shores.

There is a sense of being thrown amid one great family in this West End of Quebec. Its denizens address each other by their Christian names, and, probably because they are left so much to their own resources, in the beautiful but monotonous city of Quebec, they go the round of one another's houses to create a little world of their own. Hospitality and entertainment are the keynotes to the lives of these people, whose family names are often met with in Canadian history. But it would be hard to find a drone among them, in spite of their leisurely habits. The masculine ranks include lawyers and lumbermen, and military men. But social life is of the essence of their everyday existence. None of them so busy that they cannot, of an afternoon, stroll into the picturesque little Garrison Club, hard by the gate that leads to the battlefield of Wolfe and Montcalm. In the club, with its trim bowling green that reminds one more of the Old Country than anything else in Quebec, one meets every one, who is "worth knowing," among the English-speaking inhabitants of the French city. Now it is the pensioned colonel, in golf breeches and florid of face, who has fought in every part of the Empire, then the retired bishop from some far-away western see with a quaint French-Indian name. Over there sits the breezy editor of a duodecimo Quebec newspaper supported by its limited English-speaking subscribers, while by the huge English billiard table bend a monocled "younger son," a garrison officer, and a trig solicitor in comfortable tweeds. The lounging room has its habitues buried in capacious Morris chairs and reading the Fortnightly or Punch, while an English servant serves them with the familiar "five o'clock" on individual trays. Yes, this little unpretentious club is a corner of England that one cannot duplicate elsewhere on the whole American contient. The men who throng to it, the things they do and say, the pictures on the walls, the hundreds and one signed portraits of distinguished visitors from the Old Country, the dress, the ease, the Old World leisureliness, bespeak the home life that is so dear to the Englishman.

But once a year winter comes to dispel the illusion. The whole English quarter puts on a change for the worse. The fences of the estates are pulled up, that they may not be a trap for the inevitable snowdrifts, the great houses are closed, the gardens become a drab monotony, and the hostesses, if not the hosts, flit off by the earliest steamer to the comparative warmth and the exhilaration of shopping and festivities in the great British capital. Then Quebec comes to her own again. She is once more wholly French.

It's just fine. Don't stay stuffed-up with a cold or nasty catarrh—Relief comes so quickly.

AN HISTORICAL CRISIS.

"Rebels" of Yesterday Are Now Called "Patriots."

Before the Canadas had learned the rudiments of political science and settled down to play the authorized party game of "Ins and Outs," according to established Parliamentary rules our unhappy nation had been shaken to its foundations by two rebellions, says the literary editor of The Toronto Mail and Empire. The armed revolt had been precipitated by the high-handedness of an oligarchy, which acted as though divinely appointed to be the ruling class. That there was not a third rebellion to chronicle in Nova Scotia was due alone to the deep-rooted Imperialism of Howe, for of all the colonies in British North America New Brunswick alone was the oasis of peace in the howling wilderness of politics.

In Upper and Lower Canada William Lyon Mackenzie and Louis Joseph Papineau led the forces of the rabid reformers, and to their agency may be traced the two rebellions of '37. In "The Patriots of '37" Alfred D. Decelles has written a volume devoted to the events which occurred in Lower Canada during those unhappy times. He shows Papineau as the outstanding figure. Unlike the cross-grained Scotchman in Upper Canada, he took no part in the actual rebellion itself, but the author makes clear that his agitations and seditious speeches precipitated hostilities. The author does not depict a courageous personality, a leader of forlorn hopes, but rather he shows a vacillating character, who in the moment of supreme test lacked the heroism of the martyr. "The truth seems to be," he writes, "that Papineau always balked a little at the idea of armed rebellion, and that he was carried off his feet at the end of 1837 by his younger associates, whose enthusiasm he himself had inspired."

This may account for Papineau's over-cautiousness and for the fact that he sought sanctuary across the frontier when the rebellion broke out. Subsequetnly his assistance was solicited by Nelson, the self-styled president of Canada. The author continues: "Papineau seems to have had some dealings with Nelson and Cote, and to have dallied with the idea of throwing in his lot with them; but he soon broke off negotiations. 'Papineau,' wrote Robert Nelson, 'has abandoned us, and this through selfish and family motives regarding the seigniories and inveterate love of old, bad French laws.' There is every reason to believe, however, that Papineau had been in communication with the authorities at Washington, and that his desertion of Nelson and Cote was in reality due to his discovery that President Van Buren was not ready to depart from his attitude of neutrality."

The various fights and skirmishes which characterized the rebellion are described at length in the work, and the conduct of the Loyalist volunteers is deplored. In commenting on this, the author writes: "It is probable that the British officers and perhaps Sir John Colborne himself winked at some of the things which they could not officially recognize. At any rate, it is impossible to acquit Colborne of all responsibility for the unsoldierly conduct of the men under his command."

In summing up the events of the rebellion, the author says: "It is usual to regard the rebellion of 1837 in Lower Canada as no less a fiasco than its counterpart in Upper Canada. There is no doubt that it was hopeless from the outset. It was rather an impromptu movement based upon a sound sentimental road on a well-reasoned plan of action. Yet it is easy to see that the rebellion might have been much more serious. It was easily snuffed out because the majority of the French-Canadian people, in obedience to the voice of their church, set their faces against it."

Concluding a brief glimpse of the last days of Papineau is given. Like Mackenzie, the Quebec agitator availed himself of the amnesty, granted some years later, and once more entered politics. He was, however, hopelessly behind the times and retired shortly after to his seigneury at Montebello. He seldom left the privacy of his ancestral estates, but once, grey and bent with years, he journeyed to Montreal and made his famous pronouncement: "You will believe me, I trust, when I say to you, I love my country. Opinions outside may differ; but, looking into my heart and my mind in all sincerity, I feel that I can say that I loved her as she should be loved." The real importance of Papineau after his return to Canada, the author finds, lay not in the Parliamentary sphere, but in the encouragement he gave to anti-clerical ideas, that found expression in the formation of the Parti Rouge, in many respects a continuation of the Patriots. It is interesting to note that this organization numbered at one time many men who subsequently achieved a nation-wide notoriety, including Sir Wilfrid Laurier.

Suffered Great Agony FROM PAIN IN STOMACH FOR OVER 5 YEARS

Most of the misery and ill-health that humanity is burdened with arises from disorders of the stomach, liver and bowels. If you are feeling out of sorts, have pains in the stomach, especially after eating, bilious spells, headaches, sour stomach, coated tongue, sallow or muddy complexion, specks floating before the eyes, you should take a few doses of Milburn's Laxa-Liver Pills and note the change.

Miss Ida Hogan, Dunrobin, Ont., writes: "For over five years I have suffered great agony from pains in the stomach. I tried several remedies but got no relief until a friend advised me to take Milburn's Laxa-Liver Pills. I started with two vials and before I had one quite used, I found much relief. I continued until I used four vials, and they have completely cured me. That was fourteen months ago and I have not had the slightest return since. The best praise I could give them is not enough."

Milburn's Laxa-Liver Pills are 25c a vial at all dealers or mailed direct on receipt of price by The T. Milburn Co., Limited, Toronto, Ont.

OUR FOREST LOSSES.

Twenty Times as Many Trees Burnt as Put to Use.

An astounding proof of heavy forest fire losses in the Province of British Columbia is made public by the Commission of Conservation which has been conducting an investigation of the forest resources of the province during the past four years.

This investigation has shown that on 95,000 square miles—nine times the size of Belgium—the timber has been uselessly destroyed by fire, mostly many years ago.

This amount of timber so destroyed is estimated to be not less than 650,000,000,000 feet, or about 22 times as much as the total that has ever been cut by the lumbermen in that province. Putting the loss in another way, this timber is equivalent to almost twice the amount of saw timber now standing in the province, and to nearly as much saw timber as is now standing in the forest of all Canada.

Much of the area burned over contains young forest growth, which, if protected from further destruction, will, in time, furnish the basis for enormous industrial development on our Pacific coast. If we assume that the 97,000 square miles of cut-over and burned-over lands should be made to produce an average of only 100 board feet per acre per annum, the total increment would amount to 6,200,000,000 feet per year, or about five times the present annual cut. That this estimate is by no means beyond the bounds of reason is shown by measurements of growth which have actually been made.

The Government and private operators of British Columbia have realized fully the gravity of past losses by forest fires, although probably few were prepared to admit that the situation was as grave as the conclusions of the Commission of Conservation actually show. Happily the provincial forest service is making sure that the annual losses are kept as close to a minimum as the present staff and expenditures allow. This year, for example, the total losses to merchantable timber from forest fires was estimated at $178,401, which is a vast decrease from some of the summers prior to five years ago. At the same time it must be borne in mind that a good many of this year's fires were on areas previously burned over and, therefore, the timber crop was not there to be destroyed.

The total estimated stand of timber in British Columbia to-day—regardless of present commercial value—is placed at approximately three hundred and fifty billion feet.

The commercially valuable timbered area of about eleven million acres is estimated to bear a stand of two hundred billion feet.

The Lumber World Review in issuing the British Columbia Timber Primer, makes an estimate that five per cent. of the total area of the province bears timber having a present commercial value.

Basis of the Coal Shortage.

It seems to be true that the usual complaint of car shortage and failure of the railroads to move coal fast enough does not hit at the basis of the country's recent fuel troubles. At any rate, in the face of the current figures of coal production and freight movement, it is most unfair to lay blame on the railroads for inefficient operation, for the roads have been moving 18 per cent. more coal from May to October than they carried last year, and they have been doing this at rates for the service exactly the same as they received before the war. In spite of the fact that it was known soon after the Americans entered the war that the mine production would have to be increased for 1917 about 100,000,000 tons, or 17 per cent. over 1916, the operators had, by the middle of the autumn, only attained an increase of 10 per cent., equivalent to 41,000,000 tons annually more than the corresponding period of 1916. It is all-important to remember, too, that the coal operators have had the benefit of tremend usly increased prices for their produce to aid them in standing the higher costs of labor, etc. These figures seem to point to a much greater efficiency attained by the railroads in their attempt to meet the crisis than has been shown by operators.—American Review of Reviews.

TELLS HOW HE DID IT.

Mr. J. A. McCrea, a well known resident of San Francisco, who was called Grandpa and Daddy on account of his white hair, and who darkened it with a simple home made mixture, recently made the following statement:

"Anyone can prepare a simple mixture at home, at very little cost, that will darken gray hair, and make it soft and glossy. To a half pint of water add 1 ounce of bay rum, a small box of Orlex Compound and 1-4 oz. of glycerine. These ingredients can be bought at any drug store at very little cost. Apply to the hair twice a week until the desired shade is obtained. This will make a gray-haired person look twenty years younger. It does not color the scalp, is not sticky or greasy and does not rub off. My friends now call me 'Kid.'"

The Fool-Hen of Canada.

Wasn't it Theodore Roosevelt who brought back from Brazil the story of a bird that gnashed its teeth? Dan Beard has been hunting in Canada, and he has another kind of bird. He tells about it in Boys' Life, as follows:

That night we heard the moose grunting around the little lake a few yards back from our camp and in the morning saw their fresh tracks in the snow that had fallen during the night. The chief had risen very early, and at dawn he and Isaac Hunter, the halfbreed, shouldered their guns and went to look for meat.

You see our party was not out for blood, nor ever for heads, but we were to be gone about a month and needed some fresh meat, so off we started through the silent woods, climbing over snow-covered fallen logs, but we met nothing except some fool-hens—this is the name given to these birds by hunters because the birds do not seem to be afraid of people and consequently they are birds which will become extinct as soon as their country becomes the resort of thoughtless hunters.

The fool-hen has already been exterminated in many parts of the northern States because this bird, the spruce grouse (Canachites canadensis canace), is so unsuspicious of harm from men that I have seen them sit quietly on a limb while a boy shot at them with a twenty-two rifle.

And when the bullets went through the bird's feathers the latter would turn around and smooth the feathers down again where they had been ruffled up by the leaden missiles.

March 31, 1918.

Easter Sunday. 1 Cor. 15, 50-58.

Golden Text: Thanks be to God, who giveth us the victory through our Lord Jesus Christ. 1 Cor. 15:58.

1. Verse 50. What reason can you give for or against the theory that there will be sex in heaven?

2. Would you say or not, and why, that the inhabitants of heaven will ever be hungry, or thirsty, or tired, or sleep or have any conscious want?

3. Why would you say or not, that the bodies we shall have in heaven will have any of the vital organs of our present bodies, such as heart, lungs, nerves, etc.

4. Verse 50. What is your conception of our spiritual bodies in heaven, having weight, size, color, gravity, mass, growth or shrinkage?

5. In how many respects will our incorruptible bodies resemble our present corruptible bodies?

6. Will the inhabitants of heaven increase by any process of procreation?

7. Verses 51, 52. See 1 Thess. 4:13-18, and say what you think was Paul's conception of the resurrection day?

8. When did Paul expect the Resurrection Day would be? (This is one of the questions which may be answered in writing by members of the Club.)

9. If we admit that Paul was mistaken as to the time of the resurrection, why is this no indication that he was mistaken as to the fact?

10. Verses 51, 52. Paul could only know of the fact of the resurrection by specific revelation, why then is it not reasonable to suppose that the time he expected it would take place was his own human inference, that not having been revealed to him?

11. Verses 53, 54. What are some of the many advantages in changing these corruptible bodies for bodies that are incorruptible?

12. What part do our bodies now play in our temptations, in our lapses from God and in our sorrows?

13. Verses 55, 56. Why is death such a terrible dread to the average man?

14. What is the "sting," or what are the stings of death, which has caused and is causing, such exquisite suffering to humanity?

15. What is the proof that physical death is caused by sin?

16. Verses 55, 56. Why would you say or not, that there will be no need for "law" in heaven?

17. Verse 57. In what way does Christ give us the victory over death?

18. Verse 58. "Therefore." What is the incentive to be "steadfast" and "immovable" in this faith of the resurrection, and to be abounding in Christian work?

Lesson for Sunday, April 7. Jesus Sets men Free. Mark 7:1-37.

DEVELOPING POWER.

Third Largest Dam In the World Is In Quebec.

The most important water conservation work thus far undertaken in Canada is that undertaken by the Quebec Government and now nearing completion at La Loutre on the St. Maurice river. It will store up the waters of the St. Maurice for the benefit of its many water powers and will double the low-water flow.

This work had been projected for many years as the regulation of the river is of the greatest value to the important developed water powers at La Tuque, Grand Mere and Shawinigan Falls, but no construction work was undertaken. After full investigation of the project, both from the engineering and financial view-point, the Quebec Streams Commission let the contract for construction in the summer of 1915.

The work has progressed steadily since in spite of the great difficulties in transportation. It is now 80 per cent completed and will cost about $1,500,000. When finished, it will create a reservoir of 160,000 million cubic feet, forming the third largest artificial reservoir in the world, being exceeded only by the Assuan reservoir on the Nile and the Gatun lake on the Panama canal. From the owners of the power sites already developed, the commission will receive a revenue of upwards of $130,000.

Between the reservoir and the mouth of the St. Maurice there are 17 power sites with heads of from 10 feet to 150 feet. The aggregate descent at these sites totals 800 feet, but the dams erected in developing the various sites will increase this total head to 900 feet. Under present conditions, these sites have a total capacity of approximately 350,000 theoretical h.p., but it is estimated that some 900,000 h.p. will be available when the flow is regulated from the reservoir. At Shawinigan, Grand Mere and La Tuque alone, the three sites at present utilized on the St. Maurice, the potentiality will be raised from an aggregate of some 190,000 theoretical h.p. to over 400,000 h.p.

LOSS IN TRENCHES

Mortality Less Than in Any of the Previous Wars.

Physician Asserts That Disease Is So Thoroughly Eliminated That a Sick Man Is a Curiosity.

Readers with relatives and friends at the front should get considerable comfort from a study of the mortality statistics of the armies recently put forward by a well-known physician, London Tit-Bits states. While his figures are not so favorable as those given out from Paris indicating that all kinds of permanent losses—killed, captured, missing and disabled—aggregate but 3 per cent per annum of the effective forces engaged, they are nevertheless distinctly encouraging.

He finds that about sixty men per 1,000 are being killed and 150 wounded and that a very large proportion of the latter return to the trenches. This, naturally, is not to be compared with the normal death rate in time of peace of men of military age, which is but eight per 1,000; but it is a vast improvement upon the showing of any previous war.

For one thing, disease has been so thoroughly eliminated that a sick man is a curiosity. The soldier at the front is certainly less liable to attack than if he were at home. Everything he eats and drinks and wears, almost everything he touches, is subject to the finest medical supervision of which science is capable, and if any particularly persistent bacillus were to get into his system in spite of all precautions, it would find him in such superb condition that its work would be futile. The high commands have thoroughly learned the lesson that it does not pay to train a man to be a soldier and then lose him from a cause that is in the least degree preventable.

By this same token, experience, both in the protection of the soldier and in the care of the wounded, is steadily reducing the death rate as the war progresses. Not only are new tactics constantly being developed which result in loss exposure of the individual soldier, but he is constantly being better equipped with defensive apparatus to minimize the effects of bullet or shrapnel or gas attack. Finally, from many classes of wounds which would have spelled probable death in 1914 and certain crippling in 1915, recovery is now almost a matter of course.

The drafted man who goes as an ordinary soldier, taking his judgment with him and leaving his excessive enthusiasm behind, has every chance of coming back, and in better physical condition than when he left.

Canada's New Naturalization Law.

An important change in Canada's naturalization laws has become effective with the new year. Formerly, the period of residence required to secure naturalization was three years. Henceforth it will be five. On the other hand, the brand of naturalization formerly granted was not recognized outside of Canada. In future it will be good anywhere in His Majesty's dominions.

Under the old system an American citizen, for instance, might come to Canada, spend three years here and take out his papers. He thereby acquired all the rights of a British subject so long as he remained in this country. But if he moved to Australia or England he had to put in another period of residence and take out another set of papers. This is now done away with. He can move from Canada to Australia and find himself in the same legal position as if he moved from British Columbia to Alberta. Everywhere under the flag his rights will be the same.

This change has been brought about as the result of an agreement reached at the Imperial Conference some years ago and implemented by concurrent legislation in all parts of the Empire.

As an incidental part of the change, no man in future will be given his papers in Canada unless he has an "adequate knowledge" of either English or French. The exact meaning of this phrase may seem vague, but it is not likely to create any difficulty in practice. Such a requirement is only fair. It is obvious that nothing but a very imperfect understanding of the institutions of a community can be obtained by a man who does not speak the language.

Not Musical.

A western settler went to the nearest township and purchased a music stool, taking it home with him in his trap. In a few days, however, he brought it back and demanded the money paid, as the stool was no good at all. The shopkeeper examined it and said it was in perfect order and that it should not be thrown on his hands.

"Well," said the settler, "I took it home carefully and gave it a turn, and every one of the children gave it a turn, and never a tune could one and all of us screw out of it. It is no more a music stool than the four-legged washing stool the missus puts her tub on."

Injurious Insects.

Expressed in terms of wheat, the value of the field crops destroyed annually in Canada by insect pests is sufficient to feed our entire population for a year.

Experiments have been made with coal gas as a substitute for gasoline in motor car use.

What the Y.M.C.A. is Doing for Our Soldier Boys

By William Lewis Edmonds.

When, during the years, decades and centuries following the close of the war, historians write their volumes regarding it there will, doubtless, be differences of opinion as to its causes and its effects. But there will, undoubtedly, be one feature in connection with the great war upon which there can scarcely be any difference of opinion regarding its potency and value.

And that particular feature is the part the Y.M.C.A. played in catering to the spiritual and temporal welfare of the valiant soldiers, no matter from what clime, country or hemisphere they came or what creed they professed, who took up arms in defence of liberty, home, justice and democracy.

Just as in no previous age, ancient or modern, has there been a war approaching in magnitude that now being waged, so it can with equal truth be said that never in all previous wars has there been a work in connection with the welfare of the soldiers engaged in the conflict approaching in magnitude that which is now being carried on by the Y.M.C.A. organization.

Wherever the soldier boy goes in response to the call of duty, "Y" men follow close upon his heels, and where he settles for the time being, whether in city barracks, training ground, hospital, rest camp, or front line trenches, there they hang up the bright Red Triangle, the insignia of their order, and serve him to the limit of their ability and opportunity.

To all intents and purposes these centres of "Y" activity become to the soldier the nearest possible approach under the circumstances to the home and fireside which he has left in response to the call to arms. There he can find rest, recreation and refreshment for mind and body, an abundant and free supply of stationery for the home letters he wishes to write, and an ample supply of literature congenial to his various moods, while almost at his elbow as he leaves the trenches tired, weary, or a "walking wounded," he finds a dugout, with its flaming Red Triangle, where he can obtain a free and liberal supply of hot coffee, cocoa, tea, etc., to strengthen and fortify him for his journey to his camp in the rear.

"If it wasn't fer the bloody blokes in the bleeding 'uts," a Tommy is said to have remarked while sipping his coffee in a "Y" hut somewhere in France, "it 'ild be a 'ell of a time in the British army."

Coarse and all as the expression may be to delicate ears it was possibly the most expressive language that "Tommy" could command in order to give vent to his appreciation of the efforts of the "Y" to cater to his welfare. On that account the manner of his expression may well be condoned for, after all, it is the sentiment, and not the words in which he clothes it that determines the man.

That war, and particularly the present one, is hell there can be no doubt. But while that is so it is equally certain that, through the instrumentality of the Y.M.C.A., more bits of heaven have been injected into the soul of the boys in arms than has been the case in any previous war in history.

That which the Y.M.C.A. has accomplished is little short of a miracle. Through the untiring zeal and self-sacrificing efforts of its representatives the mental, spiritual and physical life of the soldier has been developed and strengthened, and his morale for the stress and strain of battle fortified.

To-day the Y.M.C.A. does not have to wait, cap in hand, at the door of the respective governments engaged in the Allies' cause, courting permission to establish huts and dugouts from which its secretaries and staff may serve their fighting men. It is the other way about. The respective governments are now importuning the "Y," with the result that wherever to-day the flag of an allied nation flies there is to be found somewhere the Red Triangle. And that means from Flanders to South Africa. It has a place even in disturbed Russia.

The difficulty with which the "Y" is beset to-day is not limitation of opportunity for service. It is the necessity for more men and more money in order to respond to the fullest possible extent to the Macedonian cry from allied nations for the particular assistance which the men of the Red Triangle have proved themselves capable of rendering.

In this laudable and self-sacrificing labor on behalf of the fighting forces of the allied nations the Canadian Y.M.C.A. has taken a prominent part, its representatives not only being found in Great Britain, Flanders, France, Italy and Palestine, but in far-off Mesopotamia and India as well.

With the Canadian camps in Great Britain it has fifty branches and with the Canadian troops in France fifty-one branches, while all told there are one hundred and two special secretaries overseas, plus three hundred assistants appointed by the military authorities. Thirty-four of these special secretaries are located in France.

But the ramifications of the Canadian "Y" are by no means confined to the soldiers in training in England and fighting in France. Besides this its representatives are serving in every military camp and in every camp hospital in the Dominion, while special secretaries are on duty at the discharge depots in Quebec and Halifax.

Not only is the ensign of the Canadian "Y" scattered throughout the camps in England and France, but it is attached to dozens of dugouts in the forward trenches, where its secretaries, continuously under shell fire, serve hot coffee, tea, chocolate, etc., to the tired, and often chilled, Canadian soldiers.

When the boys from the Land of the Maple Leaf were driving the enemy from Vimy Ridge men of the Canadian "Y" were right upon their heels catering to their necessities as they fought. "Almost before the place was consolidated," wrote Brigadier-General Odlum to Captain Wallace, the senior officer of the Canadian "Y," after the affair was over, "your representative had a distribution centre at the crest of Vimy Ridge and was serving biscuits and chocolate to the men."

On another occasion, when, during a German drive, the military authorities were unable to reach the men in the front trenches, the lives of many Canadian boys were saved by the rations which were served gratis from a near-at-hand "Y" dugout.

The work being carried on by the "Y" men of Canada stationed at the camps in England and France is as varied as it is extensive. A part of the educational work provides an opportunity for university students to continue their course of study. Religious services of a broad and helpful character are held daily. At least once or twice a week entertainments are held in auditoriums capable of holding a thousand or more men, the entertainers being men and women of the highest reputation. The physical wellbeing is also well looked after, all manner of athletic sports being regularly provided. A thousand dollars a month is spent by the Canadian "Y" on concerts in England alone, while equipment furnished and supplies purchased in February for the free use of our soldiers in England and France entailed an expenditure of $57,000.

The effect which the efforts of the Canadian Y.M.C.A. is having upon the moral, physical and intellectual welfare of the soldiers of Canada, both at home and abroad, is most encouraging. To the parents who have sons among them the results should be gratifying. The writer has in his possession a letter from a man who is in charge of one of the "Y" huts at Witley Camp, in which he says that out of a trainload of eight hundred men who were sent to a nearby town to spend Christmas Day, only one was under the influence of liquor when the return journey was finished at eleven o'clock that night. One could scarcely have obtained better results had it been a trainload of eight hundred staid preachers instead of that number of rollicking young soldiers.

Might Visit Canada.

An English officer recently exchanged from Germany tells an extraordinary story. The Crown Prince paid a visit last autumn to a prison camp where a number of officers were confined. He shook hands with each officer, inquiring as he did so about the circumstances under which they came into German hands. To one officer, a Canadian, the Crown Prince said: "I hope to go to Canada after the war, and if I do go there you won't thrown stones at me, will you?" Hearing another officer came from South Africa, the Crown Prince remarked: "You should not have come into the war at all." During the conversation with each officer he held the officer's hand, asking where he was wounded, how and when.

Two Incidents of War Indicate Sharp Contrast Between National Schools

SIR WALTER RALEIGH, the well-known Oxford scholar, recently published a book with the attractive title, "The Soul of England," and in it he included a little story which has just been used by Mr. H. A. L. Fisher, British Minister of Education, to show that we are fighting to defend a great civilization:

"A month before war broke out there was a German student in Oxford who attended a picture palace. It was crowded with young Englishmen, members of the university. Suddenly the Kaiser appeared on the film, and a young Englishman who was sitting behind the German made an insulting observation, whereupon the young German turned round and boxed the Englishman's ears. Upon that the whole theatre burst out into applause. The young Englishmen felt that this young German had been unfairly treated, that his Kaiser had been abused in his presence in rather an ungentlemanly manner. A German came to a friend of mine—his old tutor—afterwards and said: 'You are a wonderful people.' He told the story, and said: 'Such chivalry as that would have been quite incomprehensible in my country.' Well, that is really our civilization. That little story gives you the whole of our civilization. That chivalry is quite apparent in the private soldier and in the officer. It is apparent through the whole of English society, and I feel that so long as that spirit remains among us we can hold our heads high among the nations of the earth."

In striking contrast to this is a dramatic incident told by a sergeant of some recent fighting which brings out strongly the difference between the Briton and the German:

"I was lying wounded in a shallow trench, when I saw a German approach an English lad who was lying on the parapet, badly hit on the leg. He was unable to move, but the German deliberately bayonetted him through the body as he lay—a dastardly act. At that moment I noticed our young sergeant-major, who was standing some yards away from the two. I shall never forget his expression; he was convulsed with horror and loathing. He did not attempt to shoot or stab the enemy, but in a burst of ungovernable rage disdainfully dropped his rifle and leapt at the Hun—sprang at him like a bulldog. Before the foeman had time to realize what had happened, the young Englishman had him by the throat and literally choked the life out of him and then flung the body away. In my mind's eye even now I can see the dead German lying beside his poor victim, and in all my twenty months at the front never did I witness an incident so terrible, so dramatic, and yet so splendid."

Two Thousand Miles Through Ice.

Although Sir Ernest Shackleton's ship, the Endurance, made a perilous voyage of 2,000 miles through pack ice in the Weddell Sea, scientific work never ceased. After three days' gale the ship was held fast, and then she drifted slowly on the ice to the northward. Finally she had to be abandoned.

Work of the scientific instruments, said Lieut. J. M. Wordie, who had charge of the oceanographic work, at the Royal Geographical Society, was considerably hampered by four inches of frost rime, and the position of the ship was tested by the stars.

When the ship was abandoned amid the pack ice, said Lieut. Wordie, the crew took to the boats, but it was some months before they could find a passage through the ice, and it was not until April, 1916, that, after many adventures, they were able to land on Elephant Island.

Lieut. Wordie spoke of two points of land in the Weddell Sea which had been named by their German discoverers, "Luitpold Barrier" and "Wilhelm Barrier." He thought the names ought to be changed to their English equivalents, "Leopold" and "William" Barriers, but the Admiralty insisted upon the first names being retained.

A Frank Criticism.

Henry James tells in "The Middle Years" about his most vivid recollection of a visit to George H. Lewes and George Eliot at their home at Witley, England. He was accompanied by Mrs. Greville, who unknown to him had lent to the famous authors a set of his own latest works. When leaving, Mr. James and Mrs. Greville were halted by Lewis with the exclamation, "Ah, those books—take them away, please, away, away!" "The sweep of Lewes' gesture as he turned to fetch the books," says Mr. James, "could scarce have been bettered by his actually using a broom." Of course neither Lewes nor George Eliot knew that their visitor was himself the author of the unread, unopened volumes.

A Long Journey.

After two years in the mud and trenches of Flanders, Thomas Atkins got his leave at last, and made what he conceived to be the best use of his holiday by getting married. On the journey back, at Southampton, he showed to the inspector his marriage certificate in mistake for his return railway pass. The official who chanced to be a Scot, studied it carefully, and then said: 'Eh, mon, you've got a ticket for a lang wearisome journey, but no on the South Western Railway."

"NERVILINE" STOPS EARACHE IN 10 SECONDS, FIXES TOOTHACHE IN 2 MINUTES

It Seems to Possess Almost Some Divine Power Over Pain

RUB ON NERVILINE

Toothache is usually due to neuralgia in the gums or to the congestion and swelling of the nerve pulp.

As Nerviline relieves congestion you can easily see why it cures toothache.

Nerviline does more—cures any ache or pain—in any part of the body.

It matters not where your pain is. It may be in a joint or muscle; it may be neuralgia or lumbago; it may be a surface pain is deeply situated in the back, side or chest. Nerviline will reach it; Nerviline will drive it out.

What is Nerviline, you ask? Just a liniment, but very much stronger in pain-subduing power than other liniments—one that penetrates more deeply in the tissue than any other liniment. It is a liniment that cures quickly, that gives permanent relief.

You might spend ten or a hundred dollars, but you couldn't buy as much relief as you get from a single bottle of Nerviline.

We guarantee Nerviline; we refund your money if it does not relieve you.

In many lands it is a household trust, a remedy that has justified itself under the experience of those who have used it. Guaranteed for neuralgia, sciatica, lumbago, rheumatism, pleurisy, strains or sprains; the large 25 cent family size bottle is very economical. Dealers everywhere sell Nerviline or direct from The Catarrhozone Co., Kingston, Canada.

GRAIN MARKET

There was again a strong market in oats Winnipeg closing 7-8c higher for May, and 1 1-8c higher for July. The premium for cash oats is high, and buying for export was said to be at the back of the generally stronger tone of the market. Manitoba cash oats are quoted 1-2c higher (basis in store at Fort William. Ontario cash oats steady. Barley is easier and quoting 2c lower. The car situation is still far from satisafctory. While a few cars are now being placed at the disposal of dealers, ten times more could be used if they were available. The corn situation continues strong. By a resolution passed by the Chicago Grain Exchange further trading in March corn was prohibited after March 26. The settling up price was fixed at $1.28.

CATTLE MARKET

Union Stock Yards — Receipts, 58 cars, with 761 cattle, 310 calves, 1,513 hogs and 39 sheep and lambs.

There was a good active demand for butchers cattle yesterday, and the light run offering sent prices up a little, choice butcher averaging 10c to 15c higher than Monday. This "come back" to the market is due to the light run Tuesday and yesterday, the receipts for the two days being a little below normal. There were also some nice quality Easter cattle and baby beef steers in yesterday's offerings, and these brought good prices.

The hog market, with a light run, settled at $21 yesterday, fed and watered, for practically all offerings.

Four Candidates Enter Municipal Contest In Lakefield

James Moore and Thompson Braden Aspire to the Office of Reeve

LAKEFIELD, March 28.— Nominations were held in Lakefield last evening for the purpose of nominating candidates to contest the vacancies in the municipal council caused by the retirement of Reeve H. G. Fitzgerald and Councillor S. J. Charlton. A large number were present at the nominations. There were two nominations for the office of reeve as follows:

James Moore, proposed by R. Duff and seconded by R. Carter.

T. Braden, proposed by W. W. Leonard and seconded by S. J. Charlton.

For Councillors—

W. W. Leonard, proposed by J. A. Porter and seconded by A. J. Young.

W. M. Graham, proposed by W. W. Leonard and seconded by Charles Lake.

Dr. J. C. Smith proposed by Walter Madill and seconded by George G. Hendron.

Mr. Graham, who was nominated for councillor, subsequently withdrew, leaving the field to Mr. Leonard and Dr. Smith.

The elections will take place on Wednesday next.

SPECIFIC FOR BRONCHITIS.

The turpentine used in Dr. Chase's Syrup of Linseed and Turpentine is not the ordinary commercial article, which is little used because of the unpleasantness of taste, but is specially extracted from tamarac and spruce gum and so combined with other valuable ingredients as to be at the same time pleasant to use and wonderfully effective in the cure of affections of the throat, bronchial tubes and lungs.

"The Price We Pay."

According to the latest official figures issued by the Department of Militia the total number of officers, n.c.o's and men with the Canadian forces who have been wounded since the war began is 102,726. No fewer than 25,138 Canadians have been killed in action and 8,410 succumbed to wounds received in action. There is comparatively little disease among the Canadian troops, as evidenced by the fact that only 1,703 Canadian soldiers have died from disease during the present campaign. Ottawa advises that 3,575 members of the Canadian forces have been officially presumed dead.

English Use Tractors.

The food production department of London reports that the tractor has justified itself, and the farming community may be said to have been completely converted, for the demand for tractors to-day bids fair to exceed the full complement ordered by the department. The figures collected from a wide range of counties are, in fact, overwhelming; thus, in West Surrey, one tractor ploughed thirty-six acres in six days, and in Wiltshire the tractors averaged eighteen acres in a week; in Dorset, thirteen acres. Similar results are quoted from the districts of the agricultural county of Lincolnshire.—London Globe.

OUR DAILY SHORT STORY

The Old Auto

By Gilbert Webster

The crowning ambition of Neil Borden was to possess an automobile. He began saving money to that end, but the process was a slow one. He was a bright, rubicund young man of twenty-two, earned sixty dollars a month as a clerk, and was too good-natured and satisfied with life to quarrel or complain. He was free-hearted, ingenious, but simple and credulous, and as he had never done anything to set the world on fire, was set down as mediocre, and contented with being classed in that category.

As said, Neil longed for an automobile, and had saved up something towards it, and then a queer freak of fate, or rather misadventure, brought the coveted object of his desire direct to his doorstep.

A bird of evil omen, adventurer, swindler and soldier of fortune named Boyden, looking for a place to light, swooped down upon Fairview to interest those having money in a gold mine promotion. They had been bitten before, however, and Boyden met with little success. He kept his automobile in an old shed, all that was left of structural evidence on a lot where the house had burned down. He sent for a partner in crime, one Davlin, to join him and select some other territory containing gullible investors.

Davlin arrived at Fairview, many seas over, took it upon himself to appropriate the auto out for a spin, and about midnight, at his hotel, Boyden was called out of bed to the telephone.

"It's me," was announced in maudlin tones.

"Who is me?" demanded Boyden.

"Joe Davlin, of course. Say, Boyden, I'm all in, and I've run the machine into a telegraph pole and pretty nigh smashed it to flinders. You'll have to get some garage machine to haul us into town."

Boyden's keen eyes sparkled. He was never at a loss to turn an incident to his own advantage.

"You get right to the hotel here," he ordered his befuddled friend mandatorily. "Leave the machine where it is. Don't say a word to anybody about the accident. Do just as I say, or I'll throw you over for good."

In the course of an hour Davlin arrived at the hotel. Boyden got him to bed. Then he used the phone liberally. He sent word to the office of the city company insuring his automobile against theft, that it had been stolen. Placidly chuckling, he went to bed himself, feeling that he had done a good hour's work.

Next day the insurance adjuster arrived. The local watchman had found the wrecked machine, minus its tires which someone had stolen. There could be no doubt that it had been stolen and wrecked. Boyden received three times what he would have taken for the machine and left for new fields of adventure and speculation.

It happened that Neil came upon the adjuster, anxious to settle the affair and get back to the city. The wreck was offered to the local garage for $100."

"I wouldn't give $50," remarked the garage man contemptuously.

"Take it for $50," pressed the insurance adjuster eagerly.

"Don't want it at any price."

"Forty?"

"No."

"I'll give forty," spoke up Neil, and the bargain was clinched on the spot.

Ned had a friend who operated a small machine shop, and to his place he had the wrecked auto taken. The latter was friendly and clever. He patched up the disjointed machine, happened to have a set of solid rubber tires that had been once used on a truck, and, clumsy, grinding, missing fire regularly, but going just the same, the machine tore proudly about the village. Neil was too pleased to hear the jeers of those who criticized the old rattletrap. He was proud as Lucifer when, coming down a steep hill, he was arrested for speeding.

"That wasn't power," enlightened a friend. "It was momentum."

"What does it matter, so she goes!" chirped Neil.

Now, destiny was preparing a new surprise for Neil, which linked in with the incident of the wreck. One day a handsome young man and a lovely girl of seventeen, Gabrielle North, left the train at Fairview with some trepidation.

They hastened to reach the outskirts of the town. On a bench outside of the shed, where Neil kept his beloved automobile and was tinkering over it inside at that moment, they sat down to rest.

"The telegram from our mutual friend which we received here, says that your uncle has wired to have us stopped when we reach Rosebury," spoke the young man in an anxious and serious tone.

"Then it seems," murmured the young lady sorrowfully, "that we can't go to Rosebury."

"No, not by train, and as soon as your uncle finds we have left the train he will have his hireling spies after us all along the route."

"Oh, Walter! what are we ever going to do?" wailed the girl at the point of tears.

"Reach Rosebury some other way than by rail," was the prompt response. "You see, watchful as your uncle is, he don't know that we are headed for my friend, the Rev. Jarvis Bothwell at Rosebury, who will marry us at once. Then we can defy the malignant old guardian, who is bound you shall wed another man of his selection."

"Walter," sobbed Gabrielle pathetically, "I am yours till death!"

All this and much more Neil overheard, hammer suspended, his good, sympathetic heart stirred to its depths. At the end of ten minutes he understood the situation complete.

Here were two gentle souls pursued by an ogre in the shape of a meretricious relative and guardian, who sought to rend them rudely apart and crush their mutual love under his feet. It should not be! Neil startled the cooing, calculating pair by abruptly confronting them.

"Friends," he announced clearly, "I've been eavesdropping. I overheard all you said, and I'm going to help you."

Gabrielle clung closer to her brave lover. Walter scanned hopefully the open, honest face of the intruder.

"How can you help us?" he questioned dubiously.

"By taking you to Rosebury in my automobile."

"But the roads may be watched."

"I won't take the roads," explained Neil. "That is, the traversed roads. Here's the proposition; if you think that striking Rosebury after dark by an untraveled route you can manage to reach this minister friend without being discovered, I'll get you there."

"You will!"

"Without fail!"

"I'll make it the best day's work you ever did," pledged Walter Young. "See here, friend, I'm not marrying this jewel of an angel for money. I've got more of it than she has. It's a case of genuine, disinterested love and a cruel, scheming guardian."

"I guessed that," nodded Neil in a chipper way. "Now let me explain to you. There's a half road west; no one ever uses it now. It runs by the old glass factory that burned down. It's made up of refuse and cinders that would ruin ordinary tires in ten minutes. I've got solid ones. Folks have jeered at my old machine, but all the same it can make that trip, and they couldn't even begin it."

"Oh, Walter, this is dreadful!" palpitated Gabrielle, as, an hour later, in the dark the old auto bumped and skidded and thundered along over the glass works road.

"Not when it throws you into my arms!" cried Walter jubilantly. "Think of our good fortune in running across this genuinely fine young fellow, with a heart big as the moon!"

With a whiz the automobile finally rolled out into a smooth country lane.

"You've arrived," announced Neil. "What's the program? This is the edge of Rosebury."

"I think," spoke Walter, after brief thought, "that I'll take no risks. I'll leave you two here, go for Mr. Bothwell and we'll get married before we venture into town."

He was gone an hour. He returned with his friend. There, in the automobile, the solemn words were pronounced that made the runaways man and wife.

"For you," spoke Walter Young, taking Neil aside and pressing a folded slip of paper into the hand of their gallant chauffeur. "It's a check, and good, and none too big for a man who has helped me with the best little girl in the world!"

When Neil Borden opened the check, back at Fairview, four hours later, he found it to be for one thousand dollars. The adventure it commemorated had awakened latent romance in his heart. He could afford to think of a life companion now, and did. His choice fortunately fell upon a sweet souled creature who did not disdain riding in the old automobile, and Neil made that the test of her worthiness.

Easy to Remedy.

LISTEN TO THIS! SAYS CORNS LIFT RIGHT OUT NOW

You reckless men and women who are pestered with corns and who have at least once a week invited an awful death from lockjaw or blood poison, are now told by a Cincinnati authority to use a drug called freezone, which the moment a few drops are applied to any corn, the soreness is relieved, and soon the entire corn, root and all, lifts out with the fingers.

It is a sticky ether compound which dries the moment it is applied and simply shrivels the corn without inflaming or even irritating the surrounding tissue or skin. It is claimed that a quarter of an ounce of freezone will cost very little at any of the drug stores, but it is sufficient to rid one's feet of every hard or soft corn or callus.

You are further warned that cutting at a corn is a suicidal habit.

Few People Know This

Large doses of pills for the liver are not as efficient as small doses.

The big dose purges its way through the system fast, but does not cleanse thoroughly.

The small dose (if right) acts gently on the liver, and gives it just the slight help it needs to do its own work, and do it well.

Take one pill regularly, until you know you are all right.

Colorless faces often show the absence of Iron in the blood.

Carter's Iron Pills will help this condition.

ON GUARD

At this time of the year people feel weak, tired, listless, their blood is thin, they have lived indoors and perhaps expended all their mental and bodily energy and they want to know how to renew their energy and stamina, overcome headaches and backaches, have clear eyes, a smooth, ruddy skin, and feel the exhilaration of real good health tingling thru their body. Good, pure, rich, red blood is the best insurance against ills of all kinds. Almost all diseases come from impure and impoverished blood. It is to be noticed in the pale or pimply face, the tired, haggard appearance or the listless manner.

Drink hot water a half hour before meals, and for a vegetable tonic there's nothing better than Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery, the old-fashioned herbal remedy, which has had such a fine reputation for fifty years. It contains no alcohol or narcotics. It is made from Golden Seal root, Bloodroot, Oregon grape root, Queen's root, Black Cherry bark, extracted with glycerine and made into tablets and liquid. Tablets fifty cents, at most drug stores.

In order to insure pure blood and to build up the system try this tonic known as Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. Get it now!

WAKEFUL HOURS SEEM LONG

One Thinks He Has Slept Little If He Is Aroused Several Times During the Night.

It is surprising what little sleep men can get on with, and then, not a few men who think they are getting only an hour or two of sleep a night, are really getting much more; but because they awake or are awakened five or six times during the night they think they sleep very little in between, says a writer in the American Magazine. Nothing is so fallacious as our estimate of how long we have been asleep. Usually when we wake, feeling quite rested, we were scarcely more than an hour or two asleep. If we wake feeling so tired that we hope it is before midnight, it is probably nearly time to get up. Only too often, indeed, it is after the time.

Feeling rested is very largely a matter of how much our wills are awakened, how firmly we have got hold of ourselves and then how interesting is the work ahead of us and how anxious we are to get up and get at it, while feeling fatigued is very much a matter of not wanting to get up, because the work ahead of us is annoying and full of complications, and is not promising at best, and has, perhaps, been put off for three or four days because we do not care to get at it.

Wonderful Surgery.

To make the artificial eye practically indistinguishable is the aim of a British army surgeon who is experimenting with a ball made of cartillage as a substitute for a metal or glass one. A sphere of such construction when put in place establishes connections with blood vessels and the surrounding tissues. When thus fixed in the cavity it is corresponding to that of a normal eye, and furthermore fills the space so that there is no depression, as is invariably the case when a shell is used. Although time must yet prove the practicability of the scheme, there is reason to expect that the war has brought forth another triumph in plastic surgery.—Popular Mechanics Magazine.

MORALE IS SPLENDID.

Officer Talks of the Fighting Men of the Empire.

"To my mind the greatest mistake the Kaiser and his assassins made was to think the other races of the world degenerate," says Capt. David Fallon, M.M.C., late of British and Australian armies. "He thought that because the French and the British were not plotting for war and dreaming of worldly conquest they were falling to pieces. From the German point of view we were all that. They could see us only as a sport loving, peaceful and unemotional race. They were not wrong, either. We had made sport of our God and God of our sport. Our civilization had taught us to have a good time, and a good time we must have, no matter at whose expense. And so we were living until the Huns were let loose.

"No proof is needed of the valor of the Belgians, the French and the British. It would be idle to speak of it, because for three years they have shown the height of human courage in most damnable and deadly places. The self-sacrifice and heroic deeds of ancient days which have come down to us as legends lack significance when compared with daily deeds performed in this war.

"I have heard of nothing finer than the heroic defence of the Belgians at Liege. Although totally unprepared, they resisted for ten days a great, disciplined force forty times their number; or the impossible standing at Gallipoli made by the Anzacs; or the defence at Verdun by the French; or the Canadians charge through poison gases at Ypres; or the brilliant British attack on the Somme.

"No nation is degenerate whose men can endure months of exposure in torrents of rain and bitter cold winds, lying out in pools of freezing water, half starving at times and suffering the tortures of a hurricane of shell fire, and laugh through it all. The allies have proved themselves made of finer stuff than were Napoleon's Old Guard, who were supposed to be the best trained soldiers in the world. The old soldiers were not brought up on farms or trained in factories, on homesteads and on sheep runs, as were the boys from England, Scotland, Australia, Canada, New Zealand and South Africa.

"Napoleon once remarked that 'In war morale is three to one more powerful than material force.'

"This moral superiority was proved by the allies during the early part of this war, when they were greatly outnumbered in men and material. What must happen now when we are superior to the Huns, both morally and materially? Sure victory, of course.

"I have a Canadian to thank for my life. I have told in the magazine of War of the incident that put me out of any further active part in the war. After three days in a water-filled shell hole, with my arm smashed, my jaw broken and my whole body a wreck. In the end I lost my way. Suddenly I heard a Canadian sentry challenging. I called, 'An English officer, wounded.' I had stumbled into a Canadian post, and one of the boys came through the wire after me. When we were almost safe a Very light went up, and a Boche sniper got him through the shoulder. I still have part of my arm, but he has none of his."

The Other Side of War.

You wouldn't think that men would go to war to learn how to be kind, but they do. There's no kinder creature in the whole wide world than the average Tommy. He makes a friend of any stray animal he can find. He shares his last franc with a chap who isn't his pal. He risks his life quite inconsequently to rescue anyone who's wounded. When he's gone over the top with bomb and bayonet for the express purpose of "doing in" the Hun, he makes a comrade of the Fritzie he captures. You'll see him coming down the battered trenches with some scared lad of a German at his side. He's gabbling away making throat noises and signs, smiling and doing his inarticulate best to be intelligible. He pats the Hun on the back, hands him chocolate and cigarettes, exchanges souvenirs and shares with him his last luxury. If anyone interferes with his Fritzie he's willing to fight. When they come to the cage where the prisoner has to be handed over, the fare-wells of these companions whose acquaintance has been made at the bayonet point are often as absurd as they are affecting. I suppose one only learns the value of kindness when he feels the need of it himself. The men out there have said "Good-bye" to everything they loved, but they've got to love some one so they give their affections to captured Fritzies, stray dogs, fellows who've collected a piece of a shell—in fact, to anyone who's a little worse off than themselves.—Confugsby Dawson, lieutenant Canadian Field Artillery, in Good Housekeeping.

Soldiers Well Fed.

After conference with Gen. S. T. Mewburn, Minister of Militia, the Food Controller has issued a statement, pointing out that it is entirely unnecessary for additional food to be supplied by relatives and friends to Canadian soldiers while in this country, in view of the liberal and varied food ration issued to the troops by the Militia Department. The statement adds that the aggregate quantity of food thus privately sent to the soldiers is very large, and that much of it, having been conveyed long distances in heated express or mail cars, is more or less spoiled and consequently injurious to the health of the men. The public are, therefore, asked to discontinue the practice of sending foodstuffs to the soldiers in Canada. The waste referred to can be checked only by getting each soldier's family and friends to realize that they individually are the persons who are asked to stop sending food in this way. The situations overseas is so critical that every avenue of food waste must be closed, the statement concludes.

MRS. SEXTON IS OVERBEARING

CHAPTER XXVII.

The next morning when Mrs. Sexton arrived to give me what I called my "etiquette lessons," I was still outraged that she, not I, was to plan and manage my first dinner party.

I was so nervous, so angry, that I could not sit still, and fidgeted and fussed until she said:

"We will wait. We will not talk longer at present. You must learn to sit quietly, to be composed."

Had I done as I wanted to, as I felt impelled, I should have told her to get out of the house! I was mistress; it seemed to me it should be my privilege to receive whom I would, to bar out those distasteful to me. Instead, I meekly folded my hands and waited until she was ready to resume.

She was particularly overbearing that morning. Whether I showed my resentment in my manner, I do not know. I probably did. But it seemed to me that never had she been so unpleasantly sarcastic.

When she left, she said:

"After to-day we will take up the duties of a hostess. Your husband wishes it. And to be a perfect hostess is a charm not to be lightly thought of. I hope you will do your best to credit me at the dinner."

An Awkward Speech.

"Mrs. Sexton has the menu for the dinner. If Bridget needs help, she knows where to hire it. I have engaged a butler to-day. I have been quietly looking for a suitable one, ever since we were settled. His references are excellent," George said that evening.

"Oh, dear! I shall hate a man around under my feet all the time," I exclaimed without thinking.

"That speech shows how badly you need a mentor," George replied with a frown. "She will probably teach you that a butler is not intended to walk upon.

"Oh, I didn't mean to say anything so silly! I apologized. "Please don't be so cross. I meant that it was so nice and cozy to have just Annie wait upon us. She has done very nicely. Don't you think so?"

"Yes, she has done very well. But you will need more attention as we go out and entertain. I have told Mrs. Sexton to get you a personal maid. Annie can find plenty to do as chambermaid and helping the butler."

"Oh, George, let me have Annie! I am used to her. She helps me very nicely, really she does!"

"No, you need a thoroughly competent lady's maid." Then, as I started to speak, he added: "There is no need to discuss the matter. It is settled."

I bit my lips to keep from either crying or blurting out something for which I should be sorry. Mrs. Sexon, it seemed, was to be consulted about everything, not I. She was to hire my servants, to plan my dinners in fact to run my house.

Evidently thinking from my silence that he had disposed of the matter. George immediately commenced to talk of what I should wear.

A Stunning Dinner Gown.

"I want you to have something very different from anything in your wardrobe," he said when I protested that I did not need another dress. "something a trifle more dignified as to materials and cut."

"But won't it make me look old — a dress like that?"

"You may be sure I shall not buy you anything unsuitable."

"Of coourse you wouldn't!" I said, then I repeated what June Lawson and Peter Rivers had said about his generosity; and about my being handsomely dressed. His only comment was:

"They would have been just as ready to criticize both you and me, had you not been."

"What colour shall I have?" I asked. I really loved pretty things and I was always interested in buying them.

"I think a shade of blue. Some of the soft pastel shades would be becoming. However, we'll see, I may—no, I will go with you," he said with his sudden smile that always made a wave of love for him sweep over me, and made me want to put my arms around him. But I had learned to control all such feelings—save very occasionally, so I only replied:

"When shall we go?"

"To-morrow morning. Come downn about eleven; we will order the dress, then I'll take you to luncheon. Be sure you look all right."

"Oh, that will be lovely! where shall we go?"

"To the 'Elite,' I guess."

"I've never been there. It will be quite a treat," I said.

When George put on his hat and coat to go out as usual, I ventured to put my arms around his neck and to thank him for his generosity to me.

"That's all right!" he returned, "I do things quite as much for my own sake as for yours."

It had been in my mind to say I hoped he soon would let Mrs. Sexton go but his cold speech chilled me and I said nothing.

"To-morrow morning. Come down

Prisoners in Switzerland

THERE is a striking contrast between the attitude of Canadians who have just arrived in Switzerland and those who have been in the land of William Tell for a year or more. Those who had just escaped from the Hun internment camps when seen at Berne by Lt.-Col. Claude Bryan, assistant commissioner of the Canadian Red Cross, declared that they would be happy there forever, that they wanted nothing better. But those who had benefitted by the exchange some months back were suffering from ennui and chafing to get back to Canada. They were tired of those wonderful mountains which in peace time caused Murren, Chateau d'Oeux and Montreaux to be invaded by tourist from the entire globe. Beyond this homesickness and certain minor matters connected with the administration, there was little to grumble about, and on the other hand, much for which there should be gratitude.

There are approximately in these internment camps of the little republic 15,000 French, 8,000 Germans, 2,000 Belgians and 1,200 British, and the last number embraces about 100 Canadians.

The hotel and pension keepers being deprived of their tourist business have been glad to accept belligerents as paying guests and they are, on the whole, giving a square deal. For men who have been on the banting system of the Hun internment camp, the primary recommendation of the Swiss camps is that food is good and plentiful. Col. Hodgetts showed me the following dietary, which he, as a medical man, declared ample and, in fact, more generous than many English people now obtain:

Meat, bread, 10 ounces; potatoes, milk, 30 ounces; flour, 8 ounces; sausages, cheese, 2 ounces; lard, about 2 ounces; butter, just over 1 ounce; with cocoa, coffee, jam, fruit and sugar. In addition, sick men are given more delicate foods.

The Canadians, stated Col. Bryan, were exceedingly popular with the authorities, and this he attributes largely to their energy and readiness to undertake any task assigned to them. Some of the most responsible appointments were held by Canadians. Capt. W. H. Hooper, of Carleton Place, Ont., is chief paymaster and personal understudy to Col. Picot, military attache of the British Legation, who has charge of all British interned, and in the ordnance department the chief assistant is Capt. T. V. Scudamore, of British Columbia.

That no man need regard his internment period as lost in future years. Many facilities have been given for learning trades and industry, of which Col. Bryan made a personal inspection. The motor mechanical school at Vevey is in charge of Lieut. A. C. McLurg, of Sault Ste. Marie, and one of his graduates is now driving the car of the American Legation at Berne, while another is chauffeur for the British Legation. The Hotel Alpenruhe was in charge of the senior N.C.O., Sergt. Edwards, of Montreal, whose administration was highly spoken of, and in this establishment Pte. Strachan, of Toronto, was in charge of the tailoring outfit. Pte. Taylor, of Montreal, was chief clerk to the Swiss commandant, who declared he did not know how he would get on when Taylor came to be repatriated. A bright monthly publication known as "B. I. M." (British Interned Murren) is edited by Pte. Tyler, of Nelson, B.C.; Pte. Foyster (7th) runs the cinema and surveying class; Pte. Wright manages the Y.M.C.A.; Pte. Lusted, of Toronto, the carpenter shop; Pte. McElwy, of Vancouver, the barber shop, and Pte. Coats, of Toronto, is an orderly. "These cases are cited," said the assistant commissioner, "as examples of Canadian industry, and the result has been to procure a very cheerful lot of men who otherwise would find their internment excessively tedious."

While waiting at Berne Central Station, Lt.-Col. Bryan saw a trainload of new arrivals come in from Germany, and in this convoy were five Canadian officers and 38 other ranks. Col. Ussher was one of the officers. Mrs. Fraser, an Ontario worker in the Canadian Red Cross in London, was also there in charge of a party of relatives of prisoners. Most of these new arrivals were in good health, and they reported that their treatment by the enemy had improved considerably in recent months; moreover, it appears that the nearer they draw to the border, the better they are treated, so that the last impressions shall dwell with them. One thing they reported was that the representations which are being made as to certain urgent cases for repatriation do not appear to have much effect.

In one respect these men in Switzerland have a reminder of home. Snow was on the ground, and they were enjoying the winter pastimes of Canada.

Venician Glass.

Glass-making in Venice is of remote antiquity. By a law of November 8, 1291, the authorities of Venice, to avoid the risk of fire, ordered the glass-making industry to be transferred to the adjacent island of Murano. Ever since Murano has been the most important centre for hand-made glass and glass-bead manufacture in the world.

The pastor then occupied the chair and the unveiling of the Honour roll took place. Miss Rita Johnson and Mr. Harry Bradley being the representatives of the boys on the battlefield, drew aside the flags which veiled the Honour Roll, it being composed of about 30 names.

A very quiet wedding took place in Christ's Church, Omemee, on Wednesday evening, March 27th, when Miss Margaret Franks was united in holy bonds of marriage to Mr. James Davis, both of Frank Hill. They were unattended; the bride wore a navy blue suit with hat to match.

The death took place at the House of Refuge, on Sunday, March 24th, of James English, a life-long resident of Omemee, until a few months ago. The body arrived on the noon train to-day from Lindsay and the funeral proceeded to Emily cemetery for interment, the pall-bearers being, Messrs. Ira Toole, Richard Cornwall, O. G. Williamson, Thomas Rice, Allan Toole and Jos. Hayes.

TROUBLED FOR YEARS WITH BRONCHITIS

Dr. Wood's Norway Pine Syrup GAVE INSTANT RELIEF

Bronchitis is a disease which is very prevalent during the late winter and early spring, when there are sudden atmospheric changes. It is a condition of inflammation of the bronchial tubes which produces mucous or phlegm. This irritates the throat and causes you to cough in order to get rid of it. The cough may be tight or loose according as to whether this mucous is sticky and hard to remove, or soft and easily expelled.

Bronchitis is not really dangerous but the complications which are liable to follow makes it necessary get rid of it at the first sign. This you can do by using Dr. Wood's Norway Pine Syrup. A remedy that has been on the market for over 25 years.

John D. McFarlane, Jr., S.W. Margaree, N.S., writes: "I was troubl for years with bronchitis, and cou not find any relief. I was especia bad on a damp day. I went to a dru gist, and asked him for something stop the constant tickling in m throat. He gave me a bottle of Dr Wood's Norway Pine Syrup, which found gave me instant relief. It is best remedy for bronchitis I know and I now take care that I alwa have a bottle of it on hand."

GLASS OF SALTS CLEANS KIDNEYS

If Your Back Hurts or Bladder Bothers You, Drink Lots of Water.

When your kidneys hurt and your back feels sore, don't get scared and proceed to load your stomach with a lot of drugs that excite the kidneys and irritate the entire urinary tract. Keep your kidneys clean like you keep your bowels clean, by flushing them with a mild, harmless salts, which removes the body's urinous waste and stimulates them to their normal activity. The function of the kidneys is to filter the blood. In 24 hours they strain from it 500 grains of acid and waste, so we can readily understand the vital importance of keeping the kidneys active.

Drink lots of water—you can't drink too much; also get from any pharmacist about four ounces of Jad Salts; take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast each morning for a few days and your kidneys will act fine. This famous salts is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and has been used for generations to clean and stimulate clogged kidneys; also to neutralize the acids in urine so it no longer is a source of irritation, thus ending bladder weakness.

Jad Salts is inexpensive; cannot injure; makes a delightful effervescent lithia-water drink which everyone should take now and then to keep their kidneys clean and active. Try this, also keep up the water drinking, and no doubt you will wonder what became of your kidney trouble and backache.

REPEATED ENEMY ATTACKS ARE REPULSED BY THE BRITISH

BRITISH OFFICIAL REPORT INDICATES DEVELOPMENT OF GERMAN OBJECTIVE

British Official Report Records the Capture of Enemy Prisoners and Machine Guns—A New Stroke?

ATTACKS REPULSED

Canadian Press Despatch.

LONDON, March 28.—Prisoners and machine guns have been captured by the British, the War Office announces. The fighting continues fiercely on both banks of the Somme. This morning the enemy opened a heavy bombardment on the British defences east of Arras. An attack is developing in this section. Repeated attacks were made by the enemy along the valley of the Somme in the neighbourhood of Beaumont Hamel, Puisieux and Moyenneville. They were repulsed.

The statement follows:

"Severe fighting took place again yesterday evening and during the night astride the Somme and northward from Albert to Boyelles. Repeated attacks were made by the enemy along the valley of the Somme river and in the neighbourhood of Beaumont Hamel, Puisieux and Moyenneville. They were repulsed. We captured a number of prisoners and a number of machine guns. The fighting is continuing fiercely on both banks of the Somme. This morning the enemy opened a heavy bombardment on our defences east of Arras, and an attack is developing in this sector."

A Second Phase.

The reference in the official British statement to an attack east of Arras evidently means that the Germans have widened their battle front and are delivering a new stroke on the north. The battle was begun last week on a front extending as far north as the River Scarpe, the junction of which with the battle line is almost due east of Arras. No fighting north of the river has been reported. The attacks which are developing to-day may mark the beginning of the second phase of the battle. German military writers in the last few days have been hinting that surprises were in store for the British and there has been much discussion of the possibility of a German drive for the coast, with the channel ports of Calais and Dunkirk as objectives.

ARE CHECKING THE GERMANS

French Soldiers Are Performing Individual Miracles—Part of the British Line Has Been Taken Over by the Poilus

SAVED THEIR GUNS

(Special to The Toronto Star and The Peterborough Examiner.)

(United Press Service.)

(By Henry Wood.)

Ten O'clock Despatch.

WITH THE FRENCH ARMIES BETWEEN CHAUNY AND NOYON, March 28.—Commanded by two of the most brilliant French generals, the French are blocking the German progress between Noyon and Nesle, where the enemy is seeking to force his way down the narrow Oise valley and turn the entire French wing.

The Germans, it appears certain, have arranged to substitute Austrian divisions in the quiet sectors of the French front, hurling the German divisions thus relieved into the battle.

SPIRIT IS UNEQUALLED.

Despite the enemy foresight in choosing the full moon for his offensive, during which the allied lines of communication could be most easily bombarded at night, French columns are steadily arriving.

After taking over part of the British line, the French are solidly holding the left bank of the Oise between Terginier and Noyon, commanding the bridges and fighting with a spirit unequalled since the battle of the Marne.

Nowhere in the entire war have I seen calmer confidence. The Poilus, convinced the Germans are playing their last card, are performing individual miracles.

FOUGHT THREE DAYS.

A French battery facing Noyon fought three days and three nights without food. After being completely surrounded by Germans, the gunners fought their way out, saving their guns and carrying off their dead and wounded.

The captain of a French machine gun company told me he went into action with 30,000 rounds, which were exhausted against the solid masses of the enemy. He declared he could have easily fired 60,000 rounds.

INFANTRY MOWED DOWN.

Meantime, hundreds upon hundreds of man killing "Soixantequinzes" (seventy fives) are performing to the utmost the role for which they were created, namely the mowing down of infantry.)

The heavy artillery is pounding with deadly relentlessness against the German rear. A battery captain told me his guns had for targets advancing columns, each of which consisted of solid battalions of Bavarians.

Prisoners say half the Germans' strength on the west front was facing the French on Monday.

Refugees who had partially repaired their homes after last year's retreat are the saddest sight of the German advance. They are re-abandoning everything.

The British Forces Seem To Be Holding The Line Firm

The Enemy Is Making No Headway North of the Somme --The British Resistance is Daily Strengthening--French Regiments Fought Hand to Hand With the Enemy and Inflicted Heavy Losses---"In Spots the Battle Blaze Is Burning Low."

FRENCH FELL BACK AT ONE POINT

(United Press—Special to the Examiner and Toronto Star)

(By William Philip Simms).

WITH THE BRITISH ARMIES IN FRANCE, March 28.—In spots, the battle blaze is burning low.

North of the Somme the British seem to be holding firm. The enemy is making no headway.

Southward, with the fighting heavier, Hindenburg's pawns are putting less ginger into their assaults. Here and there they are being driven back.

CALLS IT A MOMENTARY SLOWING UP.

One cannot call the slackening up a lull—it is only a momentary slowing up while the gigantic adversaries spar for an opening.

Obviously the German High Command is uneasy. With the British resistance daily strengthening, and the Germanic storm troops growing weaker, Hindenburg apparently is puzzled by the slow progress his overwhelming masses are making.

Meantime, he is hastily bringing up fresh troops, guns and ammunition to continue the attack, putting the already battered divisions back of his line, lest the Allies' stubborn stand totally halt his last chance for victory.

BLOOD-SOAKED VALLEY OF THE ANCRE.

In the vicinity of Albert, along the blood-soaked valley of the Ancre, and at Bucquoy (five miles west and north of Bapaume) and Hebuterne (six miles north of Albert and two and a half south and west of Bucquoy), the British are holding tenaciously.

Reports from the Franco-British force to the south indicate a little progress there. The British rushed the enemy infantry at Sailly-le-Sec (seven miles south and west of Albert), on the northern bank of the Somme, driving them out in a panic.

In seven days, one unit of one hundred and eighty specialists had ninety odd casualties, yet men begged for the privilege of filling up those vacancies.

GERMANS ARE USING A SPECIES OF TANK.

Young men, for the love of adventure, made dashes during the night full into the enemy columns, fighting their way back again.

An officer told me the Germans were using a species of tank to bring up artillery ammunition. This is the only mention of enemy tanks I have heard.

I do not believe the battle will die out. Every soldier with whom I have talked to firmly believes it will go to a finish—a great, decisive engagement concluding both it and probably the war.

The above despatch from William Simms was received at ten o'clock this morning, and the following despatch at two o'clock this afternoon:

A heavy bombardment occurred this morning between Acheville and the Souchez River. There was no infantry action there.

Enemy Attacking in Strength.

West of Beaumont-Hamel the enemy is attacking in strength. Heavy fighting is ensuing.

The Germans last night launched attack after attack against the British position in Rosignol Wood, in the same region, only to be hurled back. They seemed once to have penetrated the eastern edge, but were driven out after hard fighting.

Near Sailly-Laurette (five miles west and south of Bray, on the Somme River) and northwards (towards the Ancre) the British are taking prisoners.

The weather at the beginning of the second week of the battle is threatening.

Acheville, mentioned in William Philip Simms' cable to-day as being under bombardment by the Germans is an important town three miles south-east of Lens, where the Canadian forces are known to be located. The Souchez River, also the scene of artillery activity, flows south-westward through the southern outskirts of Lens. Just east of Acheville is the famous Vimy Ridge.

Simms' despatch is the first mention of activity in this region since the start of the German drive.

It may presage a German attempt to start a thrust between Lens and Arras, with the object of cutting off the later city, which marks the northern point of the present drive.

Lloyd-George Appeals For Urgent Haste In the Matter of American Troop Movements to the Western Front.

NEW YORK, March 28.—An Associated Press despatch from Washington to-day says: "The appeal of Lloyd-George for urgent haste in American troop movements to France, read in New York last night by Lord Reading, the British Ambassador, was viewed here to-day as a call to the American people. British officials are already fully advised as to the situation here, and know that the American Government is straining every resource to get men to the front, and has confident hopes of placing a force of a million or more men in the field during the present year."

The task of moving men rests as much with the shipbuilders, both employees and employers, as with any Government agency.

French Regiments Fought Hand-to-Hand With the Enemy and Finally Fell Back to the Heights West of Montdidier.

PARIS, March 28.—(Official).—Block on Lassigny and Noyon fronts and on the left bank of the Oise, the Germans last night threw forward important forces in the region of Montdidier, the War Office announces today. Here the fighting repeatedly took on extraordinary ferocity. French regiments fought hand-to-hand with the enemy and inflicted heavy losses. Finally the French fell back to the heights immediately to the west of Montdidier.

FIELD MARSHAL HAIG REPLIES TO MESSAGE

LONDON, March 28.—In response to Premier Lloyd George's message to Field Marshal Haig that help was on the way, Field Marshal Haig to-day sent the following:

"The assurance that no effort will be spared at home to give us all assistance are of great encouragement to us. We will do all in our power to maintain the honour of the Empire in this hour of trial and to prove ourselves worthy of the trust reposed in us."

THE DANGER IS NOT OVER

Tone of Comment in London Press Is More Confident—Has Been a Week of Great Anxiety

MASSED ATTACKS REPELLED

London, Mar. 28.—The tone of the comments on the battle in the morning newspapers is more confident than at any time since the beginning of the great struggle, a week ago; at the same time the public are what might be expressed as "cautiously careful," as danger is not yet entirely over.

"It has been a week of greater anxiety than any since the first week of September, 1914," says the Daily News, "and the anxiety is by no means at an end."

"We must be careful not to lapse into excessive confidence," the Daily Mail says. "The battle is not over; the Germans are still pressing on in surprising numbers, but the allied reserves are coming into place."

Intensive Culture Of Potatoes By Mr. W. J. Oke This Year

Walter Oke's experiment with potatoes last year on the eighteen-acre field north of the limestone brick property proved an incentive to greater effort, and this spring he plans to plant the lot according to the most approved ideas. He is bringing in a car of early Irish Cobblers from New Brunswick, some of which will be available for other growers, and has already spread a car of manure which he bought from the Toronto Stock Yards. In addition to this fertilizer he has arranged for one hundred cart loads from local sources, and will provide every advantage for the special New Brunswick seed.

Mr. Oke was impressed by the results obtained by Mr. John Williams last summer. Mr. Williams had both Ontario and Maritime seed. They were planted in the same field, and under identical conditions, but the New Brunswick potatoes yielded fully twenty-five per cent. more Cobblers than the Ontario seed.

After a long winter's curling Mr. Oke doubtless turns eagerly to the soil. Instead of simply importing and selling vegetables and fruits, he may now be regarded as a real producer, and has done more than his share to reduce the prices to this year's basis of less than two dollars. And the decline has not halted yet.

WAS FOUND DEAD YESTERDAY AFTERNOON

Sherbrooke Street Resident Passed Away While Alone in the House

Kathrine Kertestson, 299 Sherbrooke street, wife of Elias Kertestson, a section man on the C.P.R., was found dead in her home yesterday afternoon at 4.45.

Mrs. Weir and Mrs. Dunsford, neighbours of Mrs. Kertestson, have been daily visitors at her home for some time because of the fact that she has not been very strong since last summer and yesterday, in accordance with her usual custom, Mrs. Weir called. Receiving no answer to her knocking at the door she walked in to find the old lady lying apparently asleep on the living room sofa. Further investigation found that she had simply slept away. Mrs. Weir notified Mr. Kertestson of his wife's death. Coroner Dr. Greer was called and pronounced death due to heart failure and no inquest was necessary.

Deceased was 76 years of age and came to Canada 45 years ago from Norway and for three years has been in the city. She leaves a daughter-in-law residing in Toronto and her grandson in Madoc. The remains will be taken to Belleville to-morrow. Service to-night, conducted by Rev. Mr. Mackenzie at Mr. Kertestson's residence.

RIGHT WING IS HOLDING

Hard Fighting Occurred at Several Points—British Are Keeping the Situation Well In Hand

ENEMY ATTACKS REPULSED

British Army Headquarters, in France.—(By the Associated Press.)—News received from the extreme right wing is that the allies are holding well. This refers to the southern section where the French have been falling back. Near Beaumont Hamel the enemy attacked heavily. Severe fighting followed. This morning it appeared that the village virtually was in no man's land, with the contending lines close on either side.

Hard fighting occurred at several points along the battle front during the night in consequence of heavy attacks. The latest reports indicate that the British have kept the situation well in hand.

FURTHER BOMBARDMENT.

The German artillery this morning put down an intense bombardment along the front between Aichville and the Souchese River, south of Lens, where the Canadians are. At the time of the filing of this despatch no infantry action had been reported.

The Germans made several assaults near Rosignol wood but on each attempt were driven back. Near Sally Laurette another sharp engagement occurred and here also the British advanced and secured prisoners.

The Germans are continuing to bring in artillery and rush in new troops from various parts of the line in preparation for the continuance of the drive.

Don't Delay Too Long In Arranging For Your Garden

The vacant lot section of the Greater Production Campaign reports encouraging progress on its front. Reports received by Mr. Ingram, assistant City Clerk, convey a promise that there will be more citizen soldiers of the soil this year than ever. Evidently the men and women have made a new resolve that they will assume as big a share of the work as the school children are undertaking. There are householders enquiring for garden places who were mere consumers last year. They have admitted that they depended upon the market gardeners, the farmers, and even the amateurs for their supplies of vegetables, and they deprived themselves of the pleasure of growing things. This year, they state, they purpose to be just as active as their neighbours, regular storm troops in the greater production drive.

If you have not yet made a move to obtain a garden lot, that is, if you need one, Mr. Ingram, assistant City Clerk, has a long list of names of property owners, from which you may make your own selection and arrange for your garden.

Easter Beef On Sale To-day

A NEW MOVEMENT.

An organization has been formed in Peterboro to provide, as its sponsors describe it, "a programme of activities for the older boys of the city during the summer months." The idea is to carry on the work under the Canadian standard efficiency test and to develop the boy, spiritually, morally, physically and socially.

If the boys to become members of the organization, are not old enough for military service, and are not able for some good reason or other to do their share in the food production campaign, as no doubt will be the case, the movement is a worthy one, and should be encouraged.

For the boys of the two classes named, there is no programme needed. The army or the farm will provide all the activities they will require during the coming months.

RED CROSS NO PROTECTION

Three years and eight months of observation of how Germany makes war has prepared the world for almost any kind of atrocity, so that the despatch sent from the war correspondents' headquarters in France, and read in the House by Premier Borden, will cause no surprise. The despatch tells of the deliberate violation by the Germans of Red Cross rules, their long range guns searching out and shelling hospitals which have been established for over two years, and whose location was well known to the Huns. Two Canadian casualty clearing stations, which for long months have worked unceasingly, were among those to suffer.

Not only have these hospitals been shelled by heavy guns, but they have been bombed by aeroplanes night after night.

The more the British people see how the Huns carry on warfare, the more determined becomes their decision that this must be the last war—that the Kaiser and his Junkers must not be left in a position to renew the terrible conflict after a few years of peace.

IF WE LOSE.

"The enemy must be brought to a submissive spirit and forced to grant everything we need in the future, especially in colonies and raw materials. —Cologne Volks Zeitung."

This significantly frank statement from an influential and well-informed German newspaper shows just what Canad can expect if we lose the war. There can be no doubt in any one's mind that this Dominion is one of the prizes which the Germans would like to claim, and the Volks Zeitung openly declares this to be the case.

Many enemies have tried the task of bringing the British people to a submissive spirit, however, and the Kaiser will find the same difficulty that the great Napoleon encountered.

THE FOOD BOARD.

Even the most ardent supporter of the Union Government can find little fault with Sir Wilfrid Laurier's grilling of the Canada Food Board in the House the other day. "The Food Board has done nothing of a drastic character to bring down the price of food" was the Liberal leader's charge. "In fact," he continued, "it has done nothing but provide for the payment of exorbitant salaries."

The figures quoted by Sir Wilfrid in regard to the Board's salary list were amazing. People complained of the expense under Mr. Hanna's regime when the early salaries totalled $38,000, but the Food Board has left this figure far behind. So far there have been ninety-nine appointments representing a cost per annum of $175,000, and other salaries bring the total up to $200,000, ranging from Chief of Staff at $4,500 to secretaries at $2,000 and $3,000, and stenographers at $1,200 a year.

TRUE PATRIOTISM.

Since the beginning of the war, there has been no more active citizen of Peterboro county in doing what he could to further the interests of Canada and the Empire than Col. Birdsall, of Asphodel, whose son, now Lieut.-Col. Birdsall, but better known to Peterboro members of the 1st Canadian contingent as Capt. Everett Birdsall, of the 2nd Battalion, was severely wounded in France, and is now on duty at Kingston.

An incident that shows the true patriotism of Col. Birdsall, has been related to The Examiner, and we venture to give it publicity because it sets an example of duty and self-sacrifice for us all.

Col. Birdsall happened to mention to a friend of his the other day that he was suffering considerably from rheumatism, and the friend, quite naturally, suggested that he should take a holiday in the south, believing that the warmer climate would prove beneficial.

"No," was Col. Birdsall's emphatic reply. "Our Empire and our Allies need food. I am a farmer, and I intend to stay home and grow all the food I can, rheumatism or no rheumatism."

If all our people showed the spirit of Col. Birdsall, and his gallant son, Canada would be doing her full share in the world war.

MACHINERY VERSUS MEN.

The interview with General Von Ludendorff, Chief Aide to Field Marshall Von Hindenburg, is a striking commentary on the difference between the German and the British methods. Ludendorff sneeringly refers to the British use of tanks and a multitude of machine guns, as "typical of their method of warfare." "They believed they could rely on the strength of machinery," comments the German leader.

Probably the German people at home waiting for the casualty lists to come from the western front, would prefer the British system to that of Von Hindenburg whose reckless throwing of his infantry into the battle has gained for him, it is true, some battered villages and considerable devastated territory, but has cost Germany a frightful toll of lives. The Huns are paying dearly for every foot they advanced. Correspondents graphically picture the huge gaps in the ranks of the attacking legions by the British gunners and machine gun companies, while the allied aeroplanes have dropped many tons of bombs on the enemy's reserves and torn marching troops to pieces by applying their machine guns into their formations.

EDITORIAL NOTES.

The Germans have lied so much and so often that few people believed them when they said they were going to start their offensive on March 21st.

It is not to be wondered at that the Canadian soldiers at the front are so splendid when there is so much military genius among the people at home. There are dozens of arm chair generals in Peterborough who know just what Haig should do.

Col. Mills truly said at the Veterans' banquet the other night that the present was not the time for people to throw up their hands.

One objection that rural membhad to the daylight savings measu was that putting the clock ahead would get the farmer up at an hour when it was impossible to work owing to the dew. Ask the hired man if the moisture on the grass ever prevented him from working.

Field Marshall Haig announces to his troops that the objection of the enemy is the destruction of the British army. Von Kluck tried that in the days when Britain only had "the contemptible little army."

ADDRESS AND PRESENTATION TO MISS AIMEE RATHBONE

Miss Aimee Rathbone, who recently left Peterborough to accept a position in Toronto, was presented with the following address of appreciation by Murray Street Baptist Church:

Peterborough, March 27, 1918.

Miss Aimee Rathbone, Peterborough.

Dear Miss Rathbone,—Many of your friends in the different departments of Murray Street Baptist Church were surprised to hear that a few weeks ago you had slipped away from us to take a position in Toronto. Learning that you are to be in Peterborough for the Easter season we are doing ourselves the pleasure of expressing our deep appreciation of your splendid work in our Church during the years you have been with us. We will greatly miss you in the Choir and Sunday School, but will expect to hear that your talents are being used in another department of the Master's vineyard.

Will you kindly accept the small token which goes with this letter and wear it for your friends who will always be interested in you.

Yours on behalf of your friends in Murray Street Church.

The gift was a piece of jewellery which is worthy of both the donors and the recipient.

A PRESENTATION

About thirty of the friends of Miss Nina Clark, 100 Dublin Street, met at her home last evening to present her with a beautiful birthday ring. Although taken by surprise Miss Clark made a gracious reply to the gift.

The following address was read and presentation made. A pleasant social evening was spent in games, music, and refreshments:

Miss N. Clark, 100 Dublin street.

Dearest Friend,—It is with the greatest pleasure that we, your many friends, are gathered here to-night on this your birthday, and we hope you will be spared with the best of health and happiness to enjoy many, many more.

We now ask you to accept this ring as a small token of the esteem in which you are held by your many friends. And may good luck and happiness be yours.

Signed on behalf of your friends—Mrs. B. Fitzgerald, Mrs. N. Stabler, Mr. J. Heran.

A Presentation To Miss Lillian Harris

To-day at noon the employees of the Colonial Weaving Co. assembled to bid farewell to Miss Lilian Harris, who for some six years has been stenographer at that factory. Miss Harris leaves to-night to take a similar position with Postmaster Edgar. A suitable address was read expressing the regret of those present over Miss Harris' departure and conveying best wishes for success in her new sphere of activities. The address was accompanied by the presentation of a handsome club bag.

FOUR SERVICES IN ST. JOHN'S CHURCH

There will be four services in St. John's church on Good Friday:

Morning Prayer and sermon, at 11.

Children's Lantern Service at 3.

Service of intercession for Allied Forces at 5.

"Olivet to Calvary," a solemn service of meditation, on the story of the Passion and Death of our Blessed Lord, told in solos and chorus, also illustrated by lantern slides. A hearty invitation is extended to all to come and spend an hour at the service at 8.

The Rev. Canon Morley, of St. Alban's Cathedral, will officiate on Good Friday and on Easter Day.

"O, come, and mourn with me awhile,"

"O, come ye to the Saviour's side,"

"O, come, together let us mourn,"

"Jesus, our Lord, is crucified."

NOTHING LIKE PHOSPHATE TO INCREASE STRENGTH, VIGOR AND NERVE FORCE

ORDINARY NITRO-PHOSPHATE WILL DOUBLE THE STRENGTH OF WEAK, DELICATE, NERVOUS PEOPLE IN TWO WEEKS' TIME IN MANY INSTANCES.

Weak nerves quickly reduce the strong and robust to an extremely pitiable condition and rob men and women of all the joys of life. Slowly and stealthily the health is destroyed, the poor sufferer only realizing the magnitude of his ailment when faulty memory, sleeplessness, indecision, lack of energy or other unmistakable symptoms indicate weak nerves. Then it is a serious and dangerous mistake to resort to the use of so-called tonics, alcoholic or drug stimulants.

Weak and exhausted nerves need food and nourishment—not stimulants that lash them into temporary activity. The food and nourishment advised by present day physicians is just one 5-grain tablet of pure nitro-phosphate taken during or immediately after each meal. Simple advice, but its soundness has been proven over and over again.

Moreover the genuine standard nitro-phosphate is inexpensive and is sold by McDermid & Jury and most all good druggists under a binding guarantee of satisfaction or money back.

A Showing of New Spring Waists at $4.25

Including the newest creations of New York designers and the identical models now being shown in certain exclusive city shops along Fifth Avenue. Waists of sheer organdies and voiles, as well as tub silks and crepes. One waist which has attracted attention is of a taffeta silk and shows a striking and unique combination of sports colours, trimmed with small buttons of the same material. This group offers some particularly fine values.

400 Women's Spring House Dresses at $1.25 each

Hats of Satin and Straw $6.00 each

What strides millinery designers have taken! Who would think that a piece of satin and a straw shape could be so intermingled as to produce a thousand and one entirely different ideas. Such are the satin and straw hats of the Spring, 1918. It would be impossible to picture all in this small space, or even a dozen of the hats in this group.

Coats for Motor, Travel and General Wear Express Originality in Every Detail

And it is here that our buying power finds best expression, for you will find in this choice assortment smart-looking, serviceable Coats as low as $16.00. Styles that particular women demand, and fabrics that are featured in New York Fifth Avenue shops at very much higher prices.

The Trench Coat has many devotees this season. Made of light-weight Melton, convertible collar and four pockets. Utility Coats of English tweeds may be used for travelling and general wear. Prices start at $20.00.

Drawers, 25c to 50c—Tucked and finished with lace. Felled seams; of good quality muslin and nainsook.

Neckwear Delightful

Among the new pieces are those of lace and net, sets of pique, sheer organdies, and silk crepes. We want to draw your particular attention to the Peter Pan Collar; for dash and youthfulness, nothing we've yet seen comes up to them. Starting with 75c for a collar, prices rise by easy stages to $2.00 for sets.

Hairbow Ribbons for School Children 15c yard

Probably the children's ribbons are beginning to show frazzled edges, and will not stand up any longer. For the smallest outlay, you can lay in another generous supply of these silk ribbons. May be had in plain or fancy weaves; all colours and black or white.

Women are Buying Two and Three Skirts at One Time

As one woman said, "I came here with the intention of spending about $5 or so for a skirt. As it is, here I have two skirts, and if I had the money with me I would buy another." There are mixtures, pin checks, diagonals, wool poplins, serges, velours, corduroys, satins and the new silks. Aside from the combinations and blendings which in themselves are a beautiful contrast these skirts show unique patch pockets and belts.

Crompton Corsets $1.50

Two distinct models. One has a low bust with long, straight hips and the other has low bust, medium length skirt and free hips. Made of brocaded or fancy white material. Two pairs of hose supporters.

Interesting Meeting Held At The Salvation Army Temple

Seven Missionaries From the Far East Addressed the Meeting in the Interests of the India Mission Work—His Honour Judge Huycke Presided

Missionaries and more missionaries was the S.O.S. message brought from the eight hundred million souls in India by the seven missionaries who spoke last night at the Salvation Army Temple, Simcoe street. Hundreds from practically every denomination heard with keen interest the appeals and testimonials of the representatives from the far east who spoke, wearing the native costumes of India.

Introduced by Col. Jacobs.

Colonel Jacobs, who introduced the missionaries, explained how Peterborough and other cities of the Dominion had received the privilege of hearing the speakers. Through the courtesy of the British government they were able to leave England and return to resume their mission work in India by way of Canada.

Judge Huycke.

Judge Huycke, who was chairman of the evening, expressed his pleasure at being amongst a gathering who are so great an asset to England as the missionaries.

Col. Stevens.

Col. Stevens, of South India, who has already spent 30 years amongst the natives, told of the difficulty of breaking through the caste system of India. There are, he said, hundreds converted every year, but these conversions lie chiefly amongst the seventy million outcasts, and it was amongst these that the Salvation Army work has been developed. So far, however, extensive work has been hampered by lack of missionaries and money. Colonel Tucker, formerly Judge Tucker, first appreciated the asset the Salvation Army would be to do the mission work and headed the movement, first realizing that to make an effective appeal the customs and dress of the nation must be adopted, thus making the people feel that the army belonged to them. He told of the appeal made by the government to the Salvation Army to take over the thieving caste and left the story of their success to Mrs. Adjutant Mabe.

Mrs. Col. Hepsy.

Mrs. (Col.) Hepsey, editor of the Indian War Cry, illustrated the effect of the work done by the missionaries by a typical tale of the result. She told of how at the death of an rajah her two little children had been entrusted to the care of an English lady who promised to educate them to be Christians. The little girl was turned over to the Salvation Army, but the father refused to have the boy Christianized and sent him to North India. The constant prayer of the little girl was answered when her little brother escaped from his uncle and returned through the Salvation Army to his sister. The moral effect of this was very great on all who witnessed and strengthened the faith of the new Christians.

Mrs. Adjutant Mabe.

Mrs. Adjutant Mabe, whose seven years' work had been amongst the criminal caste, told of the 41 settlements covered by the missionaries. Her story of conversions amongst the criminals, which class are a menace to all India, were most interesting. Criminals whose mode of robbery embraced such methods as digging holes in mud huts, stupifying the inmates with drugs and making off with the plunder have been and are converted into God-fearing men who take up the further work of the Army.

The Medical Mission.

Mrs. Ensign Mortimer, who represented the medical mission, told of the dread of the Indian for modern methods of medicine and surgery. The gods are tried first. When failing a cure the poor patient is turned over with little hope of recovery to the medical mission. Starting with 12 patients, her hospital grew until 12,000 have been treated in three years, and of these 12,000 not one has died in hospital. Mrs. Mortimer made a stirring plea for help in the medical mission.

Border of Tibet.

Col. Stevens' tale of his work amongst the natives on the border of Tibet was of great interest. He went amongst the people dressed in their garb and eat their food and so now the confidence and love of the outcasts, the people whose god is a god of anger, are hard to convince, but in his work, Col. Stevens had seen village after village converted to Christianity. He, too, made a plea for more missions.

The Music.

A trio of Punjabi missionaries gave a song in Indian and Capt. Duce a solo in Japanese. The band afforded excellent music.

Combing Won't Rid Hair Of Dandruff

The only sure way to get rid of dandruff is to dissolve it, then you destroy it entirely. To do this get about four ounces of ordinary liquid arvon; apply it at night when retiring; use enough to moisten the scalp and rub it in gently with the finger tips.

Do this to-night, and by morning most if not all, of your dandruff will be gone and three or four more applications will completely dissolve and entirely destroy every single sign and trace of it, no matter how much dandruff you may have.

You will find, too, that all itching and digging of the scalp will stop at once, and your hair will be fluffy, lustrous, glossy, silky and soft, and look and feel a hundred times better.

You can get liquid arvon at any drug store. It is inexpensive and never fails to do the work.

A tremendous vogue for silks is indicated now that silk is the one fabric not especially necessary to the military establishment. You can buy and wear all you like of it without being considered unpatriotic.

PROVISION STORES ARE CLOSING DOWN

Matthews-Blackwell Company Going Out of the Retail Business

MONTREAL, March 28.—All the retail butcher stores of the Matthews-Blackwell Co., will be closed in Montreal as soon as arrangements can be made.

The demand made by the Government for the curtailment of beef and bacon is given as the reason for the closing down.

"Yes, we are closing down our retail butcher stores in Montreal," was the information given by the manager of the Matthews-Blackwell Co. "We are going out of the retail business and devoting all our energies to the packing business."

"This company has no retail stores of Toronto, but has several at Ottawa and Peterborough. As yet, however, the company has not come to any conclusion with regard to closing these additional branches."

When asked what had led to these methods of retrenchment, Albert Blackwell, Montreal manager, said that his firm intended to confine itself to wholesale trade, as business under wartime conditions was becoming increasingly difficult. Supplies of meat were scarce, and labour was very hard to find. Prices had soared to such a point that it was impossible to look to precedents for guidance. In addition the demands made by the Government for the conservation of beef and bacon had considerably curtailed the sales of the two chief items of their business. Mr. Blackwell was most emphatic when discussing the needs of the Allies.

"Every time a Montreal housewife asks for a ham or a side of bacon, it means that we cut up another half carcass intended for the Allies. The only pork products that I consider it legitimate for Canadians to use are sausages and pork tenderloin."

JEWS CELEBRATING FEAST OF PASSOVER

PETERBORO MEMBERS OF THE FAITH WILL OBSERVE THE OCCASION.

Jews of all classes, reform and orthodox, assembled in their homes last evening to commemorate [illegible] liverance of their forefathers from the bondage of the Egyptians, for when the sun set last night the Feast of the Passover began.

The ancient festival, perhaps the oldest of all religious holidays, will last eight days, and will be signalized by solemn services and the recounting of the ancient struggle for liberty.

This year throughout all Jewry the great week will be of solemn rejoicing, in that a new deliverance has been wrought for Israel by the wresting of the Holy City from the Turk, and because sons of the Synagoge are arming themselves in many lands to go forth to regain all Palestine for the chosen.

A Marvellous Medicine For Little Ones

Mrs. Delvina Pelletier, Ste. Perpetue, Que., writes: "I have much pleasure in stating that Baby's Own Tablets have been a marvellous medicine in the case of my baby. I have been using the Tablets for four years and don't think there is anything to equal them." In using the Tablets the mother has the guarantee of a government analyst that they do not contain one particle of opiates or other harmful drugs—they cannot possibly do harm—they always do good. The Tablets are sold by medicine dealers or by mail at 25 cents a box from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

CLAIMS ALLIES HAVE A MOBILE ARMY

The Time For a Counter Stroke is at Hand

Canadian Press Despatch:

WASHINGTON, March 28.—The Allies have a mobile army of 800,000 men ready to strike at the faltering Germans, and the time for the stroke is here, a high American army officer stated to-day.

It is possible that 100,000 American troops are available for this huge manoeuvre force to be thrown against the Teutons, he added.

MIDDLESEX FARMERS IN THE FIELDS.

Middlesex farmers claim that farm work will be in full progress during the coming week. One farmer, a resident of Caradoc, was on his land last Monday with a disc harrow. Seeding will be begun next week, it is claimed.

RED LIGHTS FOR FIRE ALARM BOXES FOR NIGHT GUIDES

To indicate, after dark, the location of the fire alarm boxes, Chief Grange has suggested that red lights be placed over them. He intends to put this plan into effect at Box 23, at the corner of George and Hunter streets, to test its efficiency and, incidentally, to demonstrate that, as a precaution, it should not be delayed in its extension over the entire system. For Chief Grange is convinced that this "safety first" measure is needed for the guidance of citizens who at any time may have to turn in an alarm at night. In their own neighbourhood they may not have familiarized themselves with the position of the boxes, and should they discover a fire in another section they wouldn't know which way to turn to find the nearest box. In such cases the red lights could be plainly seen at distances of many blocks. The lamps, Chief Grange suggested, could be erected on arms at street corners or dropped several feet from the posts in order that they would have an unobstructed view from all directions.

MEN ARE FIGHTING SO WOMEN MUST WORK

In Great Britain and France you don't see able-bodied men behind store counters, wrapping up neckties, fitting shoes, measuring off calico, dispensing soda water, wrapping up flowers and serving trinkets in jewellery stores.

Neither are able-bodied men shining shoes for other men. Neither are they waiting on table at lunch counters, or hotels. Nor do you see able-bodied male book-keepers, typists, tailors, street car conductors, elevator operators, etc. In fact you don't see able-bodied men doing any job that a woman can do without sacrifice of true womanhood or health. The old saying, "Men must work, and women must weep," has gone into the discard. It now is, "Men are fighting, so women must work."

24,000 To Be Spent On Victoria County Roads This Year

At a meeting of the Good Roads Committee of the County Council, held Tuesday afternoon, it was decided to adopt the route in Ops Township, asdesignated, instead of following the slanting road from Walker's to Reaboro.

In opening the meeting Clerk McNeillie informed the committee that they would have about $24,000 to spend instead of $30,000 as stated formerly.

Re the Ops road, Mr. McNeillie stated there really was no justification in making any deviation in the original good roads system. It should be turned onto the slanting road from Walker's to Reaboro. The secondary consideration is that the County Council should not be burdened with the upkeep of that slanting road.

Reeve Wilson—"The ratepayers of Emily and Omemee want that angle road."

Clerk McNeillie—"The Government would never acknowledge that slanting road."—Lindsay Warder.

"OH, BOY!"

The Boston Company to Be Seen Here

"Oh, Boy!" which has scored the biggest musical comedy success scored since the days of "Floradora," will come to the Grand, on Monday next, April 1st.

'Oh, Boy!" is now running in its sixth month of popularity in Chicago, and the company to be seen here at the Grand comes direct from a five months' run in Boston.

F. Ray Comstock and William Elliott, who produced this clever musical comedy, are determined that Peterboro shall see 'Oh, Boy!" at its best, and arranged that the Boston company, which includes Harold Crane, Helen Shipman, Irene Haisman, Charles Compton, Joseph Allen, Harry Quealy, Gilberta Faust, Stella St. Audrie, Ethel Forde, Ralph O'Brien, Jack Raffael Caroline Bisland, Evelyn Dorn, Jack Osterman, and others, should fill the local engagement. Thirteen of the prettiest and most capable girls obtainable will appear in the ensemble wearing ultra smart gowns. The book is by Guy Bolton and P. G. Wodehouse, the two most popular librettists of the present day, while the music is by Jerome Kern, composer of some of the most successful musical shows of recent years.

DAYLIGHT SAVING BILL WILL SAVE COAL AND LIGHT.

The daylight saving bill when it becomes law (as it undoubtedly will in the course of a few days) will have the effect of cutting off an hour of lighting at night. It has been estimated that this will mean a saving to the light users of Peterboro of several hundred dollars worth and a saving in coal of approximately two hundred tons of coal for one year.

Married A Quarter Of A Century

Twenty five happy married years, is the record of Mr. and Mrs. Wm. James, who on Tuesday night celebrated their silver wedding at their home, 21 Crescent street.

About sixty friends and relatives gathered at their home to celebrate the event and a delightful evening was spent in cards, dancing and music. A pretty feature of the evening was the cutting by Mrs. James of a large wedding cake, which was placed in a most attractive setting on the table of roses, carnations and smilax.

AFTER THE SUPPER.

After supper Mr. and Mrs. James were heartily congratulated by Mr. Frank Pratt and Mr. Sam. Jordan on their reaching so happy a time as their silver wedding after so long a period of life, unmarred by sorrows.

To these congratulatory speeches Mr. James made a brief response on behalf of himself and his wife, thanking the many visitors for the beautiful silver gifts which they had received.

The entertainment continued until an early hour in the morning, when the merry makers departed with the hope that Mr. and Mrs. James may have many more years as happily spent as those they have left behind.

PETER ROBINSON CHAPTER.

The Peter Robinson Chapter will hold their regular bi-weekly tea on Saturday afternoon at the Empress Hotel. Miss Gladys Cameron will be the hostess. As the call for funds for the support of prisoners of war in Germany is greater this year than ever before, and the money raised is devoted to the purpose of supporting prisoners of war, the Chapter hopes for a response by a large attendance.

Those who will assist are Mrs. C. Parsons, Misses Madge Graham, Mabel and Grace Patterson, Genevieve Sullivan, Phyllis Dawson, Marie McCarthy, Marion Grieve and Bessie Reid.

..Sometimes it is easier to apologize for what you did not do than for what you did wrong.

ALL EXEMPTED MEN.

Sixty-five from Montreal for Nobel were held up Here.

Sixty-five exemption cards were scanned by the police this morning when they held up a party of Montreal men who were passing through the city to the munitions plant at Nobel. Sergt. Read and several constables looked the contingent over at the C.P.R. station while they were waiting for the Port McNichol train.

Every man produced the official paste board, a pasport that many a potential hero guards more contentedly than a hero wears a military medal, or the service button.

Easter Time Showing of the Best of 1918's New Styles

Pre-Easter selling has enabled us to judge accurately which of the season's modes are particularly approved by our patrons. With this as our guide, we have chosen with a degree of certainty that assures our showings of meeting your every requirement.

Further evidence of our thorough understanding is portrayed in the variety of individual styles included in these assortments—permitting you to have garments as exclusive as though they were specially designed for you.

The Splendid Silhouette is a Noted Feature at the

New Silk and Wool Dresses

Bizarre and doubtful styles are conspicuously absent, for we have thoughtfully selected those models which combine quiet, elegance and evident quality. Suits are practical, yet pretty, lacking nothing in charm because they are serviceable. Though all conform to the slender-lined, short coated styles of Spring, each finds ways of being individual; the popular tans and greys, and interspersed with many of the ever wanted darker shades.

Here Are the Easter Suits

—in a handsome variety of trim, new styles, embracing every feature of the Spring modes which are accorded favor

Though simple in character there are many different treatments of sleeves, girdles; many types of overskirts, many novel embroidered effects and quaint beaded designs which provide the deserved note of individuality.

There is a wonderful variety in materials and colors, too, in both silks and woollen weaves.

For any occasion you'll find dresses in our collection at prices that will meet with your approval.

Blouses Entirely New

Introduced in Our Easter Displays

Though novel in design and trimming the new blouses are very practical. Pretty cotton novelties in stripes, plaids and checks, strike a note entirely new, while simpler modes of sheer silks and cottons depend upon hand ornamentation to secure the many different effects. Metal, chenile and all silk embroideries appear in handsome designs.

The selection of your Spring blouse is sure to be a pleasure for we have provided an abundance of the newest and prettiest styles.

The New Spring Coats

Admirably Combine Protection, Comfort and Style

Though graceful pleats and gathers conceal the fullness of these pretty Coats and make them appear slender-lined and very trim when standing, you'll quickly discover that they are wide enough to afford protection when seated—a point that will appeal to every motorist. Novel belts and collars and unusual effects in trimming enhance the beauty of the gabardines, serges, and velours of which they are made; tans, beige, grey and blues are the favord colors.

Easter Display of Lovely New Skirts

And what wonderful variety! Though there are many of woollen weaves, silks of many sorts are more in evidence than they have ever been before.

The unusual pockets, novel girdles and belts, and the profusions of new ideas in styling would assure their popularity, even though they were not the most practical and necessary garment in every wardrobe. Nor must you neglect, as you admire them, to notice the excellence of their tailoring for it assures pleasing appearance throughout hard wear.

Handsome Hosiery

Though correct shade and finish are essential, it is well to consider the quality of the gloves you buy this Spring. We are featuring fabric, silk and kid in the new colors, that will give good service; styles for dress, driving or sports.

Gloves for Style and Service

Every woman knows the importance of beautiful hose, particularly when wearing low shoes. Here are plain or embroidered styles to harmonize with the new colors in costumes and shoes.

Spring in the Dress Good Section

Comprehensive showing of silks, wool materials, and cotton fabrics have been assembled for Easter display. Taffetas, satins, crepes, and foulards, all shown in plain colors and dainty designs. Gabardines and serges, are also prominently featured as are voiles, organdies, crepes, poplins, and ginghams. Tans, greys and blues are interspersed with many novelty combinations.

The New Wash Goods

Every part of this store radiates the spirit of Spring. In the Wash Goods section new merchandise greets you on every hand. Qualities have been kept up to our usual high standard, and prices are most reasonable in spite of recent advances.

Handbags Are Popular

Though usefulness is one reason for their continued favor, the beauty of the new bead, silk or leather bags will add charm to any Spring Costume. The new colorings are exceedingly rich as you'll discover when you see them.

Consider Well Your Hat

Though the slender Models of Spring further the popularity of small hat styles many pleasing wider brimmed shapes are shown. 'Twould be folly to have a small hat if a large one were more becoming. Our displays show careful consideration of all individual needs.

While there is very little radical change in the general style from that of the previous season, the many new and novel touches produce effects which are decidedly different and pronounce our millinery to be distinctly 1918.

PRIZE-WINNERS IN THE BIRD-HOUSE COMPETITION

Two Prizes Awarded to Each of the Public Schools of the City

The prizes for bird houses so generously donated by Mr. Robert Neill, were awarded this afternoon to the successful boys and girls.

The prizes were awarded on suitability and workmanship and the three judges were delighted with the ingenuity, artistic effect and workmanship displayed.

Each school receives two prizes and the winners are as follows:

Central School—1 John Yarnold, 2 Stanley Watson.

King Edward—1 Paul Trussler, 2 Jack Taylor.

Queen Mary—1 Wilfred McElhiney, 2 Reg. McIntyre.

King George—1 Floyd Curtis, 2 Roy Taylor.

South Central—1 Harold Cranfield, 2 George Cunningham.

Queen Alexandra—1 Lionel Brown, 2 A. H. Johnston.

Sacred Heart—1 Joseph Paquette, 2 Gladys Cook.

Immaculate Conception— 1 Arthur Malone, 2 Charles Leibers.

St. Peter's— 1 Wilfrid Lajeunesse, 2 Emmett Donoghue.

St. Mary's Convent —1 Bernadette Lajeunesse, 2 Grace Sharp.

The Judges.

The judges of the bird houses were a particularly happy choice, all three, Mr. Charles Westlake, Mr. Edwin Elcombe and Mr. T. H. G. Denne being well qualified for the position.

Took Their Photos.

After the judging was completed the proud owners arranged their handiwork in front of Mr. Neill's store, when Mr. Fred Roy obtained some excellent photos.

The Presentation.

The presentation took place this afternoon in Neill's store, when a small army of excited youngsters and proud parents gathered for the event at 3.30.

Another Original First Is Home

LANCE-CORP. THOS. LEVOIR,
A Peterborough "Original First," home on furlough. He was wounded twice and gassed while fighting with the 2nd Battalion.

France on ten weeks' furlough. Lance-Corp. Levoir was one of three brothers who enlisted here in August, 1914, with the 57th Regiment's quota to the 1st Canadian Division. One of the brothers, Pte. Robert Levoir, who was invalided home from overseas, died here and another brother, Pte. Wm. Levoir, was wounded at Givenchy and is now in Toronto.

Lance Corp. Levoir says that there are very few of the original Peterborough men left on duty with the 2nd Battalion.

Voice of The People

To the Editor of The Examiner:

Dear Sir,—May we call attention through the columns of your newspaper to the special service of Prayer and Intercession for the Allied Armies on Saturday, March 30th, at four p.m. in the Murray St. Baptist Church?

It is felt that many of the women and girls employed by the merchants of the city would like to be present at this service, if they could be spared from their duties at this hour.

A very large proportion of our women will undoubtedly be gathered together for prayer and intercession at this time, and the majority of farmers' families will be on their way home, this should mean a slackening of business during the hour from four to five o'clock.

Is it possible for the shopping public, the merchants, and the employees to co-operate so that a portion of the women employees might be released for this hour of prayer, or for a part of it.

Easter Railway Rates Increased Over Last Year's

There is a special Easter fare on the railways, but it is not the rate the holiday crowd expected. In fact it is the regular every day rate plus the fifteen per cent. increase recently sanctioned by the Union government, which evaded the railway problem by thus boosting the freight and passenger rates in lieu of granting the loans that were suggested. Hence the Easter journeyers will be doing their bit by patronizing the railways on the holiday week end, and incidentally prove the wisdom of the Government's course. The public has the money, and is a free spender. It's a wise government that knows its people and their patience.

The first of the holiday crowd were the home-going Normalites who flocked to the G.T.R. trains to-day with not a sign of that school "marm" air about them that will eventually settle upon them.

Passenger traffic has been heavy during the past two weeks, and the freight business into and out of Peterborough, since the snow disappeared, has been exceedingly brisk.

Restore Regular Service.

On April 28th the trains cancelled on March 3rd will be restored. The reduction of the regular service was necessitated by the congestion of freight and the problem of quickly delivering it, and also by a desire to conserve coal. It has been stated that the improvised plans for meeting the difficulties that were multiplying at that time was entirely satisfactory. It is no longer required, however, and the regular schedule will be restored on April 28th.

THE REPORT IS NOT CONFIRMED

(Special to Examiner.)

Ottawa, March 28.—No confirmation of the despatch that the Canadians have been heavily engaged with the enemy has been received by the Minister of Militia.

THREE HUNDRED TURKS CAPTURED

Canadian Press Despatch:

LONDON, March 28. —The entire Turkish force in Hit, Mesopotamia, has been captured or destroyed by the British, the War Office announced. Three hundred prisoners were taken.

Canadian Press Despatch:

Hit is on the Euphrates River, one hundred miles west of Bagdad. The town was evacuated by the Turks on March 9th. The Turks fell back to Khan-Baghdadi, 22 miles above Hit, before the British column operating along the Euphrates, which has been conducting a vigorous and successful campaign.

Dr. E. V. Frederick Is Stationed In Bagdad

A communication has been received from Dr. E. V. Frederick, who formerly practiced medicine in Peterborough and who is now a Captain with the Royal Army Medical Corp, and a member of the British Mesopotamia Expeditionary Forces. Dr. Frederick is a Surgical Superintendent at No. One Indian Hospital, at Bagdad, and has a staff of three British and two Indian Medical Officers with him.

ONE THOUSAND BEDS.

There are nearly one thousand beds in the Hospital and Dr. Frederick reports that he is fairly busy. Fifty wounded had come in the night before he wrote his letter.

Dr. Frederick commends very highly the vigorous and systematic sweeping — of the Turks by the British forces have started.

NEW INSTRUCTIONS BY LICENSE BOARD

Inspectors Warned to Allow No Deliveries by Carters.

TORONTO, March 28.—The Ontario License Board yesterday sent out to license inspectors throughout the province a definite statement of the position the board takes in reference to the Federal order-in-Council in connection with the shipment of liquor in Ontario. The board declares that the amended order permitting delivery after April 1st of liquor actually shipped before the 1st day of April will be interpreted as meaning "that where shipments are made to Ontario from outside the province or are made from one point in Ontario to anothr, where the railway or express companies are used for transportation, such shipments must be actually in the hands of the railway or express company for shipment not later than Saturday midnight, March 30th."

The board expresses the opinion that the absolute prohibition after April 1st applies where direct deliveries are made from brewery or distillery without using the railway or express companies.

ASK HALF BILLION TO CARRY ON WAR

OTTAWA, March 27. — Canada's war appropriation to be voted this session will be for an amount not exceeding $500,000,000. Sir Robert Borden has given notice of a resolution asking Parliament to authorize this expenditure. It is as follows:

Resolved, that it is expedient to provide that a sum not exceeding five hundred million dollars ($500,000,000) be granted to his Majesty towards defraying any expenses that may be incurred by or under the authority of the Governor-in-Council, during the year ending the 31st day of March, 1919, for:

(a) The defence and security of Canada.

(b) The conduct of naval or military operations in and beyond Canada.

(c) Promoting the continuance of trade, industry and business communications, whether by means of insurance or indemnity against war risk or otherwise.

(d) The carrying out of any measures deemed necessary or advisable by the Governor-in-Council in consequence of the existence of a state of war; and,

(e) Payments made for the said purposes, during the fiscal year ending the 31st day of March, 1918, in excess of the amounts authorized by the War Appropriation Act, 1917.

Alex. Gordon's Display Of Easter Meats

Some of the best Easter Meats in Canada will be found at Alex. Gordon's Meat Market, George street, on Easter Saturday. You will find among other toothsome cuts:

Prime Beef, from choice young steers, fed by the well known stock raiser, Mr. D. Dodds, of Monaghan, weighing 720 lbs. It's a pleasure to cut such meat.

Extra choice young Pork and Veal Calves, from some of the best farmers in the district.

Spring Lambs, that took a whole lot of money to get them, and that will please any epicure.

Also, an abundance of Fancy Meats, Sugar Cured Hams, Sausage, etc., etc.

Order early and lessen the rush on Saturday.

ALEX. GORDON,
Phone 34. 461 George Street.

The Public schools of the city closed to-day at noon until Monday, April 8th. The Normal School also closed, and will re-open on Tuesday, April 9th.

BANK CLEARINGS FOR THE WEEK

Clearings for the week ending 28th March, 1918, $572,787; same week last month, $563,492; same week last year, $468,790; same week two years ago, $433,603.

BRITISH GAINS

London, March 28.—In the last 24 hours the Germans have made but one comparatively trifling gain as a result of numerous massed attacks along the whole British front, says Reuter's correspondent at the British headquarters.

For the British there may be claimed several distinct local successes, either in completely repelling enemy blows or in wresting back ground won by counter attacks.

ALL SAINTS' NOTICES.

There will be two services at All Saints' Church on Good Friday:

11 a.m., Regular morning prayer, with sermon by the Rector.

Hymn 640, "There is a Green Hill Far Away."

Hymn 662, "When I Survey the Wondrous Cross."

Hymn 534, "Lord, as to Thy dear cross we flee."

EVENING SERVICE.

8 p.m., The choir will sing Stainer's Crucifixion.

Soloists: Bass, Mr. T. H. Boddy, Mr. W. Gatfield; tenor, Mr. J. Raybould, Mr. George Chandler, Mr. George Gladwin, Mr. W. Barry.

Contralto, Miss D Rathbone.

Violinist, Miss Lora Logan

Organist, Miss Flowers.

Conductor, Mr. George Chandler.

Sir John Stainer was a choir boy in St. Paul's Cathedral, London, when 7 years old. At the age of 30 he was elected to the post of organist there, a position he filled from 1872-1888. In 1887 he composed the music to "The Crucifixion," and it has lived in the memories of the people the world over, and increased in popularity with age. His other notable compositions are "The Gideons," "Daughters of Jarius," "St. Mary Magdalen" and a number of hymns, tunes, anthems, etc.

He was knighted by Queen Victoria in 1888. Born June 6, 1840, London; died March 31st, 1901, Verona.

Hanna's Food Dept. Cost Country $200,000, Worse Now

Sir Wilfrid Laurier Said Nothing Had Been Done to Control Prices

OTTAWA, March 27—In the House this afternoon Sir Wilfrid Laurier led a strong Liberal offensive against the Food Controller's Department. The report of Hon. W. J. Hanna had just been laid on the table showing that the expenditure for the six months of his regime totalled $200,000, when Sir Wilfrid arose, and speaking to a resolution for more papers, proceeded to read orders-in-council already on hand and to comment thereon. "The Food Board has done nothing of a drastic character to bring down the price of food," he charged. "In fact, it has done nothing but provide for the payment of exorbitant salaries."

This had been bad enough under Mr. Hanna's regime, he said, when salaries totalled $38,000, but since the formation of the War Food Board it had grown worse, and he proceeded to read a list of 92 appointees whose salaries totalled $175,000, with enough others to bring the total salary list up to $200,000 per annum. These salaries graded from chief of staff at $4,500 down to extensive lists of secretaries at $2,000 and $3,000, and stenographers at $1,200 per year.

DUE TO SHORTAGE.

Sir George Foster, in reply, said the Food Control Board was in the department of Hon. Wesley Rowell, but in the absence of the President of the Council, he would try and give some of the information asked for. He contended high prices in Canada were due to shortage of supplies and lack of transportation facilities. Hoarding and speculation were trivial factors. The food controller's business was to control food, not prices.

Sir Wilfrid said that the statements of the Prime Minister yesterday with regard to the battle on the western front indicated that it was going to be a very long war. If this battle should prove disastrous and the Germans should enter Paris, it would not end the war. Every one who knew the point of view of the French people, was satisfied that they would continue the struggle to the bitter end. The British were also determined to see it through.

Sir Wilfrid drew attention to the fact that, so far in the war, there had not been a single decisive victory with the possible exception of the battle of the Marne. Ever since that battle the allies had pursued a policy of attrition. This plan would have been successful in all probability, and Germany might now have been defeated had not the collapse of Russia broken the allied ring or iron around the central powers. The collapse of Russia, combined with the German submarine warfare had been a blow to the allies.

ANNUAL MEMORIAL SERVICE AT TEMPLE

The great annual memorial service to departed comrades and friends of the Salvation Army will be held tomorrow night at the Salvation Army Temple.

Over 200 slides will be used, not only of members of the Army, but many others, including the victims of the Empress of Ireland, and some of the latest photos of the Halifax disaster.

OVERCOME WITH WEAKNESS.

Elderly Man Taken Ill At the Market To-day.

Joseph Byers, who lives in the block on Water Street, opposite the market, was overcome with what was apparently a heart weakness this afternoon in the Market Arcade. The police assisted him to his rooms, and finally produced a stimulant, which completely revived him.

PTE. BULLIED HOME.

Wounded Twice—He has Landed at Halifax.

Mrs. Silas Bullied, 231 Princess St. has received word that Pte. Richard Bullied has landed safely at Halifax, and is on his way home. He was twice wounded. He was first a casualty a year ago last May, and the second time at Vimy Ridge, on April 9th of last year.

ANOTHER AVIATOR MEETS DEATH.

Canadian Press Despatch:

FORT WORTH, Texas, March 28. — A cadet of the Royal Flying Corps was killed at noon to-day at Benbook, a British aviation field. He is the forty-fifth aviator to meet death since the fields were opened here in October.

LIQUOR SHIPMENTS CHOKE RAILWAY LINES.

MONTREAL, March 28.—Strenuous efforts are being made to get supplies of liquor sent from Montreal to Ontario before the dry Order-in-Council bans the transportation of liquor to prohibition provinces goes into effect in April.

"They are trying to rush into a week's business more than a month's ordinary supply," said the general manager of one of the express companies. "We cannot get cars sufficient to handle all the business.

Services Not Required by Canadian Army Medical Corps.

Toronto, March 27.—Captain Geo. Taylor, of the Canadian Army Medical Corps, who some time ago gained considerable notoriety by reason of his statements regarding alleged drunkenness among Canadian troops for which statements he was subsequently sentenced to three months' imprisonment, is struck off the strength of the C.E.F. Ottawa merely states that his services are no longer required.

HASTINGS IN DESPAIR AS PEOPLE DEPART

Population Scarcely Half of What It Was Thirty Years Ago.

The population of Hastings is steadily declining and the Star reflects a feeling of despair as it contemplates the past and present of the Trent village. It says:

We hear reports that several families are soon to leave town to reside elsewhere, there being nothing here for the heads of these families to do to supply the daily bread since the loss of the tannery. Is anything being done to try and get industries to come here so as to keep these people here? and also to add more instead of diminishing it? If something is not done soon we might as well have some one preach the burial service and bury it and forget such a place as Hastings ever existed. It seems strange that 30 years ago this town had a population of over double what it is now.

A town with the families we have here for industries should have a population of at least 5,000 instead of about 600, and be getting better instead of worse.

At one time a Board of Trade was organized here, but guess they must have died with the town, although we have heard nothing of the funeral.

Wake up, there's a war on.

TWO SHELLS IN ONE FROM MYSTERY GUN

PARIS, March 27.—The calibre of the shells that are being fired into Paris by the German long-range gun is 8.8 inches and the length of the shell is twenty inches L'Homme Libre, Premier Clemenceau's newspaper states. The shell weighs 200 pounds and contains less than 20 pounds of explosive.

The shell is provided with a fuse protected by a threaded stopper, and has a diaphragm inside which divides the shell into compartments of unequal size. Two holes in the diaphragm afford communication between the two pockets.

These facts are accepted as an explanation of the two explosions which on occasions have followed in quick succession and which led to the belief that two guns were firing.

RUSSIA MUST FIGHT OR BECOME ENSLAVED

PARIS, March 28 — The statement that Leon Trotzky has approached the entente with a new proposal, manifesting a desire to organize military resistance to the Germans, with the eventual support of the French military missions, appears in the Petit Parisien.

SAWMILLS BURN.

London, March 27.—The sawmills of the Canadian Forestry Corps, at Virginia Water, Windsor, were destroyed by fire on Saturday. The damage totals $50,000. The cause of the fire is unknown. A woman is in custody on a charge of being on the premises at the time without authority.

GIRL HELD FOR FORGERY

STRATFORD, March 28.—Miss E. Johns of Lindsay appeared on two charges, one with obtaining through false pretences a trunk addressed to Mrs. Fred Howe, and the other with forging the name of Mrs. Howe to a bill of lading at the Grand Trunk station, Toronto. She pleaded not guilty to both charges and elected to be tried before the judge. She also was remanded until Tuesday next for a preliminary hearing.

TANK BATTALION TO BE RECRUITED

(Special to Examiner.)

Ottawa, March 28.—In reponse to an appeal from the Imperial authorities, a Canadian tank battalion will be recruited and organized under Lt. Col. R. D. Denison, and it is expected will leave for overseas within five weeks.

Bands of nutria applied to box pleats extending all around at spaced intervals on the skirt section of a white wool jersey coat of three-quarter length give a unique effect, especially since a broader band confines the pleats at the bottom.
